CREATIVE PRODUCTION

CROP REPORT

The following report dated October 6 issued from the Extension Division, Nova Scotia Department of Agriculture, Truro, is entirely continue excellent. Creamery butter production showed another increase over last year and it is expected that increase will continue during the coming month. A very favorable second crop of clover on early cut fields has in many instances been cut, thus helping out on feed. Now seeding is showing up exceptionally well with the result that clover is right in the grain, making drying often rather difficult. Haying has continued in some sections throughout the month, wherever weather and labour made same possible. This applies more particularly to the dykeland areas. Most of the grain has now been cut, and some threshed. The crop over the Province is very variable. Antigonish County reports a fairly good crop; in some districts yields are very low. Frost holding off has materially helped not only grain, but also in other crops.

Potato yields are very variable. There are districts where there will not be potatoes enough for home consumption. In other districts yields are showing up fairly well. The potato dehydration plant at Kentville is now in opeation. Digging as not as yet become general in some of the potato disticts.

It is rather interesting to note the quality of both potatoes and vegetables at Exhibitions, Community Shows and Garden Club Shows. While crops as tomatoes are down as compared to other years, root crops have been showing up well as have onions. The growing of vegetables for home use has been spread over a much greater part of the Province. This is particularly true in many sections along the coast. Many excellent samples of potatoes have been on exhibit at shows.

Apples are sizing well and picking off better than at first was expected. The assistance of soldiers and sailors is materially helping in harvesting the crop. The late season has resulted in delay in getting away on winter varieties, and growers have been holding back in order that apples might be the better coloured.

Poultry pools are bringing out poultry indicating a heavy increase in the amount of poultry marketed. The quality has been excellent, with the market readily absorbing available supplies.

Farmers are definitely buying lime as they realize that there is a tie-up between th use of lime and production of clover. O. P. Mosher and Sons, Upper Musquodobit, shipped 2415 tons during the month of September. Orders on hand for rail shipment total 2930 tons as of October 6th.

Reports Light Rinfall in September

While the spring and summer months of this year brought rainfall that was much about the average, the first fall month brought under-average precipitation in most parts of the province.

The meteorological report from the College Station at Truro recorded a rainfall for the month of 2.57 inches, which come down in 11 days. The central part of the province appears to have been the most arid, as Kentville reported 2.71 inches, while Nappan had 3.58 inches.

The rainfall at Truro, and probably in many othe parts of the Province, was a contrast to the rainfall of September 1942, being way under half the total of 6.91 inches of a year ago. The average for the 33-year period was 3.63 inches. And so once again Mother Nature has sought to equalize matters.

The highest tempeature recorded during the month was 85 at Nappan on September 8. The mercury soared to 83 at Truro on the same day and reached 82 at Kentville the day previous. Kentville and Nappan tied for the doubtful honors of having the lowest temperatures when on September 19, the mercury at both places dropped to 31 degrees. Truro's nearest approach to the freezing point was 33 degrees on September 20.

The Nappan report summarizing the temperature readings, and the summary seems to hold fairly well for the province, stated that the temperature for the month was slightly higher than the 34-year average with the total hours of sunshine being a trifle above average.

Butter Production Up 15.9 P. C.

Nova Scotia creameries produced 153,984 pounds of butter in the week ended Sept. 25. This was an increase of 15.9 per cent over the 132,778 pounds produced in the corresponding week of last year.

Cold storage holdings, as reported from the nine cities in Canada total 30,930,712 pounds compared with 32,115,320 pounds a year ago.

Thirty-two weeks of study in the arts of music and the stage is what lies ahead of 18-year-old Evelyn Pasen, whose voice has been featured on many of CBC's National Network programs during the past year. On all sides there are a good many signs that the cheerful optimists who believed that the war is nearly over are not so correct in their prophesying as they thought they were The struggle for Italy is developing into a ding-dong fight obviously may take months to finish. The Germans are waking up in Eastern Mediterranean. They are putting up a stiffer fight along the Dneiper, and the weather there is coming to their assistance Worst news of all, the U-boat war is on again in greater intensity. It is being carried on apparently with bigger and better U-boats armed with new weapons and devices

Meanwhile at home we are troubled with strikes which, whatever their justification, obviously cause a slackening of the war effort. This is a time when quiet thought should teach us that any letting down of the total effort by Canadians is going to bring comfort to the enemy.

