Canadians Fight For Freedom

(By WILLIAM McDONALD, North Sydney, Cape Breton)

CANADA'S magnificent fight for freedom already has won her the admiration of the civilized world. From the very beginning Canadians realized what this war really meant. They knew that it would eventually develop into a world-wide conflict, directly or indirectly affecting the life of every man and woman on this earth. It was in view of that fact that Canada lost no time in placing her whole strength at the side of Britain when war came. That strength has been increasing with such rapidity that today this Dominion is one of the most active and feared countries in the camp of the United Nations.

What Canada is really doing in this fight to the death against the Axis will not be known until the conflict is over. For reasons of security a veil of secrecy surrounds many of the almost super-human exploits carried out by Canada's fighting men. When the situation demanded it Canadians were never found wanting in fortitude, endurance and determination. Those great qualifications are not found only in the men in the services, but in citizens in every walk of life.

As Thomas Paine once said, "These are the times that try men's souls." These are times that try not only our souls, but the very stuff of which we are made. In this war every Canadian is a soldier in the fight for freedom. Every clerk behind the counter, every farmer in the field, every miner in the bowels of the earth, every fishermen on the stormy sea, every factory worker is contributing something to make our victory possible. Every Canadian man and woman, regardless of what his or her occupation may be, is helping to make our freedom secure from attack, and to give back their freedom to those from whom it has been taken away.

In Britain's darkest hour she was given comfort and support as the strong hand of a youthful Canada held her by the arm. When America was treacherously attacked and temporrily bewildered she too found consolation in the friendship and sympathetic support of her neighbour to the North. Indeed, it might be said that Canada is playing the role of a mighty arm forring an unbreakable link in British-American relations.

The story of Canada's war effort cannot be told to too many, or too often. The rapid development of Canada's Navy is almost unbelieveable. This ever growing force is giving effective assistance in keeping open the seaways of the world, and helping to deliver the implements of war to the various theatres of conflict. A very large number of Canada's hardy seamen are serving in the Merchant Navy, one of the less colorful, but most essential branches of the service.

The rapidly expanding Canadian Army is already one of the most powerful striking forces at the disposal of the Allies, as the enemy had reason to know at Dieppe and elsewhere. The exploits of the Canadian Air Force are so well known throughout the world that they scarcely require any mention here. All the while Canadian industries are turning out weapons of all kinds that are being used in battle on every front in the world.

The civilian population of this Country has definitely resolved to make whatever sacrifices may be necessary to knock the pedestal from under Hitler and Hirohito. As for Mussolini he is already in the Dog House licking his wounds. With the Canadian people there will be no turning back. We are going full speed ahead, and as far as the Germans and Japs are concerned our intentions are not good. Canada is out to beat those war-mongers, and beat them for all time.

When war was thrust upon the world Canada girded herself for the ordeal. There and then the people of this country made up their minds that they were going to take it, and going to give it back with interest regardless of cost. Canadians will accept any burden and make any sacrifice to see this thing through. Rations and taxes are only trifles compared to what the people are willing to endure. As for war and Victory Loans, they only give the people an opportunity to invest in the cause which we cherish so much. They tell us we put these loans over the top before in fine style, but wait until the next time. If any man says it can't be done he is in for a bitter disappointment.

Growing Industry

Moncton, N. B., Oct. 12—Within the last few years the Irish Moss industry in the Maritimes has jumped from a side line to full time business in many quarters, states J. E. MacIntyre, Agricultural Agent, Canadian National Railways. Production last year amounted to 258,000 pounds. Prince Edward Island seems to have taken the lead and here the production has trebled last year's record.

Irish Moss is finding many uses in industry on account of its gelose content and is used in a variety of products: water paints, leather dressings, soap, theurapeutics, hair fixatives, clarifying agent n oil and beer industries, stabilizing agent in chocolate milks and ice cream, some canned goods, textile sizing, etc.

