L'Ardoise Ramblers Snap Losing Streak

Stirling, June 25th-The visiting L'Ardoise Ramblers tonight staged a dramatic uphill battle to snap a three-game losing streak as they edged Mindamar 9-7 in a tightly played 7 inning contest played on the Stirling diamond. The Ramblers, minus six regulars refused to play dead as they pushed across five big runs in the top half of the seventh to erase a three-run deficit and win their first victory of the season.

• • •

Breaks Up Game

Rookie left-fielder Gerard Mombourquette broke up the game in the seventh with a ringing double to left field, scoring teamgtes Lorenzo Samson and Roy Mombourquette with the winning markers. Young Mombourquette, playing in his first R.C.B.L. game also came up with the fielding plays of the game, two brilliant one-hand grabs on drives which had "extra base hit" marked all over them.

Tough in Pinches

Lorenzo "Larry" Samson, after a rather shaky start, settled down to pitch good ball, in chalking up his first decision in three starts. The veteran hurler was particularly tough in the pinches, fanning the last three batters to face him on eleven pitches. He gave up twelve hits, walked one and struck out eleven.

Truman Patriquin went the distance for Mindamar and held the visitors in check until the roof fell in, in the 7th. He was touched for a total of ten base-knocks, whiffing three and issuing four free passes.

Russel Samson, Jerome Martel and Larry Samson, with each a single and double, paced the Ramblers on the attack. Leading the Mindamar squad at bat was catcher MacKinnon who turned in a standout performance. He collected a pair of two-baggers in three official trips to the plate.

Fine Sportsmanship

The visitors were struck by the fine sportsmanship exhibited by both the Mindamar players and fans. As one L'Ardoise follower put it: "They're the best we've met yet!"

The score by innings:

L'Ardoise -- 2 0 0 2 0 0 5 9 11 5

Hon. R. H. Winters Reports From Ottawa

The Editor,
Richmond County Record,
Arichat, N. S.
Dear Mr. Editor:

With the tourist season moving toward its peak, it seemed appropriate that the Hon. Lionel Chevrier, Minister of Transport, should able to announce that the Government is going ahead with the construction of a ferry designed to make a return trip daily between Yarmouth and Bar Harbour, Me. The tourist industry is important to Nova Scotia and our link between Yarmouth and the United States is pretty vital to the economy of Yarmouth in particular and western Nova Scotia generally.

The idea of a daily return trip between Yarmouth and some point in the New England States was developed some two years ago and it seemed to meet with quite general approval in Nova Scotia. The problem was approached jointly by the Government of Canada and the Government of Nova Scotia, with the latter government agreeing to contribute up to one and one half million dollars toward the project. The ferry, when built, will be operated by the C.N.R.

This new service will be a stimulant to the tourist industry in Nova Scotia, and, moreover, it should help our economy generally. It will give tourists from the United States and from Central Canada a shorter and more direct route to Nova Scotia, and, on the other hand, it should give our producers more direct access to the markets of the United States and perhaps central Canada.

All in all, Nova Scotians will welcome this announcement, and I would imagine that many citizens in western Nova Scotia will attach about the same degree of importance to this project as our fellow Nova Scotians in the eastern part of the province attach to the Canso Causeway.

One of the important items dealt with by Parliament during the week was the resolution preceding the Bill designed to enable the Federal Government to re-enter into tax agreements with provincial governments to provide them with compensation in lieu of certain taxes. This arrangement, which has now been in effect for a number of years, spreads the benefit of tax revenues more evenly over the whole country than would otherwise be the case. In other words, it provides most of the provinces with more revenues than they would be able to collect from their own tax sources. Nova Scotia is one of the provinces that benefits financially from these agreements.

Yours sincerely,
Robert H. Winters.

Plans Underway For A County Film Service For Richmond

Plans are being completed for a County Film Council to serve the people of Richmond County. At a recent meeting at the office of Inspector of Schools, R. J. Chiasson, St. Peter's, Mr. Charles Ellis outlined the plans for the formation of a Film Council to serve the needs of all organizations and schools in the Richmond County area. Attending the meeting was Mrs. Paul White, President of Richmond County Council Home and School Associations. Many organizations have been contacted and have expressed the need for film service which would serve all areas. The object of the County Film Council would be to co-ordinate all groups using visual aids so that all could pool resources in order to obtain equipment and films which would otherwise be out of reach of some organizations in the area. Mr. Ellis who is the National Film Board representative for Cape Breton, pointed out that the Film Board would assist in organizing the Council, train operators and place on loan to the Council a number of films. A meeting will be held early in September to bring together all organizations interested and the date and place of meeting will be issued shortly.

