Aged Honeymooners

Things are rather at sixes and sevens around here today. It's second honeymoon time, and the Old Battleaxe and I are flying around in a tizzy of preparation.

The fact that we'll have an 18-year old son along for part of the trip won't slow us down. He can find a girl of his own. The main thing is to get out of town for a while.

This business of running a summer hotel with the lowest rates on the continent can prove trying. The clientele has been of the highest class but the whole enterprise has its drawbacks. Not only do the guests expect you to stay up all night with them, but their children, who happen to be your nieces, nephews and other small buddies expect you to be on deck at 7 a.m. to tell them: where the cereal is; how you turn on the lawn sprinkler; "Are we going swimming soon, Uncle Bill?"; and why was Daddy so grouchy when they tried to wake him?

And there are other things. Next year I'm going to buy barbecue charcoal by the carload. I've cooked so many steaks and hamburgers I can't look a steer in the face. The manager of the local booze emporium told me the other day, he'd give me a summer job next year, because I'm in there every day anyway. I've slept on a chesterfield in the living room, a couch in my study, a mattress on the attic floor, and half-reclining lawn chair, but I haven't been in my own bed in a month.

Oh well, it's all part of the game and we enjoy having them. However, I do think it's a bit much when they start making reservations for next year, and assuring us they'll recommend the place to all their friends, because of the low rates, excellent cuisine free drinks, and nightly entertainment (no cover charge).

At any rate, with nobody booked for this week, our wedding anniversary coming up, and daughter safely off to camp with enough clothes to go to Europe, and a bag of fruit, candy and cookies she could scarcely lift, we're getting ready for The Trip.

First leg of The Trip will be up the Great Lakes, and I quote from the folder,".....long, lazy brilliant, days.....cool nights with stars swinging low....sky-blue waters....etc." Actually, we will have only one and a half of those long, lazy days, but two of those star swinging nights. It'll rain. I'll give odds. Eight to one.

We're going on a passenger steamer known as Hugh's Boat. It used to belong to a steamer service line, but since son Hugh obtained a job this summer as Entertainment Steward, it has become far and wide as Hugh's Boat. After all he has a pretty important position. He's listed on the directory of feature services with the Barber, Handy Shop and Motion Pictures.

I've promised to help him entertain the passengers by rendering my famous version of a drunk singing, "I Belong Tae Glasgie". He was reluctant to impose on my good nature but I brushed aside his repeated protests.

His mother has promised not to embarass him by telling him, in

A Recent Wedding In Barrie

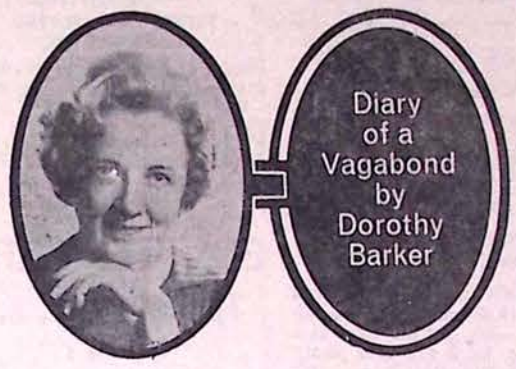

The recent marriage of Paul Landry, son of Mr. and Mrs. Xyste Landry, of Boudreauville, N. S., to Miss Jacqueline Kennedy, of Barrie Ont., took place in St. Mary's Church in Barrie, Ont. The marriage

Paul who is employed by the Tandy Leather Co., Ltd., since the past 3 years was recently appointed manager of a branch store in Montreal. Mrs. Landry, a certified Cosmetician is presently employed at the Metcalfe Pharmacy in the Westmount Area of the Metropolis.

We join with the many friends of the young couple in wishing them every happiness and success throughout their wedded life.

Come On Home!

The lovely, rugged island in the sea Newfoundland, is crooking its index finger and beckoning its native sons to come home. It is giving them plenty of time to plan for the reunion by designating 1966 as "Come Home Year".

It has long been a wry joke among Newfoundlanders to speculate as to whether Boston, Mass. or Toronto, Ontario, should be recognized as the second largest city in Newfoundland in terms of population, after St. John's, the provincial capital.

The point being made of course is that so many Newfoundlanders have emigrated to the Canadian mainland and the United States that these concentrations of ex-Newfoundlanders and their descendants are larger than most of the communities in their home province, where only 26 out of more than 1200 places have a population of over 1000 people.

