Yarns Spun On The Old Spinning Wheel

By Norman L. MacLeod (The Annex, Otisville, N. Y.)

Queen Victoria's birthday was on May 24. Queen Mary was 85 years old on May 26. I have microscoped and fine-tooth-combed the pages of every almanac and chronological annal available but found nothing of note that happened on May 25 for the year 1 A.D. down to and including 1951. It is therefore incumbent upon me to give a first-hand, on-the-spot account of the history making events of May 25, 1952, at Otisville, within the environs of the Shawangunk (pronouced Shanggum) Mountains, in New York State. It should have been released over a week ago, but due to a few minor kinks in the Old Wheel we couldn't get it spinning.

Not since the time Old Man Otis drove the Shawangunk tribe off the mountain and installed his first elevator to carry the oats grown in the valley below to the granary, at the summit of this majestic eminence, has anything of equal importance occurred. Some will contend that the burg was called after an entirely differently Otis and that he never raised oats either agriculturally or by elevator. Supposing they are right didn't I always tell you that some of the yarn spun on the Old Wheel was a bit shoddy? Because some people claim that Noah's Ark never rested on Mount Ararat, is that any reason to disclaim the erection of an elevator and granary on Mount Shawangunk?

The day was one in which only Cape Bretoners and young healthy people would brave the elements and venture forth from the comforts of their hearthstone. All during the preceding night the rain descended and from the break of dawn throughout the day there was a continuous drizzle with occasional showers. It was on such a day in October of last year, that my son with his family, visited me after an absence of nearly six years in Europe. In Canada, on election day ,they call it Grit weather, here it is called Democratic weather. It must be my weather too. So endeth this preamble. Now for the facts:

A couple of years ago in response to my request for an address I thought of my old friend J. A. Stewart could give me, he had his daughter, Mrs. Dorothy S. Leverson, a registered nurse in Massachusetts, send it to me, and from the correspondence that has ensued, a fine friendship has been formed. She has proven on a number of occasions to be a most kind and good friend. So when I received a letter the previous week, saying that she had to make a trip to a nearby town on the 25th and would visit me, my anticipation was most agreeably realized on her arrival here.

She was accompanied by Mr. Charles Bouffard, a very likeable person, whom it was a pleasure to meet. They both showed much interest in the book, "Lure of the Sea" by Wallace MacAskill. My cane also received considerable attention from them. Mr. Bouffard spent some years in Europe and was quite conversant on the subject of canes.

My friendship toward Mrs. Leverson goes back a couple of generations. Her grandfather, the late D. Y. Stewart, was a friend at a time when I needed a friend. He always had an odd job for me around the store and recommended me for the first job I ever had as office boy in the law office of the late J. A. Gillies, M. P., and later as apprentice on the Bras d'Or Gazette. I will always remember his kind interest in me when I was a boy.

Then there was that friendly enemy of mine, his son, J. A. Stewart, whom I will never forgive for giving me that trick cigar that exploded before it was half smoked and as I was beginning to enjoy it. Apart from a number of such stunts, pro and con, we spent many pleasant hours together, and I hope we can yet meet on this terrestrial globe. How about it, Jack?

To have such a fine spirit of friendship come down to the third generation as it has been manifested toward me by his daughter Dorothy gave impetus to my desire to meet her, and it was with a feeling of kinship that I grasped her hand. I was indeed impressed with her sound sense, ready wit and fine spirit of friendship, and consider myself well favored to have such a friend. I am looking forward to meeting the fourth generation—her daughter, Sandra.

Their visit had to be curtailed because of the wet condition of the roads and the long drive ahead as they wished to reach home before nightfall.

On their departure I was all set to take an hour's Rip Van Winkle when more visitors were announced. About the year 1898 Ernest Morrison and Hugh Campbell, two youngsters from St. Peter's, encountered a large bear and her two cubs near MacIntyre's Lake, and now over 50 years later the same Ernest Morrison descended upon this retreat in the foothills of the Shawangunk all set to beard this old lion in his den. Accompanying him was his lovely young daughter, Miss Reta.