PARLIAMENTARY POLITENESS

Members of Australia's federal parliament have given a printed "blacklist" of 500 words and expressions banned in House debates.

Some of the words: Judas, liar, cur, thug, traitor, rat, heathen and scab.

Speakers have also frowned on expressions like "a sausage skin filled with wind and water and painted like a Chinese god," "grins like an ape at his own lack of intelligence", and "the imprudence of three and the intelligence of half a man."

"Liar," in the subtle form of "not in accordance with the facts and well he knows it," is also on the blacklist.

No more dashing down to the store at the last minute! Now—with Fleischmann's Fast Rising Dry Yeast you can bake any time—in quick time. This new granule form needs no refrigeration—keeps fresh in the cupboard for weeks, always right there when you need it. You can depend on it for quick baking—delicious baking results. Books and Libraries

By R. J. CHIASSON
Inspector of Schools

Many counties and communities in the past have attempted to provide themselves with Library services on a small scale. Most of these attempts began with great enthusiasm on the part of the sponsors but the results were practically the same—after a few years they vegetated and became stagnant. Their chief disadvantages were in the limited choice of books, uncertain financial support and lack of personal contact between the librarian and the readers. The Regional Library scheme overcomes these advantages by pooling the resources of a larger area and thereby ensuring a greater financial support and a greater choice of books plus the services of trained librarians. We have already drawn a parallel between library service and our schools. The single individual cannot afford except in rare circumstances, to provide his children with a private tutor, but he joins with his fellow-men and a teacher is found for the community. The same comparison holds for Library services. What the private individual cannot do, banded together they can bring these educational opportunities to the community.

County libraries were established about fifty years ago and in 1930 the first experiment in Regional service in this country was begun in the Fraser Valley of British Columbia. In the same year a book mobile service from Acadia University was started, operating through the Maritimes but it was discontinued after about two years. Prince Edward Island has been steadily building up their organization since 1933 when, with the help of the Carnegie Corporation it was first set in motion. Newfoundland, our newest province, has been slowly developing its own system. To date, the province of Ontario has the most comprehensive system of Regional Libraries.

In Nova Scotia, interest in library service began in the '30's under the leadership of Dr. J. J. Thompkins, who was then parish priest of Reserve Mines. The Provincial Legislature in 1937 passed an act enabling the towns and municipalities to co-operate for library purposes. A survey of library conditions in the province was made and the situation was found to be far from adequate. During the next year or two a Library Commission was appointed and financial support was offered by the province and by the Carnegie Corporation. The first library has now stock of more than 12,000 books and is steadily growing and expanding as the people form the reading habit and realise what it can mean for them.

In Cape Breton County much work and labor went on for quite some years before the library was established. Finally the Library Commission succeeded in having a library agreement signed by the City of Sydney, the Municipality of Cape Breton and a majority of the towns. The District Library Board has been appointed and a staff of qualified librarians. This library will serve approximately 100,000 people and will be the largest library of its kind in Canada.

Their library is growing and expanding. We spent a full day about three weeks ago travelling with the bookmobile to see for ourselves how the service operates and to see how they serve the little rural schools. We have yet to see a more encouraging sight than to see a group of boys and girls trooping out to their little one-room school with a parcel of books under their arms to exchange them at the bookmobile. One boy asked for a book on the New York Yankees, another one for a book on Lou Gehring. A fifteen year old boy wanted a book on Technicolor, a fourteen year old girl wanted a book on interior decorating, another wanted a cook book. A great number took books on fiction, others on geography and travel. They are very faithful in returning the books. Along the route adults also boarded the bookmobile and exchanged and borrowed books—farmers, fishermen, professional men alike rubbed elbows and went through the shelves to find the book they wanted. If the book wasn't there, the librarian made note of it. Sometime the answer was "we're not sure if we have it at the central library; we may have to send to Halifax for it but we'll get it for you".

Colchester and Pictou county along with Annapolis and Cape Breton are now serviced with a Regional Library and very soon in Hants county. Do the people read? They do. The statistics of the Cape Breton Regional Library show that they are over what is considered a fair average for any are. The same is true in the other centers in the province where they have set the scheme in motion. On May 29, Mr. Peter Grossman, Director of Regional Libraries for the province addressed the Richmond County Council of Home and School Associations and expressed himself pleased at the way the libraries were working and the use the people was making out of them.

