ARICHAT BOY BRANCH MANAGER

Rapid Expansion Made By Speedy Propane Gas

Ted Latimer, Manager of Speedy Propane Gas

When Halifax Propane Gas Ltd., established a branch office in Sydney in March, 1959 it faced the job of building a business from the ground up.

The company did not have a single account in the area at that time. Today the company services over 1000 accounts in Cape Breton Island. From the small beginning of some 500 gallons distributed each month, operations have expanded to the point that now approximately 25,000 gallons go out to users monthly.

In the beginning three employees and one truck handled the work load. Today seven employees are on staff and four vehicles including one bulk delivery unit are in operation.

Rapid expansion in business made it necessary this year to install a bulk plant at Sydney River. This plant consists of a 30,000 gallon storage tank with a cylinder compound which has a capacity of 280 cylinders. The plant has a filling capacity of 350 100-pound cylinders in an eight-hour day.

With these facilities the firm is now in a position to supply residents of Cape Breton with an uninterrupted gas service to the amount of 320,000 gallons per month.

When this figure has been reached, the company is prepared for further expansion, said Ted Latimer, manager of operations in Sydney.

Latest approved methods have been employed in all phases of plant construction. When finished it will be the first bulk propane storage plant in Canada with an automatic sprinkler system for plant cooling.

In step with its business expansion Halifax Propane Gas Ltd., now has a network of sales and service through all Cape Breton Island, with dealers in the larger communities.

Looking back over the progress made, company officials have said that the best testimonial has been the fact that people, who have tried propane gas, have been pleased with the result and have told others of that satisfaction.

Both commercial and domestic users are served by Halifax Propane Gas Ltd., providing the firm with a wide range of experience in assessing and fulfilling the individual needs of different types of customers. In the commercial area, users range all the way from small restaurants which are serving meals throughout the day, to large hospitals, which must serve several hundreds of meals three times a day.

In addition to its propane gas sales, the company handles also a line of apliances for both commercial and domestic uses. Included in these lines are units for commercial cooking, heating and water heating. Coin-operated units are available for the laundro-mats which have become established in the urban centres in recent years. Ranges, clothes dryers and water heaters are also available for domestic customers.

Because its own future is bound up with the well being of its customers, Halifax Propane Gas Ltd., has established a special service aimed at helping the commercial user to help himself. Specially designed kitchens, which take into account such things as space available, number and types of meals to be served, can be obtained through the company. This helps the customer increase the efficiency of his operation.

The ready acceptance of propane gas by commercial users is not an accident. The nature of the fuel provides some distinct advantages which commercial establishments have been quick to recognize and appreciate.

Propane gas produces a moist heat. As a result shrinkage in baking and roasting food is virtually eliminated. Since cooking losses of this type have meant fewer meals per pound of food, they have had a direct effect on the commercial establishment's profit sheets. The use of propane gas with its moist heat, means more revenue for the operator.

Naturally the same factor has a bearing on the household budget for the domestic consumer. Economy- minded families have appreciated the difference and have told others about their experience.

In addition, propane gas produces instant and controllable heat. It is economical, safe and clean — all welcome characteristics to both commercial and domestic users— and further it presents no service difficulties.

Elements do not burn out on a propane gas unit and this means a saving in inconvenience and repair costs.

The introduction of the bulk delivery service ensures the user a constant and reliable supply of propane gas which is not interrupted by some vagarity of weather.

Halifax Propane Gas Ltd. is a subsidiary of Atlantic Speedy Propane Limited as are Fredericton Propane Gas Ltd., and Island Propane Gas Ltd. Offices are maintained in Moncton, Saint John, Fredericton, Charlottetown Summerside, Halifax, Kentville and Antigonish as well as Sydney.

(Ted Latimer the progressive manager of Speedy Propane in Sydney, is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Irving R. Latimer of Arichat and is to be congratulated on his success in promoting the sales of propane and appliances in the Sydney area. When next in Sydney call at the George Street Store and we are sure the genial Ted will give you a royal welcome.—Editor)

SUGAR and SPICE

RIGHT IN THE EYE!

If ever you decide to do some research on the lower forms of wit, I can tell you how to go about it. Just get yourself a black eye.

I had a doozer recently. My wife gave it to me. All right. Not that way.

She was sitting in the car, waiting for me to carry the groceries into the house, through the rain. Just as I bent and reached for the car door to open it and ask her if that was all, she opened it smartly from the inside to ask me why I hadn't brought out an umbrella.

