ECHOES OF THE HISTORIC MEETING

There is a general feeling of great expectancy in Ottawa as echoes of the historic conferences of the Allied leaders in old Quebec are heard in this already extremely busy and excited capital. Indeed, there is an impression not only that these discussions amongst the leaders of military strategy for victory may bring forth in time major developments in various phases of this global struggle but the big events pending or to come will indicate that these meetings between the leaders were the most important so far in the whole war in view of the recent outstanding developments, such as the quick victory in Sicily the startling results in Russia's summer campaign the apparently great success of the Allied air power over the forces of the enemies the removal from the active scene of Mussolini and Fascism and the obvious failure of the U-boats to interfere seriously with the Allied shipping plans. Then again the difference in importance of these meetings of the Allied leaders from those in the past is emphasized by the number of newspapermen who followed the proceedings in Canada, though of course strict secrecy marked the discussions.

POLITICAL UNEASINESS IN THE CAPITAL

Although the man-in-the-street throughout this country may be forgetting somewhat the recent Ontario Provincial and Federal by-election results, yet these bad memories seem to be now even more causes of deep thought and discussion in well-informed circles backstage along Parliament Hill than at the time of their occurrence. It is considered that this is widespread evidence of the possible existence, it is said of political disquiet throughout the country and this has been a source of much uneasiness among some of the followers of the old major political parties, especially in view of the disclosure that there are now a great many Canadians who seem ready to support untried new political movements or leaders. However, the older political observers along Parliament Hill appear to be calm in face of this new situation holding that these latest election results were merely due to local conditions and to the usual temporary resentment or protest of some people against war controls and taxes of the Government of the day which has in reality no choice of action in such matters in wartime. In short, the broad view among some observers in the capital seems to be that no great, startling uneasiness, nor great unusual fear of the new political movements or leaders should exist now as an aftermath of the recent election results but amongst other observers an opposite view is held, particularly if memories of the last world war are revived. After the last world war, the people of Canada not only rejected the Union Government of the day at the polls but both major older political parties, Liberals and Conservatives, did not receive proper decisive support from the masses, with a compartively new, untried party, the Progressives proving a complete surprise by their unexpectedly good showing or success though it must be admitted that in the next general election the political strength of this new party was gone.

TALK IS NOT CHEAP

Talk is not cheap. At least it is not the case in Ottawa where there are now no less than 8,000 telephones in Government offices as against 1800 when this war broke out, though three-quarters of them are used by departments primarily engaged in military matters. Moreover it has been stated that much reckless long distance telephoning was done by Government Departments but this has been denied flatly in the capital. In fact, Hon. Alphonse Fournier, Minister of Public Works, has revealed that each Department makes a check of its own calls, with a list of calls being made up in his own Department each month and the object of each call must be stated.

AN IMPORTANT QUESTION IS ANSWERED

The question has been asked frequently why the Foreign Exchange Control Board "froze" the exchange rate at 10 per cent when this Board was established on September 15, 1939. This rigid and arbitrary figure of 10 per cent was the rate at the time when it was "frozen." This has not only supplied the answer in the nation's capital but it has been indicated that Canada has retained its current rate of exchange between American and Canadian dollars since from the viewpoint of the whole nation stability has been considered more important than the exchange rate being at a particular level, especially when it has been born in mind that any charge which would bring a national gain, would also produce a national loss. In other words, a change would benefit certain industries but it would hurt others, creating dislocation and the need for readjustment. As a spokesman for the Government once pointed out as an example, if the West should export a lot of grain to the United States under certain conditions, this might hurt them. On the other hand, this might benefit importing industries. Therefore, it has been considered in the nation's capital that stability has been a good thing for the nation.

* * * * *

SOME DIFFICULTIES

It has been no deep secret that there has been a wish on the part of many people for less restrictions and better distribution of beer supplies, but it has been indicated in Ottawa that, in regard to the production of beer in Canada, the brewers, it has been claimed, have had great difficulties in maintaining even the quota which had been given to them with the staffs that they have had available, with no aim existing that men should be diverted from essential war industries in order to produce more beer. Moreover, the better distribution of beer has been entirely a matter within the control and jurisdiction of provincial authorities.