The moss (Carragean Moss) is a small seaweed which grows on rocks near or below low tide level and is quite common on many of the rocky shores around the Maritime Provinces. The leaves are narrow, flattened branched out, the whole plant forming a small clump, but unlike rockweed the leaves never bear bladders, and peculiarly the gelose of Irish Moss is just a carbohydrate with little or no nuritive value and almost tasteless—but it's going places.

MAN-POWER POOL TO BE SCRUTINIZED

It is reported in reliable quarters in the capital that the authorities are studying ways and means to enable a close examination of this country's man-power needs and supplies so that there may be determined accurately every person's ability and tendency to fit into the war effort of Canada. It may require a detailed and close interview of every individual, and, probably, a much closer questioning than that involved in the National Registration of 1940, though it would not be a similar, widespread scheme or plan of registration. Moreover, it is held that these individual interviews will not only show the capacity of every able person but they will result in directing each one into his or her proper sphere of war undertaking from non-essential work, particularly after a little persuasion and enlightenment.

TESTS OF PUBLIC OPINION

There is keen interest in political circles on Parliament Hill in the coming two-by-elections which will take place in Winnipeg North Centre and Charlevoix-Saguenay since in a sense these will be interpreted as tests of public opinion In the constituency of Winnipeg North Centre, the results of the last general elections saw the late J. S. Woodsworth, Leader of the C. C. F. Party, win by a majority of 125 votes over the Liberal candidate, and in Charlevoix-Saguenay, Hon. Pierre Casgrain, Liberal won over the National Government candidate by 8,408 votes. Whatever contestations will take place in both by-elections, there is no doubt that there will be a strong inclination to consider the results as tests of public opinion, particularly in Charlevoix-Saguenay. There are signs that the political heat will be unusually heavy in that by-election because the new, growing factions or movements are expected to make a strenuous effort to defeat Madame Therese Casgrain, wife of the Hon. P. Casgrain who left the King Cabinet to go on the Bench in order to show allegedly the attitude of the Province of Quebec to the recent Liberal Government's recent policies in Ottawa. This seat of Charlevoix-Saguenay was formerly held by Madame Casgrain's husband and at one time by her distinguished father, the late Sir Rodolph Forget, a Conservative.

A MOST DISTURBING OCCURRENCE

In face of what one may have read in print or heard over the radio, yet the results of the conflict, which developed between Wartime Prices and Trade Board, headed by Donald Gordon, and the Minister of Agriculture, Hon. James Gardiner, are likely to produce far-reaching effects on the life of the farmer and it is construed as capable of bringing about big changes in the life of all people as this nation swings over more and more into total war in the coming weeks. The Wartime Prices and Trade Board is anxious to fight inflation by keeping all prices from rising and the Minister of Agriculture is just as anxious to improve the economic and social position or status of the farmer, with the result that there is a serious conflict and backstage on Parliament Hill it is believed that the last word has not been heard about this conflict, though the Cabinet as a whole has supported the stand of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board.

HOW RATIONING STORIES START

How rationing stories start. When a simple report was given out in Ottawa that the Government would take three-quarters of the Canadian shoe manufacturers production for some time in future, general discussions led to stories being spread that shoe rationing was coming, though in actuality there was in Ottawa nothing to back up such a suggestion. In fact, shoe manufacturers are able to supply the ordinary civilian requirements in face of these stories. Then again, civilian shoes are not made of the same section of the hide as military shoes. These facts should be born in mind. In other words, there is no actual need to discuss shoe rationing right now and the civilian as well as military needs can be supplied, disclosing once more how idle talk may spread entirely wrong stories about rationing.

MUCH CHEESE AVAILABLE

Though there may be a decrease in supplies of certain foods, such as meats and pork products, yet the latest development in the output in Canada of one commodity show that its supplies are increasing to such an extent that an earlier restriction order has been removed. Earlier in the year an order was given that cheese could only be produced in white, but now this order has been removed so that cheese in Ontario and Quebec can be produced in either white or coloured. This means that not only will increased supplies of cheese be available to Canadians so that it can be used as freely as poultry, lamb or fish to replace foods which are scarce but that the contract to supply the United Kingdom with 125,000,000 pounds will be carred out. In addition, recent information discloses that stocks on hand this year amounted to 71,918,047 pounds as compared with total holdings of 42,104,793 pounds year ago at the same time.

