Yarns Spun On The Old Spinning Wheel

By Norman L. MacLeod (The Annex, Otisville, N. Y.)

Those skeeters that have been buzzing around and biting you folks in St. Peter's were not born and bred on Isle Madame, and you folks in Arichat have no excuse on which you can extradite any members of the Culcidae family for puncturing the epidermis, sucking the legumus between your flunk and hat stand with the needles from their proboscis. They are not a St. Peter's product. My dogmatism is based on latest scientific findings.

Dr. Leo E. Hagmann, Rutgers University entomologist, accused Dr. C. Howard Curran, chief curator of insects and spiders at the American Museum of Natural History in New York, of misjudging distance when he said mosquitoes could fly more than sixty miles from their birthplace.

Dr. Curran had warned New Yorkers, that they would be plagued by mosquitoes from the New Jersey meadows. Dr. Hagmann said in reply that "the average mosquito could travel no more than a mile and that even with a favorable wind they would not get much further." He said that "the house mosquito rarely got beyond a quarter-mile from its birthplace."

So if you residents of St. Peter's and Arichat are being plagued by mosquitoes don't accuse each other of extrading criminally inxent armored insects of the Culvdae family to and fro. You are being bitten by winged parasites of the Amophles genus born and bred in your own backyard. At least that is what Dr. Hagmann, a noted entomologist, would have you believe.

I am more inclined to believe the opinion of Dr. Currrn that mosquitoes could fly more than sixty miles from their birthplace. with the opinion of Dr. Curran, which is a scientific one, I couple the practical statements of seafaring men of long standing, who have claimed that they frequently sailed through swarms of mosquitoes far out on the broad Atlantic It would be interesting to have Dr. Hagmann explain how they got miles away from sight of land, if they cannot travel more than a mile and even with a favorable wind cannot go much beyond.

There is the possibility of course that the mosquitoes may have bases every half mile on the Atlantic or they may have flat-top carriers from which to take off on the approach of a sail and to which they may again return. If so the have guarded it well as a deep military secret. Evidently subversives have not been able to infiltrate their domain and spy upon their martial operations. Perhaps if some of our diplomats were stung by a few top-ranking mosquitoes there would not be as many of our secrets getting behind the iron curtain.

It seems to me that if we used less DDT and other insecticides in our war on the mosquitoes and a little more parasiticed in exterminating the Red parasites that have so suavely invaded our schools, churches, and other strata of society and are now lurking in the inner crevices and gnawing away at the supporting timbers of our economy in the hope of bringing about its downfall, we would not be sitting on the powder keg we now occupy. Saying so of course brands us as kibitzers in the game of politics. We are alarmists and are accused of McCarthyism while the Reds continue to percolate.

An anecdote may be related as the finale to this erudite treatise on the mosquito. Capt. Jacon Freeze (if I remember his name correctly) was a native of Newfoundland and one of the most popular fishing skippers sailing out of Gloucester, Mass., a half century ago. He was known for his wit and was often quoted by othe fishermen. Returning on one occasion from a trip to the Grand Banks his mainsail had the appearance of a hula dancer's skirt. Shortly after leaving the fishing grounds he said that he was attacked by a large swarm of mosquitoes , many of which would weigh a pound. Choosing the vessels mainsail as the most strategic point of attack, they bore down on it in full force and as they struck they continued to bore making their way through to the other side. By the time the rear guard had passed through it was reduced to tatters. Dependent on the driving capacity of the smaller sails, the balance of the homeward trip was made under reduced speed. A joy-killer among those listening to Skipper Jake's account of the trip called him on his estimate of the weight of the mosquitoes, saying that he refused to believe that a mosquito ever tipped the beam at one pound, to which the skipper replied that what he had said was that many of them would.

DUNDEE DEW DROPS

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Henderson of Natick, Mass., are enjoying a vacation with friends at Lime Hill and St. George's Channel. At present Mrs. Henderson is spending a few days with her sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. M. C. MacInnes, Hedgerow Farm. The exceptional nice weather, favors Mr. Henderson who has a motor boat on the lake.

Sunday, our home was cheered by a number of favourable friends who called on us. They were Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Morrison and Mrs Jennie MacLean, St. Peter's; Miss Margaret MacLean and Stewart Thibeauville; Duncan MacLean, Orangedale; Iver Gillis, Whycocomagh, who for the past weeks has been taking treatment from Dr. Whyte, Grand Anse; and Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Pringle and six children, The Points.

