Musquodoboit Soldier Awarded For Bravery

Corporal Elroy M. Faulkner, 20 of Musquodoboit Harbour, N. S., has been given an immediate award of Mention-in-Despatches by Lt. Gen. William Bridegord, the Commander in Chief of British Commonwealth Forces in Korea for bravery while serving with the 1st Battalion Royal Canadian Regiment.

Cpl. Faulker enlisted in Halifax in Sept. 1949 and until sailing for Korea with the Royal Canadian Regiment was employed at Barrierield with the RCEME school. His mother, Mrs. Margaret Carey, resides at Musquodoboit Habour.

The following citation accompanied the award:

"On the night 23-24 September, 1952, a patrol of one officer and three privates left the Royal Canadian Regiment forward defended locality with orders to proceed to a known enemy area. The object of this patrol was to seize a prisoner. The patrol was commanded by Lieutenant H. R. Gardner. It was divided into two parties, Lieu. Gardner, Corporal Fowler and one private formed the party which was to seize the prisoner and Cpl. Faulkner and two privates formed the firm base. At 0330 hours 24 September 1952 the patrol left our lines and moved parallel to the enemy held positions to a predestined spot, where the firm base was established at 0500 hours. On observing the advance party withdrawing with a prisoner and being pursued by seven enemy soldiers Corporal Faulkner so directed the fire of his firm base that he successfully stopped the immediate pursuit. This determined non-commissioned officer maintained the firm base and brought fire to bear on active enemy small arm weapons. He remained in position although the advance party was clear and on the way back to friendly lines and he could have withdrawn at this time. By this time it was full daylight. However realizing the importance of ensuring that the prisoner reached friendly lines safely, he chose to continue his covering fire, in spite of the enemy fire upon him and his party. When he saw that the advance party had arrived safely he withdrew. Corporal Faulkner's base was then eight hundred yards from friendly lines. This group accounted for one enemy soldier being killed and two wounded. This non-commissioned officer's skilful handling of the firm base and his courageous decision to ensure the safe return of the advance party was an important factor contributing to the success of the operation."

The Reindeer As He Really Is

In the vast stretch of country across the top of the world —Canada, Alaska, Greenland, Scandinavia and Siberia— the reindeer is the only animal of its type (with the possible exception of the musk ox which can thrive and multiply. As well as hauling Santa's sleigh, says a December Reader's Digest Article, the reindeer is a valuable economic asset.

At the top of the world the reindeer is food, clothing and transportation. Its hair is used for mattresses, its tail for shaving brushes. The skin makes parkas, mittens, trousers. Sinew thread is especially good for sewing canoes because it swells, making watertight seams. Knife handles and needles are also contributed by the animal. The stomach membranes (a reindeer has six stomachs) are used for packing cheese. Skin from the forehead produces a nonskid leather for shoe soles, excellent for walking on ice and snow.

In northern Scandinavia the Lapps' reindeer herds total about 600,000. The Russians are said to have a million reindeer on collective farms. In Siberia the deer carry mail, pull buses, and haul material for the Red Army. Evidence of Russia's growing interest is a recently published book on reindeer breeding.

In Canada 30 years ago the government started experimenting with reindeer herds in the far north. Today, says this Reader's Digest article, there are 3,600 in a government herd at the mouth of the Mckenzie, and another 4000 in herds managed by Eskimos. These may develop into a valuable new industry of the Canadian North.

Oldest Woman In Pakistan Dead

Kariman, the oldest woman in Pakistan and believed to be the oldest in the world, died at Hyderabad, capital of the Sind Province of Pakistan, on October 14. She was reputed to be 150 years of age.

Until her death she enjoyed good health, her eyesight and hearing were unimpaired and she had "cut" new teeth three times. She is survived by two sons, two daughters—all centenarians— 14 grandchildren and 35 great grandchildren.

Little Known Facts

(From the Current Issue of the Reader's Digest.)

