SUGAR and SPICE

By Bill Smiley

Sometimes I wonder whether I'll ever reach that high plateau of peace and quiet and gracious living that beckons from afar. Or is it only a mirage?

When the kids were little, I used to console myself, as I staggered around in a welter of bottles and diapers, illnesses and accidents, that everything would sort itself out when they got a little older. I could picture a pleasant sort of life when the youngsters ceased being so dependant.

It was the same with my job. As a weekly editor, I was convinced that no other occupation was so devouring of one's time and strength, so intrusive into one's private life. I could think of 44 other jobs that would be easier, more remunerative, and more productive of leisure for peace and contemplation.

And it was the same with the Old Girl. As she harried me from pillar to post, from basement to bathroom, as she tried to improve my character, as she flew into rages, I comforted myself, "She'll simmer down after a few years. She'll stop shoving me, her temper will improve, and she'll realize that you can't make a perfect husband out of a pig's foot."

What I had in mind was a gracious and dignified middle age. The kids would be well-mannered, unobtrusive, brilliant and obedient. The job would be interesting but easy, and would include long holidays and big money. The Old Lady would be quiet, respectful, and appreciative of the privilege of sharing my life.

Well the kids are bigger and older, I got one of those soft jobs, and the passing years have passed. And the only appreciable difference is that, despite my failing faculties, I'm running faster than ever, and that calm, peaceful existence seems farther away than ever.

Oh, I know what you're thinking. You're thinking, "He's just saying that. Ill bet his kids are polite and nice, and everybody knows teaching school is a snap and I've heard his wife is a lovely girl in every way."

Well let me tell you something. My kids are more trouble now than they were when they sat in highchairs, hurling pablum all over the kitchen, and filling their diapers every time you turned your back. Coping with 170 odd lively teen-agers every day is a short cut to the cemetery. And my wife has just finished bawling the daylights out of me for the same old reasons.

Let me give you a rundown on the serene, sedentary life of a middle - aged school teacher. Just a sample. A typical week. Monday, I worked all day, came home and did my lesson plans, wrote my column and let Piper the cat out, about 2 a.m.

She didn't come back though I went four times to the back door, the last twice in my pyjamas, and hollered into the snowy wastes. Kim, who had brought her home as a stray kitten a year ago, wept bitterly all next day, and blamed the whole thing on me.

Tuesday, I came home from work, shovelled snow for an hour, did the shopping ran Kim over for her music lessons, shovelled more snow picked up Kim, looked for a dam' cat, prepared lessons and went curling. My wife gave me a horrendous blast for loitering a couple of hours at the curling club.

Wednesday was much the same, alternating snow shovelling with looking for cat. We discovered that the tom from next door had also vanished. I consoled Kim with the suggestion that they'd eloped. Bed at 1 a.m.

Thursday night was parents' night at the school. Oy! "simply" can't understand John's English mark! He works so hard, every night. And he's such a good boy!" A little questioning reveals that John hasn't missed a television program in four months, except for the three nights a week he

C. W. L. Meet

The regular meeting of St. Joseph's Parish Council of C. W. L., was held in the Parish Hall on January 14 at 2 p.m., with twenty-four members in attendance.

Meeting was brought to order by the president, Mrs. Godfrey Fougere, followed by the opening prayer of the League.

The minutes of the last meeting were read and approved.

Correspondence were then read, one being from Holy Redeemer College, Windsor Ont., appealing to our Council for an "Old Stamp Drive", same being sold to raise money to help build Catholic Churches and Schools in Japan. The president stated that she would place a box in the back of the church to collect stamps.

Treasurer was absent.

Fund raising stated she had collected $637.40 during the month of December.

Spiritual-report she had sent in Mass Cards to the late Alpha Landry and Cyprian Samson and members recited the Rosary in groups for the repose of their souls in their homes.

Social Action-stated she had collected and packed 168 lbs. used clothing, and part of it had been distributed to needy families in the parish, the remainder was sent to Fr. Webb, in Sydney.

Membership-had no report.

Press-had 3 articles sent to press and collected 109 lbs. of Catholic Literature, which will be sent to Catholic Missioners in Kerala, India and Africa.

Magazine- was absent.

The meeting then turned to unfinished business and it was decided that the "Travelling Basket" would start to travel around the parish again, starting up the Bay. Mrs. Leon M. Landry, then stated she had a pyjama bag and set of necklace and errings, which had been donated by a lady of the parish for sale, by tickets, and was moved by Mrs. Lawrence Samson, and seconded by Mrs. Alphonse Landry that the sale of tickets would start at once.

The President then asked for a volunteer to select the names of women to assist at Bingo on Wednesday. Mrs. Viola Landry volunteered from the floor.

