Loch Lomond Resident Saved From Drowning

Heroic action saved the life of a well-known Loch Lomond resident on October 24th.

Malcolm Shaw and his daughter Shirley were driving along the Grand River bridge when the vehicle suddenly went out of control and plunged into the water a drop of about 25 feet.

Within seconds the car went to the bottom with both occupants.

After feverish struggle Shaw and his daughter managed to get out and the young woman, who could swim was successful in reaching shore with some assistance.

On his way to church Gillis Mac Kay of Grand River Falls rushed to the scene, jumped in and swam 100 feet to rescue Shaw who was going down for the third time.

The courageous action of MacKay will be brought to the attention of the Royal Humane Association, Hamilton, Ontario for proper recognition, it was stated.

Times Columnist Likes Nova Scotia People

New York "Times" columnist J. Donald Adams has high praise for publications of the Nova Scotia Bureau of Information, according to a bureau announcement recently.

In tourist literature, he says, "adjectives run riot. . . Nova Scotia, it seems to me, has handled this aspect of public relations with exceptional good taste".

He mentioned particularly "Nova Scotia: Canada's Ocean Playground," "Historic Nova Scoaia" and the "Nova Scotia Tour Book." He said they are "excellent, attractive, well written."

Of Nova Scotians he adds: "I liked them . . . they seemed to me down to earth, friendly in an uncalculating way and reassuringly tough—the kind of people you could bank on in a tight place."

Herring Trawlers Arrive in N. S.

The first two British trawers to arrive in Nova Scotia in connection with the proposed new million dollar development of the herrisg industry docked in Halifax yesterday.

The trawlers, the Acorn and the Boston Swift, are the first of five ships expected to be brought to Nova Scotia from Europe for operations out of Pictou, Cheticamp and Cape Breton ports. One of the ships is expected to be a refrigerated craft.

The newly formed company, backed by foreign capital and equipment, is designed to boost the output of herring and pickled herring products for local, United States and world markets. German interests have been joined by the Nova Scotia Government to provide the starting capital for the firm, to be known as Mercury Fisheries Limited.

Pictorial Story--Duke of York Meadow

The Duke of York Cranberry Meadow, owned and operated by Josslyn J. Latimer, was established about 60 years ago, when Mr. Latimer's late father, John Latimer, and Dr. Josslyn of Cape Cod, Mass., put in the first cranberry vines on the meadow. Much work and planning had to be done on this project, however, the location, was ideal for such a venture, and as you will note by the photo showing the flood gates, that a large lake with an abundance of water is held back by these gates, which were constructed not so many years ago, by the present owner. They supply water when frost strikes this low meadow, which at times comes without too much warning, and keeps Mr. Latimer on the alert, more especially at night, during mid-summer and before harvest.

The gates are opened and in a short time the 17 acres of meadow are irrigated and takes on the appearance of a large lake.

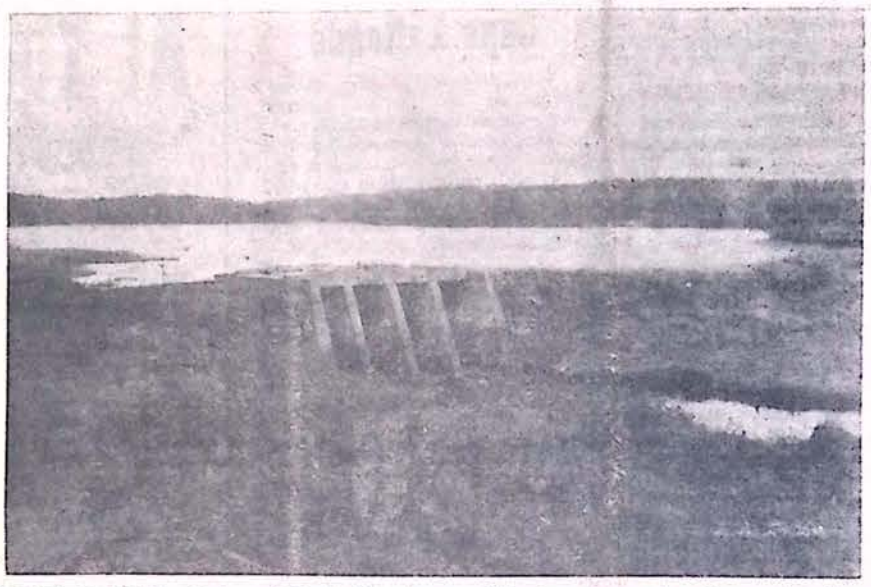

When the temperature rises, the lower gates are opened and the water is drained off into the Grand Lake.

