No Interest In Stirling Mine

Mines Minister Manson said in the legislature recently he presumed a company which previously operated the Stirling Mine in Richmond County still holds its lease.

Earl Urquhart (L-Richmond) asked in the Legislature if the Minister knew of any renewed drilling operations in the Stirling area.

"No operations are being conducted there at present," Mr. Manson said. "Nobody is interested in the Stirling area at the present time."

Fertility of the Sea

"The sea and the land have the same fundamental source of all food supply, that is of course, the green plants. All flesh is grass is a very familiar phrase. It's quite true of the sea just as it is on the land. On the land we are very familiar with animals living on green plants. In the sea exactly the same thing is true; there are green plants which utilize the energy of the sun, daylight, and dissolve nutrient salts in the water: but with this big difference, that in the land you have water in the soil—in the sea the whole plant is embedded in water."

Dr. J. H. Fraser of the Marine Biological station at Aberdeen, speaking in the BBC's General Overseas Service.

Letter Of Thanks From Red Cross

April 14, 1958

Mr. M. J. Bourinot,
Richmond County Record
Arichat, N. S.

Dear Mr. Bourinot:—Like the newspaper, Red Cross is often taken for granted, and sometimes we both are unjustly accused of shortcomings, and for not doing just what some individual thinks we should.

Of one thing we are certain, without the support of the newspapers we would not be able to continue the extensive work we are able to do.

We wish to convey to you and your staff our appreciation for your assistance and courtesies during the past year, in connection with our Blood Donor Clinics, Water Safety Week, and our annual campaign for funds and all the assistance given to our branches in your territory.

We will continually strive to merit your support and if you would care to have a copy of our annual report we would consider it a privilege to send you one.

Yours truly,
C. I. ILLSLEY,
Commissioner.

The serious vein of the Hospital Insurance Institute was forgotten for a moment as Nova Scotia's minister of health, Hon. Richard A. Donahue (centre) chats with Rev. Father J. D. Gillis, board chairman of Saint Joseph's Hospital, Glace Bay; Sister Paul of the Cross, superintendent of Saint Martha's Hospital, Antigonnish; J. H. MacCallum, business manager, Aberdeen Hospital, New Glasgow and Walter T. Purdy, board chairman of Highland View Hospital, Amherst, delegates attending the three-day conference. The Institute was called by the Nova Scotia Hospital Services Planning Commission so that provincial hospital authorities might become better acquainted with the inner-workings of the provincial hospital care insurance plan. Approximately 200 delegates, representing general hospitals throughout the province, were on hand for important meetings held in the auditorium of the nurses' residence, Victoria General hospital, Halifax.

NEWS OF THE LEGISLATURE

Released By Nova Scotia Press Bureau, Halifax

Former minister of welfare under the Liberal regime J. Clyde Nunn (L. Inverness) called for a concentrated drive to clear slums, through the Nova Scotia Housing Commission. Back areas of some towns were disgraceful, he said and called for the ridding of unsanitary and dangerous housing.

Provincial Secretary G. I. Smith pointed out the province had taken an active part in working to alleviate the housing problem by participating in housing development plans by which the federal government would finance 75 per cent, the remainder to be shared between the province and the municipality. Although Halifax had taken advantage of this type of assistance offered by the government, no other municipality had, he said.

* * *

The question of television censorship was raised but some members suggesting the government investigate the possibilities of applying the type of censorship presently applied to films for theatre showings. Mr. Smith in his capacity as provincial secretary said this had been investigated and he had come to the conclusion that it was "extremely doubtful" if the province had the right of censorship over t. v. film.

* * *

Designed to decrease highway accidents, legislation introduced by Highways Minister Smith would impose an absolute speed limit of 60 miles per hour, with provision for assessment of four points for one conviction, as well as for fines or imprisonment.