The last time we met was in 1908 in Beverley, Mass., where I was working in a print shop. Ernest was employed as a lineman with the General Electric Co. at Lynn. It was not until early in 1950 that our paths again met. At that time I received a letter from him postmarked Toledo, Ohio, in which he said: "Having had several copies of the Richmond County Record given to me, I was very pleased to read your article. Sure made me think away back." He told me about his future plans which I thought would make a good yarn for the Old Wheel. I immediately replied to his letter to an address he gave me in New York State and asked for more

Wife of Chilean President Visits U.N.

Mrs. Rosa M. de González-Videla, wife of the President of Chile, visited United Nations Headquarters while in New York City. She came to N. Here she is seen in one of the United Nations Radio studios, recording a broadcast to the women of Chile. Seated at her right is Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, Representative of the United States on the United Nations Commission on Human Rights.

D'Escousse

This community was shocked by the news of the death of Teddy Poirier, who was killed on the collier Wabana when she was rammed by the liner Scythia in thick fog in the Gulf of St. Lawrence.

Poirier was off watch and asleep in his quarters in the after part of the ship and as far as we know was crushed to death or drowned.

Teddy was only 31 years of age and of pleasing personality, always ready to do a good turn for anyone. He had just completed repairs on his home and had been to see his wife and little daughter the Sunday before.

He intends to transfer on Monday from the Wabana to the collier Arthur Cross, but the Captain of the Wabana wouldn't hear of it so he decided to make one more trip. He was a returned man having served in the last war.

More news regarding Mr. Poirier will be given when we get same. No funeral arrangements have yet been made.

To his wife and his family and his many friends we extend our heartfelt sympathy.

Capt. and Mrs. Fred J. Poirier are here from Halifax and are busy getting their house in shape to let to Dr. Gardner and his family who are at present in Holland but will be here in the near future.

Postmaster Jas. B. Landry was to Sydney on a business trip the 7th and spent the week-end with his brother Napoleon Landry.

DIAMOND DUST . . .

RED CAPS HUMBLE RAMBLERS

In a game that thrilled the fans from start to finish and one that will be remembered for a long time the Red Caps of Petit de Grat walloped the L'Ardoise Ramblers to the tune of 14-7 on the L'Ardoise diamond on Sunday, June 1st. Packed with action from the start the Red Caps drew first blood in the first inning when on Clement Marchand's single, Peter Boudreau crossed the plate. In that first inning however, after Jerome Martell grounded out and James Mombourquette struck out, Howard Samson walked and Russell Samson slid in a homer for two runs. The second inning saw little action for both sides, but in the third frame Peter Boudreau doubled and was brought home on a single by Clement Marchand. The Ramblers did not score. In the fourth inning Rambler Richard Samson grounded out, Bill MacNeil struck out and Roy Mombourquette grounded out. The Caps scored on a double by Herman Samson who pitched a magnificent game till the 7th inning when he was replaced by the veteran (Lucy Boy) Louis Samson, and who finished the game. The fifth inning saw Jerome Martell score on a single by Russel Samson and Francis Briand scored after being hit by a pitched ball. In that same inning there was no scoring for the Red Caps. The sixth inning saw Red Caps scoreless too as did the Ramblers. In the seventh inning Jerome Martell, Gregory Martell and Howard Samson scored for the Ramblers, while Louis Samson scored on a single by Odillion Samson who was catching for the first time in a regular game and who played exceptionally good ball. In the eighth inning Rudolphe Boudreau scored for the Red Caps on a single by Edwin Power. Ramblers did not score. Going in the ninth inning and trailing 7-5 the Red Caps started throwing some of their dynamite and scored two runs to tie the score. Then in the tenth everything exploded. The Caps sent hurling seven runs across to make the score 14-7 and win the ball game in decisive manner.

Lorenzo Samson pitching for the Ramblers all the way, struck out nine Red Caps batters and walked two; Herman Samson struck out four and walked two; Louis Samson truck out seven and walked one (Rambler batters).
Batteries:

For Red Caps: Odillion Samson, catching; Herman Samson and Louis Samson, pitching.
For Ramblers: Lorenzo Samson, pitching; Francis Briand, catching.