The President then asked Fr. MacDonald to say a few words. He said he would like to have a demonstration on the importance of Baptism, Mrs. Hubert Thibeau and Mrs. Vander Samson, volunteered to be Godmother and Godfather. He stated that most of the young girls standing as Godmothers, didn't know what to do or say. He then instructed the members on Baptising a child, etc., that so many people didn't know the import-

Reading at All-Time High

Should I, at any time, be forced to choose but one travelling companion I am sure it would be a good book. Books never intrude on one's privacy, never blast one's reverie or shatter the memory one might be building of scenery and surroundings. They make excellent bedfellows (reading in bed is a favorite pastime), never object to being laid aside or ignored, conjure adventure and excite imagination. Because I believe this to be true, I was not too surprised to learn that book circulation in Toronto public libraries reaced an all time high of 4,775,000 during the year 1961.

All readers are not library addicts. There is a great number who put their money on the high riding popularity of the paperback. According to figures of the book trade just released in the United States, Americans are buying paperbacks at the rate of almost a million a day. Titles across the border have zoomed in 18 months from 6,500 to 13,900. We can discount this to a large extent but, taking into consideratron the difference in population, dealers tell me the number of Canadian paperback purchases compares with these astonishing figures.

The Muskegon (Mich.) Chronicle had an interesting comment to make in its editorial columns about paperbacks which was refreshing.

"Original titles, not previously published in any other form, are appearing in the paperbacks. Thus Frank Merriwell and his successors in the tripe school of paperbacks are being joined by serious novels and many a volume of high repute on the lists for classroom - extra curricular use in high schools and colleges. In our time culture, bless its heart, marches on reliably and more economically in the paperbacks."

Early Memories

People have told me on numerous occasions, as I have travelled from one coast to another by rail, (books, like babies, make wonderful conversation between strangers) that they cannot remember the very moment when they first discovered they could read.

I can. I must have been seven years old and my first understandable words, grouped in paragraphs, popped out at me from the columns of the Police Gaxette! I had an older broher whose associates during one brief stay we made in Brooklyn were too precocious. At ten they were not trading stamps and pictures that came in cigarette packages as were most youngsters of their generation. They delighted in smuggling an edition of this supposeedly risque journal from the one boy to another.

I remember it was printed on bright pink newsprint Women with veery fat legs and large bosoms dressed in tights and yards of maribou composed most of its illustrations. Oh, it was naughty all right, but compared to today's lurid illustrations on the covers of thousands of paperbacks and their contents, The Police Gazzette was fit reading for the kindergarten set.

The game of hiding this pink horror under our mattress when he heard parental footsteps approaching soon palled. My hunger for words found a new appeasement in fairy tales, the Oz series and, as I grew older, books written by Louisa M. Alcott. There were two books that could send me into a delightful world of magic. Authored by Kenneth Grahame they were titled "The Golden Age" and "Dream Days". They were actually written for adults, but because they were all about children and because they were illustrated by that wizard of imagery, Maxfield Parrish, my twelve-year-old mentality could digest the sophistication of such advanced reading.

Joy in Reading Good Books

I don't think we have to worry much about impressions some of the material now flooding bookstalls might have on young minds. Even teenagers as a whole who, like us as children, probably smuggle certain types of literature beneath their mattresses are, for the most part, merely acting like

CIVIC IMPROVEMENTS IN D'ESCOUSSE

By Sister Principal

There appeared in the Nov. 11, 1961 issue of the Richmond Record an article on the Civics Improvement in D'Escousse. I read the article and considered the tremendous amount of work which the Civics Improvement had accomplished in the 21 years of its existence. In my mind, there was no doubt. The only possible conclusion was that the organization was a strong one which held its strength from the interest and activity of its numerous members.

I was one of the three persons invited to attend a meeting on Jan. 7, 1962, to supply information on questions listed on the agenda. I accepted the invitation with pleasure, expecting to be one in a large attendance. To my amazement there were only eight members to be counted. Puzzled, I enquired whether I was attending an executive meeting. The answer that this meeting was a dom have I attended a meeting where sa much constructive discussion took place.

May I confess that since that meeting I am haunted by the one question to which I am seeking an answer? If so much can be accomplished in such a short time by such a small number of act-

TO PURCHASERS OF BIG GAME LICENSES

Under the Lands and Forests Act, the purchaser of a Resident or Non-Resident Big Game License is required to complete and return the report card attached to the License to the Department of Lands and Forests within seven days after the close of the season.

Failure to return this card makes the purchaser of a License liable to a penalty under the Act, and also he or she loses the right to purchase a hunting license for two years.

If your card has been lost or mislaid, a letter to the Department advising the number of deer killed, sex, whether buck or doe, the county in which the deer was killed and your license number or from whom the License was purchased, will fulfill your obligation under the Act. If no deer were killed, please list the counties in which you hunted and your license number or from whom the license was purchased.