* * *

An organizational meeting of the Mines and Minerals Committee, under the chairmanship of D. R. MacLeod (PC-Pictou Centre) brought forth a strong suggestion byJ. Clyde Nunn that the committee should consider the moral responsibility of big firms who open a mine, operate it for a time, then close the mine, leaving a community the economy of which "was left flat." His opinion met general agreement among committee members.

* * *

Rod MacLenan (L-Inverness) and G. S. Cowan (L-Halifax Centre) told the House they both had been informed Nova Scotia high school students were receiving training in mathematics inferior to that given in other provinces and the House was told by Education Minister Leonard the situation described by them had not previously been brought to his attention and promised serious consideration of the problem.

* * *

A bill dealing with the establishment of a school at Mabou to teach students "in basic academic subjects and to conduct an agricultural school and preparatory novitiate" was introduced by Donald R. MacLeod (PC-Pictou Centre). The bill was entitled an Act to Incorporate the Congregation of the Brothers of Our Lady of Seven Sorrows.

* * *

That he will ask legislation to agree that it is "expedient to provide new revenue" to pay for the provincial share of the hospital insurance plan was announced by Premier Stanfield.

* * *

At the opening session of the legislature's temperance committee Gordon S. Cowan (L-Halifax Centre) stated he felt the government owes some duty to alcholics. "There is a need for some centre at which rehabilitation may take place," he said. Nothing had been done to date, said Hon. E. D. Haliburton, minister in charge of administration of the Liquor Control Act, as studies were still in the preliminary stage.

Just The Same

Illnesses have a habit of coming suddenly into fashion—or at any rate to the general knowledge, and many people imagine that "influenza" first made its appearance with the great epidemic at the end of the first world war. But a letter written more than 170 years ago, which Miss Kathleen Corry Hodgson read with BBC programme "Midland Miscellany," shows that it was known much earlier and had much the same effect on the patient. In the letter dated June, 1782, a Mr. Newton who was a friend of the family, told of an epidemic then sweeping London. "Three parts of the people here are ill," he wrote. "Everyone in our family, both great and small, has it. Myself and Mrs. Bamford I think is worst. It leaves us so weak and low spirited as scarce to be expressed. The Doctor's new fangled name for the complaint is 'Influensa'. I have not yet found it in the Dictionary."

LITTLE KNOWN FACTS

Earth satellites lurch across the world's equatorial bulge like an automobile hitting a bump in the highway, the May Readers' Digest reports. The satellite, affected by the increased pull of gravity at the bulging midriff, veers; and the change in radio signals it puts out gives an exact measurement by the distortion.

In Appreciation

Edward Z. Boudreau and family, of Boudreauville, wish to convey their sincere thanks to all kind neighbors and friends who helped in any way during the recent sad bereavement, in the passing of a beloved wife and mother.

Special thanks to Rev. Father Charles Forest; Xyste Landry, organist; C. A. Boucher, funeral director; also to those who sent Mass Cards, floral offerings, sympathy cards and messages of sympathy.

To the employees of Booth Fisheries and to local 109 Fish Workers Union.

We are deeply grateful for all these kind expressions.

Nova Scotia FARM NEWS

NOTHING LESS THAN THE BEST

"We have spent considerable time with the various nurseries in this Province in getting them to adopt the latest cultural methods and, above all, to grow only the best available plant stock," reports G. B. Kinsman, Assistant Director, Horticulture and Biology Services, Nova Scotia Agricultural College, Truro. "Our program has been very successful and, now, there are no less than nine strawberry nurseries in this Province growing improved strawberry plant stock, according to Federal-Provincial plant improvement regulations."

The stock which these nurseries have for sale is just about the best strawberry stock available anywhere, and commercial strawberry growers who want to plant only the best can do this by planting only improved strawberry stock, and nothing else.

