Ramblings In The Past

BY OLD TIMER

Members of the Legislative Assembly for the Township of Arichat and the County of Richmond. 1832—1960.

The first House of Assembly for Nova Scotia was constituted in 1758, nine years after the founding of Halifax. The first election was held during the summer and the first Assembly convened at Halifax on 2 Oct. 1758. It consisted of 22 members, 16 from the province at large, 4 from the township of Halifax and 2 from the township of Lunenburg.

After the final annexation of Cape Breton to Nova Scotia in 1820, the island, designated as Cape Breton County, was entitled to two representatives to the House of Assembly. It was not until 1832 that the section which was to become Richmond County first sent a representative to Halifax. In that year, during the Fourteenth Assembly, the Township of Arichat was established.

The first representative for the new township, Lawrence O'Connor Doyle, was elected in Nov. 1832 and was sworn in on 8 Feb. 1833. Born 27 Feb. 1804 in Halifax, N. S., the son of Lawrence and Bridget (O'Connor) Doyle. Educated at Stonyhurst College. Married to Sarah Ann Driscoll. Lawyer and Merchant. Was re-elected to the Fifteenth Assembly in 1836 and served until its dissolution in 1840. Resided in Halifax, but moved to New York in the 1850's where he died 28 Sept. 1864.

In 1836 Cape Breton County was divided into three. One of the new constituencies was the County of Richmond, entitled to one representative. LAURENCE KAVANAGH (2) was the first member elected for this new constituency to the Fifteenth Assembly. the writ of election having been issued 2 Nov. 1836. He had previously been elected M. L. A. for Cape Breton County, 1830-1836. Born in 1789 he was the son of Laurence Kavanagh Sr. who had been elected as one of the two representatives from Cape Breton County in 1820, and who was the first Roman Catholic to be sworn in as a member of the House of Assembly. Mr. Kavanagh Sr. had been elected in 1820 but due to difficulties arising from the wording of the Oath of Allegiance he was not seated until 3 April 1823, after permission to do so had been received from His Majesty King George IV. Mr. Kavanagh Jr. was married about 1820 to Catherine, daughter of Morgan Murphy, merchant, of Port Hood, N. S. Served from 1836 to 1840 when the Assembly was dissolved. He resided at St. Peter's where he died on 22 Jan. 1862.

The writ for the election to the Sixteenth Assembly was issued 21 Oct. 1840 and the Assembly convened 3 Feb. 1841. Elected for the Township of Arichat was HENRY MARTELL. Born 3 Aug. 1806 at Mainadieu, C. B., the son of Joseph and Barbara Martell. Married in Sept. 1833 to Marie Julie Peltier of Quebec. Merchant. Represented the Township of Arichat from 1840 to 1859 when the township was abolished, having been re-elected in 1843, 1847, 1851 and 1855. When Richmond County was made a dual constituency in 1859 he again was elected as one of the two members and served until 1863. A Conservative. Served on the Legislative Council from 16 Feb. 1868 until his death. Resided at Arichat where he died on 21 Dec. 1877.

In the Sixteenth Assembly the elected representative for Richmond County was JAMES MCKEAGNEY. Born in Ireland in 1815. Emigrated to Nova Scotia in 1822. Educated at Baddeck and McQueens Academy, Halifax. Lawyer. His election was declared null and void 16 March 1841, and he was succeeded by WILLIAM CLARKE DELANEY who was elected in a by-election 9 July 1841. Served from 1841-1843. Apparently very little is known about him except that he was born in Great Village, Col. Co., that he was a Barrister and that he resided at Arichat, N. S. Even the place and date of his death are not recorded.

The writ for the Seventeenth Assembly was issued 30 Oct. 1843 and the Assembly convened 8 Feb. 1844. HENRY MARTELL was re-elected for the Township of Arichat and JAMES TURNBULL was elected representative for Richmond County. Date and place of birth unknown. Lawyer. Registrar of Probate. Resided at Port Hood, Inv. Co, where he died on 29 July 1846. He was succeeded by ARTHUR BRYMER, elected in a by-election who was sworn in on 26 Jan. 1847. Again the biography is scant. Born in 1777 in Fochabers, Scotland. Died on 10 July 1847 at L'Ardoise, Rich. Co., N. S.,

