Wilbert Martell, Laid to Rest
A Noted Bowling Champion

(Chronicle-Herald)

Funeral of Wilbert Martell, championship Halifax bowler and known as "Mr. Bowling" throughout the Maritimes was held in time for 9 o'clock Mass on Wednesday morning at St. Theresa's Church. Burial was in Gate of Heaven cemetery.

He is survived by his wife, Maude; two daughters, Mrs. W. B. Greenwood and Mrs. Rosemary Brown; two sons, Albert and Wilbert, and a step-son, Carl Bookholt, all of Halifax; five brothers, Frank, Albert, Joseph, Vincent and Robert, all in Boston; six sisters, Mrs. Harold Connolly, Halifax; Mrs. Bertha Boudreau, Mrs. Marie Ruth, Georgie, Cecile and Josephine all residents of the United States.

Three years ago Wilbert Martell celebrated his 50th consecutive year in bowling. Friends of many years standing gathered at a dinner in his honor and presented him with an engraved gold watch as a token of their esteem.

For many years he was known as "Mr. Bowling" throughout the Maritimes. For 50 years or so "Marty" captained and managed the famous Conn-Martell teams that won many championships throughout Nova Scotia, New Brunswick and Eastern Maine.

Some 20 years ago he established a world's record of 213 in candlepins, a single string mark that still stands. Although the pins are fatter now, the balls larger and the gutters more shallow than when he made his record, the achievement had stood the test of time.

The dream of every bowler is a three string match total of 400, and this mark was reached by Martell more than 20 times. Long ago he lost count of the actual times he had performed the feat.

Some 10 years ago, well past his bowling prime but still a man to be reckoned with, he rolled in an open tourament against the best in New England in Boston and finished a close fourth.

In his younger days he spent considerable time on the golf course and on several occasions accompanied city curling rinks to Quebec for the International Bonspiel.

He was known as a generous winner and a genial loser. To thousands of people throughout the Maritimes, young and old, he was known as "Marty" and over a period of half a century was one of the best-known and most popular sportsmen in the Atlantic Provinces.

(The late Wilbert Martell, was a native son of Arichat, and was beloved by his many friends who will deeply mourn his passing. About a year ago the late Mr. Martell visited Arichat and in conversation with him we were delighted with the many interesting stories he related about his boyhood days in Arichat. We extend our sympathy to the bereaved wife and family in their great sorrow.—Editor.)

WEDDING

POIRIER — BRITTEN

On Easter Monday, St. Hyacinth's Church, D'Escousse, was the scene of a pretty wedding, when Joan Marie, the youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James D. Britten, Poirierville and John Francis, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Poirier, D'Escousse, were united in marriage.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a white velvet gown. The elbow length veil was held in place by a rhinestone tiara. She carried a bouquet of Easter lilies.

She was attended by her only sister, Mrs. David Samson, who wore a rose velvet gown, with matching head-dress, and carried a bouquet of yellow roses. Alphonse Poirier, brother of the groom was best man.

Rev. Father Pierre Baccardax, a close friend of the couple performed the double ring ceremony and also celebrated the Nuptial High Mass.

The choir was directed by Rev. Sr. Camille Marie, with Rev. Sr. Myriam as organist. David Samson, soloist, sang "Ave Verum Corpus" and "On This Day O Beautiful Mother."

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the home of the bride for 100 guests. Receiving with the bridal party was the mother of the bride attired in an ice blue brocaded taffeta sheath dress, flower laden picture hat, matching accessories, stone martin furs and a corsage of pink carnations. Mrs. Poirier mother of the groom wore a sheath dress of navy peau de soie with matching accessories and a corsage of yellow carnations. The toast to the bride was proposed by Rev. Father Baccardax and responded by the groom.

For travelling, the bride wore a swagger suit of French suede in midnight blue with matching hat of panorama straw with tulle trimming, banana shade bag and shoes. The couple motored to different parts of the Maritimes on their honeymoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Poirier will take up residence in Halifax, where Mrs. Poirier is on the teaching staff of Shannon Park School, Dartmouth, while Mr. Poirier is an engineer for the Nova Scotia Light and Power, Halifax.

The Record joins with the many friends of the popular young couple in wishing them every happiness throughout their wedded life.

NEWS OF THE LEGISLATURE

Released By Nova Scotia Press Bureau, Halifax

The legislature re-opened Tuesday, following the recess called to allow members to participate in the recent federal election campaign.

Labor Minister Stephen T. Pyke informed the House that the dispute between the Canadian Gypsum Company Limited, and its employees, Windsor, had been referred to Mr. Justice Vincent J. Pottier for investigation and report as an industrial inquiry.

