N. S. Federation Home and School Encouraged

Work of the Nova Scotia Federation of Home and School Associations has met with "encouraging results" during the past year, delegates to the annual convention at Antigonish were told.

Federation President H. H. Simpson, Sydney, in his report stated that progress had been made in various projects, notably in joint action toward eliminatng the shortage of teachers. This effort was started the previous year with submission of a brief by the federation suggesting three steps:

(1) appointment of a Royal Commission on Educational Finance;

(2) Raising professional standards for teachers;

(3) Formation of a joint committee on public attitudes.

During the past year, the commission and the commitee have both been at work. And recently the Department of Education announced it had arranged with universities for four-year teacher training courses, with the department paying tuition fees.

Mr. Simpson disclosed that the report of the joint commitee on public attitudes had been closely studied by school inspectors from all ten provinces, in Institute meetings held at Winnipeg.

The work of the joint committee would now, he said, move into the second phase, aimed at informing the public on educational problems, seeking co-operation in securing better salaries for teachers, and adequate school plant. It was here, stated Mr. Simpson, "that the Home and School movement both at provincial and local levels can and will make a major contribution."

The movement views with pride its past accomplishments in Nova Scotia, but in Mr. Simpson's opinion "to-day faces the greatest challenge and the biggest opportunity for service in its history.

TYPICAL PROBLEMS

Development of new markets is a frequent problem for Nova Scotian secondary industry. One solution to this difficulty is the development of markets outside Canada. Your Department of Trade and Industry has an arrangement with the Federal Department of Trade and Commerce, Ottawa, to have foreign trade specialists visit Nova Scotia firms from time to time. In this way, the management of these firms will have an opportunity to obtain first hand information on the possibility of selling their goods in foreign markets and to obtain advice on the techniques and methods involved.

In company with a Trade and Industry Field Representative a Federal Trade and Commerce Specialist recently toured parts of the Province and gave useful advice and information to the management of firms already engaged in export trade. Efforts were also made to interest manufacturers not now exporting. Additional tours will be made in the coming months.

Your Department of Trade and Industry Field Representative will be glad to discuss any questions regarding export trade or refer you to the office in Ottawa which specializes in promoting sales abroad of the type of product made by your industry. He can also put you in touch with the many Canadian Government Trade Commissioners throughout the world.

American Couple Touring Canada

Thousands of Americans will be crossing the border this summer to visit parts of Canada, but it is doubtful if many will be undertaking the ambitious trip planned by a young New England couple and their family.

Mr. and Mrs. William Stockdale left their home here recently to start for Halifax, Nova Scotia, where they will begin a crossing of Canada from coast to coast and north to Hudson Bay.

They are accompanied by their three-year-old twins, Richard and Rebecca, their one-year old son, Robin, and their boxer dog, Taj Mahal.

Beginning at Halifax they will journey north to the Gaspe area and on through the Laurentians, including, also, the cities of Quebec Montreal, Ottawa, and Toronto. At times they will be following the Trans -Canada highway across Ontario and the prairie provinces of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta and over the Canadian Rockies to the Pacific coast.

Much of the trip will be over dirt and gravel roads and will take them through some of the wildest country on the North American continent. One section of western Ontario in particular has been termed "the American Siberia".

The unusual itinerary will take them into eight out of Canada's ten provinces, from prairie to glacier, and from the old-world atmosphere of the East to the booming oil-towns and pioneer settlements of the West.

At the same time the Stockdales plan to journey far north to the remote town of Churchill on Hudson Bay. This is the last outpost of civilization before the barrenlands. Here they may fish for the rare white whale, known as the Beluga, as well as for the prized Arctic grayling.

The Stockdales are outfitted with camping equipment and plan to camp along the route. Mrs. Stockdale, a registered nurse, has stocked the car with all necessary supplies for the care of the children throughout the trip, which has been planned to last between two and three months.

Mr. Stockdale, a writer and lecturer, will be gathering material for a series of newspaper articles, as well as filming a motion picture for his lecture audiences.