To help the development of library services in the province, the Provincial Government makes a matching grant to the local regions. That is to say, if it costs $3000.00 to operate a Regional Library in the County (the estimated figure for Richmond which would come from the people) the province will match this with $3000.00

In Hants County,, they are working on the idea of a sub unit for the county, with a branch at Windsor. Hants county population slightly larger than Richmond. There a bookmobile works through the rural areas but the library is administered through the Colchester Library system. The same could probably be done in Richmond County. This county could be a sub-unit of Cape Breton with a bookmobile for this county with a branch library or a book depot somewhere in the county. A small bookmobile with a man driving his own truck might fill the needs of this county.

In Cape Breton county, as we saw it operating, two or three systems are used to distribute books. In a small rural school the children usually come out and exchange and pick their own books. In a larger school the librarian leaves a box of about thirty books which are exchanged at the end of three weeks. In larger schools, a teacher or a few teachers come out and make the selection. There are no hard and fast rules—whatever system suits best the school and community is the system which is followed.

The important question now is how is this scheme financed? The Legislation for Regional Libraries provides that the money be raised in the same way as all other general projects in the municipality, that is, by taxation. Whether the Municipality levies an extra tax ear-marked for librarier or if it comes out of the general funds is up to the Municipality concerned. It has been estimated that it would cost the Municipality of Richmond about $3000.00 or about 86 cents per ratepayer. On a per capita basis, it would work to approximately 25 cents but it is more realistic to take it on so much per ratepayer. An objection is sometimes raised that the cost may keep on rising. It might not be possible to operate in a few years as cheaply as we now operate, but no raise in taxation takes place unless it is actually approved by the council. The agreement provides they are not committed indefinitely, but they can give a year's notice and drop the thing entirely.

The cost of a Regional Library service to Richmond has been figured out roughly as follows:

$2500 — Librarian
$1000 — Bookmobile
$ 500 — Supplies
$2000 — Books
$6000 — Total

$3000 from the Municipality; $3000 from the Province.

Other counties of the province are benefitting from it; when will Richmond County enjoy similar benefits and the use of public funds to help us with it? The question is a good one—the answer is when the people ask for it. $.086 cents per ratepayer is small compared to other items we buy which are not so necessary as books for all our people. If all the people who are interested in the question talk about it with their neighbours, at their meetings, rallies, etc., eventually we will build up a favourable climate of opinion and we shall get a Regional Library for this county. This is our last article on the subject for this summer. We hope to return in the fall with more news and suggestions for this project. In the meantime, talk about it, discuss it with your friends.

We take this opportunity of thanking the Editor of the Record for having so kindly placed his columns at our disposal.

—:o:—

Tenders will be called immediately for construction of the Yarmouth-Bar Harbor ferry at an estimated cost of $5,000,000, of which the province of Nova Scotia will contribute $1,500,000, Hon. Harold Connolly announced.

My Calvary

* * *

I would have sunk beneath my cross
But in the dust there lay
The imprint of Another's foot
Along the ancient way.

I would have fallen to the earth
But that a sharp-edged stone
Was blood-red, where Another's feet
Had trod that way alone.

I would have fainted at my task,
Gone down in sore despair
But that a scent of wormwood
Spread subtly through the air.

I would have died of loneliness
In darkness' awful deep.
But far ahead a radiant form
Illumined the rugged steep.

Dundee Dew Drops

* * *

Mrs. J. N. Campbell and daughter Norma, of Brookline, Mass., are vacationing at Dundee, the guests of Mrs. A. B. MacDougall and Mr. and Mrs. Hugh MacInnes.

Bert MacDougall is convalesing at Dundee, after an operation in the City Hospital, Sydney.

A number of residents from this community attended the harness races in Sydney on the holiday.

A most delightful anniversary party and dance was given Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Urquhart at their summer bungalow at St. George's Channel, on Monday evening, June 30th when they were presented with a set of dishes.

The strawberry crop promises to be a success this year, providing they get enough sunshine to ripen within the next week.

Hugh MacInnes accompanied by his sister-in-law Mrs. Campbell, and niece, Norma also Mrs. A. B. MacDougall and Bert, motored to Stirling Mines, thence to Sydney on Wednesday.

