Ottawa News Letter

By
HON. R. H. WINTERS
Minister of Public Works

Dear Mr. Editor:

Parliament settled down last week and there seemed to be an underlying desire on the part of all Parties to come to grips with the business of the country in a responsible and businesslike manner. The number of frivolous questions asked on the Orders of the Day decreased considerably from the previous weeks and the language used in debate was more moderate.

This new atmosphere in the House radiated from the stiffer attitude adopted by Mr. Speaker. The same member of the Opposition who previously had referred to the Prime Minister as a "traitor" and to the Honourable Milton Gregg V.C., as a saboteur again tried similar tactics, but he was stopped short by the Speaker who told him that if he persisted, steps would be taken to deal with him.

The first two days of the week were devoted to a debate on natural resources. This came about through an amendment introduced by the Leader of the Opposition. Mr. Diefenbaker, in his amendment, overlooked the fact that the resources are owned and controlled by the Provinces and that the Federal Government has no direct jurisdiction over them. This was doubtless an accidental oversight on Mr. Diefenbaker's part and he tried to correct it when members of other Parties charged him with a desire to invade the jurisdiction of the Provincial Governments.

However, once the initial error was made in the wording of the resolution, the debate lost its sense of direction. The result was that rather than discussing the development of the resources of the country, most speakers were talking about the constitutional aspects of the problem. The real significance of all this, of course, is the known attitude of Provincial Governments who jealously and rightly guard their control of natural resources—but nowhere is this more true than in Quebec.

Mr. Diefenbaker knows that if he is to gain strength in the next election, he must pick up support in Quebec and he certainly won't make his course easier by opening himself to a charge that he is invading the jurisdiction of the Provincial Governments.

These are the interesting by-products of what might appear to be slight errors in wording in Parliamentary debates. It is important to be quite accurate because once he slip has been made and the impression implanted, it is very difficult to erase it.

Apart from the debate on natural resources, the discussion on the Canada Council occupied most of our time this week. The legislation was adopted with the support of all Parties except the Social Credit. This now puts the Government in a position to assist certain aspects of Canadas growth and development and to provide assistance to universities to help them in their building programs.

Yours very truly,

Robert H. Winters

Ray Richards Wins Doran Trophy

(The following is taken from "The Patrician", published weekly by St. Patrick's College, High School Students, at Ottawa, and in the issue dated November 25, 1956, a write up of Ray Richards, a River Bourgeois boy appears with his photo. We were unable to obtain a photo of Ray, however we are happy to bring the story of his progress at College, which is a credit to his ability as a student and leader.—Editor)

"The Doran Trophy has a a new winner! This year Raymond Richards polled the most votes over outstanding contenders.

One year ago, Ray first walked into St. Patrick's College High School, with a feeling that grips every new student entering a new school, the feeling trat grips every new student entering a new school, the feeling of being a stranger. Since that day, Ray has attained heights as a member of the student body that few will ever reach.

In one year, Ray rose to prominence as President of his class President of Spedapso, and finally gained the spotlight in an even grander manner by becoming President of the Student Body. In this respect, Ray fulfilled beyond a shadow of a doubt the most important requirement demanded of a nominee for this Trophy.

In the sports field, Ray played on the Senior, Championship, Foot-ball Team, and was noted for his drive and determination in the thick of battle.

Always a hard worker outside of class, so too, Ray was a competent fellow inside the classroom. His common sense and ability have brought him honor marks in his school work. His willingness to cooperate and his respect for higher authority have placed him in the high regard of his teachers.

As well as possessing the abovementioned quality, this young man possesses a characteristic which was a big factor in helping him obtain the honors which are his. This is his good-naturedness. A scowl rarely shadows his face while a smile is his second name. If it yas to ask a favor or to have a difficulty solved that you came to him, he was was always willing to help. Need there be any more exemplification of this, his outstanding quality?