HEAVIER FREIGHT TRAFFIC

Montreal, Que., Oct 13—During the first six months of 1942 a daily average of 99,503 freight cars was handled through marshalling yards of the Candaian National Railways. This is an increase of 9.9 per cent over the smiliar period of 1941 when a dialy average of 86,586 cars was established.

CANADIAN RAILWAY HAD FIRST DINER

Ottawa, Ont., Oct. 12—The first regular dining car service in North America was established in Canada 75 years ago on the Great Western Railway, now part of the Canadian National Railways. The following year, 1868, George Pullman built the first regular dining car for the service which now bears his name.

National [illegible] Government

(From the [illegible] Examiner)

It will be [illegible] to the truth in reforming the Conservative party and for this reason we must point to a misrepresentation in Mr. Meighen's call to the party. Referring to the principles of [illegible] government he says: "The Conservative party's views on this subject are undoubtedly shared by a very large proportion of the Canadian people irrespective of party. Nevertheless, for over three years these views have been rejected by the King administration. Mr. Meighen knows the R. C. [illegible] public [illegible] spent [illegible] the National [illegible] crying out that it got the world beating in its history; he also knows that the prime minister invited several prominent Conservatives to join his cabinet after that election and that they declined. Canada has given its opinion of national government and the Conservative party went through inglorious moments in the House when members who had run on the national government ticket repudiated that principle.

DOOMED TO DEFEAT

(From the Kingston Whig-Standard)

In the opinion of the Whig-Standard if the Conservative party wishes to become a powerful factor in the next general election it should not again nail the national government flag to its mast. It will not be forgotten that the Hon. Robert Manion led the Conservative party down to almost tenominious defeat in March 1940. This defeat was due in large measure to the fact that the burden of his cry was "national government made up of the best brains of Canada." The electors turned thumbs down on the proposal. Mr. Meghen, who is the present leader of the Conservative party, has led the party in two general elections and both times the party has been badly defeated. If he insists again in making national government the chief plank in the Conservative platform, we are sure he is dooming the party to defeat before it enters the fight.

WHY SHOULD WE DO IT?

Why should we buy Victory Bonds? Only in a democracy are we permitted to ask such a question as that. The time has not yet come—and we hope never comes—when we will be told to buy them. But one fact stands out plainly. If we don't lend our dollars to support this democracy of ours, we'll be forced to hand them over to support the dictatorship that replaces it.

[illegible] time a Victory Loan is announced [illegible] we are permitted to do our share in defending this glorious Canada with gold instead of steel. You don't miss a few luxuries as much as you miss a lot. Walking to work instead of motoring is not nearly as uncomfortable as drifting hopelessly for hours in icy water after a torpedoing.

And what, after all, is this sacrifice that we are asked to make? Let's examine it for a moment. This is what it amounts to: We are asked to lend, at a fair rate of interest, money that we don't really need until the time when we do need it. The Government is actually saving for us the easy money of wartime boom days for the post-war depression which must come. This money is spent, provides jobs and eventually part of it finds its way back into our own pockets—more than half the money borrowed comes back to us in the form of wages. In the meantime it spares us from stopping machine gun bullets and keeps bombs away from our homes Not much of a sacrifice that!

This is the young Mexican lyric tenor who appeared with Maurice Chevalier at the Theatre Pigalle when that famous star was the rage of Paris before the war. Now Monsieur Jacques is singing for CBC audiences; he is featured Thursday nights at 9:30 p.m. EDT with Enrique Miro and his Spanish American music, from the CBC Montreal studios. He is a favorite cafe entertainer in his adopted city and sings with equal ease and appeal in French Spanish and English.

