Diary of a Vagabond

BY DOROTHY BARKER

WE NEED MORE OF THIS BREED

Lenah Field Fisher could possibly top 60 inches in her stocking feet if she stretched to her full height. One might expect her to be even taller, for this dynamo of energy is noted in her home town for sticking her neck out. She is a petite person, who might be suspected of using her feminine wiles to accomplish her objectives. Instead she uses determination and conviction to reach the goals she sets in her public spirited ardor.

Deputy Reeve, county commissioner, director of the local Opera and Drama Guild, member of the Board of Ontario Lake Development Association, plus owner and operator of the Marie Dressler restaurant in Colbourg, Ontario, it was hard to believe that tragedy had lit the spark that fired her enthusiasm for public service.

In one year Mrs. Fisher lost her mother, father and husband. Her parents had operated the restaurant for many years and because she had graduated as a dietician and obtained experience in Montreal institutions she undertook the arduous task of running a business she was only familiar with through observation.

During my interview with her recently, it was hard to believe she was until recent years, by her own confession, an introverted person unable to drive a car, afraid to travel alone or even make decisions on her own

I found her in a mellow room filled with warm old pine furniture, colorful antique chintzes and a huge TV set oudly broadcasting the World Series. She was rooting for the "under dog" which, I was to learn, was characteristic of her entire attitude toward life. The room bespoke her warmth, gentility, perfect taste and appreciation for attachments to the past while living in a thriving, new decade

It was because evidence of part of Cobourg's past was threatened with demolition that Mrs. Fisher faced the electorate and became a member of council. The old Post Office had already become a memory and the own Hall seemed to be headed in the same dicection. She hoped to be made chairman of Public Property, but instead, as rookie on council, rated the chairmanship of Sanitation. "I was humiliated to be made the town's first garbage girl, but after I slept on the appointment I was determined to be the best the people had ever elected." Next year she headed the polls, got the appointment she sought and immediately started her crusade to restore the old town hall.

This is indicative of her rebirth. She has made a tremendous success of the restaurant, travelled abroad alone both by plane and ship and learned to drive a car expertly. "When I shut the door on the past, the new vistas that stretched ahead were so challenging there was no time for remorse," said Deputy Reeve Fisher.

ENTHUSIASM CATCHING

My intense interest in Mrs. Fisher was stimulated by the many facets of her accomplishments. She is not content with merely operating one of the most unusual dining spots in Canada, she is a rabid promoter of industrial potential for her town, booster of harbor and rail facilities and tourist attractions in the area.

I have written about Mrs. Fisher because there are undoubtedly many woman readers across Canada who have, even as I have recently, come to a turn in the road. Because of bereavement or other discouraging circumstances they find the way ahead difficult to face. I hope, that as she helped me in my time of need, her story will encourage others to find their "vistas challenging".

FALL MEETINGS

LAKESIDE HOME & SCHOOL

Our first meeting of the new term of the Lakeside Home and School Association took place at Lakeside School on September 19 with Mrs. George Carter chairing the meeting and Sister Mary Kateri acting as secretary. Twenty seven memebers were present.

Many topics were discussed, but the most important one was the necessity of having remedial reading in the school. It was agreed upon that Home and School would purchase all material required for this additional course. Sister Mary Adrian, a new comer to the school who has had experience in teaching remedial reading, agreed to teach it.

Another topic of interest was the informative and interesting report of the N. S. Federation of Home and School Convention held in Truro, given by Miss Dolores Martell who had been our delegate to it.

A delicious lunch was served by the ladies following the meeting.

The October meeting was held on October 10 with 22 members present. Delegates for the coming fall council were appointed. They were as follows — Sister M. Adrian, Sister M. Kateri, Mrs. Douglas Landry, Dolores Martell and Mr. Cope.

