Diary of a Vagabond

BY DOROTHY BARKER

MARITIME TOUR

I was told when I arrived in Moncton, N. B., that it was a woman who first realized an optical illusion had possibilities as a tourist attraction. Only a few miles from the city itself, the Magnetic Hill had drawn people from all over Canada and the United States, curious enough to want to experience the queer sensation of climbing a hill while actually rolling backwards in their cars.

This phenomenon was our initiation into the fraternity of Maritime tourists. Traveling by chartered limousine after having arrived from Montreal by train, we were to roam the highways and byways of three provinces, escorted by two vacationing school teachers. For a number of years these two and several others have devoted their summer holidays to driving as many as eight tours a season.

They know the country, every river, and byway, hill, lookoff and local curiosity, to say nothing of the historical features of this part of Canada that boasts of its longevity as a settled community.

Before heading for Fort Beausejour, our drivers whisked us about Moncton. On arrival there I was impressed by the wooden structures. Homes, stores, churches and even cottage banks were obviously supporters of the lumbering industry. Another impression I had was that the paint business "east of east" must flourish, year in. year out.

Because our conductors were teachers we learned about the school system in Moncton where English, Irish and French schools all operate under one school board. The CN's first hump yard is functioning at Moncton, where a large portion of the working population is employed by the railroad.

History at Fort Beausejour

Fort Beausejour, our next stop, sits atop a sweeping hill where the winds of time have pounded its battlements since its erection by the French between 1751 and 1755. In that year, before the completion of the fort, it was attacked by an expedition from Boston under the command of Colonel the Honorable Robert Monckton. Following its capture Monckton re-named the strategic hilltop "Fort Cumberland" and so it remained until 1926 when 59 acres were acclaimed a national historic park and again given the original name, Fort Beausejour.

One reason I was so interested in this historic site was that within the museum building erected in 1935 are momentoes of the Bennett family. Richard Bedford Bennett's picture hangs among others of his family, his brother Captain R. V. Bennett, and R. V's. two sons who were killed within hours of one another in the second world war. Family treasures are under glass in the museum but my memory of one of Canada's Prime Ministers is a vivid one.

During R. B. Bennett's first campaign for a seat in Canada's Parliament I was enlisted as a helper. My mother was his women's organizer and I, a teenager, spent hours answering the phone and folding letters. Toward the end of the campaign, Mr. Bennett was to address men in the Ogden shops. He came down to campaign headquarters in morning suit and spats. My mother looked at him and remarked that she hoped he didn't expect to influence the vote of several hundred railway shop employees dolled up like a Peer. She suggested he go back home and change to a business suit which he did. It was legend for some time in Calgary that this was the only time bachelor Bennett ever allowed himself to be influenced by the suggestion of a mere woman.

A Long Memory

Now he looked down on me in Fort Beausejour from a frame, dressed in court garb, holding his plumed hat following the ceremony when he became Viscount Bennett. What a long way down the years from his first stuffy little campaign office in the foothill city, to the hot, humid day I stood in this old fort and read the inscription detailing facts about the Bennett family and what its members had contributed to Sackville, N. B. their native bailiwick.

"Museums", remarked one member of the tour, a Polish refugee, familiar with reminders of the past, "always smell of death". I wanted to tell her that the Bennetts will live long in memory for their support and financial gifts to Mount Allison, a Maritime University, and to the pages of Canadian history, brief as Richard Bedford Bennett's prime ministership proved to be.

Liberals Hold Annual Meeting

The Annual Meeting of the Richmond County Liberal Association took place at the St. Peter's Parish Hall, on Aug. 31. The call to order took place at R.CJp.m. In his opening remarks the President, Councillor Walter Fougere, welcomed the large crowd and then introduced the platform guests-- Mr. Earl W. Urquhart, Leader of the Opposition and Member of the Legislature for Richmond County and Mr. Allan J. MacEachen, Chief of Research in the office of Mr. Lester Pearson, at Ottawa and former Member of Parliament for Inverness-Richmond-Cape Breton West, along with the members of the County Executive, were present.

