Sporting Mountain Echoes

With pleasure we join in congratulations and best wishes to Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Morrison (Josephine Burke) who, at time of writing, are honeymooning in the Garden of the Gulf.

Mr. and Mrs. Archibald Morrison were down from Halifax to fill a prominent place in the happy event, and thus were we favored with a pleasurable visit from Mrs. Morrison and her sister-in-law, Mrs. Vitus Burke, Sat. evening.

They were accompanied by little Dennis Joseph Burke who is named after his two grandsires.

Mr. and Mrs. Neil Sutherland of Sydney River are rejoicing over the birth of a son in the City Hospital October thirteenth.

What with a brother ardently desired for the quartet of pretty little sisters that preceded him, and moreover, a scion of the "Sandy's" necessary for a succeeding step in their posterity, little John D. with doubly welcome.

Congratulations are in order too to Mr. and Mrs. Dan MacAskill (Mary Sutherland) of North Shore upon the recent arrival of a robust baby boy, a nine pounder.

Ceretha McLennan, Leona McLennan and A.W.H. McDonald motored to the Strait Sunday where they were guests at the hospitable home of Mr. and Mrs. D. R. MacDonald.

Margaret MacDonald accompanied them back and will visit friends in Oban and Seaview..

Our neighbors A. H. Verhagen and H. McKinnon were our only Sunday callers.

Robert Lewis, John Inkpen and Henry Crane motored up from the Steel City Monday in pursuit of the elusive deer.

What with a sumptuous supply of choice provisions and one of the trio a professional cook, we enjoyed a respite from financial and domestic obligations during their stay.

Mr. Lewis has exchanged his fifty-three Ford for a fifty-five Meteor.

We congratulate the good citizens of Grand Anse upon their beautiful new school house which we ha occasion to admire on our Thanksgiving Day outing.

Harvey McArthur consulted us the other day with regard to Mrs. Lena MacLeod's Widow's Allowance and we were very favorably impressed by the courteous and competent official.

Around Our House

by Bill and Eileen Lovett

Once again Bill and I are reminded that Fall i our very favourite season. Picture us these autumn Saturdays raking leaves and generally tidying up the garden and toward the end of the day standing around a bonfire of burning bursh, sipping steaming cups of chocolate spiked with a touch of nutmeg.

Bill's thought for the day is this—we are allowed these heavenly fall days to prepare for the stern realities of winter. It's Bills job to get the car ready for cold weather, which means a complete check of brakes, tires, exhaust (remember, winter driving usually means the windows of the car are closed) and, of course, putting in the anti-freeze. Did you know that the amount of heat given off by a car's cooling system during heavy driving is enough to heat a six-room house, so Bill says. That's why only the best all-winter type anti-freeze which prevents rust and will not boil away, will give your car the protection it needs

For the very young...keep children's shoelaces even and in place by tying a knot in the middle of each before threading into shoes.

Don't be in such a hurry to put away those electric fans just because the hot weather is over. On cold, rainy days they're a wonderful help for drying the laundry indoors. Set on a table a few feet from the wash, a powerful fan will cut drying time by hours.

Fabric flowers will remain "fresh" looking longer if you pack them on an old belt with a clip-type clothes pin. Suspend the belt from a cup hook on your closet door.

Bill took the trouble this year to separate the gladioli bulbs by colour, laying them on slotted trays to air dry, away from heat and moisture. Next year we'll have our own kaleidoscope of colour.

You can perk up your nylon petticoats by dipping in a heavy starch solution. Apply this, also to a limp crinoline and let it drip dry. This way the hem will regain the necessary fullness and stiffness.

Apples are in abundance this time or year. Next time you're making applesauce, or an apple pie, sprinkle with orange juice for a fine piquant flavor.

It's easier to keep pictures and mirrors straight if you use two nails instead of one. Place them about th inches apart exactly in line with each other.

Again a safety note. One of our good neighbours has made a house to house canvass of our street urging us all to park our cars in the driveway and not at the curb; much safer for our yougsters. And now that it's getting dark so early every child should have a good quality flash light and be carefully instructed when out after dark to walk on the left-hand side of the road and to use his flashlight.

Bill says: Ideas are like children your own are always so wonderful.

Angus L., Cairn Will Be Erected At Auld's Cove

The cairn to be erected to the memory of Premier Angus L. Macdonald will be placed near the mainland Auld's Cove approach to the Canso Crossing which he worked so hard to achieve, it was reported at the recent meeting of the Nova Scotia Association of Scottish Societies.

Rod Chisholm, of Antigonish, who is in charge of the project said that the Auld's Cove site had been judged the best location for the memorial cairn honoring the longtime Nova Scotia Government head.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, looked lovely in her traditional wedding gown of white lace over tulle. Her fingertip veil fell from a headdress of iridescent sequins and pearls. She carried a white prayer book with a white orchid and streamers.

The matron of honor was Mrs. Doris Mahoney, sister of the bride who wore a ballerina length gown of american beauty rose with matching headdress and bouquet of mixed flowers.