PETIT DE GRAT
HOME AND SCHOOL

The regular monthly meeting of the Petit de Grat Home and School Association was held on Monday, November 26. The meeting was chaired by the president, Mr. Willie H. oBudreau and recorded by the Secretary, Miss Roma Boudreau. The Educational Committee reported that attempts had been made to organize classes in Adult Education, but it appeared as though not enough people were interested in this project. This committee also showed a film on the habits and patterns followed by the "ten to twelge age group." The treasurer's report showed a lack of funds, but the ways and means committee had organized a bingo which was held after the meeting and proved quite a success and helped to remedy the financial situation.

The chairman of the entertainment committee conducted a lively program of games after which the meeting adjourned.

LeBLANC — SHANNON

MARTINIQUE — A very pretty wedding was solemnized at 10 a.m. Mass at St. Hyacinth Church on Nov. 24, when Euphemia Pearl Shannon and Raymond Joseph LeBlanc were united in marriage. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Shannon of Martinique. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Simon LeBlanc of Arichat.

The ceremony was performed by Monseigneur Boudreau, P. P., in the presence of a large number of relatives and friends. The Mass was sung by the choir and sisters of the parish.

The bride was given in marriage by her father and looked lovely in her street - length sheath dress of white lace over taffeta with an over skirt of nylon. Her shoulder veil of nylon tulle illusion was held in place by a coronet of seed pearls and sequins. She carried a cascade of red roses with ferns and mums.

The bride's sole attendant was her sister, Miss Helen Shannon who wore a street length dress of blue nylon with a full skirt. She wore matching shoes and a crown of white pearls and sequins and carried white roses.

Ralph LeBlanc, only brother of the groom was the best man.

Following the ceremony, the wedding party, driven by the cousin of the brdie, Mr. Lester Shannon, visited Mrs. Annie MacDonald, the bride's grandmother after which they motored to the home of the groom where a wedding breakfast was served to the bridal party, by Mrs. Ralph LeBlanc and Miss Jeanette LeBlanc. Later in the day the bridal party called on many friends. They also visited the groom's grand parents Mr. and Mrs. John Boudreau of Petit De Grat. The bridal party then motored to the home of the bride, where supper was served. The guests were received by the bride's mother who wore a beautlful sheath brown dress with matching accessories.

The dining room was decorated with white and pink streamers and white bells. The table was appointed with a damask table cloth. The wedding cake was a gift to the newlyweds from the bride's aunt, Mrs. Raymond Fougere.

The grace and toast to the bride was given by monseigneur Boudreau and was responded by the groom. Supper was served by Miss Shirley Sampson, Mrs. Lorraine Forgeron,Mrs. Mary Shannon and Mrs. Raymond Fougere.

The wedding cake was cut in the traditional manner and served by Mrs. Raymond Fougere. In the evening the bridal party and friends gathered at Martinique School where everyone had an enjoyable evening.

Out of town guests were: Mr. and Mrs. John Baxter and daughter Beverley; Mr. and Mrs. Hubert MacDonald; Mrs. Velma MacDonald; Miss Denise Fougere, all of Sydney. Mr. and Mrs. Leonard MacDonald; Mr. Stephen MacDonald and daughter Sylvia, of Louisdale. Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Ryan and family, Point Tupper. Mr. John Martell and a friend, from L'Ardoise. Mr. and Mrs. C. Shannon, Halifax, Mr. and Mrs.

Sugar and Spice

By Bill Smiley

Had an interesting day in the city on Saturday. Met an old friend I hadn't seen in years, took a long look at the lady with no clothes on and was mistaken for a wealthy executive by several waiters, a cab driver and an art dealer.

It all came about because of my new winter outfit. In the clothes department, I had been Canada's last holdout against inflation. Ever since the end of World War II, I had been waiting for the price of men's clothing to drop back to a sensible level so that I could buy an overcoat.

Not that I haven't had an overcoat in all those years. I've had several, each of them looking like the Salvation Army had refused to accept.

When I came home from overseas in '45, I had no overcoat, and my old air force trenchcoat was held together by willpower and a few discreet safety pins. One day it fell apart, literally. A large lady who had been sitting beside me on a streetcar got up and walked away with half my coat dangling from her purse, which had caught in one of the rents.

