REMEMBRANCE AND THE POPPY

Last November, five and a half million poppies bloomed in Canada. Dotting the lapels of one-third of Canada's population, the symbol of Remembrance made its 36th appearance in this country.

Although everybody knows what the poppy means, nobody is certain of how it all began; of how the poppy became so closely associated with remembrance of the war dead.

The association was certainly not new when the poppy was adopted in Canada in 1921. At least a hundred and ten years before that time, a correspondent wrote of how thickly poppies grew over the graves of the dead. He was speaking of the Napoleonic War and its campaigns in Flanders.

But a Canadian medical officer was chiefly responsible for this association, more so than any other single known factor.

John McCrae was a tall, boyish 43 year old member of the Canadian Medical Corps from Guelph Ontario. An artillery veteran of the Boer War, he had the eye of a gunner, the hand of a surgeon, and the soul of a poet when he went into the line at Ypres on April 22, 1915.

That was the afternoon the enemy used poison gas.

The first attack failed. So did the next and the next. For 17 days and nights the allies repulsed wave after wave of attackers.

During this period, McCrae wrote: "One can see the dead lying there on the front field. And in places where the enemy threw in an attack, they lie very thick on the slopes of the Germans."

Working from a dressing station on the bank of the Yser Canal, Lt.-Col. McCrae dressed hundreds of wounded, never taking off his clothes for the entire 17 days. Sometimes the dead or wounded actually rolled down the bank from above into his dugout. Sometimes, while awaiting the arrival of batches of wounded, he would watch the men at work in the burial plots which were quickly filling up.

Then McCrae came out of Ypre with 13 lines scrawled on a scrap of paper. The lines were a poem which started: "In Flanders fields the poppies blow..."

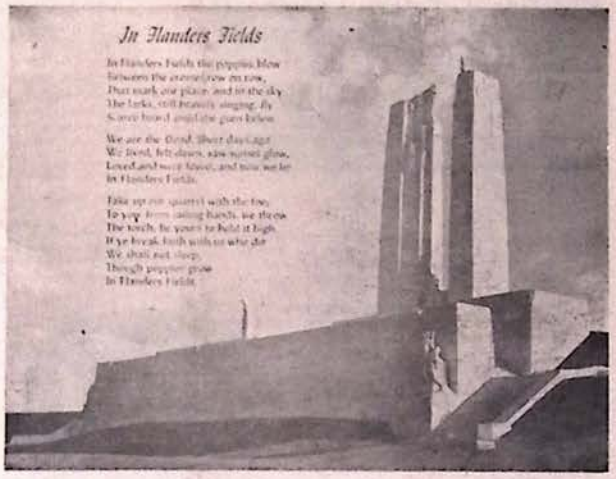

These were the lines which are enshrined in the hearts of all soldiers who heard in them their innermost thought. McCrae was their voice. The poem circulated as a folk song circulates, by living word of mouth. Men learned it with their hearts.

In the United States, the poem inspired the American Legion to adopt the poppy as the symbol of Remembrance.

In Canada, the poppy was officially adopted by the Great War Veterans Association in 1921 on the suggestion of a Mrs. Guerin of France. But there is little doubt that the impact of McCrae's poem influenced this decision.

The poem speaks of Flanders fields. But the subject is universal: the fear of the dead that they will be forgotten, that their death will have been in vain.

The spirit of true Remembrance as symbolized by the poppy, must be our eternal answer which belies those fears.

Conservatives To Meet At Halifax

Nova Scotia Conservatives will gather in Halifax, Saturday, November, 9, for the 1957 Annual Meeting of the Nova Scotia Progressive Conservative Association.

Highlight of the session will be an address by the Atlantic region's senior cabinet minister, Hon. George Nowlan, who represents the Nova Scotia riding of Digby-Annapolis-Kings in the Canadian Parliament. For many years his province's sole Conservative member, Mr. Nowlan was appointed Minister of National Revenue by Prime Minister Diefenbaker following the Conservatives' return to office in June.

Premier Robert L. Stanfield will also address the gathering. Other speakers include Grace Sparks from Newfoundland, Secretary of the National Women's Progressive Conservative Association, and Mrs. W. T. Hayden, Hayden, President of the Nova Scotia Women's Progressive Conservative Association. An invitation to all Progressive Conservatives in the Province has been issued by the Party Executive and a large attendance is expected.

