Arichat Home And School

With the month of September came the opening of schools. With the reappearance of school bags came the meeting of parents and teachers.

The first Home and School meeting this year took place on Monday, September 29th at 8:30 P. M., in the Convent Hall. The meeting was called to order by the new president, Mrs. Wilbert Stone. Prayer was said and Mr. Harold LeBrun proceeded with the installation of the new officers who had been voted into office at the last meeting June 15. The new slate read as follows: Mrs. Wilbert Stone, President; Mrs. W. Corbett, Vice-President; Brother Bernard U. LeBlanc, C.S.C., Secretary-Treasurer; Mrs. C. Gordon and Mrs. J. E. Benoit, program Conveners; Rev. Sister Paulin, Health Convener. Next on the agenda was the reading and adoption of the minutes of the last meeting. The business section of the meeting heard a report from Sister Paulin on the proceedings of the Dental Unit in our area. Mrs. Emma Boucher, who later in the meeting was to be voted Parent Convener, gave a report on the 22nd Annual Convention of the Nova Scotia Associations held at St. F. X. University on July 15th to 17th. A vote was taken to the effect that meetings of the Home and School should take place on the last Monday of each month. A prolonged stay of the dentist to be forwarded to Halifax was discussed and approverd. The meeting was of the opinion that something should be done for the dentist in recognition of his devotion to the dental care of our children. Members to the Point Tupper, County Home and School meeting were named. The delegates were: Mrs. Wilbert Stone, St. Carmel along with Brother LeBlanc, Mrs. A. LeBlanc, Mr. Norman Samson and Mrs. Jas. MacDonald. It was resoluted that Pondville, Cape Auguet and Rocky Bay would be invited to join the Arichat Home and School Association. A project was organized by the ladies to make small articles of art. The meeting closed with a get acquainted tea.

Afraid To Earn More

A short time before his death, Thomas A. Edison was asked the secret of his success. "Two things that had nothing to do with my knack for inventing things had a lot to do with it," he replied candidly. "One was good luck. The other was that nobody ever was able to convince me that it was unfair to my fellow workers to put forth my best efforts in my work. I'm glad there was no such thing as the eight-hour day when I was a young man. I won't say it isn't a boon to others—but if my own life had been restricted to eight-hour days, I don't think I would have accomplished a great deal. This country wouldn't be where it is today if the young men of fifty years ago had been afraid they might earn more than they were paid for!"

Recent Announcement By Premier On Nova Scotia Forests Resources

HALIFAX, Nova Scotia — The agreement with Nova Scotia Pulp Limited concerning a new chemical pulp mill in eastern Nova Scotia is in the public interest and will not be affected by the report on the "Forest Resources of Nova Scotia" recently published by the Department of Lands and Forests, Premier Robert L. Stanfield announced recently.

"This report," said the premier, "shows that as a people we have been eating into our timber resources. The report emphasizes that in future we must make wiser use of our forest resources.

"Under wise management this province is potentially capable of producing much more wood than we are producing today.

"Sound forest management means, among other things, that we cut wood when it is ready to be cut. This means that we do not cut it too soon; but it also means that we do not let it rot or become ridden with disease.

The report issued by the Department, Mr. Stanfield stated, "shows that we have been cutting much of our wood too soon. It has long been recognized, however, that we have not been cutting some of our wood at all.

"The agreement with Nova Scotia Pulp Limited is a step towards sound management of our forests. Under the agreement an average of 150,000 cords of wood a year will be cut from Crown Lands which are for the most part over-mature and in need of cutting. For the most part trees grown on these lands are more suitable for pulpwood than sawlogs.

"The agreement with Nova Scotia Pulp Limited," continued the premier, "will bring these lands into effective use and will place them under scientific forest management. Cutting must meet the approval of provincial foresters and cut-over lands which do not regenerate naturally must be restocked by the company. The Government has been advised that under such management the annual yield of these lands will increase substantially over the years.

"It is also contemplated that Nova Scotia Pulp Limited will buy a further 100,000 cords of wood a year in the open market. Some of this will be hardwood. Some of it will be slabs and other by-products of sawmills which is now largely wasted. Some of it may be pulpwood which is now exported, and some of it will come from wood lots in eastern Nova Scotia which are capable of yielding more pulpwood.