* * *

My landlady of the day came to the rescue. A widow, she presented me with her late husband's 1928 model overcoat. A six footer he had filled it out nicely with his 220 pounds. A five-eighter, weighing in at a solid 137, I had room for a small family in there with me. But it was a nice gesture, so I wore it, looking as though every day were Halloween.

That one was swiped at a New Year's Eve party. It's the only time anything good has happened to me at one of those affairs. Luckily, a few days later, I met an old flying pal who had gone a bit alcholic and had two overcoats. I got his second best for $8.50. It lasted for a couple of years until we got a pup.

After the beast had been thorougly trained, and had ruined every old blanket in the house during the process, I let him sleep on my overcoat, just for one night, until we rounded up some more bedding for him. Apparently nobody had told him that he was thoroughly trained.

My last coat was given to me by an uncle. It just looked like somebody's uncle's overcoat, and I just looked like somebody's uncle in it.

The other day, sick of looking seedy, I hauled down the flag of resistance and hired me to a gents emporium. It didn't help much to discover that those sombre rags known as men's overcoats are about three times as much as they were in 1945.

* * *

However, I plunged. The Works. Imported, latest style, British tailoring. The price staggered the clerk. Then on some mad whim, I picked up a hat, an item I've never owned, and clapped it on.

I looked in the mirror. Don't ever tell me again that clothes don't make the man. The baggy-kneed teacher had been replaced by a baggy - eyed executive. The down - at - heels columnist had given way to a well - heeled stock broker. The only giveaway was below the knees. There were the same old shapeless shoes, with the broken laces tied in granny knots. Otherwise a veritable whiskey ad model.

And that's how I came to be standing in this art gallery in the city on Saturday, gazing at this nude painting. Judiciously. Rocking a bit on the heels. Pursing the mouth thoughtfully. Squinting carefully with the head cocked on one side. I figured that was what a man of distinction would be doing while he waited for his wife.

The salesman hovered discreetly A.sked him how much it was. He said seven - fifty. Told him I'd take it. He wanted to know if Id like a cheque form. Told him I'd pay cash. Pulled out a ten - spot. Simulataneously discovered that he meant seven hundred and fifty and that my wife was standing two feet behind me.

* * *

I was still trying to convince her that I was interested only in the remarkable tone of the painting when we ran into old John Meisel. Hadn't seen himsince the days when the mob used to arrive at our place with a case of suds, a salami, a guitar and a number of ridiculous but refreshing ideas. He's a university professor now.