NOVA SCOTIA FARM NEWS

Export of Hay to United States Allowed Under Permit

Advice has been received by the Provincial Department of Agriculture from the Feeds Administrator of the Agricultural Supplies Board, Ottawa, that the Export Permit issued by the Board, Director of Agriculture [illegible] Canada last year export to the United States was not permitted. The Honorable John A. MacDonald, Minister of Agriculture, stated that as a result of a recent survey made it now appears that the crop harvested in Nova Scotia in 1942 in the main is about 5 per cent higher than that of 1941. These figures are rather surprising, due to the fact that Nova Scotia this year experienced one of its driest seasons for many years, some districts receiving very little rain through the month of June, July and August. He states that in one or two of the areas, particularly northern Inverness, the crop was considerably lower than last year, but the western part of the province, including the Annapolis Valley was somewhat higher and most of the balance of the mainland either equal to or above that of a year ago, due to the early and very favorable spring.

Foxberries

For the past six weeks producers located in areas where foxberries (lingonberries) are produced have been greatly concerned over the affect of the sugar rationing on the use of this product In normal years this crop totals from around two to three thousand barrels, produced mainly in the counties of Halifax, Guysboro and Richmond Representations have been made by the Hon. John A. McDonald, Minister of Agriculture, to officials of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board in charge of the rationing of sugar, but to date no favorable results have been obtained. Investigations, however, have been made on the market outlet to the United States and recent reports indicate that the demand, especially in the Chicago area; is fairly active, in fact some sales have been made at prices which will bring the producers returns equal to last year. One organization in Guysboro county has been able to make a reasonable attractive sale of at least one carload. These berries are reported to be above average quality, they have been graded and centrally packed and are moving forward accompanied with an inspection certificate of the Department of Agriculture. It is hoped that the demand will continue and that, notwithstanding the apparent fear or loss of market and price due to shortage of sugar, this crop will [illegible] successfully marketed and that the returns to the producers will be satisfactory.

Opening of Agricultural College

The Nova Scotia Agricultural College opens its doors for the winter session on Nov. 3. We are pleased to note a larger number of applications than at one time was thought possible because of the shortage of labor on the farms. The faculty joins with us in expressing the hope that as many young men and women as can possibly do so will take advantage of this opportunity and so help themselves to become more valuable not only in their own interests but also in the interests of their communities.

Marketing of Graded Poultry

Officers of the Department of Agriculture report increased interest in the marketing of graded poultry in the province. The volume marketed each week from early in the season is running some 30 per cent over the corresponding period of 1941 and reports received for the week ending Oct. 3 indicate pools held at Centreville, Kings Co River John, Pictou Co; and Barss Corner, Lunenburg Co, making a total of 32,230 lbs. of graded poultry. The quality was extremely high, milkfed A and B running over 70 per cent. It was interesting to note that a fairly large quantity of the top birds were capons. It is a recognized fact that the meat quality of capons is considerably higher than the quality of similar graded chickens and today Nova Scotia consumers are recognizing this increased quality and the reported demand is extremely good.

For the present week pools are operated as follows: Lawrencetown, Oct. 7; West Bay Road, Oct. 7; Nappan, Oct. 8; Aylesford, Oct. 8 and Newport, Oct. 9. A full report has not as yet been received, but indications are that the quality is in the vicinity of 35,000 lbs.

Producers marketing through the pools indicate entire satisfaction with this method of marketing, since the payment to the producers is made strictly on the graded basis and the prices compare favorably with those that existed last year, which were better than poultry producers have experienced in Nova Scotia in any time in the past. According to Hon. John A. McDonald, Minister of Agriculture, this method of marketing has not only been responsible for stimulating interest in poultry production but has received the full support of wholesalers, retailers and the Nova Scotia consumers.

"SPENDING AS USUAL"

--is just as out-of-date as "business as usual"

In these days of higher taxes and compulsory savings, no one can "spend as usual" and have enough money to buy VICTORY BONDS.

The choice is now clear and simple. Either you will continue to buy things you can get along without—or you will confine your buying to necessities and invest every possible dollar in VICTORY BONDS.

Next time you begin to say—"my taxes are so high, I can't buy Victory Bonds"—stop and think again. Are you using higher taxes as an alibi? Have you really reached the limit of self-denial?

