Credit Union Rallies Planned For Inverness And Richmond

It has been announced by Reverend M. F. Stephenson, Director of the Nova Scotia Credit Union League for Inverness-Richmond, that plans have been completed for banner rallies of credit union members in Inverness and Richmond Counties on October 15th.

Thursday, October 15th, is International Credit Union Day, proclaimed as such by the Credit Union National Association CUNA which represents the Credit Union movement in Canada and the United States. This is a Thanksgiving Day for all Credit Union members, a day in which they give thanks for the benefits they, as individuals, receive directly from membership in their credit unions, as well as for the privilege of being able to help others.

The Inverness County Rally will be held at the C.M.B.A. Hall in Inverness town and the Richmond County Rally will be held in the Parish Hall at Louisdale. Special programs have been aranged in each place to observe fittingly the international character of this day and to place before the public the many worthwhile benefits of credit unions.

Reverend M. J. MacKinnon, Director of the St. F. X. University Extension Department will be the guest speaker at the Inverness Rally, while Dr. Daniel MacCormack Director of Radio Education for St. F. X. University Extension Department will be the guest speaker at Louisdale. Besides these special speakers there will be representatives from the N. S. Credit Union League and other invited guests representing church and government.

The Committee in charge of programs extends a cordial invitation to the general public to attend.

PATTERN FOR A DAY

Start the day with a prayer to God
That he will guide you right
From the rising sun
Till the day is done
And the stars come out at night.

Walk with God through the morning hours
And the afternoon as well;
Yes the whole day long
Sing a happy song
And within his presence dwell.

Think of God as the daylight fades
And the daily tasks are through,
Ere you go to rest,
Think of how you're blest
By the things He's done for you.

Thank your God for his blessed peace
And a love so warm and deep;
Raise a thankful prayer
For His loving care
And lie down to quiet sleep.

WORRIES

He was eighty years of age that day;
He had lived the allotted span,
He had carried burdens hard to bear;
He was every inch a man;
'Twas on this birthday that he said
Of worries great and small:
"The things that never happened
Were the biggest of them all."

TAKE TIME TO LIVE

Take time to work—it is the spice of success
Take time to think—it is the source of power.
Take time to play—it is the secret of perpetual youth.
Take time to read—it is the foundation of wisdom.
Take time to be friendly—it is the road to happiness.
Take time to dream—it is hitching your wagon to a star.
Take time to live and be loved—it is the privilege of the gods.
Take time to look around—it is too short a day to be selfish.
Take time to laugh—it is the music of the soul.

Hunting Season Opens October 15th

October 15 heralds the opening of the deer hunting season in Nova Scotia. From then until November 30 (Sundays excepted) the white-tails will be fair game for thousands of hunters patrolling the woodlands of the province.

It could be that this season will witness the greatest number of deer killed ever. In 1951 a total of 42,000 fell before rifles. The number dropped to 38,481 last year. In 1952 American hunters were prohibited from bringing fresh deer meat back into the United States through a ban imposed due to an outbreak of hoof and mouth disease in Canada.

For the past month or so the provincial Department of Lands and Forests and the Nova Scotia Bureau of Information have been receiving numerous enquiries from prospective deer hunters, many of whom missed coming to Nova Scotia last season.

More deer were killed in Halifax county last season than in any other county, the number totalling 3425 Only other county to top the 3000 mark was Hants where huntsmen were credited with 3096 deer.

Other provincial counties with respective kills were Colchester 2803; Lunenburg 2697; Guysborough 2595; Cape Breton 2586; Cumberland 2479; Inverness 2430 Annapolis 2414; Queens 2362; Pictou 1830; Yarmouth 1670; Shelburne 1666; Richmond 1557; Victoria 1451; Digby 1417; Kings 1350 and Antigonish 671.

The 1952 count included 21,640 bucks and 16,841 does. The bag limit per hunter this year is two deer, either sex.

MOD

Editor Post Record, Sir: Your editorial of the 15th referring to the departure of Hon Angus L. Macdonald for Scotland where on October 12th he will officially open the Jubilee National Gaelic Mod was read with interest by many

The locale of this Jubilee Mod is Oban a picturesque town in Argyle-shire, not Edinburgh as stated It is to be noted that in being invited to officially open this National Mod that a high honour has been conferred not only on our Premier but also on the province of Nova Scotia—this is an honour usually reserved for a Scottish peer. We have more than a passing suspicion that sometimes the Scottish peer selected for this honour is more fluent in Greek or German than in Gaelic.

That this part will come naturally to Hon. Angus L. is very true—we will not be far astray when we say that Gaelic is the mother tongue of New Scotland's premier, and it is equally true that he is well and ably qualified to preside at a Gaelic Mod anywhere, be it Oban, St. Ann's or Antigonish. He can express himself in fluent and grammatical Gaelic, something beyond the ability of some Mod enthusiasts.

What is said here about Hon. Angus L. Macdonald, may also be said of Hon. A. H. MacKinnon, Minister of Mines, who accompanies him, and who like the Premier is a native son of Inverness County where some 80 per cent of the population are Gaelic speaking.