SL. J. A. Ferguson Left For Paris

The following is taken from the RCAF newspaper "Wings Over Greenwood":

On Wednesday, May 21, a banquet was held at the American House in Middleton by the personnel of the Accounts Section for the purpose of bidding farewell to S L J. A. Ferguson, prior to his departure for duty with the RCAF Air Division in Paris, France. S L Ferguson sailed from Quebec on June 5.

On August 2, 1940, S L Ferguson enlisted in the RCAF at Halifax as a Clerk Accountant. After completing his basic training and Clerk Accounts course, he was posted to Sydney, N. On completion of the Officers' Training Course, "Fergy", as he is commonly called, was posted to AFHQ but attached to No. 4 Service Audit Group at Calgary, Alta, where he performed equipment audits at all RCAF Stations in the Prairie Provinces. From Calgary, he was posted to 5 Service Audit Group, based at Moncton, N. B., and then to AFHQ (DAF) branch where he remained until July 1949 when he was transferred to RCAF Station Greenwood, N. S.

During his stay at Greenwood, S L Ferguson earned his reputation of being most co-operative and very popular with all ranks. He will be missed not only by the Accounts Section Staff, but by all personnel at Greenwood. The best wishes of all ranks accompany SL Ferguson and Mrs. Ferguson in their new post in Paris.

Hon. R. H. Winters Reports From Ottawa

May 31, 1952

The Editor,
Richmond County Record,
Arichat, N. S.

Dear Mr. Editor:

This was a week characterized by miscellaneous Parliamentary activity. A number of matters were under consideration but there was no major debate on any one particular subject. Perhaps the legislation that received the most publicity on a national scale was that introduced by the Prime Minister for the establishment of a National Library.

There are still a number of things that Canada lacks and which are considered to be a necessary part of our national development. The Royal Commission on National Development in the Arts Letters and Sciences stated that a National Library was one institution which should be established at an early date and this legislation is one step toward that end.

The Emergency Powers Act was amended to continue the authority of the Government to invoke emergency powers if and when they are necessary. Fortunately it has not been necessary to use any such powers. In view of conditions still prevailing throughout the world, however, Parliament felt that emergency powers should be available to the Government for a further period of one year.

Around this time of year the House is concerned with Estimates consideration of which is worked in whenever an opportunity presents itself. During the week the House passed the Estimates of the Departments of Justice and Trade and Commerce, and had under scrutiny the Estimates of the Departments of Defence Production and Resources and Development.

There were a number of other interesting items having to do with Parliament but which did not become subjects for consideration on the floor of the House. On Wednesday there was the annual softball game between the Members of the House of Commons and members of the Press Gallery. This game always provides a great deal of entertainment for both players and spectators and a sizeable collection is realized for some worth while charity. On Thursday afternoon a number of Members and their wives left to visit Halifax and Lunenburg as guests of the respective Boards of Trade.

According to the schedule, the Members and their wives are to be entertained in Lunenburg tomorrow and I know that you will enjoy having them as much as they will enjoy the opportunity of being with you.

The highlight of the week for the Progressive-Conservative party was, of course, their success at the polls last Monday when they won four of the six by-elections. A variety of factors were at play in the different constituencies, and it is a matter of conjecture as to what the results would be in these ridings in a general election. The continued decline of the CCF party in eastern Canada was again evident but the Progressive-Conservative party can derive a great deal of justifiable satisfaction from their efforts.

Yours sincerely,

Robert H. Winters.

Diesel-Electric Locomotive

A college thesis was responsible for a long delayed meeting in Montreal recently between the Russian scientist who designed and built the world's first diesel-electric locomotive (shown above) and the vice-president of the Canadian Pacific Railway. The story began when N. R. Crump (right), now vice-president of the C.P.R., was studying for his Bachelor of Science degree at Purdue University, Lafayette, Ind., and was renewed in 1936 while Mr. Crump was locomotive foreman at Moose Jaw, Sask., and was working on his thesis for his Mechanical Engineer's degree. His subject, "Internal Combustion Engines in the Railroad Field", was one that required a study of facts that were almost unobtainable at that time. Mr. Crump turned to the reports of Dr. George Vladimir Lomonosoff (left), a Russian mechanical engineer who had designed a diesel locomotive as early as 1909, and had one in operation in 1923, to get the information he needed. The 76-year-old Dr. Lomonosoff, whose son is a resident engineer with the Montreal Locomotive Works, has been living so quietly in Montreal for the past two years that is was only recently that Mr. Crump learned of his presence in the city and arranged an interview. Modern C.P.R. diesel electric locomotive built by the Montreal Locomotive Works is shown in the picture behind Dr. Lomonosoff and Mr. Crump.