NO CANADIAN RESPONSIBILITY

Though there has been a complaint that Imperial War Veterans in Canada on pension had lost 43 cents on account of depreciation of the English pound, yet it has been pointed out in Ottawa that this has not been a responsibility of the Canadian Government.

Given Silver Star Posthumously for Gallantry in Action at Guadacanal —Daring and Care of Wounded Lauded

The Brockton, Mass., Recorder, published the following particulars of the death in action on Guadacanal of the 22nd year old son of Edward Flynn, formerly of Arichat, but a resident of Brockton for many years:—

WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug 12.—Sergt. Lawrence Holmes Flynn, U. S. Marine Corps, 22, of Brockton, Mass., has been posthumously awarded the Silver Star medal for repeatedly exposing himself to enemy fire to deliver messages and administer to the wounded, in action on Guadalcanal.

Sergt. Flynn, son of Mrs. Mary M. Flynn, of 52 Augustine street, Brockton, was reported killed in a subsequent action early last month.

Accompanying the decoration for his heroism on Guadalcanal was a presidential citation:

"For conspicuous gallantry and intrepidity during action against enemy Japanese forces on Guadalcanal, Solomon Islands, on the night of Sept. 13-14, 1942. On the ridge 1000 yards south of ellAnderson Field, Sergt. Flynn, repeatedly crossing areas exposed to hostile fire, placed units in their proper sectors of the line, organized ammunition carrying parties, delivered messages and engaged in vigorous hand-to-hand combat with Japanese troops. During a momentary lull in the battle, he, with complete disregard for his own personal safety, started to search for and administer to the wounded who were lying in the exposed areas. His heroic conduct was in keeping with the highest traditions of the United States naval service."

In the same paper appeared the following editorial praising the bravery and indomitable courage of this gallant young man, under the caption "Still Brighter Their Scroll":

Sergt. Lawrence H. Flynn, only 22 when cut down in the wide swath of this war, helped write one of this town's first legendary scrolls after Pearl Harbor. . . .that of the Fighting Flynns.

He had won one of the Navy's high tokens for valor, the Silver Star. He was of the Navy as a member of the United States Marine Corps.

Larry Flynn was once of this newspaper's family circle. As a BHS student, at a time when he was known as an expert in the breeding and care of canaries, his column was widely read.

Larry was at Guadalcanal, a name that adds lustre to the bright shield of the Marines. There he came through the ordeal of steel, blood and fire with conspicuous bravery. There he exemplified the magnificent core of the Marines. . .Semper Fidelis.

He brightened the scroll of the Fighting Flynns, three of whom remain on the home front to cherish his memory and pledge their lives and their honor to the cause for which he fell.

While grieving over the loss of their brave young son, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Flynn must feel proud of his gallant conduct in battle with the enemy, and the honors that have been paid him in death by the President of the U. S. The Richmond County Record extends its sincere sympathy to the bereaved parents and members of the family over the death of such a fine, fearless son, Sergt. Lawrence Holmes Flynn. His grandfather, the late Hon. E. P. Flynn, if he were alive, would be proud of his grandson and the other members of the "Fighting Flynns," who are with the active U. S. forces in different branches of the service.

A Tribute to Mr. King

From the Ottawa Citizen (Ind)

During the long period of Mr. Mackenzie King's leadership he has gone serenely on—no dictator, but with firmness and confidence. He has demonstrated a statesman's ability to know the will of the Canadian people, perhaps as no other political leader has ever done. A more effective loyal opposition in the present parliament would surely have been little or nothing to show that the inclusion of members of the present opposition in another Union government would have improved the administration of Canada's part in the war. Whatever the next swing of the pendulum in party politics may be Mr. Mackenzie King's record as prime minister is unique. He had made a distinctive place for himself in Canadian history. As he goes forward into another year of leadership, at the helm of the ship of state in Canada's most momentous year, it is a fitting occasion to set aside party differences and animosities to pay tribute to a great Canadian, William Lyon Mackenzie King.

Bushman's Holiday For Wrens

Three former members of the CBC, now in training with the woman's division of the Royal Canadian Navy, paid a visit to the Halifax studio recently. Happy as could be in their new service, the trio nevertheless said it was like old times to see the familiar mike. Left to Right: Delores Tingey (National Office), Marie Cronin and Marie Elder (Toronto Studios). The girls are on leave of absence from CBC just like their brothers-in-arms who left radio to go into the forces.