This reminds me of something else. It will come as a surprise to many in Old Scotland—a surprise akin to amazement—to learn that these two high governmental officials from New Scotland in the persons of the Premeir and the Minister of Mines speak Gaelic so fluently and so well despite the fact that more than 150 years have elapsed since their ancestors left the Scottish shores. Things are certainly being reversed with a vengeance—we in Nova Scotia have been visited in recent years by many Scottish chiefs who, with one or two exceptions were totally and inexcusably ignorant of the tongue of their clansmen.

This made a very poor impression on the thousands who gathered to hear them. Indeed the accent of some of these Chiefs was more closely related to 10 Downing Street than to the Scottish hills.

Pipe music and Highland dancing and the parrot-like rendition of Gaelic song could not assuage the disappointment of people who came to greet a Chief who had to confess inability to speak Gaelic.

It is also of interest to note that the judge who will adjudicate at this Jubilee National Mod is Major C. I. N. MacLeod, a native of Scotland but not a resident of the City of Sydney, who serves as Gaelic advisor to our Department of Education, a position for which he is well qualified.

Shetland Wedding Custom

"The first Shetland wedding I ever went to was my own," said David Howarth in a recent BBC talk. It was not really a typical one, for during the war a real party could not be managed, and although his wife was a Shetlander, Howarth was English and for his benefit the celebrations were arranged in English style.

After they were married the Howarths went to a good many real Shetland weddings, which take place at six o'clock in the evening. He thought this a sensible hour, for by the time the Service is over the guests have good appetites, and when these are satisfied it is time for dancing. After the ceremony the bridal couple lead a procession of relations and guests to the village hall or school. There are no limits to their number of ages and a sit-down supper is provided for everyone which, so far as he knows is always cold roast mutton, bread and butter, cakes and tea. The wedding cake is cut and wine brought round and then someone, often the Minister, proposes the health of the bride and bridegroom, to which the bridegroom has to reply. Howarth's speech was carefully thought-out and lasted three or four minutes. He thought it rather good at the time but the guests seemed puzzled, and he did not find out until years later that the Shetland bridegroom's speech has a recognised form when he "Struggles to his feet takes an enormous breath and says 'on-behalf-of-my-wife and-myself - thank-you-very much,' and then subsides, blushing furiously."

After the feast the fiddlers get going and dancing goes on until six next morning. Someone comes round every so often with a bottle of whiskey, a bottle of port and two glasses, and every man gets a glass of whisky and every woman a glass of port, which they have to drink then and there because other people are waiting for the glasses, a good system because everyone has enough to drink, and nobody has too much.

Travel was difficult in the old days, when it was hardly worth assembling everyone for one night, and a good wedding was a three-night affair. Now the full-dress part is usually for one night and most people get home in time for breakfast, but next night there is what is called the "clearing up". The bride, bridegroom and close friends arrive at the hall to wash up and sweep the floor and then they tune up the fiddles and make another night of it. "The best thing about a party like a Shetland wedding," concluded Howarth, "is that every one you meet there seems twice as nice and twice as charming as usual, and even people you don't like on ordinary days seem not so bad after all."

BE SURE OF YOUR TARGET...

OR YOUR FIRST CARELESS SHOT MAY BE YOUR LAST!

Bear in mind that according to Section 143 of the Lands and Forests Act all persons who kill or injure another while hunting WILL LOSE THE RIGHT TO BUY A HUNTING LICENCE OR CARRY ANY FIREARMS INDEFINITELY.

Bear in mind also that this penalty is being rigidly enforced every year in Nova Scotia and in every case "indefinitely" may mean a lifetime.

Therefore take care . . . If you are inexperienced DON'T go in the woods unless you are accompanied by a guide or an experienced hunter. And if you are an expert DON'T let familiarity with the sport breed contempt for the safety rules of commonsense.

Make sure that you and other sportsmen can hunt again!

INSANE FOR TWENTY HOURS TELLS STORY IN MacLEANS

The fantastic story of how he took part in a scientific experiment that drove him insane for twelve hours, was told in detail recently by Sidney Katz, a Maclean's Magazine assistant editor.

In a ten-thousand word report entitled "My Twelve Hours as a Madman", Katz tells how he swallowed a few grains of a drug called LSD, which turned him into a raving schizophrenic, subject to all the visions, hallucinations, horrors, dispairs and torments of a certifiable lunatic.

The report is documented by tape recorded interviews made by a scientific team who quizzed Katz while he was under the influence of the drug, as well as by photographs taken on the scene and four color illustrations of his hallucinations prepared by an artist under the author's supervision.

The experiment was carried out at The Saskatchewan Hospital, Weyburn as part of a research project being conducted by the Sackatchewan Schizophrenic Research Group with funds provided by the Department of National Health and Welfare. Only a handful of doctors have taken the drug LSD and Katk is the first layman to experience it. Dr. Humphrey Osmund, clinical director of the hospital says that Katz's report will be "a useful research tool" and adds that "in some phases of research into mental illness, the guinea pigs must be the human beings."