Our own security and our future depend on our capacity to see things clearly and to see them in long perspective. Subscriptions to the Fifth Victory Loan in the spirit in which we subscribed to the other four, will show the enemy more clearly than anything else could do that though we may have our private differences about how this and that should be run, we are still very much at one in our determination to see this thing through once and for all.

This is the spirit that apparently animated the people of the United States when they so successfully put over their own Victory Loan, which has just closed, quite heavily over-subscribed. Fundamentally, we have the same spirit, the same outlook and the same hopes for the future as the people of the United States. Our task proportionately is just about as heavy as theirs was, and we can do just as good a job as they did.

Gems of Thought

Peace is liberty in tranquillity.
--Cicero

You may either win your peace or buy it: win it, by resistance to evil; buy it, by compromise with evil.
--John Ruskin.

Nothing can bring you peace but yourself; nothing can bring you peace but the triumph of principles.
--Emerson.

It matters not what be thy lot,
So love doth guide;
For storm or shine, pure peace is thine,
Whate'er betide.--Mary Baker Eddy.

Peace and friendship with all mankind is our wisest policy, and I wish we may be permitted to pursue it.
--Thomas Jefferson.

When shall all men's good
Be each man's rule, and universal Peace
Lie like a shaft of light across the land,
And like a lane of beam across the sea?
--Tennyson.

Minister Visits His Constituency

HON. L. D. CURRIE
Minister of Mines and Labor

Hon. L. D. Currie, Minister of Mines nd Labor, who was visiting several points in Richmond County, which he represents with distinction and success, visited Arichat on Wednesday and saw many of his constituents during his presence in the county. The large appropriations he secured for our highways is ample proof of the great interest he takes in the improvement of our highways and he has only made a beginning. When this war is over, Mr. Currie, who is a genial and very approachable minister of the government, will show the world, and this county in particular, how earnestly he represents Richmond by still larger appropriations for his constituency, and perhaps paved roads for Isle Madame and from Grand Anse to Arichat will figure in these appropriations. He is not the kind of public man who makes promises only to have them unfulfilled. We have made a reference to paved roads for Isle Madame on our own responsibility and not on that of Mr. Currie. He seems reluctant to promise anything and will only do so when he knows that he can carry out any promise he makes. Mr. Currie is getting well acquainted with the electors by his periodical visits to the county and he is now regarded as one of themselves.

A PROGRAMME FOR EVERYBODY

Orchids from American columnists don't very often fall into the laps of Canadian weekly newspapermen. Last week, however, a widely read American column high-lighted the recent Convention speech of C. V. Charters, Managing Director of the Canadian Weekly Newspaper Association.

Emphasizing the magnificent part that reporters and editors are playing in the war zones and at home, this columnist stated: "On almost every battleground, ideas as well as armies have fought it out. Events have been complicated by the struggle of world ideologies that prostitute words and hide behind well meaning phrases."

"More than ever in this war", he continues, "there have been problems of interpretation. Newsmen and readers alike have needed a basic yardstick as a guide to clear thinking and reporting."

Such a yardstick, this columnist claimed, was offered by Mr. Charters in a straightforward five-point programme given to all delegates of the C.W.N.A.

1. Restore for the country the great bulwarks of teamwork, home life and faith in God.

2. Plant absolute moral standards as the yardstick for both public and private action to forearm the nation against post-war moral landslide and consequent economic collapse.

3. Fight for national unity by spotlighting what is sound and constructive and by teaching the public to discern what inflames and divides.

4. To show the nation that the war of arms is only one phase in the fight for a Christian civilization against materialistic ideas.

5. To enlist every reader to build in his home, office, factory or community the pattern of the new world we all want.

The correctness of the across-the-border evaluation of C. V. Charters five points will lie, surely, in how quicky and sincerely Canadian readers and editors start to put them to work.