A bill introduced by Mines Minister E. A. Manson, will, if passed, improve safety measures and general operation of provincial mines. It is the first major set of such amendments in the past decade and list 85 major alterations to the Coal Mines Regulations Act. It is the result of months of investigation and discussion by personnel of the union, independent coal operators, DOSCO and the Department of Mines.

In bringing down the budget Premier Stanfield forecast a surplus of $84,595 for the current fisial year, with revenues estimated to total $73,635,000 and expeditures $67,604,500. "No provision," said Mr. Stanfield, "has been made for the hospital plan, including hospital construction grants, the money for which must be provided from another source."

No new taxes were definitely forecast but the Premier laid stress on the fact, declaring that "the hospital services program will have to be financed by additional revenue. This should shock no one. It is a new service of great value to our citizens who will not longer have to pay hospital bills forward service and diagnostic services included in the plan."

He said, in considering how to finance the hospital plan.."we can choose between financing the plan by collecting premiums or by collecting more tax revenues."

The government, said the Premier, had been studying "all alternatives known to us" in respect of paying for the hospital plan and "we are still prepared to study any suggestions that might be made. We hope, however, to have the matter settled before the House prorogues."

An interim report of the Royal Commission on Workmen's Compensation, tabled in the legislature by Labor Minister Pyke, recommended abandoment of the miners' check-off for medical and hospital care in compensation cases and, instead, coverage for miners under the normal medical aid provisions of the Workmen's Compensation Act.

The interim report was made, said commission chairman Judge A. H. MacKinnon, Antigonish, because the full report would not be available in time for consideration by the legislature prior to the national hospital plan's coming into force January 1, 1959. The report recommended that legislative changes be enacted to come into force at the same time as the beginning of the national hospital insurance plan.

The necessary legislation to provide hospital insurance for Nova Scotia residents, and which also embodied the the establishment of a permanent hospital insurance commission empowered to administer the plan and "to develop and maintain a co-ordinated system" of hospitals, training schools and other facilities in the province, was introduced by Health Minister Richard A. Donahoe.

There would probably be such legislation, replied Lands and Forests Minister Levy, to a question asked by Dr. C. Henry Readdon (L-Halifax West) as to whether there would be legislation to change the deer kill limit from one to two.

* * *

Dr. Reardon also asked Agriculmight consider a subsidy regarding the proposed rise in milk cost. ture Minister Haliburton if he Mr. Haliburton said he did not know, as he felt such a matter would concern government policy. The agriculture minister said there was a difference of opinion as to whether increased prices were justified, but the subject was complex and altered from situation to situation.

Fishermen Urged To Insure Boats and Fishing Gear

With the lobster season opening in five lobster districts in the Maritimes within the next five weeks, fishermen are urged to take advantage of the government-sponsored insurance to protect their boats and fishing geear.

This suggestion comes from G. Lorne Grant, Administrator of the Fishermen's Indemnity Plan in the three ocean provinces. Mr. Grant, whose headquarters is at the Department of Fisheries in Halifax, said that experience has proven that the insured fisherman is the wise fisherman.

"Under the Indemnity Plan," said Mr. Grant, "fihermen can protect their means of livelihood Many of our 17,000 lobster fishermen have already taken advantage of this protection, but there are still those who prefer to run the risk of losing their equipment through storm or fire than to pay the relatively small cost for protection."

Under the Indemnity Plan, fishermen can insure their boats and their traps. Boats up to the value of $10,000 are insurable. The premium is one per cent of the appraised value. Thus, a fisherman owning a boat valued at $2,000 can be insured for a full year for a premium of $20. In the event of a total loss the plan pays 60 per cent of the boat's value.

Smiliar low cost premiums are available on lobster traps. A premium of 13 cents per trap will provide an indemnity of $2.25, after a deduction of 20 per cent for wear and tear, while a maximum premium of 22 cents will give the fisherman $3.75 for a

Freedom of Limitation

"The great advantage of being quite clear about the limitation of freedom is that it enables men to see exactly how much freedom what is possible and what is worth striving for. Locke set men on the path to the greatest possible political liberty by the method he used to set them on the path to greatest possible scientific knowledge — by teaching them the impossibility of the absolute."

Maurice Cranston, biographer of John Locke, speaking about this English philosopher in the BBC's "London Calling Asia" programme.

Spirited Child

Smuggling used to be common along many stretches of England's south and east coasts, where contraband goods, such as brandy and gin, from the continent of Europe could be landed under cover of darkness, and often hurried away inland on pack horses. The north Yorkshire coast provided several favourable landing places, and in a talk recently in the BBC proramme "The Northcountryman", Stanley H. Blenkinsop related one of the stories associated with Marske-by-Sea, where some one hundred and fifty years or so ago many of the villagers regarded smuggling as an honoured profession. One day preventive officers sealed off the village and began a thorough house-to-house search for contraband, and people passing through the cordon were closely examined. But one woman succeeded in duping the officers by wrapping a jar of brandy in a baby's clothing and walking boldly through Marske with it cradled in her arms "Back and forwards she went," said Mr. Blenkinsop, "until all the spirit had been cleared from one of the hidden cupboards at her home. On her last journey one of the officers leaned forward and said; 'That's a very quiet baby you have there. I never heard it cry once." 'That may be', she replied, 'but I warrant you he's got a good deal of spirit in him all the same'."