L'Ardoise Co-Operative Holds Their 19th Annual Meeting

The 19th annual meeting of the L'Ardoise Co-operative Society Ltd., was held on October 4, in the Co-operative Hall, L'Ardoise, with Mr. E. A. Martell as President and Miss Hunnette Chiasson as Secretary.

Well prepared reports were distributed to the 45 members present. In his report the president gave a very concise but complete account of the business activities during the year under review. He urged the members to give moral and financial support to the Eastern Co-operative Services program. He appealed to all the active members of the Society who receive the Maritime Co-operator to read their information packed press and to make a sincere effort to increase its circulation by selling it to others.

Mr. Martell pointed out that one of the projects for the coming year will be to reduce the society's Accounts Receivable and simultaneously reduce the organization's account with the Co-operative Wholesale in Sydney.

The manager, Mr. Onesime Martell, in his report asked the members to patronize their own store—a substantial increase in sales would result if members who do not give 100 percent of their patronage were to do so. He made reference to the favorable comments received from members and visitors relative to the cleanliness and attractiveness of the store. During the past two years the interior and exterior of the building was painted—as well as interior renovations which made the store a semi self-service business. He added that

MENTIONED FOR SENATE APPOINTMENT

Mr. Don J. Buckley, a prominent druggist of Sydney, has been mentioned as a likely appointment to the Senate of Canada. An ardent supporter of the Conservative Party for many years, his appointment should receive the hearty approval of his party.

Mr. Buckley operates one of the most up-to-date pharmacies in the city of Sydney and is well and favourably known throughout Cape Breton Island and if appointed to the Red Chamber would make a valuable member from this great industrial area.

HANTS JOURNAL IN NEW HANDS

We congratulate Mr. Dave Allison, who recently took over the publishing of the Hants Journal, of Windsor, N. S.

Mr. Allison is doing a fine job and although only a few weeks since he revived the Journal—which had ceased publication, he is to be complimented on his efforts and we are safe in saying that he is well on the way in making this weekly one of the best in the Province.

Miss Kay Anslow took over the "Journal" on the death of her father, a few years ago and due to ill health was obliged to cease publication, however, we are happy to learn that she is now much improved.

Mr. Allison, who for some years conducted a printing business in the town of Windsor, is well known and if the advertising columns of the "Journal" are any indication of the good-will of the business men in that area, the patronage would indicate that he is away to a good start.

LTTLE ANSE HOME AND SCHOOL

The first meeting of the Little Anse Home and School was held on September 20th. Officers appointed at the June meeting made things ready from where they left off last year.

The news letters were distributed. The president's message was read and a letter from Mrs. J. D. Taylor was also read.

The Chairman read the report of the County Council Home and School Spring meeting held at St. Peters.

6,000 Halibut Liver Oil Capsules were ordered for the pupils and 2,000 extra for younger children not attending school.

The general business was centered on work not completed on playground during the summer. $72.00 was voted for this work.

The meeting then adjourned with the singing of "God Save the Queen."

OCTOBER MEETING

The October meeting was opened by singing "O Canada".

Regular routine work was carried on. Three new members were added to the list since the last monthly meeting.

The main topic was discussing the need of a new classroom. The meeting felt this should be pressed, as all pupils should be together in main building, some parents thought. More will come at next meeting about this subject.

Five delegate were appointed to attend the fall meeting of the Richmond County Council at L'Ardoise.

The meeting adjourned by singing: (The Queen.)

This new dairy buys milk from County farmers who are paid a good price for their product and at the same time have a ready market right here at home.

MRS. COPELAND DIES IN TRINIDAD

Mrs. Louise Brown of this place received a letter from our good friend, John J. Copland, of Grenada, B. W. I., informing her of the passing of his mother in Trinidad, where she had been visiting her two married daughters. The remains of Mr. Copland's mother were flown to her home in Grenada, where burial took place from St. George's Anglican Church, of which the late Mr. Copland was a devout member. We believe Mrs. Copland's late father, Archdeacon Gentles was Rector of St. George's parish some years ago.

We had a letter from another son, Leonard Copland, of Toronto, informing us of the passing of his mother.