A Costly Fire In Arichat On Sunday Evening

Fire which broke out here on Sunday evening swept through the Irving Oil station and a dwelling house owned by Arthur DeCoste known as the Grimes property. The damage was estimated at $8,000. The service station and garage is operated by John P. LeBlanc who was doing a welding job with an acetylene torch on a car. The blaze from the torch ignited the floor under the car and before it could be removed the fire had gained too great a headway. Another car owned by Miss Blanche Martell, County Health Nurse was completely destroyed along with some of her personal belongings.

The fire broke out around 6:00 p. m. The A. R. P. squad of Arichat were called and made a valiant effort to save the garage and dewelling and were responsible for the prevention of the spread of the blaze. Several hundred gallons of gasoline was in the storage tanks at the time and much water was used to extinguish the blaze around the tanks to avert a possible explosion. Special praise go to the members of the A. R. P. squad who were first on the scene and done everything humanely possible to save the DeCoste dwelling. The St. Peter's A. R. P. squad headed by Coun. W. D. Morrison came over with their fire fighting equipment to assist. This was a gracious act and has won the thanks of every citizen in Arichat.

The LeBlanc garage was well equipped with tools and machinery and the loss is said to be quite heavy. The DeCoste family saved practically all their belongings but a sum of money kept in an upstairs room was lost.

This is the first serious fire that has occurred here for some years. Mr. LeBlanc and Mr. DeCoste will have the sympathy of their friends over the loss they have sustained. Mr. LeBlanc will have a new garage rebuilt as soon as material for its re-construction can be obtained.

NATIONAL SELECTIVE SERVICE

Extension of Compulsory Employment Transfers.

To Employers and Employees:

THE 6th Compulsory Employment Transfer Order, issued under authority of National Selective Service Civilian Regulations, requires compliance not later than September 8th, 1943. After that date no employer may continue to employ any man covered by this Order, unless under special permit.

The first five Compulsory Transfer Orders listed occupations, and required compliance by all male employees in those occupations if (a) in an age and marital class designated under the Military Call-up, or if (b) 16, 17 or 18 years of age, The Sixth Order repeals all occupations given in the five earlier Orders, and requires all other men from 16 to 40 years of age (both ages inclusive) to become available for transfer to higher priority jobs, by registering at the nearest Employment and Selective Service Office.

Details of the Sixth Order were advertised in daily newspapers at the end of August. Copies of the Order may be secured from any Employment and Selective Service Office.

If in doubt as to the coverage of this Order, or the procedure under it, ask your nearest Employment and Selective Service Office.

All men, married or single, employed in designated occupations, aged 16 to 40, are now covered by the Orders. To avoid penalties, those who have not yet registered must do so by September 8th, 1943.

NOVA SCOTIA FARM NEWS

No Pay on Stormy Days

Farmers employing soldiers to work on their farms do not have to pay for days when weather is unfavorable for farm work, according to information received from Ottawa by Hon. John A. McDonald, Nova Scotia Minister of Agriculture. Under this new arrangement, the farmer is required to pay three dollars a day for work days, while on bad weather days he will have to supply board and lodgings only. Mr. McDonald commenting on this change from the former arrangement whereby the farmer was called upon to pay three dollars a day as long as he had asoldier worker on his farm, expressed the hope that this change will make it possible for many farmers to benefit by the supply of men available in the armed forces.

There are many men with farm experience in the armed forces and any farmer wanting to get such help should apply at once to the Selective Service office if there is one in the near vicinity, if not, application should be made the county agricultural representative or to William Milligan, Truro, Provincial-Federal Farm Labour Officer.

Farmers wanting men from the armed forces may get them for a period of thirty days or less and in cases where a longer term is desired an application for an extension of the period may be made.

Transportation to and from the farms is supplied by the farmer where the distance is a short one, where it is a longer one, transportation may be arranged by the Provincial-Federal Labour departments.

Farmers in any part of the province may apply for help of this nature.