When the door nailed me in the eye, I thought I was a goner. My wife shrieked and ran straight into the house to see whether my "loss of limb or eye" accident policy was paid up.

Within a few minutes, the eye was the size and color of a bartender's beezer. But by the time we'd finished arguing about whose fault it had been, it was obvious that I'd live.

* * *

We didn't have a piece of steak, and if we'd had, I doubt that it would have been sacrificed. But the Old Girl, bless her, dug out some hamburg that was going a bit blue, and made me lie down with a big hamburg poultice on the injured optic.

Right off the ice, it felt pretty good at that, and I dropped off to sleep, maning but brave. During the night the bandage worked loose, and when I woke in the dark, I thought the eye had fallen out. But it was only hamburg, all over the pillow.

Next morning, the orb looked like a purple golf ball. We patched it up as best we could, and I set off to face the wits.

The comments were hilarious. They ranged from the simple, dry brilliance of "Hoo hitcha?" and "Forgot to duck eh?" to the coy, insinuating, "I knew she'd catch up with ya some day." They ran the scintillating gamut from the inevitable, "I suppose ya ran into a door" to the ineffably humorous sally, "Meet the former heavyweight champ of the Smiley household."

I came back with some real funnies myself. "My wife," I replied. "Footwork isn't what it used to be." I admitted. "Yotta see the other guy," I quipped. I can go along with a joke as well as the next bird.

But after a while, in fact, if I remember rightly, it was just after the fourteenth "Hoo hitcha?" I began getting a little sore I mean fun's fun, you know, but after all.

So when the next joker made his move, I told him, dolefully, that a maiden lady who didn't like my column had thrown acid in my face, and that I'd never have the sight of it again. He turned green.

My next customer was a women who tittered, "That'll teach you to write things about your wife in that column of yours". I gave her a gentle, sad look from my good eye, and suggested that she not let the divorce alienate her from my wife. I left her with her mouth open.

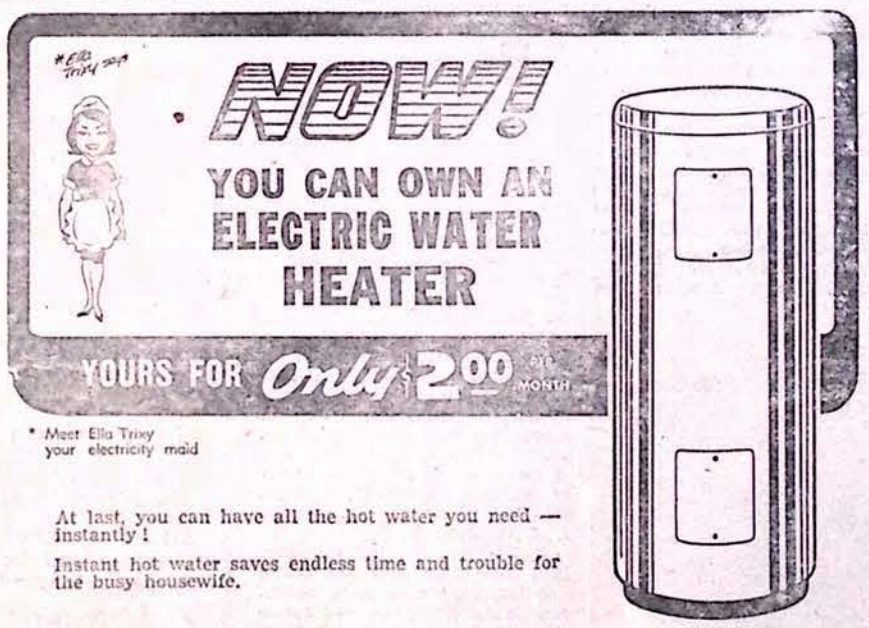

I quickly disposed of an elderly lady, strong in the temperance movement, by informing her the injury had been received from my young daughter, when she clubbed me in the eye with a half-empty whiskey bottle. It's good sport. Next time the old trouble and strife hangs one on you, Jack you'll know what to do.

Music is the only language in which you cannot say a mean or sarcastic thing.

OBITUARY

MRS. MARIE RICHARD

Mrs. Marie Richard, 94, formerly of Little Dover and Canso, died recently at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Ben J. Marchand, Arichat.

She had been in failing health for the past three months and had been a patient at St. Anne's Hospital.

Born in Petit de Grat, she was the daughter of Placide and Margaret (Landry) Sampson. In 1874 the family moved to Little Dover where Mr. Sampson was instrumental in building the community's first school. Mrs. Sampson conducted religion instruction classes for the children.