A man with a knowledge in cranberry growing from his boyhood, Mr. Latimer has been a very successful grower, and has learned by his wide experience the many ways to cope with weeds and insects.

New vines are laid out in bays, and sand is used in abundance to help in the growth. All this work goes on during the spring and summer, and few idle moments are spent by the operator and his help.

The meadow is in full blossom in early summer and takes on the appearance of a flower garden. Frosts striking at this time could mean the total destruction of a crop harvest for that year.

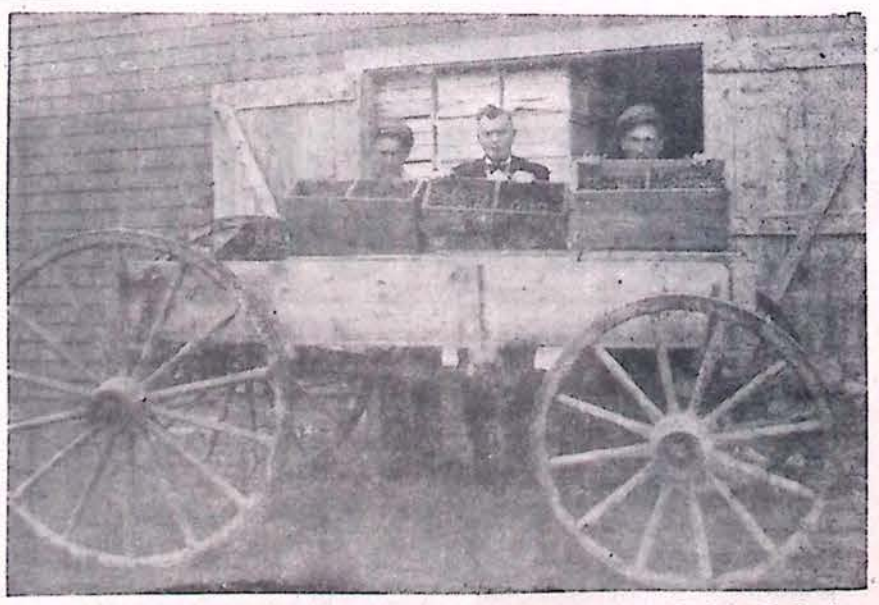

Pickers are put to work on the meadow and must pick berries in the bays that have been lined out by the foreman of operations. A good picker can chalk up many boxes in a days work, which are gathered up and taken to the screen shed where they are culled and cleaned and then packed for shipment. The greater part of the crop is marketed in wooden boxes. The Hilda Brand Berry, is packed in an attractive container with a cellophane front, showing the appetizing red cranberry, a product of Nova Ssotia, that has no equal.

FLOOD GATES—Duke of York Cranberry Meadow, located a few miles from Arichat, These modern flood gates hold back the water in Lake Sea better known as the Dry Lake. When frosts are in evidence the gates are opened and water rushing like a mighty avalanche scon irrigates the vast meadow, protecting the berry from being destroyed by heavy frost which comes in mid-summer and up to the time of harvest.

HARVEST TIME—In the early summer new vines are set out and in the forefront of this photo can be seen vines of the Howe Variety. In the background can be seen pickers harvesting berries in a portion of the producing area.

PONDVILLE

The community was saddened recentty by the passing away of one of its outstanding citizens.