Qualified Vets Should Be Consulted

Owners of farm animals are warned to be guarded against employing unqualified men for treating livestock ailments and livestock dentistry. This warning is issued following reports of unqualified workers attempting to do such work in various parts of the province. Qualified veterinaries should be consulted. This is urgent today due to the present high value of livestock which may prove to be a total loss if given the wrong treatment.

Home Made Plucker is Popular

Close to 200 sets of pictures and specifications for the home made plucking machine designed by Prof. Angus Banting, Agricultural Engineer, Truro have been received to date at the Nova Scotia Department of Agricultural Engineer, Truro. The sets, available, at 25 cents give complete instructions for the making of the outfit which as a labour saving device is proving its worth in many parts of the province and elsewhere. During the past week requests for instructions were received from New Brunswick, while during the past year instructions have been sent, on request, to every Province in Canada, various parts of the United States and two sets have gone to England. A demonstration of this plucking machine to be given by O. K. Sams Chief Poultry Promoter, will be one of the features of the Cumberland County Exhibition, being held at Oxford on September 15, 16, 17.

Giving Talks on Nutrition

In co-operation with the National Nutrition Program, members of the Women's Institute Staff, Miss Katharine Shand and Miss Mary Powers, are continuing with their visits to the Institutes of this province. They are giving illustrated talks on nutrition, dealing particularly with the use and preparation of essential talks on nutrition, to conserve foods value and flavor. Institute branches in Digby, Yarmouth, Shelburne, Queens and Lunenburg counties will be visited during the month of September.

W.I.N.S. Leaders Confer at Truro

A conference of the officers of the District Executives, Women's Institutes of Nova Scotia, was held on August 11 at Truro, when over 40 women from all parts of the province met at the Agricultural College for the purpose of discussing plans for future Institute activities. Miss Helen J. Macdougall, Provincial Superintendent, and members of her staff, as well as several members of the Provincial Executive, spoke on various phases of Institute work. Branch organization, Red Cross work, home economics, public health, use of conducted studies, agriculture, and price control were among the subjects discussed.

Boy Scouts Help Relieve Farm Labor Problem

The Boy Scouts of Sydney are proving to be a valuable source of help for farmers in Cape Breton County. Some time ago it was arranged through the Cape Breton County Agricultural Representatives for about twenty scouts from the Sydney troops to go to farms around Marion Bridge to clean up the weeds in the turnip fields. The farmers were so well satisfied with their work that the boys have been busy ever since, wherever there is weeding to be done.

District Commissioner, W. C. Carter, the Local Association and the Scout Masters are behind the idea one hundred per cent and are pushing it to the limit. The boys love to get out on the farms and through their Scout training are useful at many jobs.

There are fifteen hundred scouts in the industrial area of Cape Breton County and from the excellent results obtained so far it is believed that they will be of great value to the farmers in relieving the acute labor situation.

The Scouts are of special value to the market gardener, especially in places where last year there were many fields of turnips, potatoes, etc. which could not be harvested due to lack of help.

SWORDFISH AND TUNA AUGMENT MEAT SUPPLY

SYDNEY, C. B.—Helping to augment the meat supply, large numbers of swordfish caught in the waters off Cape Breton Island are going forward to American and Canadian markets, declared F. M. Smith, Superintendent of the Canadian National Express, when in Sydney recently. These swordfish are harpooned by fishermen from specially constructed boats and the swords and tails are cut off when the swordfish are boxed in ice for shipment.

Tuna are also moving from ports on the South Western shore of Nova Scotia, Mr. Smith said. In sport fishing, swordfish and tuna are caught with a heavy rod and line. The first swordfish of the season were four broadbills totalling 373 pounds, the largest tipping the scales at 200 pounds. Fifteen tuna were taken off Chester, N. S., the smallest weighing 450 pounds and largest 730 pounds. Bait is herring, mackerel and squid.

FOUR YEARS OF WAR

We look back with amazement on four years of war—Canada's remarkable production record, her decisive part in holding the life-line of the Atlantic and in gaining mastery of the air, her troops in the spearhead of the assault on the Fortress Europe. Finally, as a climax, the most momentous conference of the war has just been completed on Canadian soil. Almost overnight Canada has been thrust into the status of a world power.

What does this fifth year hold for us?