On Monday 16th we were pleased to have as our guests Mr. and Mrs. Norman Nicholson and six year old Margie from Mulgrave.

Some weeks previous, we were agreeably surprised by a visit from a distinguished gentleman, whom we've been expecting for many months, whes Mrs. Ceretha MacDonald, Oban, drove into our yard with D.A.S.

Physically or intellectually, he does not answer to the description of a septuagenarian , and carries with him a bit of the sunshine that he enjoys on his little sanctuary on the southern slopes of Sporting Mountain.

He is talkative, interesting and educative and can hold the attention of an audience. We trust that the years to come will favor our good friend with continued health and that he will be spared to visit his many friends, many more times.

No worry, no strain--sit back and enjoy every mile of your trip!

Annual Meeting Richmond County Liberal Association At St. Peter's

W. F. CARROLL, Q. C., M. P. Inverness-Richmond C B., West

HON. HAROLD CONNOLLY Minister of Health and Welfare

EARL W. URQUHART, M. L. A. Richmond County

The annual meeting of the Richmond County Liberal Association took place at the County Hall, St. Peter's, on Monday afternoon, the 29h inst., with one of the largest attendance recorded in many years. Every district in the County was well represented.

The minutes of the last annual meeting were read by the Secretary, J. E. Samson and unanimously adopted.

The next order of business was the appointment of officers with the following results:

M. J. Bourinot, President.

A. U. Sampson, Vice-President.

J. E. Smpson, Secretary.

W. S. Urquhart, was unanimously appointed Honorary-President, a post he has held for many years.

Appointments of District Chairmen were selected and unamiously adopted by the meeting.

Due to the length of the speeches which followed we are unable to bring the full text of these splendid addresses, but will publish the following brief sketches:

The first speaker was Earl W. Urquhart, M. L. A., who on arising to speak was loudly cheered. He gave a brilliant account of his stewardship and assured his listeners that he would continue to serve his constituents to the best of his ability. We thank Mr. Urquhart for his kind remarks in congratulating this old weekly on its 55th anniversary.

W. F. Carroll, M. P., Inverness-Richmond-West Cape Breton, was the next speaker and was also given a good reception on arising to address the gathering. He outlined the achievements of the Liberal government headed by the Rt. Hon. Louis St. Laurent. Mr. Carroll spoke highly of the Hon. Harold Connolly and said that many years ago he had predicted a bright future for this gentleman.

Mr. Carroll congratulated the large number of supporters of the party who turned out to be present at the annual meeting.

Mr. Carroll left for Port Hood shortly after his address to be present at a Liberal meeting in that town.

G. S. Walker, President of the Inverness County Liberal Association brought greetings from his county, to the Richmond County Liberal Association. In his usual good form Mr. Walker outlined the history of Liberalism in Canada and how Liberal policies stand to the forefront as Canada forges ahead under the banner of Liberalism.

Warden James Johnston a veteran Liberal spoke on organization and as usual presented to the meeting some timely and most helpful information.

Honorary President, W. S. Urquhart, in a brief address thanked the members of the Association for having again selected him as Honorary President.

Mr. Urquhart moved a vote of confidence in the St. Laurent Government and the Angus L. Macdonald Government also in our Federal and Provincial representatives which was unanimously supported by a standing vote.

Hon. Harold Connolly, Minister of Health and Welfare who was the guest speaker was heard and was accorded a tremendous welcome by the meeting.

Mr. Connolly spoke of his 18 years in the Provincial Legislature and touched on his acquaintances with the various members from this county. He made friendly reference to Dr. Deveau a former member, who was in attendance at the meeting.

Speaking of Earl W. Urquhart, MLA. Mr. Connolly said that he has acquitted himself well on the floors of the Legislature and that Richmond County had every reason to be proud of his accomplishments.

A most pleasing and convincing speaker, Mr. Connolly held his audience at rapt attention and at times cheers echoed throughout the County Hall.

A veteran in the Macdonald Cabinet, the Hon. Harold Connolly, who during his early life was on the staff of the Morning Chronicle as news editor, is a man with a wide knowledge in the political field of Nova Scotia, upholding the Record of the Macdonald Govenment, he pointed out the great ability of Hon. Angus L. Macdonald, who down through the years has led his party with great distinction, bringing to the people of Nova Scotia a government that stands on its merit of accomplishments.

