SUGAR AND SPICE by Bill Smiley

DAY OF ALL DAYS

There are certain ancient and honorable rituals in our society which help to give our lives a certain continuity. Many of them are geared to the seasons; spring cleaning; summer 'flu; the burning of the leaves; getting stoned out of your skull on New Year's Eve.

One of the most sacred of these for some of us, is Opening Day of the Trout Season.

Slap of a beaver tail; chuckle of running water; splatter of wild duck taking off from swamp; feel of the sun on face; mist of green spreading through bare bones of branches; honest stench of worm guts on hands; flavor at noon of big, bologna sandwich with hot mustard; these are the things which quicken the senses, cleanse the body of its winter stupor, remind one that God is still in His heaven.

And these are some of the reasons I have never missed the rite, whether the mortgage is due, or my wife is having a baby, or I have a date with Sophia Loren.

And I hope to do so until the day when they have to carry me to a quiet spot on the stream and leave me there in my wheelchair to watch the black water swirl around the white rock, the yellow sun pick up the golden gravel of the stream-bottom.

Each year the ritual is the same. And each year it is different. There is the year when you fall off a log in the first three minutes, and squish and squelch yourself through the rest of the day, a sodden mess, wet fags, wet matches, soaked sandwiches.

And there is the year when you hit the stream at the crack of dawn, fish with all your skill until sunset, and come home with two speckled trout eight inches long. And there is the year when you go out at 7.30 a.m. just to toss a line for old times sake, and have caught your limit before work time at 9 a.m.

And there's the year when your bait-can falls from your belt into a torrent, and you snap the tip off your rod, and put a hole in your new waders, and get back to the car to find a flat tire, and get home to find your wife calling the police, because it's four hours after sundown.

But this year topped them all. It was complicated. Our high school music director, with incredible lack of foresight, had scheduled an exchange concert, with a city school, for that very day. Fine. But it turned out we had to have some of the visiting youngsters for dinner. As my wife is away every Saturday, for music lessons with the kids, this meant I was cook.

Normally, I'd have welcomed a chance to display my culinary skill. In fact, I had the menu planned. Beef stew simmered in beer, followed by a sour cream souffle, roast chestnuts and peppermint lifesavers as dessert. Then I realized it was Opening Day.

I was aghast. Wanted to be a good host but danged if I was going to miss the rites of spring. Then it struck me. Why not give these city kids, pampered for years on steaks and chicken, a real north - country dinner — speckled trout, lovingly fried in butter? They'd never forget it.

With a light heart, I hit for the trout stream on Opening Day. Everything was perfect. It was a fine day, and I knew there were at least 47 big speckles in there, just waiting to hit that butter.

Got home at 4.30 p.m. with two six-inch chub and a 14-inch sucker. Went to the fish market. They had nothing but some fairly large whitefish, which somehow didn't look like speckled trout. Called all my friends. They had either been skunked like me, or stated flatly, "The hell with you, Smiley; we're putting on a big speckled trout dinner for those visiting musicians; feeding four of them." Bought two pounds of hamburg.

You know, there are times when my love for my wife is overwhelming. When I arrived at the house at 5.30 she was grilling steaks in the oven.

Five New Schools Officially Opened In Richmond County

The official opening of five new schools in the County, took place on May 17th and May 18th.

At the opening of the Isle Madame District High, Arichat, Petit de Grat Consolidated and Point Tupper Schools, the Hon. Robert L. Stanfield, Premier and Minister of Education of the Province, was the guest Speaker, and in a very impressive address, outlined the school program undertaken by his government and that plans for future development in the Educational Field, is being carefully studied by the Department of Education.

He congratulated the Municipal Council and Municipal School Board, for the part they played in co-operating with the Province in bringing about the building of these schools.

Mr. Stanfield also addressed the meeting in French, much to the delight of the audience.

Among the other speakers were: Hon. Gerald Doucet, Provicial Secretary and M. L. A. for Richmond, who also gave a very impressive address.

Very Rev. A. P. Poirier, pastor of Notre Dame Parish, Arichat, performed the Invocation and blessing of the Isle Madame District High School.

The chairman, Warden Byron S. Langley, in his opening remarks, spoke of the efforts of the Municipal Council and Municipal School Board, for the part they played in bringing these new schools to the County to serve the Educational needs of the Districts. Warden Langley expressed his thanks to the Provincial government, for the major role they played in the financing of the school projects in this County, and was delighted with the advancement being made in Richmond County, and said he looked forward to continued progress in the years to come.

The presentation of keys was made by a representative from MacDonald Construction Company to Councillor J. Emile Benoit, chairman of the School Building Committee of the Municipal Council.

Mr. Michael MacNeil, Supervisor of the Isle Madame District High School, Arichat, gave an address on the aims of the school and in his usual pleasing and sincere approach, gave nineteen objectives to be followed to nurture and develop a responsibility in the student.

"The aim and philosphy of the staff of the school", said Mr. MacNeil, "Is to develop in each individual student (1) An appreciation of family life. (2) The proper philosophy of work, both at home and in school. (3) A good attitude in the student."