The election for the Eighteenth Assembly was held 5 Aug. 1847. The Assembly convened on 22 Jan. 1848. HENRY MARTELL was re-elected for the Township of Arichat. CHARLES FORTNUM HARRINGTON was elected for Richmond Co. Born in Halifax 11 June 1804, the son of Daniel and Anna Eliza (DeWolf) Harrington. Married 27 Dec. 1841 to Mary Lee, daughter of John Lewis and Anna (Dodd) Tremain, Port Hood, N. S. Lawyer. Judge of Probate for the County of Rich-

A STORY THAT REALLY HAPPENED

Hungry Visitor From East
Sea Gull Flies Here Easy Way

Surrey, B. C.— Pee Wee is a seagull by trade, and although he hasn't all his feathers yet, he has already flown from Sydney Airport to Vancouver, B. C.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Boudreau of 10970 -1283 St. Surrey, B. C., who were recently married, were visiting his cousins, Mrs. Clarence Landry and Mrs. Alcide Landry at Boudreauville, while on their honeymoon trip. They came by T. C. A. from Vancouver to Sydney.

On Sunday afternoon while boating near Rocky Bay, they landed on Rock Island, where Dolores found a nest of abandoned gull eggs.

She collected and placed the eggs in a paper bag and took them to Louisdale where they were visiting at the home of her husband's parents. She placed the eggs under a table lamp to hatch, and in a few days a baby gull arrived in good health.

The following day they were returning to B. C. and she took along the other egg in a paper bag, packed in wool to keep it warm.

Before leaving Sydney she looked in the bag and found the bird had broken the shell.

When they arrived in Toronto the gull was hatched and she placed it in a shoe box and then "he" flew from Toronto to B. C. minus feathers.

Mrs. Boudreau has named him Pee Wee and he is eating them out of house and home. "I didn't realize a bird could eat so much", says Dolores.

Pee Wee eats fish, bread, dog food, vegetables etc.

Dolores' mother, Mrs. Kate Hebu has suggested donating the bird to the Stanley Park Zoo. "I've been told that the eastern sea gulls grow a lot bigger than the local ones", said Dolores. "I can believe it, because even though Pee Wee can't fly yet, he has a three foot wingspread."

Like most Easterners Pee Wee views the West with disdain. He won't associate with the local sea gulls. He even chases Boudreau's Labrador dog and won't let Louis near him.

"He is very tame with me, though", added Dolores.

C.W.L. Honour Mary L. Marchand

The C. W. L. members of St Joseph's Parish Council of Petit de Grat, held a surprise party in the Parish hall in honor of Miss Mary Louise Marchand, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Marchand, who has chosen to enter the novitiate "Les Filles De Jesus" at Moncton, N. B.

A large number of relatives and friends gathered at the hall at 8 o'clock, and when Mary Louise entered, she was greatly surprised by the gathering.

Mrs. Louis Samson, C. W. L. President, introduced the guests, Rev. Fr. D. Murphy, Mother Mary de L'Emmanuel and Mother Audre of Petit de Grat. Mrs. Edwin Landry opened the cards and read the messages of congratulations and best wishes. Miss Marchand was then presented with a considerable sum of money after which she thanked everyone and promised to always remember them in her prayers.

Rev. Fr. D. Murphy spoke on choice of generosity and wisdom. His encouraging words were a lesson to all.

Rev. Mother Superior, Sr. Marie L'Emmanuel of the Convent de "Joie" was introduced by the President, Mrs. Louis Samson. She gave a very interesting talk on the congregation, "Des Filles de Jesus", which was enjoyed by all.

Then the guests all moved down to the basement where a delicious lunch was served by the ladies of the C. W. L. of Petit de Grat.

Red Cross Home Nursing Programme

A new emphasis on care of the aged will be placed by Red Cross in its Home Nursing Programme. This was revealed by Mrs. Dorothy Wyatt. Director of Nursing Services for Nova Scotia Division, on her return from a National meeting of the Society's Nursing Services Directors in Toronto.

The Home Nursing Course received priority in the discussions and a revised manual will be issued early in 1961.

"The general picture in Canada reveals older people are not receiving adequate care," Mrs. Wyatt said. "Through the Red Cross Home Nursing course house wives can learn the needs of this group. It has been demonstrated that older people are happier in their homes but need special attention. An understanding of the doctor's orders and the problems of nutrition and activity form the nucleus of good home care."

More than 50 Courses in Red Cross Home Nursing have been completed in Nova Scotia this year with many communities in the process of organizing instruction. Civil Defence training has been integrated with the Course.