The new Revised Standard Version of the Bible is the result of the efforts of 32 scholars, reports the current Reader's Digest. They worked 14 years to make sure the New Book would be more accurate and easier to read than any previous version of the Bible.

• • •

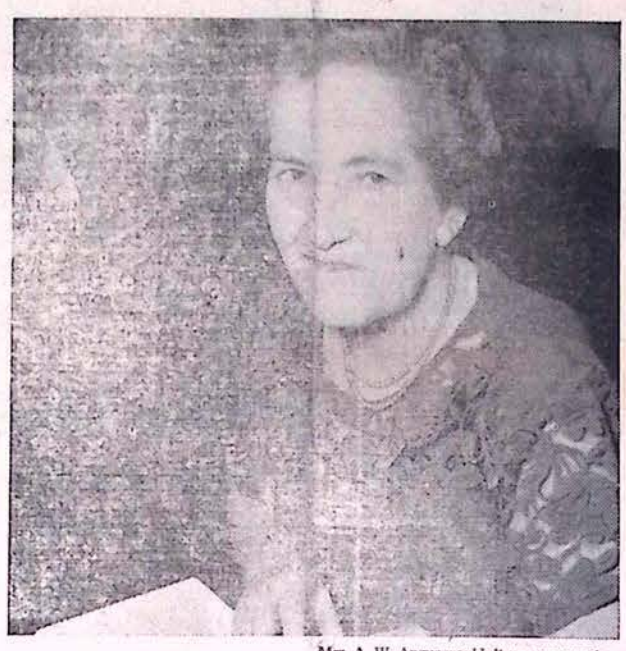

The Lapps use the reindeer for virtually everything. The cows, however, are not much as milk producers. According to the current Reader's Digest, a cow reindeer gives about half a teacup of milk at one milking. But the reindeer's milk has about four times the butterfat of average cow's milk. Just a few drops will turn coffee white.

• • •

Civilians working in Greenland at the U. S. Army's new Air Base draw wages that appear fantastically generous", states a December Reader's Digest article. Fifteen hundred dollars a month is not unusual; even janitors draw $226 a week. But most of the jobs last only five months (the rest of the year is too cold) and during this time the work schedule is 10 hours a day, seven days a week.

Technicians of the world's first coal-hydrogenation plant in West Virginia expect to extract more than 200 chemicals from coal, reports a December Reader's Digest article. Engineers have come up with a process that "knocks the technical spots" off the German method used to produce motor fuels for the Nazis in World War II.

Mrs. A. W. Angus wouldn't use any yeast but Fleischmann's in her baking.

Frequent Bakery Winner at Oxford, N. S., Fair

Cumberland County folk gather round an impressive bakery exhibit each year at their Oxford Fair. You've got to be good to keep in the running for those prizes! One successful contestant is Mrs. A. W. Angus, of Oxford, who's in there regularly with her prize-winning yeast baking. Mrs. Angus has some sound advice for the up-and-coming generation of home bakers: "There's no substitute for quality in your ingredients. Personally I wouldn't risk my bread and rolls with any yeast but Fleischmann's. Fleischmann's is fast and active—gives me satisfaction every time."

Other prize winners agree! There's no substitute for the fast, lively action of Fleischmann's Yeast in your dough. That's why it's been a favorite in Canada for over 80 years.

MORSE'S Selected ORANGE PEKOE TEA

In Egypt, where only one of every six persons can write, the new Premier Mohammed Naguib gets 1000 letters a day, says the December Reader's Digest.

Home is the dearest spot on earth and it should be the centre, though not the boundary, of the affections.

A. L. CURRIE

A. L. Currie, 75, former superintendent of the Canadian National Railways at Levis, died suddenly during the past week.

Born at Rockdale, C. B., he graduated from St. Francis Xavier University at Antigonish and joined the G. T. and S. railroad in 1900. He took the Levis post 29 years later, before being appointed to a similar positon at Cochrane, Ont., in 1939.

He retired as superintendent in Levis in 1942 after returning to his former post two years previously.