The four bridesmaids, Colleen Fialkosky, Rosemary Ryan, Gene Deptula, and Mary Lou Colebath wore identical ballerina length gowns of gold with matching headdresses and bouquets of mixed flowers.

Flower girl was little Susan Mahoney, who wore pink organdy with flower headdress and bouquet of mixed flowers.

Th ring bearer was Richard Pennelton.

Best man was Charles Colebath.

The ushers were Joseph Mahoney, William Fialkosky, Alfred Colebath and Dan Campbell.

The mother of the bride wore a dress of light blue taffeta with matching accessories and orchid corsage.

The mother of the groom wore a dress of aqua blue taffeta with black accessories and corsage of mixed flowers.

A reception was held at the Hotel Fersgate, Beacon St., Boston.

After a honeymoon trip to the Shenandoach Valley in Virginia they will take up residence in Allston, Mass.

We wish them a long and happy wedded life.

Dundee Dew Drops

We welcome the warm sunny days after almost a week of cold rain which made hunting most uneventful in this area.

Hillary Webber, Raymond Martell and son Roy of South Bar, who spent four days at Dundee, returned home on Friday ev without their quota, but were happy because of the cosiness and cheerful environment of the little log cabin where they spend a vacation every year.

A jolly evening was enjoyed by a large crowd that attended the Halloween masquerade ball at St. George's Channel on Saturday from 8 p.m. to 12.

Prizes were awarded for best costumes and there was also a door prize.

Hector MacRae, Ralph MacInnes and Hugh MacInnes spent Saturday afternoon replacing broken insulators on the telephone line between Black River and Grand Anse. Thirty-fiv were foud missing since last fall. Steps are being taken to round up those responsible for the destruction and a severe punishment is in store.

Needs no Refrigeration

Easy as 1-2-3 with new Active Dry Yeast

BASIC ONE-RISING SPECIALTY DOUGH

Measure into a large bowl
1 cup lukewarm water
2 teaspoons granulated sugar
and stir until sugar is dissolved.
Sprinkle with contents of
2 envelopes Fleischmann's Active Dry Yeast
Let stand 10 minutes, THEN stir well, stir in and beat until batter is smooth and very elastic.

Cream in a large bowl
¾ cup butter or margarine
Gradually blend in
¾ cup fine granulated sugar
Gradually beat in
3 well-beaten eggs
Add to yeast mixture, about a third at a time, beating well after each addition.
Mix in
3 cups more once-sifted bread flour
Divide soft dough into 3 bowls to finish as three specialties.

1. Butterscotch Nut Buns Melt 3 tablespoons butter or margarine in 8-inch square pan; brush sides of pan with fat; mix in 1 tablespoon corn syrup, ⅓ cup lightly-packed brown sugar and ⅓ cup broken walnuts or pecans. Combine in a shallow bowl ½ cup sugar, 1 teaspoon cinnamon and ¼ teaspoon nutmeg. Cut out rounded spoonfuls of dough, coat with cinnamon mixture and place in pan; sprinkle with any remaining spiced sugar. Cover and let rise until double in bulk. Bake in moderately hot oven, 375°, about 35 minutes.

DR. CHARLES BRUCE BANQUET SPEAKER

Introduced to he banqueters as a man who had won fame through writing an obituary, had become one of the outstanding newspaper reporters of his time, winner of a Governor General's Medal for Literature; and now had been "boosted upstairs" to become General Manager of the Canadian Press, Dr. Charles Bruce of "R.R. 1" and Toronto, was the banquet speaker at the annual dinner of the Nova Scotia Weekly Newspapers Association at the Lord Nelson Hotel, Halifax, on Friday evening. A double dining room was not large enough to hold all attending and part of the banqueteers overflowed into the main dining room, coming in later to hear Dr. Bruce speak.

Thanking editor Morton for his kind introduction and the Association for pleasant hospitality, Dr. Bruce spoke in a happy vein about his boyhood in Nova Scotia and his later experiences on returnng to his birthplace to hear old tales and folklore retold. It had been his privilege to be present at the opening of the Canso Road to the Isles and while it was a mark of progress, it was also a milestone from which to measure backwards and forwards. Backwards into the folk lore and customs of the grand Scottish people who hewed homes out of the virgin forests of Cape Breton, and forward toward an industrial age which would destroy some parts of the great heritage of the past.

And touching on this folklore and the importance of the historic past, Dr. Bruce said that he regretted that the march of progress had destroyed the identity communities. The founders of these highland villages in a New Scotland had given their communities names of romance and meaning and it was a shame that all should be merged in that phraseology of postal progress "R.R. No. 1".

It is said, continued Dr. Bruce that there is nothing more dead than yesterday's paper. But this was not true. In the files of the Provincial dailies and to a greater degree in the files of the local weeklies, could be found the history of the community. To read the weekly paper of fifty years, or even threequarters of a century ago was to harken back to the origins of things, and from them could be traced down through the years the pattern of existence, the warp and woof of community and provincial development. Year by year the newspapers are the record of current history, and since history has a way of repeating itself, newspapers never lose their interest, no matter how old they may be, but rather as good wine, they improve with age.

