Sporting Mountain Echoes

Date of writing is December 10. Our first significant snowfall has been washed away by copious rains a circumstance supposed to portend an open winter.

"Neighbourly News" recently made reference to the many duties imposed upon a rural mail driver in addition to his regular obligations.

Yes, and much (or most of it) is gratis.

Mrs. J. Melvin consulted a specialist in Sydney last week and we are glad to know that the injury to her leg from a recent fall did not prove so serious as at first anticipated.

Alfred Burke, Alfred Boudreau and Jack Thibeau were numbered among the Sporting Mountain lumbermen who had their piles of pulpwood scaled during the week.

Alfred Boudreau motored his mother to Stirling Wednesday to visit her former neighbours, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Pate and Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd MacRae.

Mrs. Boudreau says that both families have established nice cosy little homes of their own at the Mindamar Mine.

It is nice to infer from letters to old friends that things are going favorably with the Goswell family since their removal to Halifax.

We hope our good old neighbors are destined for a happy Christmas.

We had occasion to go to St. Peters Thursday and motored dow via Cannes with Alfred Boudreau.

Thus we were privileged to coltact veteran friends in these urban centres.

Elliott McLeod is at present employed with J. A. Murray of Oban.

Business visitors during the week end comprised A.W.H. McDonald. Oban, Thursday; John Fougere of the Hawker Market, Friday; and also Henry Thibeau, Thibeauville.

The latter invested in one of Ben Konnings pretty and promising young pigs.

SUNSHINE IN TABLETS

Vitamin D supplies the benefits which could come from sunshine, if we could obtain it in adequate quantity. In our climate we cannot get enough sun on the skin. Therefore, every youngster should receive this vitamin from the time of his birth to the end of the growing period to prevent rickets and to help bones and teeth grow strong.

New Fisheries Patrol Vessel

Latest addition to the fleet of patrol vessels operated by the Federal Department of Fisheries, the P. B. "Sabella) was christened at Halifax over the week-end by Miss Peggy Baker, daughter of Loran E. Baker, Chief Supervisor of the Department for the Maritimes area.

Although she was built at Caraquet, N. B., she was brought to Halifax for final trials and christening in order to avoid being caught in the freeze-up. The ceremony was carried out at the Fisheries Wharf with members of the headquarters staff attending. After a brief talk by her father, Miss Baker broke the traditional bottle over the stem of the ship.

Commanded by Capt. Chesley Anderson of Sydney Mines, N. S., the "Sabella" is the fifth of her class and brings to twenty-six the number of patrol vessels now operated by the Department of Fisheries in the Maritimes. She will operate from Sydney in patrolling Cape Breton waters.

Built by Paulin and Friolet, the "Sabella" is of wooden construction with two 14-horsepower diesel engines developing 1800 revolutions expected to drive her at a speed in excess of 15 knots. In addition to her captain, she carries an engineer and a crew of three.

Actual overall length of the ship is 69 feet with a beam of 15 feet 9 inches, and a loaded draft of 4 feet 10 inches. Built of native wood her stem and keel are of white oak. Her double-planked hull has white pine on the inner layer and British Columbia fir on the outside.

Her designers were Milne, Gilmore and German of Montreal.

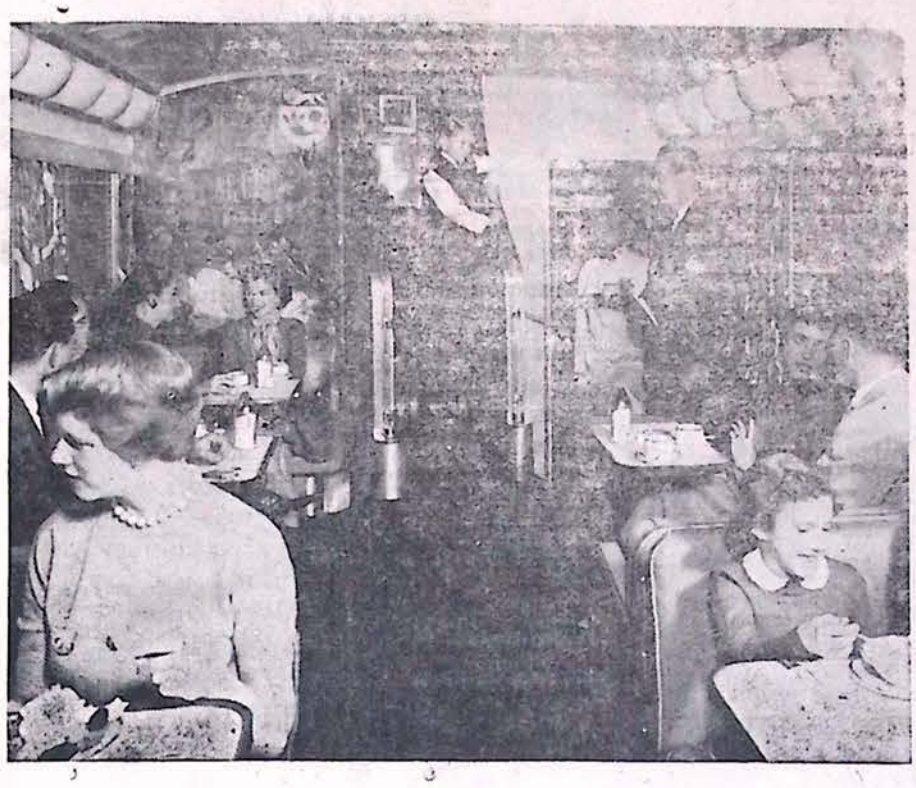

In addition to her two six-cylider main engines, she has a diesel driven five kilowatt generator to supply the 32-volt lighting system. The main engines can be operated both manually and through hydraulic controls from the bridge. She is equipped with an automatic-fired hot-water and heating system.