The prompt return of this information will avoid any penalty.

At the November meeting of Guardian Angel, L'Ardoise Parish Council, the members voted personal donations to 'Care', Canadian Institute for the Blind, and to Christmas treats, for he needy. A memorial wreath was purchased to be placed at the Cenotaph Remembrance Day.

Mrs. Anthony Sampson, was appointed to represent our council by the committee formed for the betterment community.

Finance convener, Mrs. Alice Burke proposed that card playing be held in different homes throughout the parish to raise funds during the Christmas Season for the needy.

The following offered their homes: Mrs. James Briand, Mrs. Ben J. Berrette, Mrs. Alice Burke, Mrs. R. G. Samson, Mrs. H. P. Martell, Mrs. W. D. onbourquette, Mrs.. W. Carroll. Religous Christmas cards were sold for the same purpose.

The national president's letter was read from the League Magazine after which the meeting adjourned.

(We regret that the above report was only discovered on our live copy file and we are very happy to bring this roport to our readers although it was intended for an earlier issue. We have followed the work of the the L'Ardoise C.W.L., for many years and we wish to compliment the ladies of that district for their splendid contributions to the less fortunate not only in their own community, but beyond its boundaries. The Christian spirit that exists in L'Ardoise, reaffirms our belief that "God loveth a cheerful giver."—Editor.)

NEWS ABOUT TOWN AND COUNTY

MRS. LOTTIE BOURINOT

One of the eldest residents of Port Hawkesbury, Mrs. Lottie Bourinot, passed away at St. Martha's Hospital, Antigonish, recently, after being a patient there for some weeks.

The late Mrs. Bourinot was in good health up to a few months of her passing.

She operated her car up to 5 years ago, and was always interested in the affairs of the town. Both young and old held her in high regard.

The former Lottie Philpott, she was a descendant of one of the first settlers of Port Hawkesbury.

Her husband, John C. Bourinot, predeceased her in 1928. She is survived by two sisters, Mrs. Ada Langley, and Mrs. Mary Curry, both of Port Hawkesbury.

The funeral which was largely attended took place from Zion Robertson United Church, with Rev. Lloyd Saulsman, officiating at the church and grave.

We shall always cherish the memory of our late aunt and extend our heartfelt sympthy to her bereaved sisters.

From the Banks

The trawler Gene Fletcher, Capt. Sam Rideout, was in port from the Banks and landed a fare of over 300,000 lbs. mixed fish at the Booth plant, Petit de Grat.

All trawlers of the Booth fleet are bringing in large catches this winter.

Employment at the processing plant is quite steady.

From Trenton

Mrs. Agnes LeBanc, is visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Latimer of this place and will spend a few weeks here before returning to New Glasgow, where she resides with her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Eddie Edwards.

CARD OF THANKS

The family of the late Cyprian Samson, wish to express sincere thanks to relatives and friends, who helped in any way during their sad bereavement. Special thanks to Rev. John MacDonald, Dr. Gorman, Dr. Erjavac and all who sent floral offerings, Mass cards and sympathy cards.

MRS. CELINA FORREST

Mrs. Celina Forrest, a former resident of West Arichat, passed away on January 2nd., at the home of her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Boucher, of Arichat, with whom she had been residing for the past few years.

She is survived by one son and four daughters; Mrs. Louise Terrio, of Cambridge, Mass., Mrs. Rudolph Doiron, of Halifax; Mrs. Joe Dorey, of West Arichat and Mrs. Freddie Boucher of Arichat, with whom she resided, and Emile Forrest of West Arichat.

Surviving also is one sister, Mrs. Harry Pratts, of Pawtucket, R. I., and one brother, Willie Clorey of West Arichat.

The funeral High Mass was in Arichat with Very Rev. A. P. Poirier, as Celebrant. Rev. Father Doucett, deacon and Rev. Father Gerrior, sub-deacon, assisting.

We extend sympathy to the bereaved family.

Giving calls for genius.

LITTLE ANSE HOME AND SCHOOL

At 8 p.m. January 16, 1962 the regular monthly meeting of Little Anse Home and School Association took place. The reading of the "Creed" served as opening.

All reports were adopted, and as there was no correspondence, the meeting immediately reverted to new business. The pros and cons of having a telephone installed in the school were considered and after the discussion, it was decided to drop the matter for the present.

The matter of obtaining new books for the school library then arose. It was moved by Anthony Samson and seconded by Mrs. Anita Martell that books be ordered. The choice of books was left to the teachers.