The answer is up to your conscience. But remember this—there never again will be "spending as usual" unless we defeat Hitler. The more we reduce our spending—the more we increase our lending—the sooner we all can lead normal lives again.

VICTORY

Victory Bonds are the best investment you can make.

In this critical year of the war—when everything depends on all-out effort—every dollar that Canadians can muster must be a FIGHTING DOLLAR. While they are fighting, they remain YOUR dollars.

But if you spend money on things you can do without, you are witholding these needed dollars from the war effort. You are keeping them OUT OF THE FIGHT.

Men are fighting and dying for freedom—giving their all that WE may remain free. YOU are asked only to LEND your money to back them up.

Victory Bonds are guaranteed by the full resources of the Dominion of Canada. They yield a fair rate of interest. They can readily be sold when you need the cash.

After the war, you will be glad of this money you have saved and loaned to Canada. You can spend it THEN on the things you want.

Hitler may be able to beat the zero with intuition, but the average man hereabout knows that forethought is better than intuition at filling a coal bin.

A man who makes a nuisance of himself is a failure, but the fellow who can make a nuisance value of himself is often a financial success.

No wonder Hitler complains that he is confronted by "military idiots." They are the same military idiots that flouted military logic and held high their lone standard after the fall of France.

To guard against loose talk, the absent-minded man should tie a string on his tongue as well as on his finger.

A Great Archbishop Reformer

The Archbishop of Canterbury is one of the great progressive social reformers [illegible]. These are some of the points he stressed in a recent address:

1. A limitation of profits together with provision that as soon as interest payments on capital investment have equalled the investment, all additional payments should constitute a reduction of principal, thus permitting people to double their investment and no more.

2. Better housing, although in Britain about one-third of the population has been rehoused in the past quarter century.

3. Equality of educational opportunities.

4. Further measures to prolong education and thus restrict child labor.

5. Proper environment and adequate nutrition for children.

6. More leisure for workers.

7. Partnership of employers and employees in industry.

The archbishop said there was nothing more hopeful than the effective part trade unions have been in the control of industry. "It is a sign of a great advance, and we must maintain that when the war is over." Further, children of 14 and 15 should not be thrown into the labor market to sink or swim.

The fuller partnership between management and labor in the control of industry which Dr. Temple favors is already proving of immense advantage in increasing production in both Britain and the United States. Employer-Employee committees on production, not company unions in any sense, are successful in both countries, and the Canadian government should establish them in the government-controlled war industries of Canada.—Toronto Star.

Sir Stafford Cripps

By James J. Carlisle

With the war in Russia assuming critical proportions and with a "second front" being uttermost in the minds of all English-speaking peoples in order to defeat the enemy, the name of Sir Stafford Cripps has risen on the international horizon not merely as a new star but as a complete constellation, inferring that his new well-known opinions are bound to have a strong influence in any decisions at Downing Street in London.

Though Sir Stafford Cripps is 53 years of age, yet this thin, serious-faced and scholarly statesman embodies the essence of the "new social order" in affairs at home and abroad of Great Britain, being easily the best mouthpiece and most courageous fighter against class distinctions or privileges. In line with these ideals he has been a relentless fighter for more and more British co-operation with Soviet Russia. Indeed, when he arrived in Moscow on June 12, 1942, as British Ambassador to Russia, this left wing member of the British Labor Party was the most optimistic believer in British-Russian combined strength being able to crush the common enemy, though at that time such ideas were not popular. Moreover, it was his steady opinion that a British-Russian alliance could have prevented this war.

It has been said that Sir Stafford Cripps "talked Marxism with an English accent". Within these words the reader can find the true background of this rising international star whose radical ideals once caused him to be expelled from the executive council of his own party in 1939 for advocating a united front of British Laborites, Liberals and Communists against the appeasement policies of Chamberlain's National Government. However, this was but one of many stirring events in his career. He has been a Member of Parliament since 1931; he was Solicitor-General in Ramsay MacDonald's second Labor Government; he was recognized as leading authority of company law in Britain. But above all other things, his career is outstanding because this brilliant lawyer has provided courageous leadership for the movement of creating a permanent "new social order" not only in Great Britain but the rest of the world, with this being one of the reasons why [illegible] he started with [illegible] may yet bring a successful solution for this problem of the British Commonwealth of Nations.