He is survived by his widow, the former Ethel Grow; his son, Ronald; his brother Lauch Currie of Boston; his sisters Jeannette of Boston, Cora of Detroit and Margaret of Boston.

(The foregoing account of Mr. A. L. Currie's death appeared in the Quebec Chronicle-Telegraph and was the first news we received of the death of this native born son of Rockdale, Richmond County

Although we were not personally acquainted with the late Mr. Currie, we found in him a good friend and his many kindly letters when remitting his subscription to the Record, of which he was a subscriber for many years, were very encouraging and much appreciated.

To his widow and son, we extend our heartfelt sympathy in the passing of a loving husband and father).

Why Farmers Use the Low Cost SOIL CONDITIONER BLAST LIME

ONLY $1.25 PER TON

- Builds better soils by adding lime and other plant foods which arrest plant diseases. Sweetens soils, increases yields, hastens maturity.
- Contains magnesium, sulphur, iron, manganese, titanium, and other trace elements in addition to lime and calcium.
- Dept. of Agriculture tests show it increases yields 30% at 2 tons per acre — as much as 200% for poor soils.
- May be used on sod, pastures, land being seeded — any time of the year.

Thank God for eyes to see the lingering light,
Of sunsets far flung fires streak the west;
To see the blue-black beauty of the night,
Or morning break along some mountain crest.

Thank God for ears to hear an evening bell,
Clear, crystal chiming o'er a lonely land;
Or high above the sea's symphonic swell,
The cry of curlew on some stormy strand.

Driving Tests In Quebec

Very soon now, road tests and written examinations will be required for all applicants for driving permits in the Province of Quebec. One examining bureau already has been established in Montreal, and evidently legislation is to be introduced at coming session of the Legislature to set them up throughout the Province.

So, at last, Quebecers are to be given some assurance that those citizens who are permitted to drive motor vehicles are able to do so. This is an important step toward reducing the intolerable rate of highway accidents.

It is not the whole answer, of course. A driving test can measure an applicant's ability to handle a motor vehicle driven under ordinary conditions and according to traffic regulations. But it cannot determine whether a potential driver has a tendency to recklessness, or whether he is irresponsible toward others in his attitude.

A man may have the skill to pass the stiffest driving test, but he is the potential cause of a highway accident if he drives at an unsafe speed or otherwise takes chances.

There is every indication, however, that the Government plans far more comprehensive revision of the law than the mere institution of driving tests. Premier Duplessis has announced his Govenment will ask the Legislature to set up a new branch of the Roads Department to check speeding and supervise the loads carried by trucks and buses. The Government will also seek changes in the scale of penalties for infractions of the law—particularly in providing the courts with wider authority to cancel driving permits.

Misuse of Quebec's roads has gone on for so long that citizens may have wondered, after the Government's announcement that the problem was being given consideration whether anything effective really would be done to correct the situation.

The beginning of driving tests in Montreal is tangible proof that improvement is on the way.

Japs Don't Know War Is Over

TOKYO—A party of Japanese government officials will soon leave for the Philippines to break the glad news to three Japanese soldiers who still don't know that the Second World War is over.

The die-hard soldiers are hiding out in the jungle on Lubang Island. Filipino police know their whereabouts, but all attempts to tell them the war is over have been in vain.

The Japanese officials will play over the loud speaker tape recordings of family greetings. They will also leave photographs and letters from relatives in clearings and other places the soldiers frequent.

U.N. Aids Yugoslavia in Vocational Training

Yugoslavia gets ready to open its first Center for Rehabilitation of disabled persons who number about 500,000 in that country. Some of these are partisans, injured during the war. Others are farm hands, some are industrial workers. This vocational training workshop is the first of several and is planned as a demonstration project aided by the United Nations Technical Assistance Board. Here the director, Dr. Miroslav Zotoric (center), assisted by two patients, examines plans for proper placing of machines supplied by the U.N.