It was interesting to note from a recent "Echo" in the Sporting Mountain News, that D. A. S. had occasion to visit once more at the Shore and to linger awhile with the spirit of the past. Great, and varied must have been the memories that haunted that broad and cultured mind, yet undimmed by years, as he sat in those familiar bounds. It was there he framed the future of a number of youths.

Time has dispersed and changed ,in many ways that little section at the shore but "Time" can never destroy the bridge that crosses back into those yesterdays and as we review those decades we realize that we have grown old, but not too old to dream.

Beauty Aids

The woman of today does not fear to look in her mirror. She is justly proud of her creamy, satin-like skin. She is breathlessly beautiful. But beauty does not endure without daily attention. Nature alone is inadequate to cope the insidious foes that rob the skin of its soft, warm glory. Nature must have assistance and so, for the woman who is particular about her skin and complexion, we are prepared to give assistance.

We doubt if you can find anywhere more satisfactory toiletries than at our store. Before Taking Any Medicine

Be extremely careful taking medicine and always observe the following rules: Always read the directions before taking a dose of medicine. Never take medicine in the dark. Never increase the dose without asking your physician. Shake any liquid medicine before taking. Never take medicines originally prescribed for others. Keep medicine out of reach of children. Pour medicine from bottle with label upward—to keep label legible. Close the container at once—some medicines get stronger, others weaker, when left open. Never interchange tops or covers on pill or powder boxes if they bear directions for use —serious results may occur.

"The die has now been cast"

An American manufacturer was planning to open a plant in Canada. He considered various locations and found what seemed a likely site. He talked to a local bank manager, got facts about the community and its facilities.

Some time later the company wrote to the banker:

"The die has now been cast. It is our intention to locate in S . . . We feel that it is well suited to our particular operation. You have been of great aid to us. Your accurate and rapid presentation of facts necessary to reach a decision was top-notch."

Such letters show how a branch bank serves not only its own depositors and other customers but how, by assisting business development, it benefits the whole community.

TEACHERS SALARY PROBLEM DEFERRED TO ANNUAL SESSION OF COUNCIL

A special meeting of the Richmond County Municipal Council, was held at the County Hall, St. Peter's, on Thursday afternoon, with Warden James Johnston presiding.

This meeting was called to reconsider the Richmond County School Teachers Salaries.

Warden Johnston in his opening remarks to the Council, pointed of the urgency of the meeting and the problem facing the Municipality in regard to increase salaries to teachers.

A communication from the Richmond County Teachers' Union was read by the Clerk requesting that some action be taken to increase the salaries of the teachers in the County.

All Councillors of the various districts took part in the discussion which followed and in most cases it was felt that no added burden to the ratepayers could be undertaken at this time. Councillors from fishing districts reported a failure in net fishing this season.

Mr. James Campbell, principal, of the Johnstown High School, represented the Teachers' Union and addressed the Council on behalf of the Union in their demand for increase salaries.

On motion it was moved and seconded that the matter of increased salaries to teachers be deferred to the next annual session of Council.

A vote by ballot was taken resulting in 8 votes for the motion and 6 against. Motion carried.

The meeting then adjourned.

Sporting Mountain Echoes

• • •

Upon arrival of the D. Y. Sampson Taxi from St. Peter's Sunday evening, we reluctantly took leave of our week-end guests, Mrs. Robert Lewis (Margaret Sutherland) and interesting son Charles Robert of the Steel City.

Whilst here Charles Robert made his initial attempt at angling in yonder brook and it was amusing to witness his excitement when he observed the first of a trio of trout he succeeded in landing dangling on the line.

True, they were not of leviathan proportions but nothing discounted their significance in the mind of a little lad of five years.

Mr. and Mrs. Leonel LeBlanc were Sunday motor visitors to Port Hawkesbury where they were afternoon guests of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Bissonnette.

Mr. and Mrs. Willie MacKay (Jessie MacDonald) and family of The Points, and Gerald MacIntosh of Dundee motored over Pringle Mountain to Sporting Mountain Sunday afternoon.

At Oban Mrs. Annie Mac Donald with her daughter, Alice Flynn and family supplemented the party, and after making neighbourly calls in Seaview they went to see the Provincial Highway Board's plant at Sporting Mountain Station.

Mrs. C. L. Leonard (Annie May MacMillan, and Mrs. K. MacDonald (Mary Campbell) were in Seaview, Monday, to see Mrs. Leonard's aunt, Mrs. J. H. Ross, whose health we are glad to say, is much improved.