In addition to the usual navigational instruments and ship-shore radio telephooe she will be equipped with radar. She carries a 19-ft. double dory and a 15-foot outboard motor power skiff, and is equipped for towing.

The "Sabella" is expected to leave for Louisbourg about Dec. 15 from where she will operate during the winter months.

Until recent years, most domestic furnaces using coal were hand-fired. Many are still hand-fired today. The firing of the furnace and the removal of ashes causes some work and some inconvenience. This is not necessary today with a properly designed furnace with its accompanying automatic stoker device.

With modern appliances, coal can be fed directly and automatically as it is required from the coal bin into the furnace. Modern furnaces are fitted with ash removal units which automatically remove ashes from the furnace and place them in a conveniently placed receptacle. Such coal-burning furnaces are just as convenient as any other type of automatic furnace available today.

Assessment Of Property To Be Protested

(Chronicle-Herald)

ARICHAT — The Arichat Board of Trade will present a brief to the Richmond County Council at its January meeting protesting assessment of property.

The brief will take sharp issue with the new assessment made by D. F. Hanrahan, of Antigonish, who was brought in as an independent assessor.

Spokesmen for the board say "an army" of residents will present their cases on or before the Dec. 24 deadline for filing of appeals.

The brief claims no equitable basis of assessment in the so-called "independent" report, which is now available for publication.

DOWNWARD TREND

There has been downward trend in the number of cases of tuberculosis in Canada during the past twenty-five years. Once, this disease was the greatest killer. But new treatments were evolved, new drugs discovered and perhaps greatest of all, the x-rau was put into use for chest examinations. Mobile x-ray units travel the country and intensive campaigns are carried on in an attempt to check every Canadian, Indian and white alike. TB cases that are discovered can then be given prompt treatment. This has resulted in thousands being treated and usually cured cases which might other wise have gone undiscovered until too late.

CASE OF THE CLOSED DOOR

Every winter, there is the usual list of victims of carbon-monoxide poinsoning, generally drivers who have tried to start the car in a closed garage or else have sat in the car with the engine running and all windows closed. These dangerous fumes are odorless, tasteless and invisible. As they escape they may permeate the car and the victim may never realize that he is being affected. Even when travelling in the coldest weather, the car should be ventilated by having one or more windows open a little. And, of course, the motor should never be running in a closed garage.

WEST BAY, Richmond

By Richard Hill Wilkinson

MRS. Southern was desperately in need of money, and so when she came across the Currier and Ives print she thought right off that it might be possible to sell the picture to a collector for a considerable sum. The painting was dusty and fly-specked and encased in a heavy, antiquated gold frame, but she carried it down to the kitchen and cleaned it as best she could, and then called in Burt.

"It's been in the attic for years," she explained. "Mother had it a long time ago. And you know some Currier and Ives prints are worth fortunes."

Burt scratched his chin and scrutinized the barely distinguishable signature. He nodded slowly. ...t might get something for it at ...id. "It's a Currier and ...e enough ...

...ll, there's no ...more I look at it ...more I think it might bring a ...ce. Tell you what I'll do: I'll call ...oe Avery. He's a collector and ...he'll buy it if it's worth anything."

So Burt went to the 'phone and called Moe Avery "He'll be here

Mrs. Southern held her breath while he bent to study the painting.

in an hour's time," he told his wife a moment later. "We'd better not get too optimistic though. Probably turn out to be worthless."

"Oh, Burt, you don't think it will! Why—why I'd be satisfied if it brought $50!"

"Ought to bring that," said Burt. "Ought to bring more! However, no use in getting optimistic."

Mrs. Sothern sighed. "Fifty dollars!" she said. "Think of it. Just think of all the things we could do. But there. As you say. I mustn't get optimistic."

"That's best," Burt agreed. "Even $25 is a lot of money to us."

They talked about the prospects and possibilities, both pro and con, undergoing various sensations of hope and fear and optimism and misgivings, until finally the door bell rang and Burt admitted Moe Avery

Moe was a brisk and efficient little man. He greeted them briefly, and then produced his glasses.

"How long?" he asked, "has this ...nt been in your family?"

..., ever so long," said Mrs. ...n. "I—I've rather lost track."

..." said Moe. "You've been ...it?"

...s," said Mrs. Sothern, "we've ...en saving it."

The collector removed his glasses, carefully returned them to his ... and put the case into his ...ocket. His face wore a doleful ...pression. He sighed heavily. "I'm afraid," he said, "that I can't offer you enough to make it worth your while to sell. I'm sorry."

SHE SAID, striving to keep her voice under control: "Just a minute, Mr. Avery. We do need the money, and I've gone to the bother of carrying it way down stairs—"

Mr. Avery hesitated. "No," he said presently. "I can't do it. It would be robbery. Tell you what: I'll call a collector friend of mine and send him out."

Mrs. Sothern felt a little panicky. What if the collector friend couldn't pay them anything? After all, Mr. Avery knew them and was bound to be sympathetic. The collector friend might be merely an excuse.

Mr. Avery looked from one to the other of them. "Well, all right, since you insist. But don't feel insulted at my low figure. I realize what you have here, all right. Don't mistake that. But ready cash is scarce, and it's the best I can do."

"Christmas used to drive me crazy!"

"Every year it was the same. Presents to buy and cash at low ebb. Running up bills . . . then I got smart. I started a special Christmas account* at the Royal Bank, adding something each pay day . . . and leaving it there. This year I'm all ready for Christmas, with cash to pay for all the things that mean so much at this season of the year."

* You can have cash next Christmas, too. Decide now to open a special Christmas account early in 1955. It pays to do your Christmas saving early.