I CAN'T DO ANYTHING ABOUT IT!

"I can't do [illegible] with [illegible]—I simply can't afford an extra cent," is a reply that Victory Bond salesmen received from many they approached during the First and Second War Loans.

The people who gave it were positive and emphatic, and followed up the declaration by a sad picture of themselves financially stranded "on the rocks". They hadn't been able to get a new hat, or a fur coat. Some of them had to stay at home for their holidays, and they just couldn't spare the money for a Victory Bond.

In a surprising number of cases salesmen afterwards ran across some of these people waiting in line night after night at the movies, or frequently at pretty high priced dances or at hotels for dinner and luncheon. Sometimes they found them buying chesterfields, breakfast seats, evening dresses or sport clothes.

Perhaps the privations of next year may make you wish you had sacrificed twenty times the things you refuse to give up now to buy Victory Bonds! Perhaps next year in may be too late! Perhaps then you really can't do anything about it. So give up the odd movie, the hat you really can get along without. It's quite the thing now to wear the old dress suit when patriotism sets the style. If you're thoroughly honest with yourself you really can do something about it. And do it this time—now—before it's too late.

HOW [illegible] WE ALL PULL OUR [illegible] WEIGHT?

[illegible] Remember those childhood days of winter coasting? The hobsled took considerable hauling up the steep incline, but when everybody took a hand on the rope and all pulled together it wasn't so hard. Recall how exasperated we were when one laggard decided to take the easy way and climbed aboard while the rest were pulling? He wasn't very popular because he preferred being dragged to carrying his own weight. Perhaps some of us are trying to be dragged, strain on the big pull to Victory.

When Victory comes we shall all expect to share in it. Surely the least we can do is try to deserve it. There are those, on the home front as well as on the war front, who are making every possible sacrifice, but they are not yet in the majority. You know that; so do I. We are all more careful of what we have; not so heedlessly wasteful; we cut our subscriptions to magazines we hadn't time to read anyway; We didn't buy the new dress (fewer teas had something to do with it), and we've faced our taxes without a fuss. But, Honestly haven't many of us still a light hand to pull.

There is plenty of money in Canada to buy the sorely needed guns, equipment and training facilities and all the rest. But too much of it is being diverted to other things. After the money invested in Victory Loan Bonds has done its work, providing the Government with funds with which to prosecute the war with everything it needs, and Victory is ours at last, then that money will come back to us, to help get the wheels of peacetime industry rolling again; to furnish us with the things we now choose to do without for freedom's sake. If we insist on those things now we are dragging at the rope—let's all pull together?

VICTORY LOAN DRIVE FOR $750,000,000 OPENS MONDAY

We will push on to Victory!

WHEN FRANCE FELL, and Britain stood with her back to the wall, one strong jaw jutted out, and the grip of one clenched fist shook the Empire.

It was Churchill hurling Britain's decision across the channel. Quit? . . . Never! . . . Fight? . . . Yes, through the hell of adversity till victory is won.

• • • • • •

Today Canadians face challenge after challenge with the same unconquerable spirit. Today we are asked to do without so that our fighting men will have everything they need—when they smash straight into the heart of enemy defences.

Canada's ringing answer to this latest challenge will be:

"Yes, we'll fight with the last ounce of our strength, and the last dollar we can earn and save."

Canada's Victory Loan drive opens Monday. Canada's Victory Loan representative will ask for your answer soon

Will it be "No, I do not choose to do my part"?

Or will it be "Yes! Yes!! Yes!!! I will buy Victory Bonds! I will lend all my support to help make victory sure."

You will be laying up for yourself the best of all investments—VICTORY BONDS are backed by all the resources of the Dominion of Canada; they yield a fair rate of interest; you can borrow against them; and they are readily saleable when you need the cash.