The minutes of the previous meeting were then read an on motion of Mr. Joe Mancini, seconded by Coun. Alex Marchand, the minutes were unanimously adopted.

The election of officers followed.

It was moved by Mr. W. S. Urquhart and seconded by Mr. Joseph Samson, that President Walter Fougere, be re-elected. Motion carried.

On motion of Mr. Arthur Marchand, seconded by Mr. Harry L. Marchand, Coun. Alex Marchand was re-elected Vice-President.

Mr. Clem Benoit moved that Carl Boudreau be re-elected Secretary-Treasurer. This motion was seconded by Mr. A. E. Samson and carried.

Then came the nomination of District Chairmen and the following names were presented:—

Dist. No. 1. Ivan Shaw, of Arichat.

Dist. No 2—Clem Benoit, of Petit de Grat.

District No. 3 East—Coun. Harry E. McDonald of D'Escousse.

Dist. No. 8—To be appointed later.

Dist. No. 9—Murdoch Matheson, Grand River.

Dist. No. 15—Dennis Mombourquette, Rockdale.

It was moved by Mr. Clem Benoit and seconded by Mr. Francis H. Boudreau that the above slate of officers be elected. Motion carried.

Mr. James Johnston, a senior member of the Liberal Party, was then asked to speak. Mr. Johnston called upon everyone to do their utmost to further the cause of Liberalism. Even in this age of automation, the human element is still the most important, he said. People are the ones to decide who will govern the country. They should have noticed by now, said the speaker, that the country is not being run as it should be, as it was under previous Liberal Governments. The speaker then mentioned some of the fine qualities of Mr. Earl Urquhart." "Nobody has done more for Richmond County than Earl Urquhart", he stated. He then cited Mr. Allan MacEachen as a young man with a bright and promising future. He spoke of Mr. MacEachen's position of influence at Ottawa and urged those present to seriously consider him as our candidate in the forth-coming Federal Election.

Honorary President, W. S. Urquhart then gave a few words of welcome. He congratulated the previous speaker and expressed great pleasure in seeing so many people at the meeting.

Councillor Alex Marchand, Vice-President, was the next speaker. He congratulated the Executive on their election and also had a few kind words to say regarding the minutes of the last meeting. He confined most of his remarks to the political situation in Richmond County. "Liberalism is stronger than ever in the County!" he said. He also spoke strongly in favor of Mr. MacEachen as a future federal candidate.

The Leader of the Liberal Party, Mr. Earl Urquhart, was then called upon to speak. He thanked everyone for the support given him in the last election. He pointed out that without the help of all, victory would not have been possible. He had found that feeling toward the Liberal Party, throughout Nova Scotia and in Richmond County was getting better and better because, "The Tories are long on promises and short on performance". He summed up the last session of the Legislature by saying, "All that Mr. Stanfield had to offer was increased taxation." "While in opposition, Mr. Stanfield had deplored the crushing burden of taxation-- but now that pose of relieving the load on ment he stands idly by as taxes increase". Money had been given to the Province by Ottawa for the express purpose of relieving the load on Municipal taxpayers. This money had never reached the Municipalities said Mr. Urquhart

Mr. Urquhart then reminded the audience never to forget that the Pulp Mill at Pt. Tupper and the Booth Fisheries Plant at Petit De Grat.

A REAL CATCH — Canadian National Railways diver Gus Gallant of Charlottetown shows young fisherman Blaine MacDonald a truly fresh catch. The picture was snapped at Borden where the railway carried out a scuba diving course this summer for six of its tradesmen. Purpose of the underwater school was to enable the men to practice their trades underwater — as well as inspect underwater structures such as piers, terminals, ships, bridge pilings and abutments. Unfortunately, the succulent lobster had to be returned, as it is illegal to fish them with anything but a trap. Helping Gus show Blaine that there really was something on the bottom, even if the fish weren't biting, are George Vautour of Moncton (left) and Fulton Stone of Truro. (CN Photo)

Of Many Things

By AMBROSE HILLS

A Pretty Good System

There's a small restaurant near the office which I frequently patronize, but today it was boarded up. I think I know why.