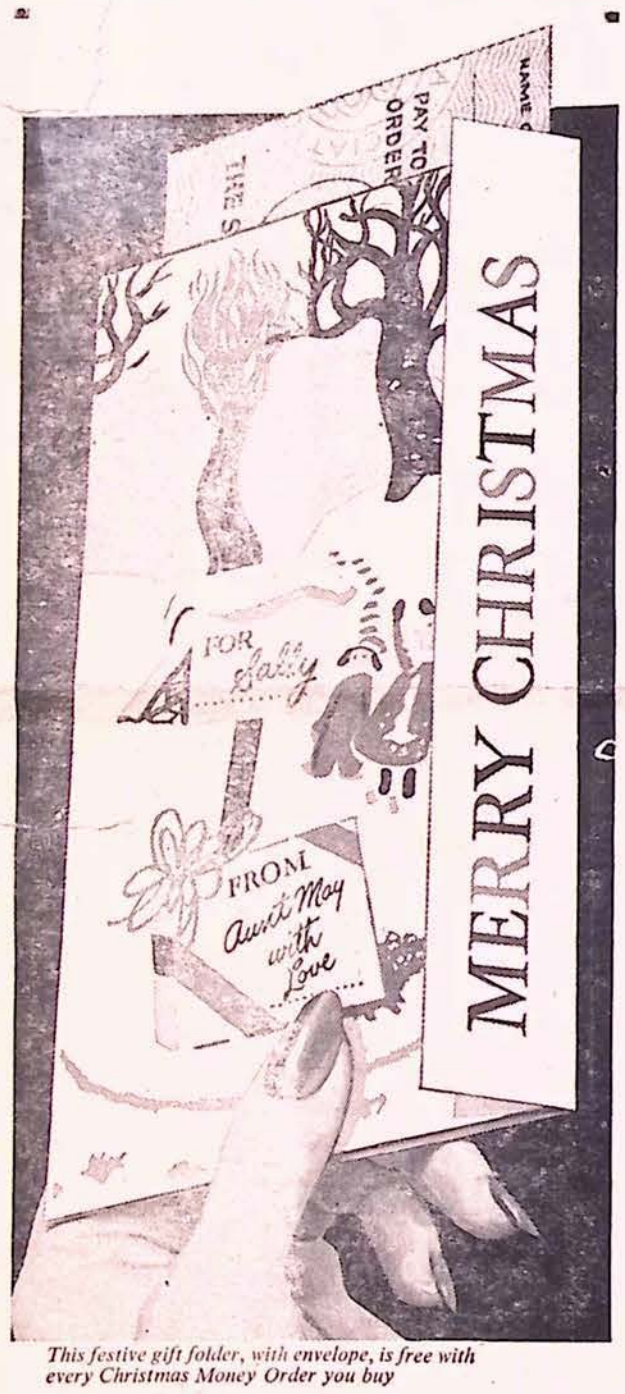

What did we talk about? Old times? Our teaching jobs? World affairs? The new book he's written? Nope. He has squirrels in his attic too, and we spent a happy and profitless two hour lunch discussing means of eliminating the little brutes without being cruel.

An interesting day. And all because I bought some new winter outerwear. It's the first time my wife has let me go to the city in the winter for four years.

ONE MINUTE TO GO

In the Toronto studios of the CBC, a smiling Earl Cameron waits his cue to start another edition of the national television news. Cameron began reading the national news in 1944—at that time, on radio. He was born in Moose Jaw, Sask. 47 years ago and worked breifly as a teacher before starting with his local station CHAB in 1939. His goal was to do the national newscasts and one month after joining the CBC in Toronto in 1944, he achieved it.

FARM PROBLEMS

Farm problems had an airing in parliament during October. Every farmer should get Hansard for October 16, 18 and 19. It makes better reading than a hot Whodunit.

Oddly enough, though I am an anti - socilist from away back, I find myself very much in accord with the sentiments of a leading socialist on some farm matters. H. W. Herridge, New Democratic Parliamentary Leader, commenting on the debate in his party's paper, wrote: "We have always rejected the maxim that bigness automatically brings about greater efficiency. We have only to look at the inefficiency of the Soviet agriculture despite collectivization –or, rather, precisely because of collectivization– to see how dangerous and tragic are the results of doing away with the family farm. The disasters that have befallen the Chinese communes are simply the latest example."

When Mr. Herridge changed his "despite" to "precisely because of "he rang bells for me.

He rang more bells when he wrote: "While I have great respect for highly trained persons and specialists, whose advice is always necessary, I place an equally great value on the common sense of the ordinary Canadian farmer. He knows his economics."

He could have delighted me more if he had said he placed greater value on common sense, and that farmers know their farms—rather than their econonomics. I believe the man who has been farming most of his life, on his own land, is the best-trained specialist to make decisions about it.

It is refreshing to hear leading socialists talking like old-line Conservatives these days, when too many leading Conservatives are talking like doctrinaire solialists. Perhaps some sort of balance will come of it.

Of course, Mr. Herrige always has been an unusual socialist, if he is one at all. He may be socialist in the party sense, but not in the theoretical sense. At any rate, he often talks a lot of good common sense.