The meeting adjourned with the singing of the National Anthem.

Mrs. Whidden Shaw of Windsor, N.S., and her winsome daughter get prizes at the historic Hants County Fair.

WINS HOME BAKING PRIZES AT HANTS COUNTY FAIR

Winning prizes at the fair runs in the family of Mrs. Whidden Shaw, of Windsor, N.S. Mother, of course, gets her ribbons for home baking! And when daughter switches from carriage parades and school work to rolls and bread, she'll have a success tip to follow! "When I took my first lessons in baking from mother, she taught me to use Fleischmann's Yeast," says Mrs. Shaw. "I've been using Fleischmann's steadily ever since. It's so dependable for quick rising and light dough—the kind that gives you tender, delicious rolls and bread every time."

It's a tradition! Successful Maritime cooks depend for finest results on dependable Fleischmann's Yeast.

AUTUMN

A time when a tinge of a tingling tang,
Hangs in the evening air;
When snares are set and guns go bang,
Back of God knows where.

A scenic season with trees aglow
On summit, slope and swale;
When the wary wild geese honking go,
South on a star lit trail.

O mellow time that brings us back
To boyhood's halcyon days;
To a woodland lake and a sheltered shack
And a birch fire's friendly blaze.

Crime Doesn't Pay

By R. J Deachman

Crime doesn't pay. Every little while a story breaks in the daily papers telling of a big robbery, tens of thousands of dollars scooped up by the gang. The robbers escape with the loot. There are vague hints about the direction they have taken. This is followed by two or three hot stories. They are here, there and evreywhere. They have been seen in the wheat field of Alberta, they are in Montreal. Then a cry goes up, "Where are the police, how did the robbers get away so far?"

We have the answer in the dailies of September 17th. "Two policemen capture the Boyd gang. Not one shot was fired. The desperadoes had the guns but they didn't use them." The fact is that the chase had been so hot that they hadn't time to think, besides robbers of this type are generally cowards. They paint pictures on the troubled fields of their imagination. They will loot a bank, load up with the money, get out of the country, escape to some foreign country and live the life of Riley.

It doesn't work out that way! In the first place the number of robberies—big scale—is rather limited. They have no sympathy no support. The police are rather well organized. They are nation-wide. The public is on the side of the police. the criminal has no friends. Crime today is poorly paid business only fools or mad men try it. Crime with violence is the worst of all—that is from the monetary standpoint. The whole atmosphere has changed. Years ago mothers scared their refractory children by threatening to turn them over to the police, now the children are taught to trust the police, regard the man in uniform as friends. The lost child turns to the policeman if he feels lost and the big policeman takes the fear out of the mind of the child, gives him a hand, and steers him on the right road.

A good police force is the sign of a sound democracy. The police are always on duty, no graft, life to them is often a multitude of little things. Then a big event a vivid life for a few days, then back to normal. There comes at intervals a call for the police, a real trouble spot. Outfits like the Boyd gang get what's coming to them they pass from memory. Again the police are on guard—all's quiet. Fewer and fewer criminals take the risk. Crime in Canada doesn't pay. There were dreams of wealth and sunny days only to end in a gaol. The debt to society must, in the end, be met and the police, small in number but efficient, go on with the work of the day or night.

Yugoslavia Treats Children Against Mycosis

Mycosis, a highly contagious fungus infection of the scalp, reached near-epidemic proportions in certain areas under wartime conditions. In Yugoslavia, the World Health Organization and the United Nations International Children's Emergency Fund joined with the Government to strike at this disease which, unchecked, results in permanent loss of the hair. Trained technicians, working with UNICEF-supplied X-ray equipment to remove fungus-infected hair, are effecting rapid cures. Pictured above, hospital workers remove remaining hairs from children's heads after zinc-oxide treatment.

BLACK RIVER

* * *

The sixteenth Annual Community Fair was held at St. George's Channel on Sept. 23rd. A large crowd gathered to see this show which is growing yearly.