A report of the annual school meetings was given and Father MacDonald gave a brief summary of the most important problems in education to be faced not only by our section but by the parish as a whole. A new school must be built soon or else our already overcrowded facilities would become totally inadequate with the next five years. The question of regional highschools was also breifly touched upon.

The Education Convener then read an article dealing with the place of Home and School in the present world situation. Especially striking was the statement that Canadians are considered by people of less fortunate countries as being self-centered, selfish and preoccupied by their petty problems while 450 million children suffer of hunger and sickness.

The meeting adjourned at 10 p.m., with the "Queen".

Giving does not impoverish us in the service of our Maker, neither does withholding enrich us.

WEST ARICHAT HOME AND SCHOOL

The regular Acadiaville Home and School meeting was held on January 20th., with Mr. Diggdon in the chair.

The minutes of the last meeting were read and approved.

It was reported by Mr. Diggdon that the sum of $18.74 was cleared from the card games.

Proceeds from the Christmas concert were divided among the six classes for the purpose of buying teaching aids and games.

Sr. Adeline spoke on the Music Festival, which is to be held in the near furure, and asked the fullest co-operation of all the parents. On motion of Rev. A. Doucett, seconded by Ann Forgeron, it was moved that the fee of $11.65 be paid by the Home and School for entering pupils in the Festival.

An account of the newly formed School Credit Union was given.

Mrs. Angus Hill reported that the cod liver oil capsules were purchased and distributed among the classes.

The meeting was followed by a group discussion on questions pertaining to the school curriculum. Reports were heard from these groups and considerable diccussion followed on the topic in question.

Meeting adjourned on motion.

Generosity has never impoverished the giver; it has enriched the lives of those who have practiced it.

sheep The main thing is that they come to realize the joy in reading. After that is acquired, their taste will develop until they can sort the gold from the dross. Like me, with so much to read, they won't want to be spendthrift with their leisure using up precious time on obscene tripe.

Friday morning, the cat turned up, looking ashamed. After school on Friday, we took two busloads of kids to the city to see a play. On the way home, the bus broke down and we sat on the high way in a blizzard for two hours. I delivered the last student to her home at 3.30 a.m.

Four hours later, the alarm called me to greet the same day, get Hugh's breakfast and drive him to the bus stop, where he embarks for his music lesson in the city. Sunday was pretty quiet. Just a communion breakfast at 9 a. m., a trip to the ski club with Hugh, dinner to prepare while the organist took off for a special service, and lesson plans into the wee small. Only break was a half-hour telephone conversation with a mother, who thought the taechers were picking on poor Sandra, because poor Sandra's best mark was 19.

Thirty years from now, if you happen to see a wizened up little old man going to beat hell in five directions at once, you'll know it's Bill Smiley, running his grandchildren all over the place. pursued by the admonitions of his wife, and still dreaming of the day when life will be calm, gracious and dignified.

CIVIC IMPROVEMENT

ive members, what could not be done by the organization of the Civics Improvement if its active membership were made tenfold?

I extend sincere congratulations and appreciation to this small but how devoted group of men and women who are sacrificing their time and energy for the betterment of our community. May their efforts be blessed with success.

Another group of citizens who deserve praise for their outstanding good deeds in the community is that of our Home and School Association. Several of them have spared neither time nor energy and nevertheless they have reaped nothing but ingratitude and criticism from non-active members. May they be brave and courageous enough to carry on the good work for the benefit of their children.

more POWER to you!

A. D. Stairs, President of N. S. Tractors & Equipment Ltd., announces the formation of an Engine Division within the Sales Department, headed by A. W. Norman, Sales Manager.

Arthur E. Rodgers now becomes Engine Representative with ten years experience with Caterpillar Diesel Engine Sales and Service. Backing up his efforts will be a number of highly qualified people within the organization as well as the service of the engine specialists in all fields from the Caterpillar Engine Division.

This important expansion has been brought about by the increased demand for CATERPILLAR Diesel Power available now in many new models and horsepower ranges.

Mr. Rodgers, together with Mr. Norman and his sales staff, and backed up by efficient parts and service facilities, will offer the best possible engine service to the marine, industrial, electric power generation, and truck engine market.

Compare any engine in the completely new Caterpillar line — from the 50 HP D311 to the mighty new 765 continuous HP D398 — with any other make of diesel engine . . . and you'll find your best buy in Caterpillar.

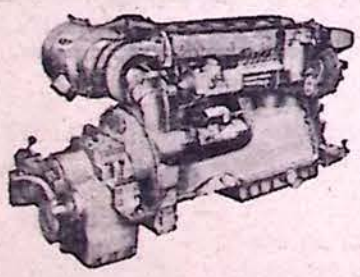

Cat engines installed in Nova Scotian built H.M.S. Bounty and Buccaneer Lady are proving the economics of powering with Caterpillar.