GEORGE THOMAS LEVIS

Stricken suddenly with a heart attack during the past week at his residence, 9 Leroy st., Gloucester, Mass., George Thomas Levis, husband of Alvina (Sampson) Levis, passed away almost instantly. Dr. Marx Bennett, responding immediately to a call from the Levis family, determined on his arrival at the residence that the stricken man had succumbed. Rev. James F. McCarthy, assistant pastor at St. John's church, administered the last rites of the Catholic church. Dr. Daniel J. Kiley, medical examiner, gave the official verdict of heart attack.

Born at Cape Breton, Nova Scotia, Dec. 12, 1874, a son of the late Joseph and Mary (Munroe) Levis, the deceased was a highly respected resident of Gloucester for more than 45 years. Prior to his residence in that city, the deceased made his home in Southbridge for four years where Mrs. Levis and he were married in St. Mary's church, Jan. 2, 1902. Mr. and Mrs. Levis celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary Jan. 2 this year with the entire family being present for the occasion. A kind and retiring man Mr. Levis was deeply devoted to his family and home. He was a devout communicant of St. John's Church, and one of its oldest parishioners. Prior to his retirement 10 years ago he was a maintenance man at the Watson company.

Besides his widow (the former Alvina Sampson, daughter of Capt and Mrs. Martin Sampson of Poirierville) he is survived by five daughters, Miss Mary E. Levis of Camden, N. J., Miss Theresa M. Levis, Mrs. Agnes C. (Raymond F.) Brennan, Mrs Mildred L. (Raymond) Gazzola, of Gloucester, and Mrs. Adele R. (Wm. B.) Plattner of North Attleboro; two sons, Joseph M. Levis of N. Attleboro and George W. Levis of Gloucester. A sister, Mrs. Minnie Whalen of Newtonville; two brothers, Hugh Levis of Victoria, B. C., Andrew Levis of Cape Breton, 13 grandchildren and five nieces and four nephews also survive.

The SNAPSHOT GUILD

When you have a collection of pictures like this one you can be sure of applause from your friends.

Success Secret

JUST the other evening I heard a conversation that is undoubtedly repeated time and again when people are looking at each other's pictures.

On this occasion two people had brought slides to show at an informal gathering of a group of old friends who hadn't seen each other for a long time. The young lady showed her slides first. The presentation was punctuated by admiring comments on the photographic quality in addition to the exclamations about the subject matter.

When she had finished showing her pictures the man remarked that he was embarrassed to show his slides. "Why, every single one in your collection is good!" he exclaimed. "The exposure is right every time and so is the composition. What kind of camera do you use? How do you do it?"

Her answer was a simple one. "Oh, it's easy," she said, "I only keep the good ones. The others go in the wastebasket unless the subject has some special personal value. In that case I put them aside for my personal enjoyment. But when I show my slides, I only show the good ones."

Now there is a big secret of a photographic success. Unfortunately, very few of us have the ability to throw away a picture we've made. We can see how bad it is. We apologize every time we show it—whether it's a color transparency or a snapshot print. But we just can't seem to bring ourselves to part with it. If you have pictures of this kind in your collection—and it is a rare snapshooter indeed who hasn't—at least take a cue from the young lady and put them aside. Don't inflict them on your friends. There are many mistakes we can't hide, but it is easy to destroy evidence of our photographic failures.

406 —John van Guilder

Sporting Mountain Echoes

Rev. J .M. McLeod held a devotional meeting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Goswell, Sunday evening, and his little audience listened attentively to a reasonable and interesting Remembrance Day address.

Mr. and Mrs. Angus McQueen, their three children, Mrs. Malcolm McLeod, and Lillian Cooke compised a motor party from Stirling to St. Peter's and Seaview, Sunday.

We were glad to learn that Lillian is getting along good in that neighbourhood down there.

We anticipated that.

Mr. and Mrs Vitus Burke (Irene Morrison) of River Tillard are being showered with congratulations on the recent arrival of a son at a Sydney maternity hospital.

Daniel Joseph tipped the scales at eight and one half pounds.

We compliment you, Irene, upon giving him a familiar family name.