Emergency Sick Room Loan Service continues to meet a need in Canadian homes when people are ill, the Director reported. Wheel chairs, Hospital Beds Crutches and small Sick Room needs are loaned for a maximum period of three months, free of charge. The patient must, however, obtain his doctor's permission before he can make use of this Service.

During 1959, 3,000 Nova Scotians used this free Red Cross Service at home, Mrs. Wyatt revealed. Each patient has a problem and individual requirements are met whenever possible.

There is every indication across Canada that the Service will expand to meet the increased need of Sick Room equipment in the home as more patients are currenty being cared for in the family environment, she said.

Arichat Harbor Sheltered the Marjorie & Dorothy During Hurricane Donna

Arichat harbour was a haven for shelter during hurricane Donna, when the tug Banesot, in command of Capt. Edward Forgeron, of West Arichat, a veteran tug boat Captain for Maritime Foundation Ltd., answered the call from the big Lunenburg banker, Marjorie and Dorothy, which became disabled on Banquereau Bank and drifted 118- 135 degrees from White Head buoy, when the Banscot made the tow possible in the teeth of the hurricane.

Capt. Forgeron was at the time en-route to Baie Comeau, and was instructed by his owners to proceed to the aid of the Marjorie and Dorothy, and to make the best possible sheltered port. Capt. Forgeron, who is quite familiar with Arichat Harbour made for this port after he picked up the tow. Capt. D. Collet, being a passenger from Halifax on the Banscot to join his ship Foundation Victor, gave all possible help to make the shelter a success.

The Captain of the Marjorie and Dorothy said that Arichat Harbour was one of the best he had ever entered and was most grateful to Capt. Forgeron, who chose this harbor for shelter.

We were unable to get a photo of this tow, but the above photo taken by us some years ago when several American draggers entered this port for shelter from a hurricane, proves beyond a doubt, that Arichat Harbour offers such shelter and our friend Capt. Edward Forgeron, with his long experience and good judgement, knows the harbors along the Atlantic seaboard and took advantage of the spacious harbour here which during bygone days was well known.

When we watched the Banscot take its tow out of Arichat harbor bound for Lunenburg, we felt proud of Capt. Forgeron, a native son, and a descendant of a noble race of Isle Madame mariners, who still hold to the tradition of the sea.

FRESH WATER PRODUCED FROM SEA WATER

One of mankind's oldest dilemmas—how to convert sea water into useful fresh water—appears to have been conquered by the development of a new apparatus in Japanese laboratories.

Already the U. S. Government is reported establishing a new plant in Denver, Colo., to experiment with the new process and other inquiries have come from France, Israel and Australia.

The new apparatus was developed by Yoshio Tsunoda, director of the technical laboratory of the Asahi Chemical Industry Company, who put a different application to the well-known ion exchange method of separating salt from sea water.

The New Japan Chemical Company, a subsidiary of the Asahi Company, is now building a factory which will be capable of producing 15,000 sets of resin membranes a year.

Everyday use of silver is the best possible way to care for it. But remember, when used daily, it's wise to rotate the pieces so each gets the same amount of wear.

When washing silver, if you think it's being protected from nicks and scratches by using a rubber sink mat, you're wrong. Rubber is brim-full of sulphur and will produce tarnish with lightning speed.

Wash your silver, immediately after use, in hot sudsy water. Rinse in clear hot water and dry while the silver is still hot. Don't ever wash silver and let it dry by itself, because there are tarnish forming elements in the air and spotting and streaking can result.

In buying meat, remember price is no measure of food value. Some lower priced meats are very nutritious. Remember, too, in comparing prices, it's the cost per pound of edible meat that counts.

* * *

At the cottage, or on a picnic this summer, why not keep sugar in a plastic topped syrup pitcher? That way, it won't get lumpy or attract insects, and will pour easily through the spout.

* * *

It's no trick at all to give a gourmet touch to fish. Try these bright ideas: sliver blanched almonds, brown them in melted butter and pour over fish after it's been baked, broiled or sauteed. Or use pecan halves or broken walnuts instead of almonds.

Or after broiled fish or fish sticks are done, sprinkle with grated Cheddar or Parmesan cheese and return to the broiler to brown for a minute or two.

Or add chopped cooked shrimp and chopped mushrooms to the cream sauce you make to pour over poached fish.

Does the man in your house ever wash the dishes? Most of them do and their skin can be just as sensitive as a woman's. Perhaps that's why ten Toronto men were recently among those chosen for a novel experiment.

