Hector MacNeil, C. E. Retires From C.N.R.

It is always good news to us to read about the success and accomplishments of our friends and when we read the article that follows about Hector MacNeil a native son of Arichat, our first thoughts went out to our late father, who always predicted a bright future for Hector. It now becomes my duty, and a pleasant one it is, to congratulate a good friend of our family on the success he has attained and which has been so notably recognized in the leading journals of the Dominion.

Mr. MacNeil, is a son of the late lamented, Mr. and Mrs. M. B. MacNeil, of Arichat, and his wife is the former, Irene LeBlanc, of West Arichat.

• • • •

(Montreal Gazette)

Hector MacNeil said goodbye to the CNR yesterady and left behind bridges, viaducts, a townsite and even a railroad into the Labrador iron mines as monuments to 46 years spent as a locating and construction engineer.

A product of the great railroad building era of the early 1900s, he left high school at Arichat Academy in Nova Scotia to hire on as chainman with the National Transcontinental Railway which was then, in 1909, building across Northern Quebec and Ontaro. In the succeeding years of feverish construction he learned his profession the hard way — working over drafting boards and studying tables and formulas by kerosene light in the field camps.

After four years with the NTR came a complete change: laying out the road, sewer and water system for Model City, now the Town of Mount Royal. Then followed two years helping build the Mount Royal tunnel.

In 1936, after making hydrographic surveys in the Noranda area, Mr. MacNeil located much of the present rail line between Senneterre and Noranda and was construction engineer on the eastern half of the project. In 1938 he was busy with the CNR's Montreal terminal project in charge of viaduct building between St. James and Bridge Sts.

During the war years he was back maintaining track and not building it but, in 1950, he was loaned as chief engineer to build the Quebec North Shore and Labrador Railway.

Unlike earlier railroads, the QNS and L began as a super-railroad, not a development line to be improved as traffic provided the means. To find a continuous inclined plane up the Moisie River and beyond, and yet hold the line to economical gradient and curvature, was no mean task.

Mr. MacNeil takes little credit to himself but gives it instead to other CNR engineers, all specialists, whom he called out of retirement to help build the iron ore road.

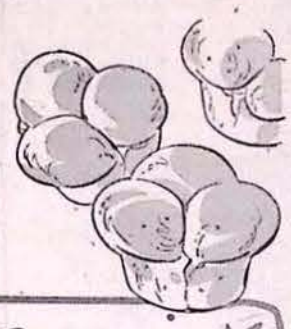

In recent years new railway construction increased to the point where his services were retained beyond normal retirement age. During the last 36 months Mr. MacNeil pushed through the short line to the manitouwadge mining field north of Lake Superior and located the Beattyfville - Chibougamau line now under construction in Northern Quebec.

He is not retiring from construction, however, only resting between jobs. He will hang up his shingle as a consultant now and hopes to follow the northtrending rivers and rockribbed heights of land for several years to come.

Headquarters engineers, his associates from the Chiboughamu project and other railway friends presented him with a scroll and wallet in his office yesterday. The presentation was made by Cyril Morris, assistant to the chief engineer, Toronto, with whom he worked on his last two construction jobs

DUNDEE DEW DROPS

An Anniversary Service, Commemorating the one hundred and twentieth anniversary of church service was observed in Black River United Church, on Sunday evening, August 26th.

The program was in charge of Rev. R. Humbey, pastor of the church, with Rev. Cameron Riggs, pastor of St. Matthews United Church, Inverness, as guest preacher.

The Trinity United Church Male Choir of Sydney, was in attendance with Mrs. D. J. MacLeod, of Orangedale, presiding at the organ.

Anyone who has ever heard the Trinity Male Choir, will surely want to hear it again. Black River United Church has had occason to have the services of both these talented groups.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Schrolder of Grand, Mich., visited Mrs. Schrolder's aunt, Mrs. A. B. MacDougall, Dundee and other relatives in Cape Breton.

Haunted by memories of their first visit last August, Roy and Edna were determined to come again. This time they carried a movie picture projector, showing interesting places and pictures.

Pressing engagements for Mr. Scholder made their visit rather brief, but they are looking forward to another summer, when they hope to make a more lengthy stay.