"In short," said Mr. Stanfield, "the proposed chemical pulp mill will result in better utilization of some of our forest resources. Another is the balsam fir of eastern Nova Scotia.

"The proposed new pulp mill will provide a market for wood which is not being cut. It therefore represents a step towards sounder management of our forests."

Hunting Season In Nova Scotia

October 15th heralds the opening of Nova Scotia's deer hunting season and with the bag limit this year increased to two deer, either sex, per hunter, the month and a half kill is anticipated to reach the 40,000 mark. The seasons ends Nov. 30.

Last year, for the first time since 1939, only one deer per hnuter was permitted, resulting in 20,414 deer being shot in the six week period, compared with the previous year when, with two deer the limit, 34,332 were killed.

Heaviest kill last season was recorded in Halifax county where 2075 fell prey to huntsmen. Other counties, next in line, were Hants 1588, Colchester 1438, Inverness 1434, Cape Breton 1335, Lunenburg 1294, Cumberland 1240, Guysborough 1239, Annapolis 1205 and Queens 1005. Other counties were below the 1000 mark.

With the bag limit doubled this season, the kill, compared to last year, is expected to double also.

First deer were liberated in Nova Scotia in 1894 and the story from then on is an interesting one. Hunting was prohibited until 1916 when 154 were killed. The annual kill increased in the 1920's, climbed in the '30's, increased rapidly in the '40's and rocketed in the 1950's. From 1950 to 1956, the overall kill was 285,431 "white tails", the average season kill, 40,776. Top season in his seven year span was 1954 with 46,389. During the period the annual bag limit was two per hunter.

Big game license fees are $4.00 residents.

In all sections of the province the ruffed grouse, or birch partridge, season opens October 13, continuing to Nov. 11, with the limit five birds per day, 15 for the season.

Oct. 13 to Nov. 11 is the season for Hungarian patridge in Annapolis, Hants, Cumberland, Colchester, Pictou, Antigonish, Guysborough, Halifax, Lunenburg, Queens, Shelburne, Yarmouth and Digby counties, and from October 31 to November 11, both days inclusive, in Kings county. Bag limit is five per day and a total of 15 birds during the season.

The pheasant season extends from October 13 to November 11 in Colchester, Cumberl and, Pictou, Inverness, Victoria, Cape Breton, Richmond, Halifax, Shelburne, Yarmouth and Digby counties, and from Oct. 31 to to Nov. 11 in Annapolis, Kings and Hants with the season bay limit five cock birds.

Snipe and woodcock hunting, now underway in Cumberland, Inverness, Victoria, Cape Breton, Richmond, Antigonish, Colchester, Hants, Pictou, Guysboro, Halifax and Lunenburg counties, comes to a halt on November 4. The season opens in Kings, Annapolis, Queens, Shelburne, Yarmouth and Digby Counties on Oct. 11, finishing Nov. 13. Daily bag limit for snipe (Wilson's) and woodcock is eight of each per day.

Rabbit and hare hunting commences Nov. 16 and comes to a close Feb. 15, with no bag limit.

Mrs. D. H. Cutler Laid To Rest

The passing of Mrs. D. H. Cutler on October 1st, is mourned by her family, neighbors and friends. She was in her 89th year and for the past seven years was an invilid from the result of a parletic stroke and during that time was tenderly and lovingly cared for by her daughter, Laura.

We have occasion to feel sorry for the loss of our beloved neighbor and to be grateful and thankful for the many acts of kindness shown us, when at an early age we too, along with other members of our family were bereaved and deprived of a mother's care. The late Mrs. Cutler was always ready to help the sick in the community and during her lifetime, the many good deeds administered by this lady, will long be remembered and cherished.

She was a devout member of St. John's Anglican Church and was an active member of the Women's Auxiliary, having been the president of that organization for many years.

As the proprietress of the Commercial House, she will be remembered by the many patrons who held her in high esteem. After many years of successful operation this hotel was closed for business about five years ago.