These last years tested both our defences and our offensive power. In every instance we have come out on top. Now in the coming year we have other severer tasks to meet, more dangerous ones perhaps unless we see what is at stake.

First of all on the home front there is still a battle to be won. Have we the honesty and discipline which will hold off inflation? Can we, under increasing strains and pressures, maintain and step-up our industrial teamwork? These defences must be held by every employer, worker and consumer at home.

There is a further test, larger in scope and more difficult to recognize. Already one dictator has gone, and piece by piece, from without and from within, the structure he built is being torn down. One ideology is on the way out. What will take its place? We cannot leave Europe in the state of the man in the biblical parable—swept and garnished and ready to be taken over by seven other devils.

A blue print is needed for the post-war world, worked out not on paper only but in the life of a nation, which has proved what honest teamwork means between race and race and between industrialist, worker and farmer, a nation which uses its resources for the good of all and the exploitation of none.

The Fathers of Confederation have shown us what we can do. They built a nation when they were brought together by a vision and a faith which overarched all differences of race, political creed and economic interest. With that vision and faith rekindled in us today, we can produce that blueprint—a pattern every other nation will covet for itself. This is our essential task in the building of a new world.

This is the test which the fifth year of war is calling Canada to meet.

INTERNATIONAL CRIMINALS CAN'T JUST RESIGN

The recent statement by President Roosevelt that Benito Mussolini and his Fascist gang "will be brought to book and punished for their crimes against humanity" has been regarded with the general approval of common people everywhere.

As stated by the Ottawa Journal, any less fate for the monstrous men who have drenched the earth with blood would be betrayal and mockery of all who have paid in this war with their lives. Not merely would it be condonation of crime; it would be invitation to more of the same brand of it in the days ahead.

We do not know what international law exists, or what international tribunals can be brought into being, to try Mussolini, Hitler, and their gang. What the ordinary man must feel is that the necessary law and tribunals must somehow be devised; that there must be no backing away this time from just retribution as there was backing away last time from the cry of "hang the Kaiser."

Not enough now for vile murderers to "resign." History must be made to teach, and would-be imitators of international gangsters must be taught, that international crime doesn't pay; that those who would live by the sword must expect to perish by it. No false sentimentality should ever take us from that thought.

Pte. A. Wilkie Brown Buried With Military Honors

The funeral of Pte. A. Wilkie Brown, of H Company, Cape Breton Highlanders took place on Saturday afternoon. R. S. M. Payne, of Glace Bay with twelve soldiers of headquarters Co., Sydney, motored here to pay their last respects to a brother soldier. The funeral procession was headed by the Sydney squad with officers and men of H. Company following. The remains were borne on an army truck and taken along the main street up Janvrin's Lane and then along the high street to St. John's Anglican Church, where the funeral service was conducted by Rev. A. E. Kingsbury, official military chaplin, of Mulgrave. The pallbearers from H Company were: Pte. Nelson Dobson, Pte. Harry Brousell, Pte. John Stone, Pte. Gregory Madden, Cpl. P. I. LeVescontie and Cpl. M. J. Bourinot.

The following hymns were rendered by the choir with Mrs. C. S. Malsard, presiding at the organ: Onward Christain Soldiers, Breathe on Me Breath of God and Abide With Me.

The remains were carried past the Sydney squad on the way to the cemetery when the order was given by R. S. M. Payne to present arms. At the grave the R. S. M. read the Military Burial ritual after which the volley was fired by the Sydney squad. The last post was sounded by a Buglar from Sydney.

The funeral was largely attened and was the first Military funeral held here in many years and was very impressive.

Attention Farmers!
Re-Cream Separators

Owing to the present shortage of metals due to wartime demands and conditions, we cannot get new cream separators without government approval. This means that we must have a signed application from you. If you are in the market for a cream separator, let us know as soon as possible, as it will take some time to fill your order.

If your old separator warrants re-conditioning, we would suggest that you ship it to us, either to ROCKDALE, Richmond Co., C. B., or SYDNEY, C. B.

DON'T GET PANICKY

Because the C.C.F. made gains recently need not disturb anyone. One swallow—or even a flock—does not make a summer. Conditions change quickly from good to bad and from bad to good, so let's not get panicky over initial successes of a party which relies on promises and on an untried platform.