Mr. Norbert Babin was in his 66th. year, and planned to retire this year. The deceased had gone to Montauk, Long Island, N. Y. several weeks before, to attend to some personal affairs, accompanied by Mrs. Babin, where he became more acutely stricken, causing him to return home sooner than planned, and his untimely passing occurred at the Arichat Red Cross Hospital on Sept.18th, ult.

The late Mr. Babin was employed in Montauk, L. I., where he went every summer and spent the winter at home in Pondville. He was a faithful and devoted husband and father, who was loved by all those who knew him, and came in contact with his charming smile and personality.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Minnie Babin, and one son, Leonard in Montauk, L. I. and ona daughter, Claire, (Mrs. Stanley Marchand, at home. We would like to extand our heartfelt sympathy to the bereaved family.

Mr. and Mrs. James Briand, of Halifax, were visiting friends and relatives here, recently.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Terrio, and two children, accompanied by Raymond Marchand, were motor visitors from Halifax, last weekend returning on Sunday.

Bernard Landry has traded his 1946 Chev. for a later model during the week.

Mr. and Mrs. Peter LeVesconte, visited the latter's mother, Mrs. Mae Dunphy, over the week-end.

Leo Martell has a new T. V. set installed in his home, and is enjoying pretty good reception.

Mr. John MacDonald, of River Denys, is lineman with the N. S. Power Commission, replacing Albert Forrest, who is convalescing after serious burns in connection with his duties with the Commission. We wish Mr. Forrest a speedy recovery.

The Maritime Telephone and Telegraph are constructing a new line through Pondville and Rocky Bay, which marks a step of progress and improved reception in this section.

Mr. Douglas Shaw, has arrived home after spending several months on an ocean going ship.

Mr. John N. Morrison, was around during the week selling apples.

An Enterprising Cape Bretoner

We were happy to have our good friend Mr. W. N. MacDonald of Sydney call at our office on Saturday last.

Mr. MacDonald related many interesting stories of the sea and one in particular of a trip both he and Mrs. MacDonald made to Greece when the late Capt. A. H. MacKinnon of this place was in command of a ship Mr. MacDonald had purchased in that country.

We are looking forward to publishing some of these human interest stories and feel sure Mr. MacDonald will supply us with the facts at a later date.

A man who has done much for industry in Cape Breton, Mr. Mac Donald is still looking to brighter days for the coal industry in Inverness County. At present he is operating mines at Inverness town and Port Hood as well as exploring areas in the Mabou district where we are informed vast resources of coal remain undeveloped.

In the shipping business for many years Mr. MacDonald has operated boats out of the port of Arichat to the satisfaction of the residents of Isle Madame.

Cape Breton would be the richer if we had more men of the calibre of W. N. MacDonald who are not afraid to develop the resources that are to be found on the Island and bring to its people a greater prosperity.

The same Sunday evening we had occasion to be gladdened again by a motor party who were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Vitus Burke (Irene Morrison) of River Tillard.

It comprised Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Morrison (the frank and faultless Marion Chadwick) of Toronto, their little family (a fair-haired girl and a robust boy) and Mrs. Archibald Morrison of Halifax the bright and interesting Bernadette Boudreau, who has a rare innate aptitude for infusing a pleasurable spirit into any company.

We were glad for an interesting visit from Mr. and Mrs. John N. Morrison who motored up from St. Peter's Sunday afternoon to call upon the remnant of their former neighbours in Seaview.

Government Assists Business Enterprises

"We have advanced from the view that government's job was meraly not to block opportunity to the view tha government should assist business in the grasping of opportunity," Hon. Wilfred Dauphinae, Minister of Trade and Industry for Nova Scotia, told Halifax Rotarians in a recent address.

He added:

"Something of this nature was in the now famous plan for tha development of our fisheries, which led to the astablishment and expansion by the industry of plants at Louisbourg, Petit de Grat, Mulgrave, Canso and other placas. This more than doubled our frozen fish capacity in this province. In the same way our study of the forast potential of eastern Nova Scotia has created great interest in these areas on the part of pulp and paper producers.

