Sporting Mountain Echoes

Date of writing is May 28th., and what with the exceedingly mild weather and timely showers, the summits and sun kissed slopes of Sporting Mountain are prematurely decked in summer attire.

Thomas Morrison, his daughter, Patricia, and foster daughter, Casilda Poirier, comprised a motor trio from St. Peter's to Sporting Mountain, Sunday afternoon.

Thus were they all on familiar ground of cherished associations.

We were glad for a friendly visit form Casilda and Patricia; glad to note they were the same unaffected and likeable personalities; glad they were Casilda and "Patsy" still.

Arthur Morrison and Edward Sawyer were among other trancient Sunday visitors to Seaview.

Hugh J. Hill, Alfred Boudreau, and Jas. Sutherland had their pulp piles scaled during the week.

The road grader did some extra work on the Sporting Mountain mail route, Friday.

Alfred Boudreau assisted Leonel LeBlanc hauling pulp wood to Sporting Mountain Station, during the week.

The transfers were rapid.

John Fougere of the Hawker Market contacted his customers as usual Friday morning.

We cngratulate Hn. Colin H. Chisholm upon his thoughts being the tneme for an editorial in the "Family Herald and Weekly Star", of May 26th.

Louisdale Co-Op. Guild

On Wednesday, May 18, the Louisdale Co-Op Guild held its second meeting in the school house. The President. Miss Alvina LeLievre opened the meeting with prayer. Following the president's greetings the Secretary, Miss Zelia Marchand read the minutes of the April meeting. Mrs. Michael MacNeil, program convener reported that the program would consist of talks by the following guests, Miss Doyle of the Dept. of Health; Miss Pugh of the St. F. X. Extension Department; Misses Sheila Nuttal and Martha Almon, Methodist Missionaries of the Southern United States and Jalados Monahari of East Pakistan.

Miss Doyle who was introduced by the President spoke on nutrition. She stressed the importance of meals having an appealing appearance if they are to be enjoyed by the family. She mentioned some of the different ways of serving vegetables, meat and fish to avoid the monotony of too much repetition. She also stated hat a happy atmosphere at meal time was very important. In closing she offered to demonstrate a cooking lesson at a later date, so we are all looking forward to her visit here.

Miss Pugh, our genial organizer, then introduced the other guests. Miss Almon and Miss Nuttal are both graduates of Nashville University and have considerable experience in rural church and community work. Miss Almon in her impressive talk said, "God gave us a mind to use and we should grow spiritually and mentally as well as physically. That is the only way to keep democracy alive. We shall have peace, not by the bullet box, nor the ballot box, but by the bread box."

Miss Nuttal spoke of her teaching experience in the Louisiana rural districts where she taught Acadians. She stressed the importance of prayer if our work is to be effective and asked the Co-Op Guild members to remember them in their prayers.

Mr. Monahari, a graduate of Cambridge University, has been engaged in organizational work with the fishermen of East Pakistan. After his course at St. F. X. he expects to return to his native land to continue the very important work of organizing the fishermen.

The President extened a vote of thanks to the visitors for their very interesting and instructive talks and the meeting was turned over to the entertainment committee and a lively French and English sing-song was conducted by Miss Pugh. Several games were played while awaiting refreshments.

The visitors were greatly impressed and thanked the group for a wonderful evening.

Seaside Evening

The first of the far flung planets shine.
As a late bird's song from a distant pine
Blends with the rippling rills;
For evening comes and the day is done,
As the final flare of the setting sun
Rests on my homeland hills..

And I catch the chime of the changing tide,
As a broad beam flashes far and wide
From the old Green Island Light;
While through the casement comes to me
The sombre song of the restless sea,
Like a chant on the wings of night.

CANSO CAUSEWAY

(The following article clipped from an American newspaper, was sent to us by our good friend, Norman L. MacLeod.":—

A $23 million engineering feat that has joined Cape Breton Island to the North American mainland also promises to make life less complicated for vacationers who elect to visit this part of Nova Scotia in coming months.