Here's Wishing the Farmers A Bumper Crop

Farmers are indulging in more pleasant thoughts the last few days on account of the weather. The brand of weather that we have been experiencing during the summer was not calculated to make the hard-working tillers of the soil feel comfortable or complacent. In Richmond County the farmers have been working hard to produce a larger crop of potatoes, turnips and other agricultural products than in previous years. Let us hope that their expectations will yet be realized.

A Kindly Couple

On a recent visit to Moncton we came in contact with A. L. Comeau, proprietor of the Moncton Fish Market, which is doing a thriving business. He motored us to his home and we sat down to a swell dinner consisting of salmon and lobsters in their shell. Mrs. Comeau is a gracious hostess and she and children are enjoying good health. They expected their son, Gerald an engineer on a naval ship, home to spend a week on Saturday of that week. We enjoyed their friendly hospitality and their friends in Arichat will be glad to know that they own a fine estate about a mile or two out of the city.

IDENTICAL CAR NUMBERS GET RAILWAYMEN'S GOAT

A checker in a railway yard in Montreal Que. recently began to wonder if he was "seeing things." In going over the yard he noted down a car number "502819". He went on to other tracks and looking up at a car he was about to jot down the number and then took another look. "Yes, it was 502819." That started it. The same coincidence of numbers put the freight checkers and porters, the checkers calling for the freight for car 502819 and the porters declaring they had delivered it into that car. There were two cars of the same number but belonging to different railways, one a Canadian National car and the other a Pennsylvania. Here's a chance for some mental wizard to figure out the mathematical probabilities of this happening again.

River Bourgeois

"By the Gossip"

Of interest in Halifax and River Bourgeois was the wedding on Tuesday, August 24, of Miss Evelyn Mary Richard, daughter of Mrs. and the late Mr. Wm. Richard of River Bourgeois, and Mr. Tom Holland son of the late Mr. and Mrs. G. Holland of Halifax. Rev. Fr. P. Robitaille officiated at the ceremony in St. John the Baptist Church, at 8 o'clock, Tuesday morning.

The bride looked lovely in a gown of pale blue sheer, with tight bodice, sweetheart neckline, full skirt and long sleeves pointed over her hands. She wore a shoulder length veil of tulle in the same color caught with orange blossoms, while her bouquet was of pink carnations. She wore a gold locket a gift of the groom.

Miss Lillian Richard, sister of the bride was bridesmaid. She wore a long gown of pale pink taffeta with tiny hat to match and carried a bouquet of gladiola's in varied hues. The grooms gift to the bridesmaid was a gold identification bracelet.

Mr. James Holland brother of the groom acted as best man. The bride was given in marriage by her brother, Vincent Richard.

During the marriage ceremony the choir sang "To Jesus Heart All Burning" and at the offertory "Ave Maria" these being requests by the bride who herself was a member of th choir.

After the ceremony the wedding party and about 30 guests motored to the home of the bride's mother where breakfast was served, the room being decorated in pale pink and white with wedding bells suspended over the dining table which was centered with a three-tier wedding cake.

After spending a brief honeymoon at home the happy couple will return to Halifax where the groom is employed and where they will reside.

A Canadian West Port.—Wine made from grapes grown in British Columbia was used recently to christen two wartime cargo ships as they were launched from a shipyard owned and operated by the Canadian National Railways. Each was a 10,000 ton vessel. One was christened by the wife of a welder, the other by the wife of a shipwright.

● Here's good news for thousands of girls and women . . . the basic rates of pay in the C.W.A.C. have been RAISED from 15% to 30%. You now start at $1.05 per day and get increases after four and six months for good conduct and efficiency. Trades pay has also been substantially increased and now equals that of the men's. This adds 25¢, 50¢ or 75¢ a day to your basic pay, depending on your trade and efficiency.

And Dependents' Allowances!

You will also receive the same allowance for your dependents as service men. And wives of soldiers will NOT lose their allowance upon joining the C.W.A.C. Remember, too, that these newer and better rates of pay are a CLEAR SURPLUS because everything is provided free, even medical and dental care. Women are urgently needed to serve in a wide variety of occupations and replace "A" Category men proceeding overseas. If YOU could realize how critical the need is you would join the C.W.A.C. at once and get behind your men for victory. Enlist NOW!