Preference

There's a charm about the Catskills
And their Rip Van Winkle lore;
Yet my fancy favors foothills,
Ringed around the blue Bras d'Or.

You may like the lamplight glowing,
Weaving through the Great White Way;
Give me sea-wind, clean and blowing,
From Green Island 'cross the bay.

Yours the choice to stew and stifle,
In some city's cramped abode;
I'll take leg-room, with a rifle,
Out the winding Oban road.

John MacInnis

On Sunday, June 1st. there passed away at the advanced age of ninety one years at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Alexander MacDonald at The Points, West Bay, Richmond County, N. S., one of the best known and highly respected citizens in the person of the late John MacInnis, a resident native of Rear of Black River where he spent many years as a valuable friend a worthy companion and a kindly Christian neighbour who was noted from his youth to have firm religious convictions based upon a true and broad spiritual foundation. It might be said of him with truth "that he was eminently a man of prayer" but with the tenderness of the Master "for the failings of human beings".

Although in the natural order and the natural course of things at such an advanced age in his declining years it should not be wondered at that his mental and physical faculties would not be altogether up to the standard of earlier years yet nevertheless he was able and pleased to see and recognize friends and intimate associates to within a short space of time before the end of the road of life's journey was reached.

In 1888 he was married to Bell MacSween who predeceased him some years ago and their son Duncan who in the prime of life died in 1912.

Our late lamented friend was the last member of a family of five brothers and two sisters, as follows: Dan, Allan, Duncan and Charles, Mary, Mrs. Robinson; and Sarah.

In the early eighties Sarah and Duncan died almost at the same time when within a few years they would attain the age of maturity and needless to say such a sad visitation spread a dark cloud over the home for many years afterwards.

The funeral service, conducted by Rev. D. J. MacLeod of Orangedale was held in the historic Church at Black River, the sanctuary in which the deceased so sincerely worshipped for many a day.

Rev. Mr. MacLeod as usual made very appropriate remarks from a well selected portion of the sacred scriptures of the New Testatment, that is St. John's Gospel Chapter 1 Verse 47: "Behold an Israelite indeed in whom there is no guile".

Besides the near relatives already mentioned there also survives one nephew R. N. MacInnis of Marshes, West Bay, N. S. and one niece Mary, Mrs. Nelson Beaton, residing at Coxheath, C. B.

Burial took place in the family plot at the MacIntosh Point Cemetery at Dundee.

Joseph P. LeBlanc

The death of Joseph P. LeBlanc of West Arichat occurred at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Edmund Forgeron on June 6th at the age of 82 years. Mr. LeBlanc had been in poor health for several years.

Surviving are his wife and two daughters, Mrs. Edmund Forgeron and Mrs. Miller Lavandier both of West Arichat.

Funeral took place on Monday with Rev. Fr. Doucet as celebrant at Requiem High Mass assisted by Father A. P. Poirier, Arichat, and Father Conrad Gerroir of Louisdale.

We extend our sympathy to his widow and daughters.

CARD OF THANKS

The wife and family of the late Joseph P. LeBlanc wish to express their sincere thanks to their kind relatives and friends and to all those who sent Mass Cards, letters and telegrams during their recent sad bereavement. Special thanks to Rev. Fr. Doucett, Rev. Fr. Poirier, Arichat and the Rev. Conrad Gerroir, Louisdale.

Yes, our call at the Acadian was very pleasant and gave us an opportunity to renew our acquaintance with Editor and Publisher, Davidson, and also to meet his Associate Editor for the first time.