The exhibits this year were equal to any shown in previous years even though the season was so exceptionally dry. The exhibits of all livestock excelled those of former years. Pure bred Ayrshire cattle and calves were shown by Bert Buchanan and Gordon MacRae, Grand Anse, and grade Ayrshires were shown by Bert MacIntosh and Anthony Russo, Dundee. Shorthorns of mature cows, two year old heifers, and steers, yearlings and calves of exceptional quality were shown by Phil MacInnes, Angus MacInnes, Malcolm MacInnes, Ralph MacInnes and Hector MacRae, St. George's Channel. A very fine exhibit of horses was also shown in the following classes, roadsters, general purpose and light draft. The sheep exhibit was also excellent.

The judges were W. V. Longley Director of Extension, Dept. of Agriculture, Truro; Herb MacCharles of the Dept. of Agriculture, Mr. Archibald, Truro, also School Inspector Chiasson and Miss Jean Munro who judged the Domestic Science exhibits.

A feature of this outing was a parade of the Dundee school pupils headed by Piper Anthony Russo who played the march of "Bonnie Dundee". Two songs were rendered by the pupils viz. "Did You Ever Go Across the Strait of Canso?" and "Give Me Herring and Potatoes". A speech by Ella MacRae, Grade VIII entitled "The Homemaker's Education" was masterfully delivered and brought much favorable comment from judges and spectators. A School Yell ended the program The teacher, Miss Florence MacIntosh, Dundee, deserves credit for her efforts in training her pupils a number of whom is their first year in school.

It is hoped that next year all schools in this district will put on a show as we believe that the training of children in this way is invaluable.

Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Russo, Melrose, USA have returned to Dundee to spend several weeks at their bungalow here.

We are sorry to learn that Billy MacIntosh is confined to his home suffering from a dislocated shoulder which he received while exhibiting sheep at the community show recently.

Flood Time at Duke of York

On Wednesdy evening we visited Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Latimer at the Duke of York Cranberry Meadow and spent a very pleasant few hours with the friendly and genial couple.

While there Mr. Latimer's faithful foreman, Leonard Shannon came into the dwelling and informed him that the temperature was falling and that the reading at that time (6 o'clock) was at 33 degrees, a very low temperature for only a few minutes before sun-down.

We motored down to the big dam at Lake Sea to watch the opening of the gates to let the water cover the berries on the meadow to protect them from the frost.

One by one the sluice planks were removed from the dam and the sound of the rushing water became louder and louder, reminding one of mighty breakers beating on a rock bound coast.

The onrushing waters gradually covered the 25 acres of meadow forming a beautiful lake, and protecting the big crop of berries from the frost that would destroy Mr. Latimer's entire crop in very short order if no water was available.

We can well understand why entire crops of cranberries were destroyed by frost in the Annapolis Valley and elsewhere in the Province due to lack of proper irrigation facilities.

The Duke of York Cranberry Meadow can boast of the best irrigation system in the province with an abundance of water to flood whenever the occasion arises.

After the meadow was flooded we asked Mr. Latimer how much water flowed out of the lake to cover the meadow and we were surprised when he told us that it lowered the lake about one inch.

At present the harvesing of the cranberry is progressing and together with watching out for frost at night and the many duties in connection with the harvest Mr. Latimer and his employees are kept quite busy.

The SNAPSHOT GUILD

Developing and printing pictures is an exciting hobby for youngsters.

Fun for the Youngsters

NOW that schools are closed for the summer vacation, most youngsters have time and energy to spare—and their parents are looking for activities that will take up some of both.

For boys especially, I'd like to suggest developing and printing pictures. Most youngsters find it a fascinating hobby. They feel like junior chemists as they mix, measure, time and test temperatures. And it looks like they're performing feats of magic when they see a picture appear on a seemingly blank piece of paper.

The equipment isn't expensive—you can buy simple kits containing everything a beginner needs for as little as $5.55. The process is simple enough that even pre-teenagers can do it with perhaps a little help in interpreting instructions in the beginning.

A darkroom isn't essential. There's a photographic paper for printing that can safely be used in subdued light. When it comes to developing film, absolute darkness is required for only one step—that of placing the film in a light-tight tank. Practically any household has a dark closet which could be used for this one step. The tank is made so that the developing solutions can be poured in and out without letting any light get to the film.

For most of the work the youngster will need a place where there's running water and work space that's not easily damaged. Mother may or may not agree to having her kitchen be the scene of operations, although it's a good place. So, I suggest fixing up a spot in the basement or laundry room where the young man at work isn't so likely to interfere with the household routine.

Your photo dealer will be glad to show you the equipment needed to start your youngster off with an interesting, constructive hobby.