Mr. MacNeil who is a native of Johnstown, this County, was appointed Supervisor of the Isle Madame District High in September 1963 on completion of the school and is to be congratulated on his efforts and the advancement made by the students in such a short period. We wish him continued success.

Hon. Allan J. MacEachen, was present at the opening of the Petit de Grat Consolidated school but was unable to be in attendance at the evening opening of the Isle Madame District High and was represented by Deputy Warden Harold LeBrun who read a very appropriate message from Mr. MacEachen, on his behalf.

Inspector M. J. Belliveau, was also heard in a very nice address and congratulated the Council

Jack Murray, teacher, got a Scotia Plan Loan -$1800- in 35 minutes

Jack Murray had what he thought was the world's biggest pile of unpaid medical bills. Mr. Murray needed financial help in a hurry.

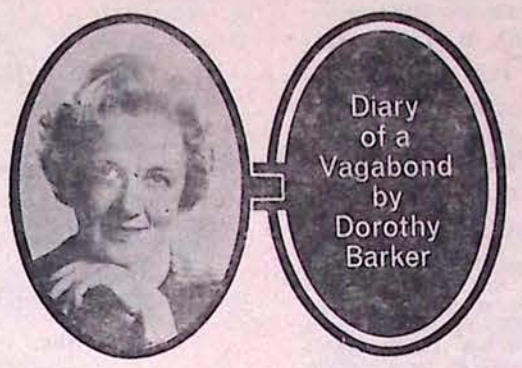

Jack talked his problem over with his brother and he suggested that Jack investigate the advantages of a Scotia Plan Loan. Jack dropped in on his noon hour to a Scotiabranch close to his school.

He talked his money problems over with one of the helpful Scotiabank people. After a few simple questions about his job, income, and how much money he needed Jack Murray started to see his medical bill problem melting away.

35 minutes later Jack Murray had all the money he so desperately needed. Of course, this actual customer was not named Jack Murray—and not all Scotia Plan Loans take 35 minutes—the time varies with the circumstances. But there are more and more people with all kinds of names and jobs coming to The Bank of Nova Scotia to have their money problems solved—quickly. Why don't you?

How much money do you need? We strongly suggest that a Scotia Plan Loan is one of the best—most practical ways for you to consolidate your debts. With a Scotia Plan Loan the cost is low. Your loan is life-insured at no extra cost. You get the other advantage of dealing with the interested Scotiabank people. So talk over your money problem—whatever it is—debt consolidation—a new car—with the people at your nearest Scotiabranch. They're ready and waiting to help you.

All This And The Rockies Too!

It is possible while enjoying the serene luxury of the atmosphere that surrounds Jasper Park Lodge is Alberta's national park to look out from the picture windows of its rustic main building and see a most spectacular mountain panorama. The rush and bustle of a news-ridden world seem very far away from that awe-inspiring setting.

The Lodge is one of my favorite stopping-off places on my trips west and I never fail to come away from these visits without enjoying a great sense of peace. Our worldly problems seem minute in the face of these rugged peaks that have looked down on harassed man for centuries.

During the past seven years I have watched older, darker buildings disappear and the newer type of peeled logs transform the areas that surround the main lodge into a guest settlement of attractive Canadian designed cottage accommodation. With a CN investment of millions it has been a gradual process of winter building to create enough room space to fulfill reservation requests.

Not so many years ago the main lodge burned to the ground. Sometimes these disasters are a blessing in disguise for the Lodge that has been built in its place has an architectural charm that delights visitors as the hostelry comes into view as guests approach from a bend in the road.

Usually the main foyer, with its huge stone fireplace making a picturesque background for its thunderbird motif, is crowded with people snapping pictures of this unusual decor enhanced by displays of garden flowers in varied hues.

Often guests are parents of University students who have staffed the Lodge for most of the summers it has been in operation. They want to experience the luxury their sons and daughters have told about over the years of breakfast in bed brought to the cottages by bus boys riding on bicycles while precariously balancing chosen breakfasts on a covered tray. The legend of service and fine food, scenery, golf, swimming and fishing has spread so widely that to be assured of accommodation, reservations are booked months ahead.

During the past winter, more cottages were added to the colony and T. G. Van Dyke, manager, promises that some 20,000 guests will be able to enjoy the Lodge's hospitality during the season of 1965.

This famous Lodge has played host to kings and queens as well as other famous internationtal personalities. It has launched many a young couple on their first leg of matrimony and been the thrill of a lifetime for oldsters celebrating their second honeymoon.

Added Attraction

Last summer a new attraction was added to this mountain holiday retreat. Nearby Whistlers Mountain has an aerial tramway which cost more than a million to construct and is said to be as thrilling as a similar tramway which has gained fame in Palm Springs, California.

Financed by Alberta interests, the tramway attains a height of 2400 feet. There is a restaurant atop Whistlers Peak which serves light lunches. After such a spectacular ascent and the prospects of descending, a light lunch would seem appropriate!