Wolfville is one of the prettiest town in the Valley and the residents we met while there were most hospitable and friendly and they have every reason to be proud of their town.

JOHN McINNIS

Death recently removed one of Richmond County's oldest citizens in the person of John MacInnis, Rear of Black River.

A good citizen, a good neighbor and a good Christian in whom there was no guile has thus passed on.

Old Age Pension Investigator was to Sporting Mountain, Monday in the discharge of his official obligations which are always conscientiously and courteously performed with faculty and proficiency.

Gerald MacIntosh, Dundee, motored Alice Flynn and her sister, Jessie (Mrs. Wm. MacKay, The Points) and little son, Donnie, to Oban, Friday evening and it was pleasing to be favored by a social call from these old friends enroute.

Leonel LeBlanc is busy nowadays with his new two-ton Chevrolet transferring the Sporting Mountain pulp-cut to the station, and loading it on cars.

He is assisted by Charlie Grant of River Tillard.

There is a section of the old Post Road in the vicinity of the water tank with a series of wild cherries and pears in blossom on either side, and thus (for the time being) a miniature Annapolis Valley.

The Provincial Highway Board has a plant operating at Sporting Mountain Station.

We never realized it was of such significance until Alfred Boudreau motored us up to see it the other day.

Austin Boudreau was to Sydney Thursday, by Gordon Bus.

Thomas Morrison was a motor visitor from St. Peter's, Saturday morning enroute to the Shire Town.

The Goswell homestead down in the valley is a sight to engage you these days.

The woodland surrounding it is profusely interspersed with wild cherries which are now in a riot of bloom, the farm appearing as a titanic emerald in the center.

details as I wanted to print the yarn. Some time later he wrote again and said he might come to see me. Painstakingly I drew maps made blueprints and sketched all the trails around and over the mountains, yet it took him over two years to find my lair.

I could use a lot of what educated people call adjectives in describing my joy in again meeting him after so many years, but why go into detail about what happens when two old youngsters get together after a half a century and banter each other with a mixture of Cape Breton Gaelic, Boston and Brooklyn lingos.

Miss Reta seemingly enjoyed the session. Being a college graduate mayhap she studied archeology and takes an interest in antiques. She promised to come back again and bring a friend whom she thinks would be interested in meeting me. They will both be received with open arms (figuratively speaking). I will brush up on my homespun in the meantime and they will hear English spoken as it should never be with an utter disregard for all the rules of good grammar.

Eleanor may head her column "My Day" but she never packed more joy in any day than I did on May 25, 1952, in the company of my friends from Massachusetts and New York States. I certainly look forward to seeing them all again.

In the last couple of spasms we took in a tea party in Massachusetts, discovered the theft of five feet from Old Man Mountain in New Hampshire. Next we hope to meet you on the porch of Camp Bras d'Or on the border of one of of the beautiful lakes in the State of Maine.

The SNAPSHOT GUILD

When daddy helps baby into her high chair, that's a good time for mother to be at hand with a camera.

THIS column has frequently mentioned how nice it is that mothers take pictures. We usually write this in connection with snapshots of the children which mothers have such wonderful opportunities to take. But today I want to bring it up in telling you about a wonderful type of snapshot that doesn't appear often enough in family albums—pictures of daddy with the baby.

I was reminded of this the other day when a free lance photographer told me about a conversation she'd had with the editor of a family magazine. When asked what type of pictures the publication found hardest to obtain the editor had said those featuring babies with their fathers. She said that they had an abundance of opportunities to buy photographs of mothers and babies, but that apparently people just don't think about snapping pictures of babies and their fathers.

So, the purpose of today's column is to remind you to take pictures of baby with various members of the family. Such snapshots will add to the interest of your family picture record—and will greatly please the person privileged to pose with baby. As an added award for your camera efforts, you're likely to get better than usual pictures of the adults involved. This is because their attention will be so intently focused on the baby that they'll forget that they, too, are in front of the camera.

Seeing that you have such pictures is a snapshooting assignment for mother. These days most fathers take a very active part in caring for the baby. Think of what he does regularly for your young one and that will cue you in your selection of a picture taking situation. 423 —John van Guilder