About five years ago an immigrant couple took it over and made it quite successfull. They were at work before I reached my office in the morning (and I'm an early bird), and usually were still at it when I headed home at night. A friendly pair, they attracted a good many customers and the food was good enough to hold us.

In the summer, when I batch for two months, I made a habit of eating breakfast there. It was good, served with a smile, and the couple made it clear they appreciated the business.

Not too long ago they sold the restaurant and opened a larger place in another part of the city, where they specialize in the dishes of their homeland. Their successor was a man who did not appear to have much experience in the business. He raised the prices, served less tasty food.

One by one, the regular patrons started to look elsewhere. Finally, the restaurant was closed.

LIBERAL MEETING

stand as monuments of Liberal planning and foresight. Were it not for the building of the Canso Causeway and surveys undertaken by a Liberal Government, the building of the Pulp Mill would not have been possible.

Mrs. Norrie, President of the Nova Scotia Women's Liberal Association, was introudced. She expressed great pleasure at being present at the meeting and was glad of the opportunity to speak to the women of the county. She said she was anxious to organize a Women's Liberal Association in the County.

The Secretary then introduced Mr. Allan MacEachen.

The guest speaker congratulated Mr. Urquhart on his appointment and felt that Earl would do a standout job in his position as Liberal Leader. He reported on his tour of the County and said that though he regretted not having been able to see everyone he had received a warm welcome wherever he had gone. He then shifted to the Federal scene. He spoke of unkept Tory promises. From what he had seen—public works had grounded to a standstill in the County. "More than four years have passed since the Tories took office at Ottawa. Does their record merit their re-election?" he asked. "Broken promises are all that was offered. Unemployment is the greatest domestic problem in the country. In 1957 there was a shortage of labor in Canada. Today people out of work are returning in ever increasing numbers from other parts of the country. In 1957 there was almost a billion dollars in the Unemployment Insurance Fund, now it is almost depleted. Benefits have been cancelled for all causual employees to help protect the Fund. A Liberal Government will restore these benefits!"

Mr. MacEachen then spoke on the yearly deficits incurred by the Conservatives since they took office. He explained how these deficits had increased the National Debt and how interest payments on this debt have risen thus leading to a higher cost of living. The devaluation of the Canadian dollar was also rapped as contributing to this rise in prices.

The speaker said that the Government had used the Bank of Canada Governor, James E. Coyne as a scapegoat to blame past blunders upon. He also spoke of the tariff bill (with no right of appeal) and said that both in this and the Coyne case Mr. Diefenbaker had been forced to back down because the Senate had stuck to its guns. As a result the Prime Minister, the man who had championed the Bill of Rights, threatened to reform the Senate.

The New Party was not needed, he declared. The Liberal Party represents all classes of Canadians while the New Party represents only one class. "It is only the old S.C.F. with a new name.

Mr. MacEachen, in closing, expressed his intention to have his name placed in nomination as Federal Candidate at a nominating convention to be held, in all probability, later this year.

The meeting adjourned at 10.15 with "The Queen."

Arichat, Sept., 12- Congratulations to Alex E. Boudreau, who celebrated his 96th. birthday, on Sept. 9th., at the home of his son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Alex M. Boudreau, with whom he resides. He was born at Cape Auguet in 1865, and in his early life was an active and industrious fisherman, until old age forced him to retire.

He can relate interesting stories of the days of "Wooden ships and Iron men".

He never wore glasses and is still in fairly good health.

Relatives and friends visited him and gave him gifts for the occasion, also gifts from relatives in Halifax. We wish him many happy returns.