We regret to report that in consequence of an accident at the Mindamar Mine, Monday, Arthur Fougere was obliged to have part of a finger amputated.

The Misses Blanche Martell and Audrey Baccardax R. N.'s were visitors to Seaview school Thursday in their professional and official capacities.

The new County Health Nurse will be plus many facilities of which her predecessor was minus during the score of years in which she earned the respect and gratitude of our citizens all of whom must readily concur with the sentiments so prettily put in the Record Publisher's sincere and eloquent tribute.

Whilst on the Sporting Mountain hunting grounds Monday, Everett Landry and Arthur Terrio of D'Escousse (the former now of Halifax) dropped in to see us.

We were glad to make the acquaintance of Mr. Landry who is a son of the late Capt. Landry, at one time MLA for Richmond County, and equally pleased to meet Mr. Terrio.

The Gladhill motor truck was over from Grand Anse, Thursday, and transferred Lloyd MacRae's family and furniture to Stirling.

Sheriff Madden was in Seaview Wednesday and conveyed Geo. Cooke to a reformatory.

We had occasion to see Jacob Isackson since his return from the City Hospital and he apparently has had his health restored and his youth renewed.

A representative of Child's Welfare was in the community lately.

Rumor has it there's to be a sequel to his visit.

What with fine weather prevailing, good roads, a galaxy of fair sex and orderly young men, and the captivating music of McKenzie and McNeil, of St. Peters' suburbs, Miss McPherson's dance in the interests of Seaview School Tuesday night was reminiscent of old timers in the years subsequent to Wold War One.

THE SLOW COMBUSTION COAL HEATER

NO TROUBLE

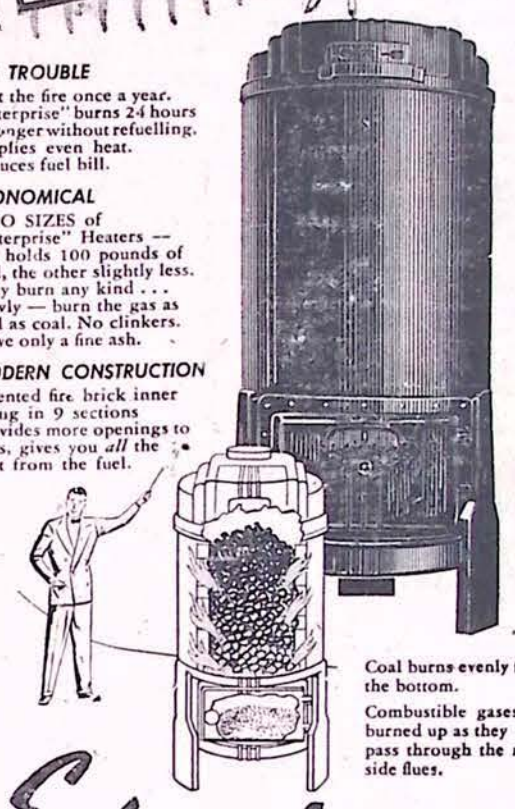

Start the fire once a year. "Enterprise" burns 24 hours or longer without refuelling. Supplies even heat. Reduces fuel bill.

ECONOMICAL

TWO SIZES of "Enterprise" Heaters — one holds 100 pounds of coal, the other slightly less. They burn any kind . . . slowly — burn the gas as well as coal. No clinkers. Leave only a fine ash.

MODERN CONSTRUCTION

Patented fire brick inner lining in 9 sections provides more openings to flues, gives you all the heat from the fuel.

Coal burns evenly from the bottom.

Combustible gases are burned up as they pass through the nine side flues.

Libby With Paul

Libby Morris, singing cigarette girl at the mythical White Mouse night spot, doesn't need a turning fork to stay on key when brother Paul Kligman is around with a water glass. "Libby With Paul" presents a fast fifteen minutes of fun and music with the Jimmy Namaro quartet providing the background, every Monday night on the CBC's Dominion network. Kligman plays the part of No. 1 bluesboy at the night spot and keeps himself busy looking after his sister's interests.