For six weeks, three times a day for ten minutes at a stretch, they soaked their hands and arms in tubs of dishwater. It wasn't ordinary dishwater because this contained a brand new formula for Lux liquid detergent and their job was to tests its reaction on a person's skin.

Each night, when the men went home, on their arms they wore patches of cotton soaked with the new detergent. Doctors stood by, during the experiment, to give periodic checkups.

The result? After six weeks of soaking, each man claimed the new detergent was milder than anything he'd used before. In addition to its new formula, it also had a new perfume in which the scent of hyacinth, jasmine and lily predominated.

In British Columbia and Alberta, in order to test consumer preference, this new product is a pink lotion in a white plastic container. In the rest of Canada, it's amber in color and packaged in royal blue plastic.

Tell your husband about its new mildness. He just might insist on washing the dishes all the time!

This year's crop of apples should be particularly delicious. When they become available in your community, remember this good and unusual way of using them. It's especially recommended as an appealing lunch for children. Place thin slices of apple on a buttered slice of bread. Cover with a slice of sharp cheese. Broil until the cheese is bubbly.

Unseen Industry Benefits Canadians Everywhere

National Pulp and Paper Day Marks 159 Years of National Contributions

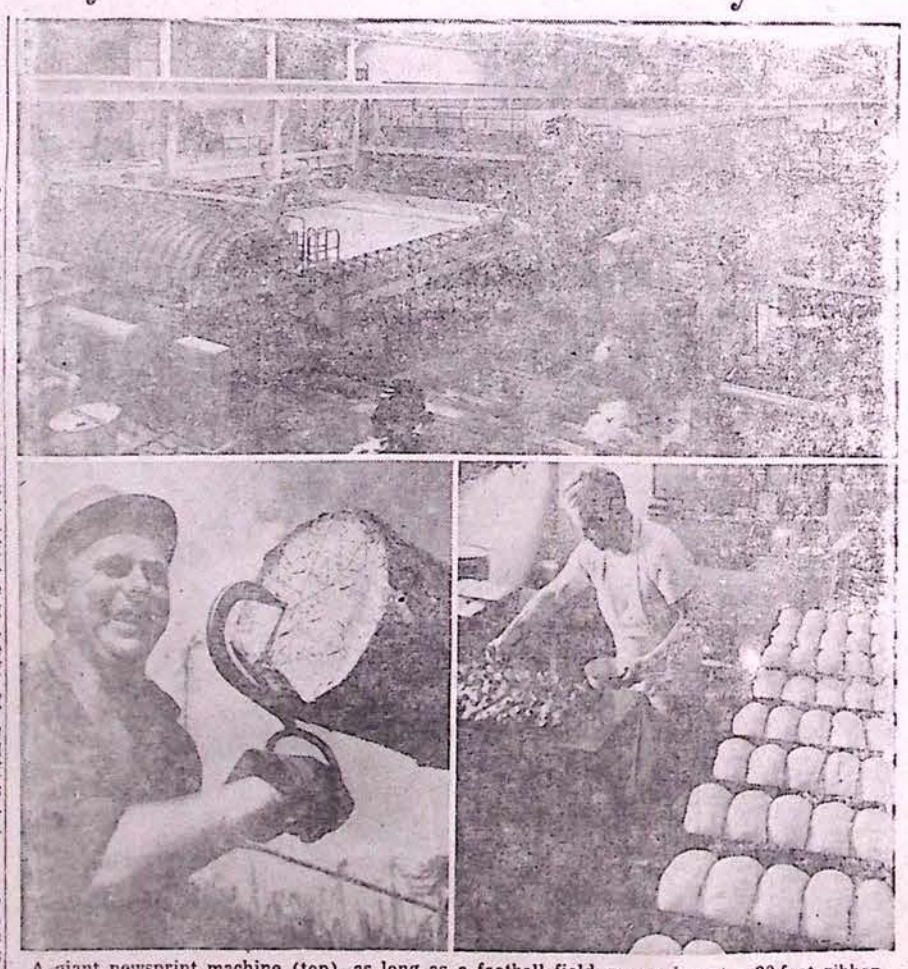

Canada's pulp and paper mills, generally located in the hinterlands, are unseen by most Canadians, yet the entire country benefits from the operations of this one great enterprise that is the nation's leading producer and exporter.