The young couple already has an estabilised background of outdoor adventuring.In 1950, Bill and Connie Stockdale together with their boxer dog, Taj Mahal, made nationwide headlines when they walked across the United States on their honeymoon, coast to coast and border to border, a distance of 3,525 miles in six months.

Following the hiking trip, perhaps in consequence to it, the Stockdales later became the proud parents of twins, who at the ripe old age of 15 months accompanied their parents on a hiking and mountain climbing expedition into Mexico.

With the arrival of a new baby son in May, 1953, the Stockdales celebrated by taking the whole family including the baby and Taj Mahal to Alaska one month later, where thay found many exciting adventures among the Eskimos above the Arctic Circle.

But they are most enthusiastic about their present venture.

"People travel to all parts of the globe," remarked Mrs. Stockdale, "when one of the richest and least explored countries in the world is our own friendly next door neighbour to the north—Canada."

The Stockdales also plan to return across Canada, choosing an alternate route wherever possible.

Sir Edward Bruce Chief Mod Visitor

Nova Scotia has been termed "the fountainhead of Gaelic culture in America" and judging from the Scottish-flavored events spicing its summer season this can readily be realized.

In addition 'tis said that more Nova Scotians speak Gaelic than do inhabitants of the bonnie Isle of Scotland itself. Not to be overlooked is the fact that Nova Scotia possesses the only Gaelic college in America.

Thousands of visitors are attracted each year to beautiful St. Anh, Cape Breton. Here, in a setting reminiscent of the hills and lochs of Scotland, is the locale of the annual Nova Scotia Gaelic Mod—meaning "Gathering of the clans"—where nimble footed highland lads and lassies, kilted pipers and singers engage in championship competitions.

The Gaelic Foundation Centre here, with its Gaelic College, has been responsible to a great extent for the preservation and maintenance of Scottish traditions and culture, not only through its annual Mod but also through its determination to keep thrivingly alive the Gaelic tongue and customs.

The Mod this year will extend six full days—from August 6 to 12 and will include welcome day, gathering of the clans day, pioneers commemoration day (with outdoor Gaelic service), Cape Breton island day, Nova Scotia champion day, and pageant of Scotland day, in that order.

In addition to the customary Highland competitions in piping, dancing and singing, an outstanding attraction will be the presence of a band of one hundred pipers, now in training for the opening next year of the great Canso causeway —"The Road to the Isles."

Each year it is customary to have as honored guest the world chief of a Scottish clan. This August for the first time in the sixteen-year history of the Mod a Lowland chief will be in attendance. The Earl of Elgin, Sir Edward James Bruce, head of the Royal Scottish House of Bruce, will officially open the Scottish festival.

Lord Bruce is a direct descendant of King Robert Bruce, Scotland's greatest national hero, who re-won her independance by administering the English an epic defeat in 1314 at the Battle of Bannockburn.

Your Holiday Entertainment

Arrangements are just about complete for the Big Annual Parish Picnic, at St. Peters on Wednesday, August 11th.

Attractions include a Turkey Dinner, which will be served from 3 p. m. to 9 p. m. Dinner will cost adults only $1.25 and children .75 cents.

Other attractions will be a "Fiddler's Frolic", by Invernessers and others, featuring Angus Chisholm, A. A. Gillis, John MacLellan, Buddy McMaster and Theresa Mac Lellan.

Games of skill for your amusement on the grounds, and refreshment booths will be at your service.

Proceeds for new church. Come and help this worthy cause.

Admission to grounds—

Adults 25 cents. Children free

A large number of fiddlers are expected to attend the Picnic.

The Picnic wouldn't be complete without pipes, and they will be on hand. Come and hear them.

A large dance stage at your service. Come and dance under the stars—to the liveliest music you ever heard.

The Road to the Isles

The following editorial taken from the columns of the "Liverpool Advance" is endorsed by the "Record".

Editor Cecil Day who spent some years in Cape Breton, knows full well the sentiments of the Cape Bretoner and whether Ottawa decides on another name for our famous causeway to us all it will remain the "Road to the Isles" and the name of the late lamented Angus L. Macdonald will live on when the 100 pipers cross that Causeway.