Every winner of this Trophy, the highest reward a St. Pat's boy can hope for, has some outstand ing characteristic. So it is that Ray Richards is outstanding for his good-naturedness. His kindness and friendliness have helped him become a Doran man, a man who will not be forgotten at St. Pat's, a man who can look to the future with every hope of a successful life.

"CARSON" TOPS AS ICE LANE BUSTER

YDNEY, N. S.,—The Canadian National Railways ferry "William Carson" is now rated as a "top bronco buster of the ice lanes" according to Canadian Press.

The "Carson" has twice this year rescued the Department of Transport icebreaker "Saurel" when it was trapped by heavy drifting ice. The first occasion was in the Gulf of St. Lawrence, near Corner Brook, Nfld., and the second when the "Saurel" became jammed while trying to cut a channel for ships out of Sydney.

TIES THAT BIND

St. Catherines, Ont. — "Could you tell me," asked the elderly customer of the man at the Canadian National Railways office here, "the price of a railroad tie?"

The clerk, slightly puzzled, phoned the CNR station and came up with the answer—$2.24.

The old man opened his wallet and deposited the exact amount on the counter.

He explained: "I stole a railroad tie in Demaine, Sask., in 1931. It has been bothering me ever since. Now my conscience is clear."

Issues 47th Annual Report Maritime Telephone Company

President A.M. MacKay Reports Construction at Record High

More than seven million dollars was invested in new telephone construction in Nova Scotia during 1956, according to A. M. MacKay, President of Maritime Telegraph and Telephone Co. Limited who presented the Report of the Company Directors to the 47th Annual Meeting of the shareholders held in Halifax on February 19.

In his report Mr. MacKay said that the year 1956 was a particularly busy one with continued increases in all phases of the Company's operations covering local long distance and special services.

6,493 New Telephones Installed

The Company had 137,495 telephones in service at the end of 1956—an increase of 6493 telephones for the year. Of the total number of telephones 79.9 % are dial operated.

The number of Company telephones has increased 100 percent in the last ten years, which Mr. MacKay reported as being an indication of the Company's participation in the expanding economy of Nova Scotia, and also of public appreciation of the value of the service.

6,165,774 Long Distance Messages

Long distance traffic increased over the previous year due in large measure to an active endeavour on the part of the Company to popularize long distance service for residence use, partly to increased toll facilities and partly to satisfactory business conditions.

Newfoundland Service

Newfoundland traffic increased 52.3 percent for the months of October and November, reflecting the results of reduced rates which became effective October 15th.

Operations

The net income of the Company available for distribution of dividends was $1,634,582 which cents per share on preferred stock permitted the payment of 70 and 80 cents per share on common stock as well as an extra dividend of ten cent per share on the common stock. These dividends amounted to $1,419,667 the balance of $414,915 being retained for general corporate requirements.

10,920 Shareholders

The shareholders of the Company now number 10,920. Of these 9,017 or 82.57 percent are residents of Nova Scotia.

Of the total shares issued by the Company, 10.4 percent have been purchased by employees under the Stock Savings Plan. The plan is designed to encourage employees to puchase stock in order that they may have a sense of ownership in the Company with which they are associated.

Buildings

New buildings were completed at Liverpool and Bridgetown, as well as extensions to the Halifax Toll building and to the central offices at Dartmouth and Sydney.

Work on a new Service Centre (78,000) sq. ft.) in Halifax was commenced in July and is expected to be completed early in the summer of 1957.

$356.96 Investment per Telephone

Fixed assets of the Company after additions and retirements for the year totalled $49,060,418 which averages $356.96 per telephone.

The very extensive construction programme carried out during the yea was a fully diversified one, but with rather special emphasis on long distance facilities and betterments.

Open wire carrier systems were installed on various toll circuits, with a net gain of 50 toll message cuits within the Province and 11 out-of-Province circuits. This represents a gross length of 4300 circuit miles in Nova Scotia.

Outside plant added during the year included approximately 46 miles of pole line, 102 miles of aerial exchange cable, 12 miles of toll cable, 5 miles of submarine underground cable, 36 miles of cable and 5 miles of steel exchange circuit.