The pulp and paper mills convert the forest harvest into a variety of products, including the newsprint for this and all other Canadian newspapers. In addition to meeting Canada's paper, paperboard, and pulp requirements, the industry accounts for more than a fifth of the value of all Canada's exports. The industry is also the nation's leading manufacturing employer and wage-payer. Hence, its operations stimulate and quicken every facet of trade, commerce, agriculture, and business in the land. For example, pulp and paper is the chief user of the railways and by far the leading consumer of electric power in Canada. It is also a leading buyer of chemicals, mill supplies, and industrial equipment.

To feed their woodsworkers alone, the mills buy each year, some 14 million pounds of meat, 20 million eggs, 10 million pounds of flour, 3 million cases of canned milk and more than 6 million pounds of powdered milk and other dry foods. Thus the industry is also a leading purchaser of agricultural commodities.

In a pulp and paper day statement, R. M. Fowler, president of the Canadian Pulp and Paper Association said, "This day will serve to remind us that we are in a period in which the world will make increasing demands on Canada for pulp and paper. Conservative estimates reveal that world demand will double in the next fifteen years," continued Mr. Fowler. "This means that Canada, with her resources, will be in a position to increase greatly her foreign trade." This will provide still further opportunities for the millions of Canadians whose livelihood depends, directly and indirectly, on the well-being of the pulp and paper mills.

With a variety of events, the mills of the industry are setting aside a Day as a reminder to all within the industry of their growing trading responsibilities. Equally important, it will create a wider understanding of the importance of the forests upon which the prosperity of Canada so largely depends.

A giant newsprint machine (top), as long as a football field, may spin out a 20-foot ribbon of paper at speeds of more than twenty miles an hour. Canadian mills, with a newsprint output three times that of any other country, supply almost half the free world's newspaper pages. Each day they produce the equivalent of a five-foot ribbon of paper stretching from Toronto to Baghdad. Below, a pulp and paper logger gets ready to move a log, the industry's raw material, while a camp cook prepares a daily batch of pastries and bread.

WEDDING

ADAMS— SIMPSON . . . .

Trinity Anglican Church was the scene of a summer wedding when Janice Lorraine, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas J. Simpson became the bride of Wallace Earl Adams, son of Mrs. Thomas K. Cooper and the late Alden Adams.

Canon F. A. Heffler performed the ceremony and George Smith was organist.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor-length gown of nylon net and lace over satin, fashioned with a fitted bodice and full skirt. The neckline and skirt of the gown was appliqued with seed pearls and rhinstones. Her shoulder-length veil was held in place by a tiara off seed pearls and rhinstones and she carried a bouquet of red roses.

Miss Sunnie Simpson attended her sister as maid-of-honor, and Miss Donna Schwartz and Miss Barbara Everett were bridesmaids. They wore identical waltz-length gowns of pink, blue and yellow chiffon over taffeta. Miss Annie Schwartz, the flower girl, wore white flocked nylon over taffeta.

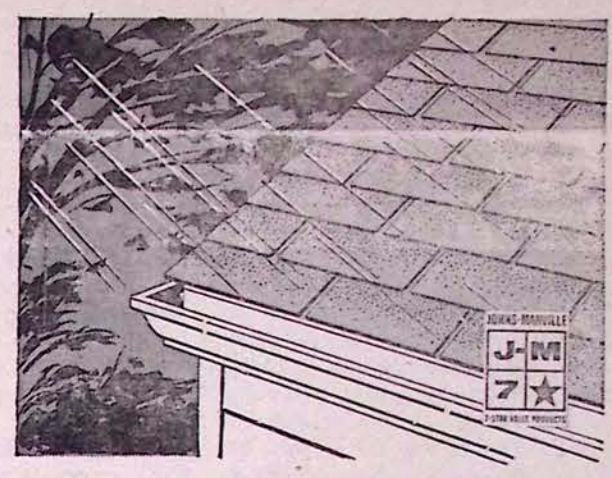

Everett Cooper was best man for his brother, and Edward Joyce and George Clark were ushers.

The bride's mother chose a blue sheath dress with matching bolero and white accessories. The mother of the groom wore an olive green sheath dress with fuchsia accessories.

A reception was held at the Hydrostone Horseshoe Club. Mr Thomas K. Cooper proposed the toast to the bride.

For her wedding trip around the Cabot Trail, Mrs. Adams chose a sheath dress of champagne tissue faille with a matching duster coat and sapphire blue accessories. Her corsage was of yellow roses.