All packages of improved strawberry stock sold in Nova Scotia must be accompanied by a red tag, which indicates that the nursery stock, for which this tag was issued, was dusted every seven to ten days during the growing season, using 4 percent Malthion dust. This stock is declared sufficiently free from virus diseases for the purpose of sale as improved strawberry stock and is the buyer's only guarantee that these plants were grown under the Strawberry Plant Improvement Policy, as outlined by Federal and Provincial Departments of Agriculture. If any strawberry grower has a package of plants arrive without a red tag, then, they should not be accepted as improved strawberry stock. Without the red tag, there isn't any guarantee that they are what the grower is looking for.

With the exception of the nursery of Lloyd MacLean, R.R. 2, Pictou, every other one of the strawberry nurseries from which virus-free stock is available is to be found in Kings County. These are owned by: Gordon Chase, R.R. 1, Berwick; Chute Nursery Limited, Berwick; Otis Chute, R.R. 2, Kingston; Strawberry Nursery (Otis Jess, Jr.,) Port Williams; Warren Redden, R.R. 2, Berwick; George E. Webster & Son, Cambridge Station; W. H. Woodworth, R.R. 1, Berwick; and Wallace Frail, Centreville.

With this number of "virus-free" nurseries available it would appear that growers should not take a chance on planting strawberry stock that is any less than the best.

"AG. REP" GUEST SPEAKER

A very interesting 4-H banquet was held in the Brookfield Rural High School, the other evening. It was attended by 235 people, all of whom obtained a very clear picture of the 4-H Club work being followed in Colchester Coun. Guest Speaker was R. W. Moore, agricultural representative for Antigonish County.

Mr. Moore, it will be recalled was formerly "ag. rep." for Colchester, and his return, in the capacity of guest speaker, was a privilege which he enjoyed immensely. It was also a privilege which those attending the banquet enjoyed, for it provided them with an opportunity to thank their former "rep" for the good job he did while he was amongst them.

BICENTENARY SCHOOL ESSAY COMPETITION

When the special Bicentenary session of the Nova Scotia Legislature is convened on October 2, included among the many distinguished guests, who will be invited to be present on that occasion, will be two Nova Scotia high school students who will have the honour and the privilege of attending the ceremonies and representing the 160,000 school children of the Province.

The selection of these students, who will attend as guests of the Province of Nova Scotia will follow upon the completion of the judging of the interesting and rewarding $3,000 school essay competition which is presently being conducted as part of the celebrations commemorating, this year, the 200th anniversary of the establishment of Representative Government in Nova Scotia.

This essay competition, which is being conducted under the direction of R. A. Simpson, Supervisor of Publications of the Department of Education, is open to all pupils of the junior and senior high school gardes in Nova Scotia,—in separate classes for the two categories—is expected to attract a large number of entries. In addition to competing for first, second, and third prizes, which will be awarded on a County basis, students will also qualify for a number of gold, silver and bronze commemorative Bicentenary medals.

The two students, whose essays are adjudged the best on a provincial basis—one in the junior high school division, and the other in the senior high school group — will both receive additional awards of $50, each, and illuminated scrolls commemorating their achievement. In addition, they will be presented with an expense-free trip to Halifax, on October 2, next, in order to be present in the Legislature at the Bicentenary Session as guests of the Province of Nova Scotia.

DEPARTMENT OF FISHERIES' publications are used by educational authorities across the country. Write to The Queen's Printer, Ottawa, for the booklets shown here. Available to the general public, 25¢ each.

Putting fascination into education

CREATING A GREATER public awareness of our country's fishery resources is one of the responsibilities of the Department of Fisheries of Canada. Its Information and Educational Service seeks to show present-day Canadians how this natural heritage is being maintained for future generations through proper conservation and management.

This work is carried out through the daily and weekly press; radio and television; magazines; educational publications; recipe pamphlets for housewives; exhibitions; permanent fishery displays; film and filmstrip showings; and illustrated educational talks to groups of fishermen.

Such is the standard of the Department's booklets that they have found a ready acceptance by school and other authorities. Most of this material is obtainable by students, teachers, private organizations and individuals.