Frank, Vincent, Joseph and Berchmans Martell all of Boston, visited their native town of Arichat on Thursday. Sons of the late Albert Martell, they spent their early life here before going to the U. S. A., and naturally are still intrested in the old haunts of their youth. Their home was the property now the Arichat Hotel and a call on the genial Mr. and Mrs. Warren Jones, gave the boys an opportunity to look around and no doubt brought back fond memories of the days they resided here. Two of the brothers had not visited Arichat in 57 years. Before leaving Arichat they called on their old friend, Charles S. Malzard.

Their trip down to Halifax, was a sad one having been called there due to the sudden passing of their beloved brother, Wilbert Martell, age 71, whose funeral took place on Wednesday.

FISHERMENS' INSURANCE

Elaborating on boat insurance, Mr. Grant pointed out that last year in the Maritimes more than 1,400 fishing boats were insured. However, Mr. Grant added, that was only a modest percentage of the number of small boats engaged in the fisheries. In 1957 the Indemnity Plan paid 22 claims for partial and total boat losses. The total value of boats insured last year was about $2,500,000.

This year the Department of Fisheries will make every effort to encourage more fishermen to take advantage of the protection offered. Before the lobster season opens, fisheries officers in the field will endeavour to interest more fishermen in securing insurance for their boats and gear. Insurance is always available and fishermen will be encouraged to protect themselves before commencing their fishing activities.

"Disaster can strike at any time," Mr. Grant emphasized. "An uninsured fisherman can cripple himself economically through the loss of his boat and gear. Fishing is hazardous enough without fishermen adding to their burdens by not having financial protection.'"

Lobster fishermen in the Maritime Provinces operate about 2,000,000 traps. The traps alone represent an investment of approximately $8,000,000.

Lobstering is an important part of Maritime fisheries generally. In a good year, for instance, the catch exceeds 40,000,000 pounds which represents a landed value of about $14,000,000. The market value is in the vicinity of $20,000,000.

Nova Scotia FARM NEWS

HOG INDUSTRY ON UP-SWING

The Meat Packers' Council of Canada, in its monthly Hog Survey, reports that the hog situation, during March, in Canada, continued to remain buoyant in the face of stable price trends and favourable hog-feed ratio.

What is of particular interest to this Province is the fact that Nova Scotia leads all provinces in Canada in the percentage of hogs bred in March, 1958 as compared with March, 1957. Nova Scotia, for instance, has an index of 111 per cent—a figure which is approximately 3 per cent higher than the Province of Manitoba, which is second with 108.2 per cent.

It would seem that one of the reasons for the buoyancy in sow breedings in Nova Scotia is the fact that the farmers of the Province have plans on tap to build a new co-operatively-owned abattoir on the shores of Bedford Basin, this year. They are looking forward to operating this proposed plant on a paying basis and, in order to do this, they know that the plant can handle more hogs than are presently produced in the Province. Hence, the increase in the number of sows bred.

"This is as it should be", said the Hon. E. D. Haliburton, Minister of Agriculture and Marketing, "but these figures are not significant," he continued, as he reviewed the report, "unless the farmers of Nova Scotia intend to stay in the hog business on a long-term basis. For the farmers who do this, I predict that hog production has much to offer in the way of increased farm returns, whereas the farmer who is in business when prices are low and out of hogs when the hog-cycle is at its peak.

It is more evident, every day, that the farms of the future will be conducted as commercial enterprises and no farmer can be considered a commercial hog producer, or can be thought of as farming on a commercial basis, unless he is conducting his business, economic, business prinness in accordance with good, ciples. That, plainly and simply, is a long-term operation."

Your pot of gold can be a

LOBSTER POT

YOU'VE all heard the old saying "Live for today and let tomorrow take care of itself." But when your own—and your family's—welfare depends on tomorrow's catch being at least as good as today's . . . well, a thoughtful lobsterman makes sure it will be.

And the way to make sure is so easy. You probably know it already. Just check these points and see:

- Do you throw back the "berried" lobsters?
- Do you throw back the shorts?

If you do next year each short will be 15% longer and 50% heavier.

The lobster business is a big business in the Maritimes. It's one we can all be proud of. But we must make sure it stays big—we must help it grow bigger—by planning today for tomorrow's catch.

If you do that, your lobster pot will be . . . a real pot of gold.