We appreciated a visit from Mr. and Mrs. Peter I. LeVesconte, Mrs. May Dunphy, Pondville and Robert Dunphy, Truro, as they were driving through here recently.

Mrs. Albert Collins and Mr. and Mrs. Aubrey Hines, Sydney, spent an afternoon here recently.

Levi Boushie, of Glace Bay, with his two sons, were camping on Pringle's Mountain over a recent week-end. Before returning they spent a brief visit with us on Sunday. It was our first glimpse of Levi for many years.

John Smith, St. Peters, was a recent visitor to Dundee.

Two birthdays were observed recently at the home of Hugh MacInnes, First on the list was Mrs. A. B. MacDougall who celebrated her 85th birthday on August 13th. Coming next at a later date but older in years, Mr. Philip A. MacInnes, celebrated his 98th birthday on August 25.

Finds A Home For Bright Boy

Quite frequently, the children taken in by the Children's Aid Society as neglected children do not appear to be capable of developing into very useful citizens. Robert Johnson was in the class. He was starved, ragged, bewildered little fellow when he was taken into the care of the Society along with two brothers and three sisters. It was difficult for him to adjust in the institution and it was suggested that he be placed in the Nova Scoia Training School at Truro, a school where retarded children are given an opportunity to develop the limited ability that they may have.

This action was not taken, however, and instead he was placed in a foster home in Antigonish County. The Social Workers, on their regular visits found that Robert was holding his own in school, and that gradually he became more accepting of his foster parents. Many of us were surprised that he was the only of six children in the local school that passed his grade eleven examinations a year ago last June. As he has done so well, an effort was made to have him go to St. Francis Xavier University for at least one year, as he was keenly interested in a career in the Airforce. Bursaries were arranged and maintenance was paid by the Province and Municipality and I am pleased to report that Robert has now completed one successful year at University and has saved up sufficient money by working on the highway during the summer to pay his tuition to go back for his second year of College this fall. He is now well-adjusted, good-looking boy and his future is assured.

Eileen Cameron Henry Likes Isle Madame

In that delightful feature headed "Around Town and County", which appears weekly in the 'Casket", of Antigonish, written by Eileen Cameron Henry, who really has the know how of expression, in writing her column, which covers a wide scope.

In one of her articles she writes about Isle Madame and we are really glad this good lady likes our little Island, and here is what she had to say:—

"Isle Madame, and Arichat. Do you want to see something different? Take a trip down to the shores of Arichat, and you'll enjoy your hours spent around that pictureseque place.

"We even got out on the barrens on the opposite side of the Harbour. You would hardly credit the amount of blueberries that literally cover the stony hills. We sat on them, plowed through them and ate about a quart as we got down below the wind at the edge of the marsh. Among the blueberries are the low growing Patridge, or Fox Berries. We picked enough for a pie, which we took home and put between some of our infamous pastry. This, in the world of berries, is known as coming to a bad end.

No one in our party knew the name of the low growing everrocks. It looks like a miniature greens which sturdily cover the spruce that just got tired of trying to keep warm in the wind, and lay down for the duration.

Already the shores, which at any time, inspire respect for their rugged and barren beauty, are beginning to take on the sere look of the fall. The seas are grey and the lot of the fisherman is not a comfortable one."

Around Our House

by Bill & Eileen Lovett

We heard an interesting phase the other day to do with bringing up children. It was "intelligent neglect". In other words, a lot of us tend to fus too much over our children. Kids develop best if they have to rely on their own) resources, work out problems for themselves. So don't keep them tied to your apron strings. Let them wander off by themselves, leave them to themselves, sometimes even get into some trouble or come back with a bruise or cut. It's all part of the lesson of growing up.

******

With the do-it-yourself trend growing by leaps and bounds, tool care is more and more important. Dont use gasoline or solvents for cleaning if you want to prevent corrosion and rust. Clean tools in 4 ounces of No. 10 engine oil mixed with 1 quart of kerosene, then wipe with a dry cloth. The kerosene dissolves grease, the oil provides an airproof coating that prevents rust.

******

Here's a good tip for you cooks. If you're going to cut marshmallows, put them in the freezer first until they're partly frozen. Then they won't stick to the scissors. Much less gooey.

And if you've been plagued by putting either too much or too little dressing on your salads, you can distribute thin dressing uniformly over a salad by using a dime store clothes sprinkler.