There was a time when service for the cars of driving guests had to be obtained in the nearby town of Jasper. This summer a service station and garage facilities will be opened at the Lodge and for those who arrive by train, a rent a-car service will be available for the kind of mountaineers who like to take their Alpining enthusiasms out on four wheels.

Cathy MacKinnon 'Nova Scotia Girl'

She's a pert 21-year old who likes crazy clothes, zany sun-glasses, odd-shaped furniture and the Beatles. She has attended nine different schools, reads the dictionary as a pastime, and has a mad passion for kid gloves.

When she sings, she becomes Catherine McKinnon, the 'Nova Scotia Girl' with a lovely soprano voice familiar to viewers across Canada who watch Don Messer's Jubilee.

Actually to call Catherine the "Nova Scotia Girl" is not quite true. She was born in Saint John, N. B., and has lived in Manitoba and Ontario. She began her singing career with the song "All I Want For Christmas is My Two Front Teeth" as a five-year-old student at Camp Shilo public school for army dependents near Brandon, Man.

"The hilarious part about the song," laughs Catherine, "was that I really did need those two front teeth and I had to lisp my way through the song."

She alsc appeared on the radio station in Saint John, N.B., on a children's show called "Uncle Bill. "My pay consisted of candy bars, the latest comic book and a jar of peanut butter. It was great," Catherine remembers.

Her father now retired, was a sergeant in the Canadian Army Medical Corps and "consequently my family was moved around a lot while I was growing up."

Catherine made her television debut when she was 12 in London, Ont. where her family lived while her father was in Korea. The program marked the first time that sister Patricia sang with Catherine in public. The song, fittingly enough was entitled "Sisters".

The McKinnon family moved to Halifax and Catherine began studying piano and music at the Mount St. Vincent Academy. She once went into radio and appeared on the "Uncle Mel Show" on CHNS Halifax. It was also the beginning of her official career and where she first became known as the 'Nova Scotia Girl'.

During her senior school year, Catherine took part in a CBC Halifax tv high school program called Hi Society and became a regular on the CBC summer show, "Singalong Jubilee". She made guest appearances on Don Messer's Jubilee and became a regular on that show in November, 1964.

Catherine has since appeared as a guest on CBC tv's Juliette show, CBC radio's Tommy Hunter Show and is featured on Radio International Series, "Across Canada in Song". In addition, Catherine has recorded an album of folk songs.

"The album is doing wonderful things for my ego" Catherine says with a chuckle. "It has sold more than 30,000 copies and is still climbing." For two numbers in the album Catherine teamed up with her 16-year-old sister Patricia.

If she were not a singer Catherine says she would like to be a social worker.

"I think it is because people are the most important things in my life, and I feel that this would be the best way for me to make a contribution to the world I live in."

Of Many Things

By AMBROSE HILLS

THE LADY DOWSER

Emily came from the interlake district of Manitoba, a harsh beginning for anyone, and especially for a girl who would be called retarded in this modern age. It was in a home for foster children that she met poor, dull Samuel. They had a special affinity for each other, as if each provided something of sympathy and under standing needed so desperately by both.

Later, they married and settled on a section of stubborn, rocky soil in the northern United States, bought with a small inheritance Samuel had received. These two who, as children, had scarcely been able to tie their own shoelaces, raised a boy and a girl and put each through college. The son became a successful doctor and the daughter married a doctor.

How was it done-

Partly from water divining. As a girl, Emily had watched her uncle use the forked branch of a willow to seek water. He had placed it in her small hands, and where the willow twisted they dug and they found water, not deep, and in great supply. It was later, when they settled on their rocky farm, that she began her dowsing career in earnest. Very few women have taken up the practice; but when Emily found water on their own land, where none could be found before, neighbours sought her services—and as her fame spread, she earned good fees.

Every nickel earned this way was put into cattle. Strangely enough, these two persons, who lacked any kind of brilliance whatsoever, seemed to be able to raise cattle on less feed and more quickly than more scientific and knowledgeable neighbours. And so they prospered modestly and lived a happy life.

When I hear men grumbling about their lot, I often think of those two backward people, who did so well. It seems to me that in this land, any person with even an ordinary brain ought to do reasonably well, if willing to use whatever talents God did provide.

In the first quarter of this year, freight traffic in the Atlantic region was up four per cent over the same period in 1964.

More traffic means an increased demand for well-maintained equipment. The freight car shop at Moncton employs more than 300 men and is one of a complex of shops operated by CN in the city.

The men will be paid time and a half for their Saturday work. The six-day week will be continued for an unspecified period.

We regret not having a full report of the Petit de Grat Consolidated, Johnstown, Point Tupper and Janvrin's Harbour Schools, and would appreciate having an account of these schools.

INCREASE IN FERRY TRAFFIC

The Canadian National ferry service between Borden and Cape Tormentine recorded a 63.2 per cent increase in the number of passengers and a 41.6 per cent increase in vehicles during April.

Representing 13,038 more passengers and 4,469 vehicles than during the comparable month of 1964, the increases were chiefly due to the Easter holiday period falling in April this year.

Rail passenger handlings, including those carried on the new CN charter bus service commenced April 26, increased by 13.8 percent.