WEAR YOUR COMMANDO DAGGER

It is a symbol indicating that you have bought the new Victory Bonds.

NATIONAL WAR FINANCE COMMITTEE

APPEAL FOR EXTRA EFFORT and CO-OPERATION

To The Ratepayers,
Municipality, County of Richmond:

As you know, Richmond County has passed through a long period of depression. Tax collections were poor. Our payments on account to schools, hospitals and other services were small. Debts piled up. Now, times are really better. Our farmers are able to sell their stock and produce at good prices. Wood-lot owners are finding a profitable market for their products. Fishermen have more fish to sell at better prices. Tradesmen and labourers are in demand at higher wages. More money is in your pockets. In short, times are good and in good times we must make up for the poor years. Many pressing debts must now be paid. To this end a fair start has been made, but we must do better. The collections for the first nine months of this year are higher than for the corresponding period last year. Yet, in the light of greatly improved conditions should be much higher. Consequently, during the remaining three months of this year we all should make every effort to settle our accounts with the county. In this we earnestly solicit your co-operation, good will, persuasion, precept and example.

This is the time for us all to make an extra effort to redeem our county. To place our county in a good financial position is a worthy and honourable objective to strive for And if we really try our creditors will appreciate our effort and try to help us. Discounts will be allowed. Interest charges will be less. Our institutions, schools, hospitals, etc., will continue to function as they should.

We are sincere in our efforts to redeem the county and ultimately we hope to reduce Municipal taxation. We are giving all that is in us to that end. But without your help we cannot succeed. If then, you owe a poll tax send it to us. If you owe a property tax send it to us. If you owe a hospital bill for yourself or your family send it to us.

Make 1942 a record year in our Municipal Affairs and Richmond a county to be proud of.

Respectfully submitted
E. C. DOYLE
Clerk-Treasurer

Municipal Office, Arichat, N. S.
October 14th, 1942.

YOUR SAFEST INVESTMENT

"Canada never has failed and never will fail to meet her obligations promptly and in full."

Our country urgently needs every dollar we can spare from our earnings. Canada will back every cent with interest.

When you buy Victory Bonds you lay up for yourself the best of all investments. They are backed by all the resources of the Dominion of Canada; they yield a fair rate of interest; you can borrow against them; and they are readily saleable when you need the cash.

If we lose the war we lose everything. If we win the war it will be because you and fellow-Canadians backed our fighting men to the absolute limit of your ability.

An M. P.'s son went to his father and confided in him that he, too, wished to become a politician. His father, not wishing the boy to enter his new career unprepared, offered him advice. "My boy," he said, "two things are necessary if you are to succeed in politics—honesty and sagacity."

"What exactly is honesty?" asked the lad.

"Honesty means that always, no matter what happens, however adversely may affect you, you keep your word once you have given it."

"And sagacity, father?"

"Never give your word."

Pearl Harbor Is Being Revenged

In the southwest Pacific the Yanks are giving the Japs a dreadful pounding. The Americans in the air, on the sea and on land have already shown themselves more than a match for the treacherous and murderous Japanese, and the day does not seem far away when the Japs will have to quit the fight, so intense is the warfare waged against them by the powerful American Republic. Good on you, America!

In July, the Richmond County Record, Arichat, N. S., rounded out its 45th year of publication. "It has seen its ups and downs, and has weathered many a bitter antagonistic storm," says Mr. Bourinot, "but the The Record has grown with the years, and today occupies a warm place in the hearts of hundreds of faithful friends.—Canadian Weekly Newspapers Association Bulletin.

Tang In the Air

The air has the tang of the sea here now and it indicates the approach of winter with all its severity and hardships. Living in a climate like this one gets used to zero weather and the way to prepare for it is to fill your bin with fuel to meet its onslaught. We hope the poorest among our people will be well prepared for winter when it is ushered in.