"We note with some pleasure that the Gaelic Mod this year at St. Ann in Cape Breton numbers among its attractions the presence of one hundred pipers now in training for the opening next year of the great Canso Causeway—"The Road to the Isles." And in our humble opinion it is most fitting and by that name alone theCanso Causeway will be known by Cape Bretoners and all Nova Scotians in the years to come. That is the name I think Angos L. would have given his blessing to and any name picked out by Ottawa bureaucrats will not be welcomed."The Road to the Isles" is fitting and will be everlasing."—Advance.

Sporting Mountain Echoes

Recent visitors to the Goswell home included; Mr. nd Mrs. W. J. Grant, Halifax; John S. Grant, Woodside, N. S., Nina Isaacson, Dundee; and Roy J. Morrison.

The remnant of his old neighbours in Seaview were right glad to see Roy J. Morrison of Halifax, when he called upon each and every one of them on Tuesday.

Mr. Morrison is a vacationist at the home of his parens, Mr. and Mrs. John N. Morrison, St. Peters who motored up for him in the evening.

Sporting Mountain is basking in the beauty and bloom of a typical Cape Breton summer, and an unusual quota of visitors from either side the international line are contacting old friends on its summits and sun-kissed slopes.

First to arrive from south of the border was Mrs. Emma Bonang of Providence, Rhode Island, who spent a week with her aged parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Goswell, ere their departure for Halifax, where they will henceforth reside with their son-in-law and daughter Mr. and Mrs. K. McLean.

Thus it was Mrs. Bonang's final visit, and it is never an easy thing to permanently break with the old home where all its agreeable associations were indelibly registered on the plastic and care free mind of youth.

Adieu Emma. We wish you well.

Next to come was a motor quartet comprising Mr. and Mrs. James McIntosh (Gertrude Morrison, R. N.) and Mr. and Mrs. Edward McIntosh (Esther McMahon) of Boston, Mass., who were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Hilery Morrison, in their commodious and comfortable home at "The Brickery".

Joined by Charles McIntosh of St. Peters the entire party favored us with a spirited and most enjoyable social evening in our little house by the roadside.

An annual motor visitor from Lynn, Mass., to friends and family connections in Cape Breton, J. R. Morrison is a guest of his brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Campbell, The Points, where his mother, Mrs. Christena Morrison (91) resides.

Monday, he courteously motored Mrs. Campbell and her daughter, Mrs. Stanley Parker of North Sydney to St. Peters, via Seaview whence Margaret McDonald accompanied them.

Mr. and Mrs. Archy Morrison, (Eernadette Boudreau) of Halifax and Mrs. Vitus Burke (Irene Morrison) of River Tillard, were a welcome trio to our little domicile. Thursday night.

We had not seen Mrs. Morrison for the past three years, and it was nice to note that she was still the same friendly and interesting Bernadette.

During their visit Mr. and Mrs. Colin McIntosh (Mame Morrison) their son-in-law and daughter Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Fialkosky of Allston, Mass., and John Grant of Halifax, joined us, and eventually the afternoon developed into a memorable one.

Maybe "MacTavish," will tell you about it.

NOVA SCOTIA COAL — THE THRIFTY FUEL

The Dosco Miner

Use NOVA SCOTIA COAL

In all the years Nova Scotians have been mining coal only 19.6% per cent of the known supply has been used. There is coal available for many years to come. This unlimited supply, plus efficient, modern methods of production are two of the reasons why heating with coal is easier on your pocketbook.

For example, there is the "Dosco Miner". Designed, engineered, and built by our own staffs, the "Dosco Miner" can extract and deliver to the loading conveyor one and one-half tons of coal in 13 seconds. No explosives are required thus making this form of coal mining safer and more efficient.

The "Dosco Miner" is only one of many new modern methods now being applied to coal mining. The benefits are passed along to you in the form of lower fuel costs and higher fuel efficiency.