In 1908 Mrs. Richard's husband, Charles P. Richard, donated land for the village's church. Both she and her husband were very active in parish and community activities.

Her brother, the late Albert Sampson, donated buildings for a convent at Canso, now occupied by the Sisters of St. Martha.

In 1910 Mr. Richard was appointed assistant lighthousekeeper to his son-in-law, the late W. T. Jamieson. Later, he served as lighthousekeeper for 22 years. Mrs. Richard often recalled the hardships of life on the island, where, in those days, the alarm and light were operated manually. She retained a perfect memory until her death, and she could relate many stories of the past.

After the death of Mr. Richard in 1940, she resided with her daughter Blanche (Mrs. W. T. Jamieson) in Halifax; and after the latter's death last year she came to Arichat with her daughter Eugenie (Mrs. B. J. Marchand).

Besides her daughter, Mrs. B. J. Marchand, she is also survived by three sons, David, supervisor at Fairey Avaition,, Dartmouth; Laurier, former school teacher, now in the oil business in Dartmouth; and Wilfred with Acadia Fisheries Ltd., Canso. One daughter died in infancy.

Also surviving are 25 grandchildren, 40 great grandchildren and 16 great-great grandchildren.

Requiem Mass was celebrated in the Church of the Assumption, Arichat. Burial was in the family plot at Little Dover cemetery.

MEETING OF THE C. W. L.

Petit de Grat Parish Council

HARBOR IMPROVEMENT AT CANSO

A harbor improvement project costing $700,000 will begin immediately in Canso N.S., is was announced recently.

The announcemnt was made by federal Public Works Minister Jean-Paul Deschatelets, Nova Scotia Trade and Industry Minister E. A. Manson, John B. Stewart, member of Parliament for Antignish-Guysborough and Alex T. MacIsaac, member of the Nova Scotia Legislature for Guysborough.

Cost of the project will be shared by the province of Nova Scotia, Acadia Fisheries Limited and the federal Public Works Department which will assume the major share.

The project is in addition to a March 7 announcement of the Atlantic Development Board's assistance of about $400,000 to provide water lines and sewage systems that will enable establishment of a major fisheries operation at Canso.

Harbor work is necessary to support the operation of a new large fish prcessing plant to be built at Canso.

In its intial phase the plant will prcess about 40,000,000 pounds of fish annually. It will be supplied by a fleet of large trawlers and a large number of inshore fishermen. It is expected to employ several hundred persons in the plant as well as a substantial number in the fishing fleet.

Construction of wharf facilities and the plant will begin this summer with production scheduled to begin in the fall of 1965. A second development stage planned for 1970 would double the annual processing capacity to 80,000,000 pounds.

The harbor improvement work will involve dredging of about 35,000 cubic yards of rock and gravel in the approach channels and berth, construction of 350 feet of marginal wharfage and a berthing and servicing pier 170 feet long and 90 feet wide.

Value of Visual Education

Having a chronic case of Museumitis, I have found, about the pleasantest ailment one can live with. Mine broke out in a rash recently after my winter-long hibernation. I was invited to take a trip to Dearborn, Michigan, during the Easter holidays. It was also a revelation to me of the depth of knowledge today's school children acquire during their elementary educational training.

Boarding a train in Toronto with six bags, three adults and the same number of children was a cinch compared to trying to keep track of the youngsters once they were turned loose in the Henry Ford Museum, or on the greensward of Greenfield Village in Dearborn.

Their parents and I played hare and hounds with them for two days. Aside from the confusion of ending up with two pairs of junior sized leotards, three hair bands in assorted colors in my luggage and my tooth brush, hair spray and bedroom slippers in the girls' suitcases, I came home with a glow of pride in our Canadian school system as well as in three overly exuberant pupils.

My first flush of astonishment was when our pre-teen neophyte mechanical engineer quickly recognized various types of marine engines and electrical dynamos. To me they were all just a mass of intricate parts. As we passed from Ford's amazing collection of mechanical devices into the aisles of TV and radio development exhibits detailing the advance from crystal set to the most modern broadcasting tube the same knowledge was manifested by this lad of twelve summers. Rated normal never in the genius class, his grasp of not only the mechanical displays but Edison's Menlo Park workshop, the history he knew about Noah Webster, Stephen Foster, Lincoln, Robert Fsost and so many others represented in this great collection of buildings and artifacts was almost equally matched by the knowledge of the two little girls, one 10 the other 11 years old.