It is wisest to let the cat out of the bag yourself, If you don't the neighbours will. And by then it may have kittens.

A Hospital Proposed For Arichat

Progress is being made towards the establishment of a hospital in this the shiretown of Richmond county. It will serve, we confidently believe, not only the whole of Isle Madame and its population of over 5,000 inhabitants, but, to a larger extent, the mainland districts of the county as well. This is a project that has been in the minds of the people here for many years, but only recently has it received vocal expression and action of a concrete nature. Our remoteness from the hospitals located many miles from here makes it imperative that a hospital be established in Arichat without much loss of unavoidable time. From a humanitarian standpoint it should enlist not only the sympathy but the active and material support of the inhabitants of Isle Madame and of the county as a whole. Too often have patients in a critical condition and in need of hospital treatment or an operation been delayed from getting to a hospital either owing to a snow blockade between here and Grand Anse or ice conditions that held up the steamer from proceeding on her trip to Mulgrave. This in itself should be a strong argument in favor of establishing a hospital here.

It is encouraging to know that some substantial subscriptions have already been received or promised in support of this project, and they will no doubt be supplemented by other large subscriptions as soon as the scheme becomes more widely known among our people at home and abroad.

It is essentially important that everybody to whom the project concerns should get behind those of our citizens who are endeavoring to establish this long-felt want in the town and by your aid bring it to a successful conclusion. Difficulties that may appear insurmountable can and will be overcome by the united efforts of a determined people, and, by all pulling together, (surely that is not too much to expect) obstacles can be removed and the money needed to proceed with this worthy work will, we have no doubt, be subscribed in substantial amounts to enable the promoters to place the undertaking on a firm foundation to assure it a lifetime of service to suffering humanity

It is needless for us to say—for you all know it—that a hospital is a grand thing to have in cases of emergency. It cannot be too strongly urged upon the people the paramount importance of having a hospital for any such emergency that may arise; it will allay not only the mental anxiety of the sufferers but also of their families. No one likes to be sent away to a hospital, but it will not appear so hard to the patient if one is situated nearer home where the patient will be able to see his or her relatives and friends as often as desired instead of having to go so far afield as at present.

Many other good reasons besides those already outlined could be placed before our readers in favor of a hospital located in our midst, but let this suffice for the present.

Good Crop of Cranberries

J. J. Latimer, proprietor of the Duke of York Cranberry Meadow reports a good crop of berries this season. He has experienced difficulty in securing pickers he expects to complete harvesting his crop during the next week. The Edwards Bros., Meadow, at Pondville, suffered considerable loss of berries due to the frost. This meadow has a small supply of water for flooding and the recent heavy frost wiped out a large section of their meadow. The Duke of York Meadow has an abundance of water for flooding being fed from a large lake and the water held by concrete dams which were built a few years ago. The demand for these berries is great and are being trucked away as fast as they can be prepared for market.

709 Pound Bear Killed

Bears have been killing off stock in Antigonish County lately, and when farmers Angus MacEachern and Ronald MacIsaac ran across one near their home recently they were in no mood for trifling.

They were armed with a shotgun and just a single shell of ball shot. They got the shot into the bear but it didn't bring him down.

MacIsaac went at the bear, then, with a big stick and they had it hot and heavy until the tide gave out. One of the farmers hit out for his home to get an axe, and in the meantime MacEachern decided to take on the intruder.

Cutting himself a club from a tree, he caught up with the badly mauled bruin and, by the time MacIsaac got back, had polished him off.

The bear proved to scale 709 pounds.

Callup Is Extended

OTTAWA, Aug. 15 — (CP) — Men reaching the age of 18 this year and married men up to 20 years of age now are subject to call for compulsory military service under an extension of the callable classes announced by Labor Minister Mitchell over the week-end.

The new orders drop the minimum callable age from 19 to 18, but provide that men shall not be served with notice to report for medical examination until they reach the age of 18 years and six months.

The extension makes married men between the ages of 27 and 20 subject to call for the first time. Previously married men up to 25 were made liable to call, and so the classes 20 by date of birth those who were 25 when the previous extention was made now are 26 and still liable to call with their birthyear class.