THE PEOPLE'S FORUM

The opinions expressed by our correspondents are not necessarily those of the Record

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

To the Editor

Sir:—Will you allow me to express my opinion of the proposed calling up of youths 18 and 19 years of age. These lads are not developed in mind and body. A percentage have been on relief rations since they were born. If we must have more recruits let us wait till they have reached the age of 21. I myself, with four years' experience in the last war, am quite willing to go again, and at 46 years of age have no hesitation in claiming to be fitter in health than most of these young boys. It is easy for some members of the church, the legion or politicians to talk. They do not have to go and they know it. So take men 21 to 50 and leave the young kids alone.

BRITISH NAVAL VET, 1914-18.

THE COMMUNIST BAN

To the Editor.

Sir:—With regard to lifting of the ban on the Communist party and freeing from our internment camps all anti-Fascist persons who are interned for belonging to the Communist party, I would say by all means lift the ban and free these men. These interned men are serving no useful purpose in jail. Some of them on being released have offered their services to our armed forces. What more could any man do? If communism is a thing to be despised don't you think the voters of this country are intelligent enough to chuck it aside? We elected the present government. Do the powers that be think we made a mistake? On the other hand if communism is good then we want to hear more about it. I believe if it we were not for the heroic Communist army of the U.S.S.R., holding Hitler's hordes at the present time, giving the rest of the United Nations the much needed time in which to gather their forces for the final assault to finish the job, many hundreds of thousands of Canadian homes would have felt the sting of the Nazis ere now. It is only Hitler's defeat or delay in Russia that is keeping the Japs from springing at our threats on the Pacific coast.

BILL CAREY

THE PROBLEMS AHEAD

To the Editor.

Sir:—It is saddening to reflect that a complete military victory, for which we hope and work and fight, does not in any way carry within it a cure for those underlying causes that brought about the war. The symptom will be removed, but the disease will remain. Most students of history agree that the German war lords merely perelpitated the war of 1914-18, but did not cause it. Its causes were dislocations produced by the industrial revolution, increasing regulations, shrinking markets and other blind forces. The war was as inevitable as an earthquake, and born of comparable strains and stresses. Consequently, although a complete military victory was achieved, the origins of the war remained untouched, and it is open to doubt if any kind of a treaty, made by human hands, could have prevented a fresh eruption 21 years later. Is this too pessimistic? The problems that confront the Allies now are soluble and they will be solved. The problems that will confront our statesmen when fighting ceases are so stupendous that it is doubtful if human wisdom suffices to solve them. These problems increase with every day that the war is prolonged. All we can do is to pray that when the time comes, not human wisdom, but divine guidance will point the way. There is no other hope.

ETOBICOKAN

CRITICAL OF SYSTEM

To the Editor.

Sir:—Three years ago, the war was only three weeks old when I applied at a government employment bureau for war work. My services were not desired as I was a married woman though without other support. I was treated very coldly. My application was thrown into a drawer where it has probably rested for a couple of winters. I was evidently dismissed and then and there vowed that conscription only would make me offer my services again. However, things have taken a very serious turn. Since my boy is approaching 19, and although still a boy will be in the army shortly. I felt that my part in this war must be more than knitting socks, so I applied at a nearby war plant for a job. Again I was turned down. They cannot hire me without a selective service permit which I cannot get until I have left the position which I now hold but which I do not want to give up until I can be assured of a position. This assurance cannot be given me. Now I wonder if Canada's war effort is not being scrapped by red tape. Where are the war plants to get 35,000 workers which they require before 1943? Why cannot I give my services to my country's war effort if I wish? My present place of employment is not particularly essential for the duration.

Labor for Lumberwoods

From all the information that can be gathered it would seem that farmers where possible should help in overcoming the shortage of labor in the lumberwoods this winter. In doing so they will not lose their standing so far as the preference which is given to farmers who are rendering a greater service on the farm than they could in the active service force, provided of course they plan to return to the farm in the spring. Farmers or farm hands who are anticipating going into the lumberwoods will be busier now in doing things that can be done this fall, such as plowing putting the machinery in condition, so that there will be no undue delay next spring.