Katz says his experience was so terrifying that it was a full two weeks before he could screw up courage to commit his memories of it to paper. Then he wrote:

"I saw the faces of familiar friends turn into fleshless skulls and the heads of menacing witches, pigs and weasels. The gaily patterned carpet at my feet was transformed into a fabulous mass of living matter, part vegetable, part animal. An ordinary sketch of a woman's head and shoulders suddenly sprang to life. Her hair became a nest of a thousand famished serpents who leaped out to devour me. As I patted a black dog, my arm grew heavy and sprouted a thick coat of glossy black fur. Time lost all meaning. The room changed with every breath I drew. Pictures, chairs, curtains and lamps flew endlessly about."

He adds though, that his hours of madness were sometimes filled with visions of dazzling beauty, "so rapturous, so unearthly that no artist will ever paint them.... where the clouds were apricot colored and the air was filled with liquid golden arrows."

Scientists believe that experiments like this one may lead to a totally different concept of schizophrenia, Katz reports.

"A few specks of a drug changed me, a normal person, into a madman. Is it not therefore entirely possible that the schizophrenic is a person whose body constantly manufactures minute particles of a similar poisonous substance?" If this is the case, Katz suggests, mental illness can be cured.

PROVINCE OF NOVA SCOTIA

Fire Prevention Week 1953

DEPARTMENT OF LABOR — FIRE MARSHAL BRANCH

Three hundred seventy-two persons were KILLED BY FIRE in Nova Scotia during the last ten years, of these one hundred forty-three were children.

The facts are that nearly all these lives were lost as a result of human carelessness. The majority were killed in their own homes.

WHO will be next? YOU? YOUR FAMILY? FRIENDS?

What will you do to prevent these tragedies? This is the personal challenge facing each one of us in the years ahead.

Most fires would never start if every man, woman and child used special care concerning flammable materials, the use of heating appliances, electricity, smoking materials and volatile liquids.

DON'T let amateurs fix your OIL BURNER, your ELECTRIC WIRING of your PROPANE GAS equipment. The labor may be cheap but the cost of improper work may be YOUR LIFE!

Employ only qualified electricians and service men.

Already this year FIRE has killed 22 persons and injured 64 persons in Nova Scotia.

Rapid spread of fire on combustible pulp board finish contributed to the loss of 8 lives in one fire. The second heaviest loss of life resulted from gasoline thrown on a fire to rekindle it, five children were killed.

Nearly every year some person in this Province is killed by using Kerosene or Gasoline to revive or kindle a fire in a stove. The cure is obvious — DON'T USE ANY OILS OR GASOLINE TO LIGHT A STOVE.

Protection of human life is the first aim of fire prevention.

The Goverement of the Province of Nova Scotia recommends that each citizen make Fire Prevention a personal project during the next year.

The dangerous work of fighting fires are the major work of Fire Prevention is done by our Volunteer and Professional Fire Fighters. These men give unselfishly of their time and labor in our aid.

A. H. MacKINNON,
Minister of Labour.

Fire Marshal.

Sporting Mountain Echoes

MAURICE O'TOOLE

Old friends and associates on Sporting Mountain were sorry for the recent passing of Maurice O'Toole.

In life's heyday his voice was familiar to us all.

During the decades when socials were common in Seaview and Oban, the dance would no longer lag when the boys from St. Peter's and is precints arrived with their popular and proficient prompter who never gave offense to anybody. .

Mrs. J. Melvin Mason is the new postmistress of Seaview succeeding Mrs. John N. Morrison who had submitted her resignation.

An official of the Post Office Department was here the other day to make the transfer.

Mr. and Mrs. John N. Morrison have moved to their attractive new home beside the paved highway at Ance De Loup one of St. Peter's pretty suburbs.

Native Sporting Mountain stock of pioneer posterity they have been residents of Seaview and thus a component part of our community life for upward of forty years.

Worthy citizens and neighborly neighbors they were ever readily responsive to the beck or call of any emergency.

We do not pretend to have a monopoly of all the virtues up here on these rugged and rocky slopes.

Like every other area it is humanity all round and "there is none perfect, no not one."

Nevertheless, we think that the good people of the rapidly expanding town of St. Peter's will be singularly fortunate if all their new comers are destined to compare favorably with John N. Morrison and Annie F. MacKenzie.

Mrs. Samuel Boudreau was to L'Ardoise for a few days over the week-end and attended the obsequies of her uncle, the late Simon Briand.

Roderick Morrison who recently returned from Korea to his wife and family on the central mainland was a visitor during the week to his mother, Mrs. Christena Morrison, The Points, and other relatives and friends, all of whom were delighted to see "Roddie" looking so hale and hearty.

Minnie Sampson are visiting their respective daugters, Mrs. Mark Veo and Mrs. Anthony Anastasia in Boston, Mass. Mrs. Burke was our church organist and is greatly missed by the choir.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Richard of South River Bourgeois have taken up residence in their new home in Cannes.

We hope Margaret and Alfred and their foursome of lovely girls will enjoy their pleasant new home for many years to come.

The committee in charge of the annual rummage sale wish to thank all those who contributed articles for this benefit.

Many contributions were received from former parishioners and friends in the USA. A substantial amount was realized in aid of the parish.