Her husband predeceased her some years ago. Surviving are one son, Ralph, at home; two daughters, Laura, at home and Mrs. J. C. Robertson, (Hilda), of Truro; also one sister, Mrs. Clement Cutler, of New Glasgow.

The many beautiful floral offerings attested to the esteem in which the late Mrs. Cutler was held.

The funeral which was largely attended by relatives and friends took place from St. John's Anglican Church. At the funeral service, Bishop R. H. Waterman, D. D., of the Anglican Diocese of Nova Scotia, was in attendance in the Sanctuary, and delivered a very fitting and appropriate address to the memory of the late Mrs. Cutler. Canon A. F. Arnold, priest-in charge of St. John's and a close friend of the family, conducted the funeral service both in the church and at the grave.

We extend our heartfelt sympathy to the bereaved family in the passing of their beloved mother.

Credit Union Day

(Guest Editorial)

Thursday, October 16 is International Credit Union Day, and 10 credit unions in Richmond County will join with 25,000 throughout the world in celebrating the anniversary of the founding of the credit union movement, more than 100 years ago.

These credit unions stand for principles that should be better known and appreciated. Volunteer service, thrift and self help are the root of the credit union idea. By law, all credit union officers, except for the treasurer, must serve without pay.

Thrift is encouraged; members are urged to "save every pay day." Loans are made to members only, at low interest, for provident and productive purposes. Credit unions were pioneers in giving credit to the working class. By their fine repayment record (less than 1-2 of 1% of loans are not repaid) they have demonstraed that character is still the best security for a loan.

Economists agree that today consumer credit is necessary for a healthy economy, but they are concerned about the accompanying inflationary tendencies. Credit unions avoid this difficulty, since members' savings provide the capital for loans.

Any force for stability, which can help keep the wheels of industry moving without contributing to inflation, deserves closer inspection and our encouragement.

We urge credit unions to continue their good work in teaching thrift and self help in the family finance field.

We wish to extend our most sincere felicitations and best wishes to the credit unionists of this County who will celebrate "International Credit Union Day" with a Banquet and Social in the Memorial Hall, River Bourgeois. May they and their friends join with the 12 million other credit unionists throughout the world in giving fitting recognition to the many benefits brought to them through credit unions.

OUT ON A LIMB

By Stumpy McCulloch

Last week a bunch of us fellers were discussin' the ways of wives. Said Ol' Zeke, "I don't know about you fellows, but when my wife and I have an altercation, I always have the last word."

"How's that?" asked young Joe, surprised.

"I apologize."

If you're thinkin' about startin' a woodlot on your land or makin' one pay you already got, mebbe you'll be interested in the tools you need and what it'll cost you. All told, it runs upwards of $250.

First off, you need a chain saw, of a size to take care of your timber, and I kin tell you one thing, there's none better than the one named after me. They start at $239 for the lightweight model.

Next, you need an axe, double or single edge, 36" handle, weight 3 to 4½ pounds, about $4.50; a peavy, $8.50; a pole saw, 12' to 16' pole, 16" blade, $10.50, several wedges for falling and bucking, made of wood or metal, about $2 each; a safety helmet, $4.40; and a logger measuring tape, $3.00.

Along about now is a good time for me to trot out a favorite theory I've always held: any job of work you want to do, you can do only as well as the tools you have to work with. Tryin' to save a few bucks on tools mebbe'll cost you many hours of sweat and struggle.

* * *

I read where estimates show that a woodlot can produce a minimum annual profit of about $2 per acre. But experience has shown that really intensive forestry methods can double or triple this annual amount.

It's also been found that one forest worker can take of about eighty acres of productive forest.

A fellow down the road a piece, when ordered for induction by his draft board, wrote: "Have week old baby wife who is unable to work. Induction will cause hardship on her."

Rawhide Is Back On The Air

Not even the CBC who employ him are safe from the outrageous humor of Max Ferguson who is back once more on the air as Rawhide, the multi-voiced entertainer. His satirical skits lampooning officialdom can be heard on the Trans-Canada network of he CBC every Mondays through Friday. Not everybody realizes that all the voices in the program are done by Max Ferguson himself—and there may be a dozen in one show.