DUNDEE DEW DROPS

A special service was held in Black River United Church on Aug. 13th., when Chimes were dedicated in memory of Hughie and Florence MacDougall, of Grand Anse, and their family of eight children, six sons and two daughters. With the exception of two, all were lifelong residents of Grand Anse. The eldest son, Alexander, established a home at West Bay Points, where he reared a family John resided in New Hampshire, where he reared a family. The memorial was purchased with money left by the youngest son, Daniel H.

The impressive service was largely attended. Mrs. Don MacKenzie of St. Peter's, sang very beautifully, "If I Have Wounded Any Soul To-Day," with Mr. A. O. MacLean, St. Peter's, at the organ.

At the close of the service, which was conducted by Rev. Sidney Snow, and following the benediction the chimes were turned on by Hugh M. MacInnes, and the congregation listened with reverence, as they sounded out softly in the stillness of Eventide.

An album of selections were in memory of Mrs. Alexander MacDougall, by Mrs. Sadie MacRae of Whycocomagh. Two more albums are being ordered in memory of Mr. and Mrs. John D. MacRae and Mr. and Mrs. Donald Cameron, by Mr. and Mrs. Dewey Cameron of Worcester, Mass.

$10.00 was donated by Louis A. MacRae of New Mexico, U. S. A., who with his sister, Mrs. Charles Maxwell, were visiting at St. George's Channel in August. The late Allan MacRae was their uncle. We are most grateful for this gift, which will be used to purchase Christmas and Easter music.

Another useful and valuable gift received by the Church were beautiful velour choir drapes, from Mrs. Alexander MacLeod, of Brookline, Mass. (formerly Miss Nellie MacDougall of The Points, West Bay).

How do I save?

Easy come, easy go...that was me until now! But with marriage in the offing, I've become a serious saver. The secret? Two separate accounts: a Personal Chequing Account for paying bills, a Savings Account for saving.

...The "Royal" calls this its Two-Account Plan. And it has proved to me I can keep my hands off my savings, can give them a chance to grow. It's a life-saver for serious savers. Simple. Sensible. And it works! Try it.

I am sorry the man's venture failed, but I realize that he practically guaranteed his own failure. No arbitrary power closed him down; the process was completely impersonal -- the patrons simply stopped coming, either because of the higher prices or, more likely, the less attractive food.

I don't know what the man who failed thinks about all this. Perhaps he curses the economic system; perhaps he blames himself; perhaps he thinks lady luck had a finger in the pie. I hope, however, that he got the message - that he is just not a good restaurant man, and he ought to find another position in which he can serve someone satisfactorily.

In a planned economy, of course, the man would have been moved out of the restaurant by inspectors. They would have decided that he was a failure, and would have bluntly told him so. There are some people who believe in such planning, done by experts, and consider it the most efficient system. It seems to me, however, that inspecters might blunder. They might declare a man a failure because they don't like the way he parted his hair. Our competitive system operates more justly, and with an impersonal efficiency that cannot be denied.

Our system gives men the right to fail or to succeed. To succeed, they must serve the public, not the arbitrary tastes of inspectors or efficiency experts. And after all, the public is the best judge of the service it desires.

WEDDING

MARTELL — PETERS

A pretty summer wedding was solemnized in the Guardian Angel Church, L'Ardoise, Sat., Aug., 19, when Lorraine Peters, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Peters of Sydney, became the bride of James Alexander Martell, son of Mr. and Mrs. James M. Martell of Rockdale.

The bride given in marriage by her father, wore a floor length dress of white organza over satin. A shoulder length veil was held in place by a matching tiara. She carried a white prayer book, a gift from the groom.

The bridesmaid was Barbara Martell, sister of the groom, who wore a floor length dress of pink lace with hat to match.

The best man was Irvin Peters, brother of the bride.

Ushers were George Martell and Wally Peters.

The wedding party motored to a Sydney Hotel for dinner, returning in the afternoon for a reception at the home of the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. James M. Martell.

They were the recipients of many beautiful gifts. Previous to her wedding, the bride was given two showers, one in Sydney and one in Rockdale at the home of Mrs. Charles Carroll.

The happy couple motored through Cape Breton, and on their return they will reside in Rockdale.