They didn't motor they drove from West Bay, via Dundee and thence through Grand Anse with horse and carriage and with all due deference to new fangled facilities for travel and transportation it was the ideal way on that ideal day to fully enjoy the beauty and fragrance of nature round and about them.

We were glad for a pleasant social call from these well regarded citizens enroute home.

With characteristic courtesy George E. (Teddy) Morrison of Buffalo, N. Y., motored his brother in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Vitus Burke, his brother Arthur, and Josephine Burke over the Cabot Trail during the week-end.

What with fine weather and no untoward incidents the entire party enjoyed the novel sights and scenery throughout.

We were glad for a chat with A. J. Campbell when he was in Seaview Monday.

During our sojourn at "The Shore" Mr. Campbell was one of the unoffensive young men with whom we liked to mingle whilst waiting for the mail at "Sam's".

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Campbell were transient motor visitors from The Points, Tuesday evening, and we were pleased to make the acquaintance of Mrs. Campbell of whom we were wont to hear many golden opinions.

George Morrison visited us Tuesday and Wednesday ere leaving for his home in Buffalo, Thursday.

On the first occasion he was accompanied by his mother and his sister, Irene (Mrs. Vitus Burke and on the second by his sister Irene and his friend Angus MacVicar.

We are not so optimistic as regards extended leave-takings as we used to be, but we wish our good friend "Teddy" will, and trust we shall all be spared to greet one another again three years hence.

POINTS SCHOOL HAD ACTIVE YEAR

After being closed for twelve years the Points School West Bay, with Will Pringle as teacher reports a good term.

In regard to attendance the five pupils had a record or near record for the province with five 100 per cents and other months were around 98 percent.

The pupils and teacher sent art and handcraft work to the school exhibition at St. Peters. They also attended the Exhibition and saw the fine work shown there.

The amount of $3.90 was sent in the crippled children's fund, Junior Red Cross. This was indeed a good effort for such a small group.

Allison Pringle (age 6) and Rannie (age 9) had the best attendence with 184.5 days out of the 185 active days taught.

All pupils moved on to higher grades and on closing day the pupils and teacher enjoyed a fishing trip and picnic.

Prizes were presented to Christene MacKay, Ronnie Pringle, Donnie Pringle, Gary MacKay and Allison Pringle for good general progress.

CONSTANCE LAMBERT

Meet Constance Lambert, one of French Canada's leading singers, who is heard frequently in the broadcast series Gaiete Parisienne (Sunday nights at 8.00 on the CBC Trans-Canada nework). She was born into a musical farm family in Northern Quebec, and ever since she was 14, her ambition has been to sing opera. Towards this goal she has been studying in Montreal under well-known singers such as Anna Malenfant and Antonio Tremblay Boulay. She made her concert debut in Ottawa. Last year she was one of the winners of the CBC's Nos Futures Etoiles talent contest and since then she has been starred many times in French and English network programs.

The SNAPSHOT GUILD

This snapshot is fine in black-and-white, but if it were in color, the print of the mother's dress would dominate the picture.

Restraint Is a Virtue in Color Photography

MANY users of color film, particularly those who are new at it, tend to see how much color they can get into each picture. The result can be what the writer of the new edition of "How to Make Good Pictures" describes as a "veritable color hash."

He was making specific reference to a picture of a pretty girl who was wearing a brightly colored blouse in a geometric print with an equally bright skirt in a flower design. Unfortunately, the model's pretty face was completely overshadowed by the riot of brilliant color in her costume. The same picture would have been all right in black and white because the printed fabric would have been recorded in shades of gray and would not have dominated the picture.

When shooting pictures in color, you have to think in terms of the color in the scene before you. In nature most of the color combinations tend to be pleasing and harmonious—not clashing, garish, noisy—and it offers a good example to follow in setting up your color pictures. Most beginners tend to crowd too much raw color into their pictures—violent reds, greens, purples, yellow. They have to learn that a very small amount of color will produce a pleasing picture. For example, think of a snow scene with a few dark green evergreens and delicate blue shadows on the snow. That would be subtle, yet complete and very pleasing. Big splashes of poster paint color may be exciting at first glance, but they don't wear very well.

In planning shots it is well to remember that vivid reds and yellows tend to attract attention and are, therefore, helpful as accents at or near the center of interest. Cool dark colors, on the other hand, tend to recede so that gray-greens, blue-greens, dark blues, are especially useful as backgrounds.

Nature will take care of the color arrangement in most of your scenics, but when you can move your subject around to suit yourself, keep color balance and harmony in mind.