Working steadily for two and a half years, ingenious engineers actually have built a road across the Strait of Canso, which until now separated the northern island from the Nova Scotia peninsula. The Strait, a channel from one-half to a mile wide and several hundred feet deep in spots, connects the Atlantic Ocean and the Gulf of St. Lawrence.

About 10 million tons of rock and fill were poured into the Strait to construct the "road through the sea," with a base 800 feet wide, slanting up to a crown about 80 feet wide with room for a 24-foot highway, a six-foot sidewalk and two standard-guage railroad tracks.

Ceremony Aug. 13

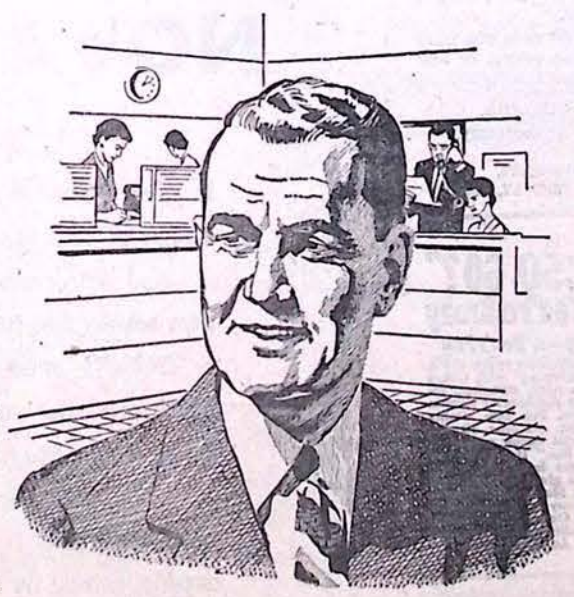

Formal dedication ceremonies will take place on Aug. 13, with 100 kilted bagpipers playing on old Scottish favorite. "The Road to the Isles," marching across the causeway. However, the road will be informally opened to traffic earlier.

To the half million or so visitors who come to this eastern Canada province every summer, the causeway will open up a new vacationland, rich in dramatic beauty, distinct in character and different in tradition. They will be able to cover the province easier by car without having to ferry across the Strait.

About 390 square miles of the island is given over to Cape Breton Highlands National Park, where forested mountains tower as high as 1,700 feet. The Cabot Trail, one of America's outstanding scenic highways, encircles the park.

Cape Breton is known as the New Word's repository of Scottish culture. St. Ann has the only Gaelic-speaking college in America and there each August the annual Gaelic Mo, a week of pageantry, dancing and singing, takes place. The wail of the pipes is often heard among the misty glens and the island's mirror-like lakes.

NOVA SCOTIA COAL — THE THRIFTY FUEL

USE NOVA SCOTIA COAL

It's hard to beat Nova Scotia coal as a heating fuel. It gives greater comfort at lower cost and it's flexible. There's a type of coal for every purpose.

For example, in cases where space heaters are used, best results can be obtained by using a washed nut coal. Best of all, of course, is DOSCO washed nut coal used in a smokeless stove. Developed in the Maritimes, the smokeless stove gives steady heat at low cost. And it requires firing only once in 24 to 36 hours.

For Nova Scotians particularly it is cheaper and more efficient to heat with coal. The coal industry is Nova Scotia's greatest industry. An abundant supply, mined by modern methods, gives Nova Scotians a price advantage on a fuel that is clean, safe, efficient, and gives more heat per dollar than any other fuel.

It's a fact! With Dosco's sensational new furnace coal is fed automatically in such minute quantities that it is virtually spoon fed.

Since his regular appearance on television, radio-TV weatherman, Rube Hornstein, is being referred to as the "guy with the sharp bow tie'. According to Rube a bright bow tie is an indication of an optimistic disposition but he admits frankly that like everyone else he has to take the weather as it comes. Although his Meet Your Watherman broadcast is off the air for the summer, Maritime radio listeners can keep up-to-date on the world's most talked about subject by listening to his "Ask the Weatherman" program Sundays at 7.05p.m. ADT.