The bogey that bigness automatically means efficiency that will squeeze the little fellow out of business is one that needs to be killed. The big concern is in constant danger of slowness and bureaucracy; the little fellow, quick on his feet, can often win. Just keep out of the fight and watch it; chances are the little fellow, if you leave him alone, will do all right.

NORTH ISLE MADAME HOME AND SCHOOL

Fifty members attended the November meeting of the North Isle Madame Home and School Meeting on Nov. 20th in the D'Escousse School.

The minutes were accepted as read on a motion by Mr. Arthur Terrio, seconded by Mr. Hugh Conner. Motion carried.

The finance report was read by the Treasurer who moved the adoption of her report. This motion was seconded by Mrs. Jeanne Baccardax. Motion carried.

The Secretary read the correspondence. The first letter stated Judge 'Edward's impossibility to accept our invitation to attend our meeting. He would be replaced by Mr. Peter MacDonald, Supervisor of Correction, if we so wished. A second letter from the Municipal School Board informed us that on account of the new school being built in Arichat, the idea of having a singing teacher visit the schools of this area had been dropped for this year. Furthermore, they were not shouldering the responsibility of paying for the windows broken by the pupils during recreations. A third letter came from the Grade XI pupils asking for a donation to help them pay the T. V. set bought for the High School telecasts. Mr. Harry MacDonald, member of the Finance Committee, voiced the opinion that he did not see why the donations should be necessary because the Municipality was to pay for these T V. sets. Mother principal informed the meeting of the procedure she had been told to follow. Mr. James Britten moved that Mr. MacDonald take the matter up at the next Council meeting to find out what was what and that he gave a report at our next meeting. This motion was seconded by Mr. Nicholas Poirier. Motion carried.

Mr. Joseph LeBlanc, in a few well - chosen words gave a short but concise report of the Fall County Council. A vote of thanks was moved by Mr. Hugh Conner, seconded by Mr. Arthur Terrio. Some of the other topics discussed were the changing of the date of our meetings from the third Tuesday to the second Tuesday on account of a clash of dates with the meetings of the Teacher's Union, the sponsoring of Christmas parties for the school children and the form of our December meeting.

Mr. James Britten introduced our Guest Speaker, Mr. Peter MacDonald, who delivered a very interesting as well as instructive and appropriate address on Juvenile Delinquency. He spoke of the great influence of both the parents and teachers upon the children. He stressed the point that the children are great imitators to whom no one means more than their parents whom they identify with their elders and absorb, without question, what they see and hear, regardless whether good or bad. Parents therefore have a great responsibility not only with their children, but also on the neighbor's children or any child with whom they may come into contact. Mr. MacDonald summarized his talk thusly: "The school is the first line of defense against future criminalty. The discipline which a child learns in school is a great asset because discipline breeds respect. Discipline begins in school through the teacher's careful planning of the work, created interest, success observations, assistance and handeling disturbances. Every day, each teacher deals with numerous children, differing in individual endownment, social background, and emotional security, who obviously cannot be allowed to race around without any direction. Therefore it is obvious that some kind of order and regimentation is absolutely necessary for successful operations of the school and future of the children.

However, it must be emphasized that dicipline is not a one - way street given only in school. Parents have a god given responsibility to exact respect from those under their care. The Commandment HONOR THY FATHER AND THY MOTHER seems to have lost its meaning today. Every day in Court, evidence is given of girls and boys who have no respect whatsoever for their parents. Some have even asked to be commited to the Nova Scotia School for Boys or to The Maritime School for Girls just to get away from home. Discipline at the school level is most important and should be given serious consideration by parents who, in the final analysis, will be the ones to answer if their child runs afoul of the authorities."

There followed a question period during which questions were ably answered by Mr. MacDonald and Mr. Ralston Carrigan, Probation Officer, attached to the Juvenile Court since June, 1962.

A vote of thanks was moved by Mr Arthur Terrio who found the appropriete words to express the feelings of all the members present.

A delicious lunch was served by a group of High School girls after a lively sing-song directed by Mrs. Josephine Bonin. A pantry sale brought in the net amount of $19.00 which was turned over to the Home and School funds.