HOW TO ENLIST

Apply to any of these Recruiting Stations:—Halifax (Cogswell St. near Hospital), Yarmouth, Kentville, Truro, New Glasgow, Sydney, Cheticamp, Antigonish. Or call and mail this coupon to C.W.A.C. Recruiting Officer, M.D.6., Halifax, N.S.

FISHING PARTIES DOING WELL IN MARITIMES

MONCTON, N. B.—Among recent arrivals of American fishing parties to fish the salmon and trout streams of New Brunswick was Miss Ann Morgan, a sister of the late J. Pierpont Morgan, of New York, accompanied by Mrs. B. N. Lovatt of Boston, according to the Fish and Game Department of the Canadian National Railways. A twelve pound salmon fell to their line from the Southwest Miramichi. The first sturgeon to be caught in the Saint John river for several years was taken a few miles west of Fredericton, the capital, recently. In days gone by, sturgeon were very plentiful in the lower Saint John river and they were used in making a liniment.

Nova Scotia reports some good salmon fishing with trout fishermen also making some excellent catches along with those on Prince Edward Island.

Chateau Frontenac "Work Centre" of Conference

Framed in this picture by the flags of Great Britain, the United States and Canada, the Chateau Frontenac, world-famed Canadian Pacific Railway hotel in Quebec City, fulfilled its most important role as the "work centre" of the strategy conference of the democracies for which Canada was host. The towering Chateau, seen here from the cannon-guarded battlements of the historic Citadel, housed the technical experts who came to the conference on the staffs of Prime Minister Winston Churchill, President Franklin Delano Roosevelt and Prime Minister W. L. Mackenzie King (left to right in inset) who themselves stayed in the Citadel. Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden and Secretary of State Cordell Hull, the British and American experts on foreign policy, lived at the Chateau Frontenac.

STARTLED BY SOUND HORSE AND WAGGON

MONTREAL, Que.—Time Marches On. The other day so unfamiliar had the sound become that the express agent at the Canadian National Central Station was startled when he heard what previously had been a commonplace, the note made by an approaching horse and waggon. It was the trot of a horse attached to a waggon bringing in an express shipment for one of the fast trains to Toronto and Chicago. "I'd almost forgotten about horses," the express agent exclaimed. "That's the first time a horse has visited our premises, motor vehicles have been legion."

The SNAPSHOT GUILD

SUMMER SPORTS

Want to make action pictures? Well, try posing them. This was made with a shutter speed of 1/25 second at f/11 on ordinary snapshot film.

SUMMER sports offer a splendid field for picture taking—a field that all amateur photographers should keep constantly in mind—and any photographer, regardless of his equipment, can capitalize on it.

Naturally, the better your camera the more you'll be able to do when it comes to "stopping" action. But it isn't imperative to have a fine camera for picturing sports. A little care, and perhaps a few photographic tricks, will go a long way toward adding fine sports pictures to your snapshot album.

Suppose, for instance, you want some good tennis shots. A box camera shutter isn't fast enough to "stop" fast tennis action—but there's no reason why you can't make pictures while your subject goes through the motions very, very slowly, or while he deliberately poses—say in a position just ready to serve.

Our illustration today of the shotputter was made by that technique. Rather than taking a chance on stopping the motion, the subject was asked to "hold it" and the picture was made at 1/25 at f/11 instead of 1/200 at f/5.6 which might otherwise have been necessary. This technique would apply to tennis, badminton, or almost any other sport.

Here's another idea. In movies you've seen action shots in which the camera "followed" a fast-moving subject, keeping it centered on the screen. Remember how the background blurred out, but the main subject was rendered very sharp? Well, that method can also be used in still camera shots of certain subjects—speeding cars, horses, or motorcycles, for instance. All you have to do to make it work is to center the subject in your viewfinder, follow it carefully with your camera, and then smoothly snap the shutter when the movement of your camera and the action of the subject are properly synchronized in the finder.

Try some of these tricks this year when you want to make summer sports pictures. You'll find that they'll help you produce more interesting and technically better results.