The late Mrs. Copland was a highly cultured lady and very prominent in church and social activities on her native Island of Grenada. A devouted and loving mother, she was beloved by her family. Her late husband predeceased her some years ago.

John practised law in Arichat, for a few years prior to receiving a judicial appointment in his native Grenada. His brother, Leonard, who is employed by the Imperial Oil Co., in Toronto, spent his holidays here some years ago.

We extend our sincere sympathy to John and Leonard, also to other members of the family in their bereavement.

Home and School Council News

tion of the Nova Scotia Federation of Home and School Associations was given by Mr. M. A. MacNeil. Mr. Urbain LeBlanc, St. Peter's, reported a very successful Workshop held at Port Hawkesbury on October 18th, taking in Richmond and North and South Inverness Councils.

The meeting, dividing into groups for discussion, considered the question "What Should be Emphasized in Locals this Year?" Parent Education, in one form or another, seemed to be the unanimous decision of the groups.

Another Workshop held during the afternoon session consisted of short courses and discussion groups under leadership as follows:

- Presidents: Mr. M. A. MacNeil, Louisdale
- Secretaries: Mr. Wilfred Higgins, Truro
- Program Chairman and Committee Members for Program Planning: Mr. Urbain LeBlanc, St. Peter's.
- Entertainment or Social and Publicity: Mrs. Katherine MacRae, St. Peter's.
- General Topic: Mr. R. J. Chisholm, Inspector of Schools.

Supper was served in the Domestic Science Department of the school by ladies of the L'Ardoise Home and School with girls of the High School assisting.

The evening Session opened with a Model Meeting, which was very successful in its role of providing both entertainment and education in the correct form of parliamentary procedure.

Guest speaker for the evening was Msgr. M. A. MacLellan, Principal of Xavier Junior College, Sydney, who talked on "The Role of the Family in the Education of the Child". Dr. MacLellan left much food for thought with parents and teachers alike, and the need to search for the answer to their own particular problems presented a challenge. According to Dr. MacLellan, one principle that is being violated to-day is that education belongs first of all to the family. He emphasized the fact the primary business of parents is the education of their children, that the first responsibility for education lies with the family; the school is a supplementary agency. Interested in finding out what teachers thought about family life to-day, Dr. MacLellan explained how he had made a survey among a group of teachers regarding this, and that practically all teachers in the group considered the main fault was the surrender of home authority and discipline. Other points Dr. MacLellan brought out in his talk were: the need of closer co-operation between parents and teacher; the importance of the first six years of the child's life, and the danger of doing too much for children, as this does not build character. "As the family goes, so goes the nation" was the quotation with which Dr. MacLellan summed up his remarks. He paid tribute to the home and School Association as the proper instrument to maintain a link between the home and school, and for the parents to participate actively in the education of their children.

At the close of the meeting thanks to the L'Ardoise Association for hospitality shown to guests during the sessions was extended by Miss Eva Maurer, Principal of Lakeside School.

during the last four month period sales had increased substantially and that if this favourable trend continued we would have a banner year and a fitting manner to celebrate our 20th anniversary in 1958.

Mr. Robert Forbes, General Manager, Eastern Co-operative Services, in his opening remarks said he was impressed with the L'Ardoise Co-operative and with the members' participation in the discussions. Speaking on the new Eastern Co-operative Services program he stated that progress was being made but that more capital was needed to establish the needed marketing facilities. E. C. S. is the only salvation for the producers and consumers in Eastern Nova Scotia. We need co-operative marketing — no one on this continent has come up with a better idea than that of the co-operative way of doing business", said Mr. Forbes. He enumerated the five "essentials" that make a good co-operative: 1—Competent and efficient management; 2—Good financing (sufficient working capital); 3—Efficient merchandising and displaying techniques; 4—Good public relations (self co-op to others) and 5—Active and informed membership. "There must be no weak link in this chain," said Mr. Forbes.

He lauded a 2 per cent patronage

The Board of Directors recommended that the dividend to be credited to members' capital, this recommendation was approved by the membership. In 1956 a 2.4 per cent patronage dividend was declared.

Other speakers at the meeting were: Reverend Fathers P. A. LeBlanc, P. P. and O'Brien, Curate, L'Ardoise; Dennis Britten, school teacher and Urbain LeBlanc, St. F. X. Extension Department, St. Peters.