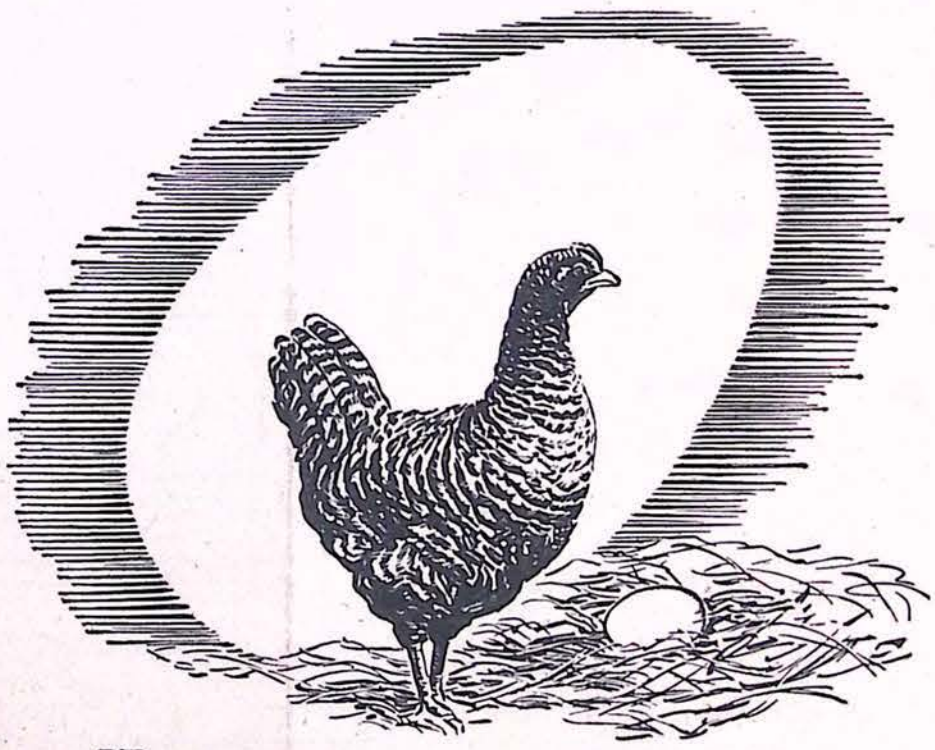

"A much broader approach, however, was taken with appointment of Artur D. Little, Incorporated, as industrial consultants for the department. They were instructed to delineate actual industrial opportunities--not just to make a survey of our economy."

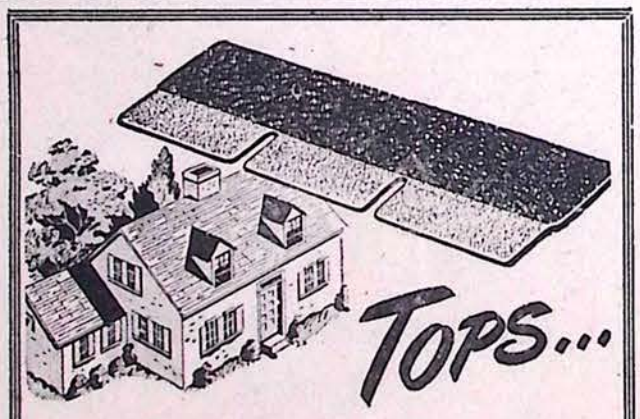

He continued:

"We want to be able to say to the businessmen of Nova Scotia and elsewhere: 'These are the industrial opportunities of Nova Scotia. Whatever their nature, they are real.'

"In this onnection we have set up an economic research and development division which will among other duties, maintain statistics on the basic industrial research done by this company. We can then, through the media of film and TV, press, radio and magazine, personal contact and spoken word, drive home to those with the know how and experience the advantages of Nova Scotia.'

Getting ideas from a china egg

A "nest egg" in the Royal Bank is a good idea, too. It is a strong inducement to you—to save more. As deposit follows deposit, you watch your savings grow. Then, almost before you know it, saving has become a habit . . . and a useful one. Build up your nest egg at the Royal Bank. There's no prettier picture than a healthy looking bank book.