******

Have you heard about the wonderful new portable radio that gets its power from the sun? Sound like science fiction? Well, it's on the market now. A special sun-power pack turns the sun's rays into electricity. Indoors or at night the radio plays 700 hours on 6 "Eveready" flashlight batteries. It's tubeless, too. Works on transistors. Miracles will never cease.

******

If you want to get a really good shine on your furniture, try using one of the hard-finish waxes of the type used for automobiles. They give a moisture-resistant protective coating that really lasts.

******

Spinach with a flair: when seasoning chopped, cooked spinach, add a dash of nutmeg. For garnish in the dish, press hard-boiled egg yolk through a seive in a golden drift. Looks delicious. Is delicious.

AT 103 SHE IS LIVING HISTORY OF RAILROADING

EEL RIVER, N. B., The stirring history of railroading in eastern Canada has been a passing pageant in the life of Mrs. Delphine Auger, who has passed her 103rd birthday

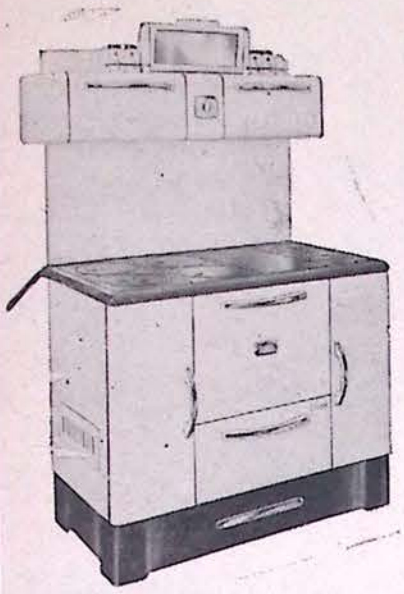

Still active and keenly interested in the world around her, Mrs. Auger can clearly remember the days of stage coaches and the first wood-burning locomotive.

Her family has been a railroading one right down through the years, from the time when her husband, the late Louis Auger, went to work with a construction gang that was laying the first rail for the old Intercolonial line. Alec and George, worked with Canadian National Railways, Four of her sons, Pat, Marcel, and George, worked with Canadian National Railways, and George is still employed by the Company at Val Brillant, Que.

Mrs. Auger's receipt for longevity is an interesting one. It was working hard all her life that brought her to the age of 103, she says. But, she points out, in the pioneer days when she was a young woman, everyone had to work hard, especially the girls if they wanted to catch a husband.

The regular monthly meeting of the St. Louis C. W. L. sub-division, was held on Sunday evening. The meeting opened with the C. W. L. prayer. Mrs. James Landry presiding. The minutes and treasurer's report were read and adopted. The meeting was well attended with all members present.

Our director, Rev. Conrad Girroir spoke on the importance of parents having their children innoculated, especially the children of shcool age.

A letter was read from Rev. Father MacLean, of Bridgeport, urging the C. W. L., to continue with the "Casket" campaign for subscriptions, hoping it will be as successful as before.

Another interesting topic was the drive for funds for the orphanage. A committee was formed to take part in that drive as it is felt that it was a most worthy cause.

Plans were made for more card plays and the cleaning of the church. All this shows the interest the C.W.L. is taking in their parish.

End of a perfect day!

Ready for the first load! The gates open and this GMC just sits there — sturdy and solid! 14½-tons of limestone is a heavy load . . . but this W-9900 was built to take it!

The load delivered! George's GMC W-9900 is a stand-out performer, helping to push this dock out into the lake. In every way, GMC trucks outdo 'em all!

Meet George Rusanov, one of many independent truck operators helping to build new docks for Canada's St. Lawrence Seaway. The slip he holds in his hand represents more than just another load delivered. It tells how his GMC W-9900 carries this 14½-ton load for 25 miles over the roughest, toughest of roads—and does it six, seven, eight times a day. But it doesn't tell how that load, pounded down into his truck from the hopper above, gave it a real workout. George doesn't worry about that. He has confidence in his truck, it's a GMC . . . built to take the toughest kind of punishment and deliver the goods—when and where you want them. You can have this easy kind of confidence too, with a custom-created GMC—built for the job you have to do.