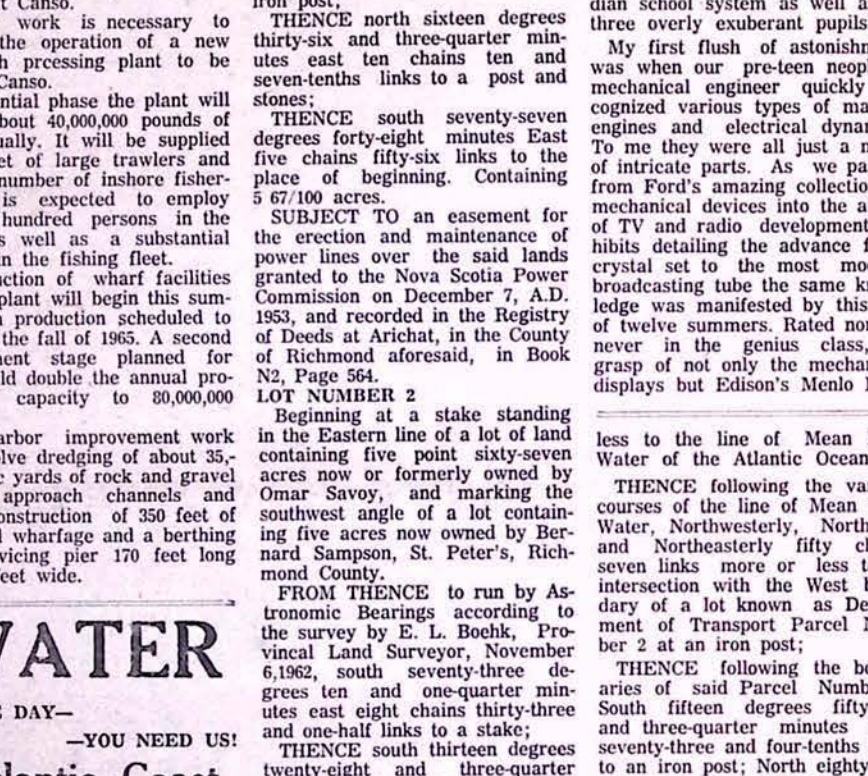

There are 100 buildings on the Village Green. These include historic homes, shops, schools, mills, stores laboratries and even a print shop. It covers 230 acres and believe me, my feet were well aware of the fact. I needed retreads by the time I had also covered the 14 acres of cement floors that are part f the walkways in the Ford Museum.

Re-Living History

When I asked the lad how he knew so much of the history of the United States how he had identified Watt's Steam Engine even before he read the inscription, he said he had seen a great deal that he recognised in books and because he had "a super teacher", one "who explains everything to us and answers all our question."

Actually I am sure, education starts with curiosity, is nurtured by facts and expanded by a "super teacher". But basically, isn't a large part of a child's development directly attributable to his or her parent's approach to their responsibility regarding their ...ren's eventual mental structure?

This family of three children has been exposed to travel, museums, historical sites, books, music and theatre since they could talk. Even with group travel, their forays are a considerable item on the family's budget sheet. But their father firmly believes it is one of the best investments he has ever made.

CREDIT UNION LEAGUE IN ANNUAL SESSION

The report presented to delegates attending the 30th Annual Convention of the Nova Scotia Credit Union League by its Credit Committee indicated that this central finance organization of the credit unions did a sizeable business.

THE REPORT ISSUED by Reverend C. P. Girroir, League Director from Louisdale, Richmond County, stated that in the eight month period ending the 31st of December, 1963, 117 loans were granted amounting to over $900,000 with the credit unions receiving more than $800,000 of this amount. Total loans outstanding amounted to more than $1.5 million with the amount on loan to credit unions being just over $1 million. The report stated that more than $6½ million dollars has been loaned to credit unions in recent years to help them meet the increased need from their members for credit.

The League also has made loans available to credit union members by way of mortgage on a limited scale. More than a million dollars was outstanding at year end on this account. Reports from Management and the Board of Directors indicate that the demand for funds is increasing rapidly among credit unions which is evidence that more Nova Scotians are using the low interest cost credit unions for their consumer borrowings.

SUNSET MAGIC - - The brilliant hues of a setting sun reflected in the peaceful tranquillity of Peggy's Cove are a sight not soon forgotten. The graceful arc of a seagull, silhouetted against the dying embers of a summer day or the hush that falls with the evening breeze are only a glimpse of Nova Scotia's beauty.