LANDRY — JOSHUA

A very pretty wedding took place at 9 o'clock Mass on Saturday, November 24th in St. Louis Church, when Marie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Reggie Joshua became the bride of Clarence son of Mr. and Mrs. Felix Landry. The bride in her beautiful white wedding dress, had as her bridesmaid her sister, Deltina, while the groom was supported by his nephew, Bennie Marchand.

The Choir under the direction of Sister Eugenie was composed of Louisdale School girls of which Mr. Landry is a staff member. Following a motor trip to Sydney a wedding supper was held at the groom's parents, where the young couple were the recipients of many valuable gifts.

We wish the young couple a long and happy wedded life.

Mr. and Mrs. M. A. MacNeil motored to Halifax during the week-end accompanied by Mrs. MacNeil's sister, Mrs. Blair Ross who has taken up residence in that city.

L'ARDOISE CONSOLIDATED SCHOOL TOTALLY DESTROYED BY FIRE

The School section of the L'Ardoise area has suffered a serious blow in the burning of their Consolidated School on Sunday night. The origin of the fire is unknown and when noticed around midnight the blaze had gained such headway that efforts to save the structure was impossible. At the time of the fire the weather was clear and calm and prevented the blaze from spreading to the nearby Convent.

The school was recently renovated and enlarged to accommodate one of the largest School enrollments in the County.

The Municipal School Board have made arrangements for temporary quarters until such time as a new school will be built to serve that large area.

The School Board at a recent meeting have approved the building of a new school and no doubt tenders will be called in the near future for its construction. The loss of the school is estimated at $350,000 and was only partially covered by insurance.

CELEBATES 88th BIRTHDAY

On Monday, December 3rd, Jeffrey Boudreau, celebrated his 88th birthday. Since the death of his wife about a year ago, he now resides with his nephew, Lawrence Boudreau, at Barrachois and is still quite active.

Jeffrey enjoys relating his experiences while a crew member on the Cann boats plying from Canso to Mulgrave and also from Arichat to Mulgrave. He spent over 20 years in this service and later spent several years as a fireman on the S. S. Magdalean, between this port and Mulgrave.

A very industrious man he was always held in high regard by his employers.

We congratulate Jeff and wish him many happy returns.

Fall Meetings

Lakeside Home and School

After a brief discussion of old business, new business topics were brought up. The possibility of obtaining a record player for the school was discussed, but no agreement was reached until more information on prices could be obtained. In the meantime it was moved and seconded that an album of records would be purchased as a start on the record library which we hope to build up in the coming years.

It was moved and passed that a Hallowe'en party would be held in the school basement for students from Grades VII-XII of this community attending St. Peter's School. Treats and prizes to be donated by Home and School.

Following the meeting games were played under the supervision of Mrs. Douglas Landry.

November 21 witnessed a good turn out of members for the Home and School meeting. Mrs. Whiley Sampson our membership convenor reported 29 paid up members—one less than our quota of 30 for this year.

There was a large dispaly of free cook booklets and leaflets for the lady members. These had been obtained free of charge from several Canadian companies. Home Cooking and Health Charts were also displayed on the walls.

Following the business meeting Mrs. Douglas Landry reported and explained the T. B. Clinic to be held in the school on Nov. 27. She urged that an all out effort be made to make this a successul clinic. Mrs. Landry then gave a report on the Fall Home and School County Council. She reported that Lakeside Home and School Association had been awarded the Merit Certificate. She moved a vote of thanks for Mrs. Martin Sampson who had done such a fine job as secretary and was largely responsible for this Certificate.

Our special guest of the evening was Rev. Sister James Francis of Bethany, Antigonish. Rev. R. J. Floyd introduced Sister to the members. Sister James Francis then spoke a few words, congratulating the members on their fine work in the interests of the children and community. She wished them continued success in all their undertakings.

A film "Why Won't Tommy Eat" was shown following the meeting.