Is will be be regrettable, Dr. Bruce said. if in this age of industrializaton Nova Scotia should lose its links with a romantic past; if the rush of streamlined production should make us forget the homely stories which are the folk lore and the unrecorded history of our community Rather we should hope for an easier industrialization which would permit us to retain that link with the past which is our great heritage, and be proud always of those men and women who having grown to manhood and womanhood in this province had gone forth to create a nation out of a wilderness, and had so achieved their goal that today Canada stands in the forefront of the nations of the world.

When Does Tourist Season End?

When does the tourist season in Nova Scotia end? It doesn't. As the summer season wanes and the glorious fall opens, the hunting season starts and nimrods from the United States and Canada arrive. And then there is an increasing number of late season vacationists.

To be sure traffic slackens after Labor Day but it certainly does not end then as evidenced by car traffic reported by the Amhrst Bureau of the Nova Scotia Travel Bureau. On October 24 through Amherst there entered 26 cars from Quebec, 41 from Ontario, 44 from Massachusetts, 7 from New Jersey, 6 from New York, 3 from Pennsylvania, with others from Rhode Island, Texas and Wisconsin. On October 25 registrations from Quebec totalled 22, from Ontario 32, from Massachusetts 26, from New York 8, New Jersey 6, with others from California, Rhode Island, Illinois, Iowa, Connecticut, Florida and Maine. These are but typical.

School children from many US and Canadian centers busy at Social Studies throughout the school year request information on Nova Scotia. Literature pertaining to the province is sen forward at once.

Students in Los Angeles College of Business are now taking a course in Foreign Travel and working in conjunction with Air Guides ad Cooks World Tours, are studying among other places Nova Scotia. The future Travel Agents will, from the literature supplied, be in a postion to point out the advantages of Nova Scotia to the travelling public.

Interest in Nova Scotia is world wide. A typical day's mail brought reqpuests from Indonesia Turkey, Spain, France, Belgium, the Scandinavian countries, Irak, Italy, Nigeria, India, Bermuda, Chile, Australia and New Zealand

Following intensive advertising campaigns a vast collection of information on Nova Scotia is sent out. Throughout the fall and winter requests pour in to the provincial travel bureau from people planning their next summer vacations. And so, it seems, the Tourist Season is the year round.

Birthday Anniversaries

George Mauger, of Cape la Ronde recently celebrated his 91 birthday. Mr. Mauger is well known having operated a wheel wright business for many years at Cape la Ronde, manufacturing spinning wheels, many of which are in use in Richmond County and more especially in Newfoundland. Every part of the spinning wheel was built by Mr. Mauger, including the iron work. These wheels sold for only $9.00.

A skilled craftsman, he took a great interest in his work which was built with particular precision. Imprinted on the spinning wheel was his name spelled as Major.

Still active and able to take long walks around the village where he spent a greater part of his life, he now resides at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Mauger.

His brother James Mauger also celebrated his 87th birthday recently and during his early life was engaged as a carpenter and up to a few years ago operated his farm at Cape la Ronde.

Both highly respected citizens of the community of Cape la Ronde where their forebears came from Jersey in the Channel Islands, where the name Mauger is still much in evidence.

May both James and George Mauger spend many more happy returns of the day is the wish of the Record and of their many friends.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Samson of Halifax are visiting Mr. Samson's father, Albert Samson, who recently celebrated his 94th birthday and is still active for his advanced age.

From Sydney Mines

A visit from our good friend Mayor Owen Hardigan of Sydney Mines was much enjoyed when he called at the Record Office one day last week.

Serving as mayor of Sydney Mines for the past several terms Owen is held in high regard by the citizens of Sydney Mines and far beyond its borders.

Mr. Hardigan and associates are operators of a productive coal mine at Sydney Mines and much of this coal finds its way to householders in Isle Madame, all of whom are well satisfied with the quality of his domestic fuel.

Weekly Press Annual Meet

Frank Burns, retiring President of the NSWA welcomed the largest attendance in years at opening sessions of the annual meeting of the Nova Scotia Weekly Newspapers Association at Halifax on Friday. He extended a special welcome to John Volpni, President of the Canadian Weekly Newspapers Association, who had come from Saskatchewan especially for the meeting and William Telfer 'Bill' Secretary of the CWNA Central Office.

Sears Printing Machinery Co., of Toronto put on a display of an electronically operated platemaking machine, the "Scanagraver" and there were interesting discussions of matters of professional concern.

Mr. Volpni, bringing greetings from the Canadian Association remarked that he found in Nova Scotia an organization alive to its purpose and its responsibilities, and he was happy to take back with him the kind wishes of expressed by President Burns to fellow publishers in other parts of the Dominion.

One important discussion at the afternoon session was on the part newspapers should take in promoting a public recognition of the need for Civil Defence. Pat MacAdam reporter on the Antigonish Casket, brought a comprehensive report on the instruction given at the Civil Defence School at Arnprior, Ontario, and it was arranged that he should write a series of articles for the member newspapers on what he had learned.