Television Transmission

In March 1955 the Trans-Canada Telephone System, of which the Company is a member assumed the responsibility of providing the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation with the facilities required for the continent wide transmission of television programmes.

On December 2, the Maritime section of the network went into operation, connecting television stations in Sydney, Moncton, Halifax and Saint John.

From the telephone point of view, television is not the most important commodity available over the new system. More important is the fact that each of the six channels of the system is capable of expansion to 600 simultaneous telephone conversations, which provides assurance that future requirements will be taken care of adequately.

Looking Forward to 1957

The manual exchanges at Stewiacke, Canning and Mahone Bay will be converted to dial operation in 1957 in accordance with the Company's dial conversion programme. Modifications and extensions will be made to equipment in many other offices.

The outside plant construction programme for the coming year will be a heavy one. Aerial cable relief is planned for various large centres in the territory as well as a very extensive, province-wide schedule of toll pole line rebuilding.

Buildings

The buildings programme for 1957 is one of the most extensive in recent years. New buildings will be erected at Stewiacke, Mahone Bay, Pictou and Canning with building extensions being planned for Truro, Amherst, New Glasgow and Kentville.

Staff

The staff of the Company now numbers 1,820 an increase of 66 during the year. The annual pay roll for the year just ended was $4,746,416.

Cordial relations between management and employees continued, with all negotiations with regard to wages and working conditions being carried out in a spirit of harmony and mutual consideration.

Effective support and often leadership was given by employees in connection with many phases of public and community enterprise. The Company is most appreciative of these various public spirited efforts on the part of its employees.

The -Future

A look at the future indicates that the Company's construction programme for the next few years will be very extensive, reflecting the economic expansion of Nova Scotia. The Maritime Telegragh and Telephone Co. Ltd. stands ready to assume its full responsibilities in connection with the communicaton life of this Province.

JOBLESS INSURANCE FOR FISHERMEN WILL BE STARTED IN '58

OTTAWA—A plan to extend benefits of unemployment insurance to about 50,000 commercial fishermen is expected to be implemented at the start of 1958.

It was learned reliably that the government has finally worked out a scheme whereby self-employed fishermen — who make up the majority of the industry in Canada — may take part in the insurance plan.

Unemployment insurance now covers the majority of Canadian workers but is based on equal contributions from employers and employees. What to do about self-employed fishermen has long stymied government planners.

It is understood the new formula will cover fishermen working for an employer for wages and those taking their pay in shares of their catch.

It is estimated some 8,000 fishermen are in direct employ of vessel owners. There has been no problem in getting them covered by insurance. The remaining 40,000-odd who fish on a share basis have pose problems.

One of the big questions was how the government might collect contributions from a self-employed fishermen who, if he were employed, would pay a matching amount with his employer.

NEW RED CROSS SERVICE AIDS HUNGARIAN REFUGEES

A new Red Cross service has been established in Austria to aid Hungarian refugees. In the future all special trains carrying refugees on their way to start life anew in other lands will be attended by teams of voluntary Red Cross workers.

These teams will accompany the refugees on the long overland trips to embarkation points in France, Great Britain, Italy and The Netherlands. A doctor and two senior nursing students will form a team. In the main, they will be of Austrian nationality. The doctors will be from the Austrian Red Cross and the nurses from the Rudolfinerhaus Training School of Vienna. They will provide care for illness and treatment for minor physical complaints. They will also assist ICEM escort officers aboard the trains in answering general information enquiries.

Hungarian refugee trains, carrying 225 to 250 persons each, are presently leaving from Vienna at the rate of two or three daily. The same Red Cross service is also being established for Hungarian refugee trains departing from Salzburg for overseas embarkation points.

The League of Red Cross Societies will stock the trains with with fresh water supplies and several gallons of milk for children. Each train will be equipped with first aid supplies.

En route to their stations, the refugee trains make an average of two stops. At these points, the national Red Cross Society whose country is temporarily host to the refugees will restock the trains. These Societies will also supply soup or sandwiches depending on the hour of arrival