Fun and Frolic Planned

Most communities have appointed local committees to organize special event. Some who return will delight in cod-jigging or trips with local fishermen to enjoy a nostalgic experience on the banks. They'll want to show off a bit too when accompanied by their "foreign born" descendants.

There is a good reason for the year 1966 having been chosen for this event. The long awaited completion of the Trans-Canada Highway across the Island should be accomplished by the end of this year and with the Centennial looming on the horizon of 1967, '66 was the logical choice for the home coming year.

Extra ferry accommodation is being negotiated for and a growing chain of motels, hotels and camping parks, plus CN's plush hotel in St. John's will provide accommodation.

I can hear the famous folk songs, "I'se the B'y" and the "Squid Jigging Ground" ringing out, raising the home rafters in various out-port settlements for, though these are a quiet folk, when they are among friends and relatives, their hearts fairly burst with song.

The enthusiasm of the "Come Home Year" undertaking is reflected in the committee's publicity. I particularly liked this bit —the government of Newfoundland and Labrador is letting no bushel hide the light of its enthusiasm to show off the tremendous social and economic progress which has been achieved in recent years. Life in Newfoundland today is a far cry from the subsistence economy which forced so many of its sons and daughters to go abroad in search of a livelihood during the early decades of the present century. Major developments in the basic industries such as mining and pulp and paper accelerated activity in construction and road building the provision of vastly expanded academic and technical school facilities, all have helped to halt the tide of emigration of the young people by providing more opportunities at home."

The purpose of the "Come Home Year" promotion is to persuade as many as possible of the thousands of Newfoundlanders living abroad to return for a visit and to see what has transpired in the land of their birth while they've been away. It will be a sentimental journey and it will certainly be an eye-opening experience if they have been away for any appreciable length of time.

Of Many Things

By AMBROSE HILLS

GOVERNMENTS ARE INCONSISTENT

Manitoba's government boasts of the work it has done to beautify our beaches, but the boast is a hollow one, for it also does plenty to mar beauty, too.

I know, because I have a cottage at one of the most beautiful little lakes in the province. One of our major problems is the ugliness created right close to our shores by the government gravel pit, a huge and gaping hole which belches dust all over the place.

Our lake is one of the closest natural beauty spots for Winnipeg people. It can be reached in an hour or less of driving. The government should not be engaged in destroying its natural beauty.

The gravel pit is not the only complaint. Rules and regulations enforced by government inspectors have cost us a lovely public beach, because the owners couldn't afford to have a life guard on duty. Yet government beaches at lakes nearby are not obliged to have such lifeguards — at least they have not had them present on any occasion when I have visited them.

Governments often wreck the landscape with the raw gulleys they create needlessly beside their highways. The eastern approach to Neepawa, in Manitoba, is a glaring example. Each spring it becmes a roaring water way, eroding good top soil and wrecking bottom land. And at the same time, it fills a lovely creek with silt.

On balance, I sometimes think that as far as our particular beauty spots are concerned, we'd be better off if the government were a thousand miles away.

90th. BIRTHDAY ANNVERSARY

Relatives and friends gathered at the home of Mrs. Francis Clorey, Port Royal, to celebrate the 90th. birthday anniversary of her father, Mr. Alex Marchand on Saturday. Born at Port Royal. He was left a widower 27 years ago. His daughter, Mrs. Clorey was hostess in his honor at a family dinner at her home.

Special guest was the Rev. Fr. A. Doucet P. P. Also attending were his four daughters, Jeanette, Dorothy, Mildred and Blanche, and his two sons, Eddie and John. Stella, who lives in the United States was unable to be present.

Numerous gifts, including an anniversary cake marked the occasion. Bright and cheerful through all his life and courageous during many hardship,s Mr. Marchand is still enjoying fishing. Good health has been his throughout his lifetime. His eyesight and hearing are still good and wishes for many more years of happiness are extended to him.

Every man feels instinctively that all the beautiful sentiments in the world weigh less than a single lovely action.

Second leg of The Trip will be by car around the top of the Lakes. We've left nothing to chance. I've borrowed sleeping tent from our minister (and monbags from our music teacher, a ey from our bank manager. We have a road map. It's an oldish one, 1954, but why worry about that!

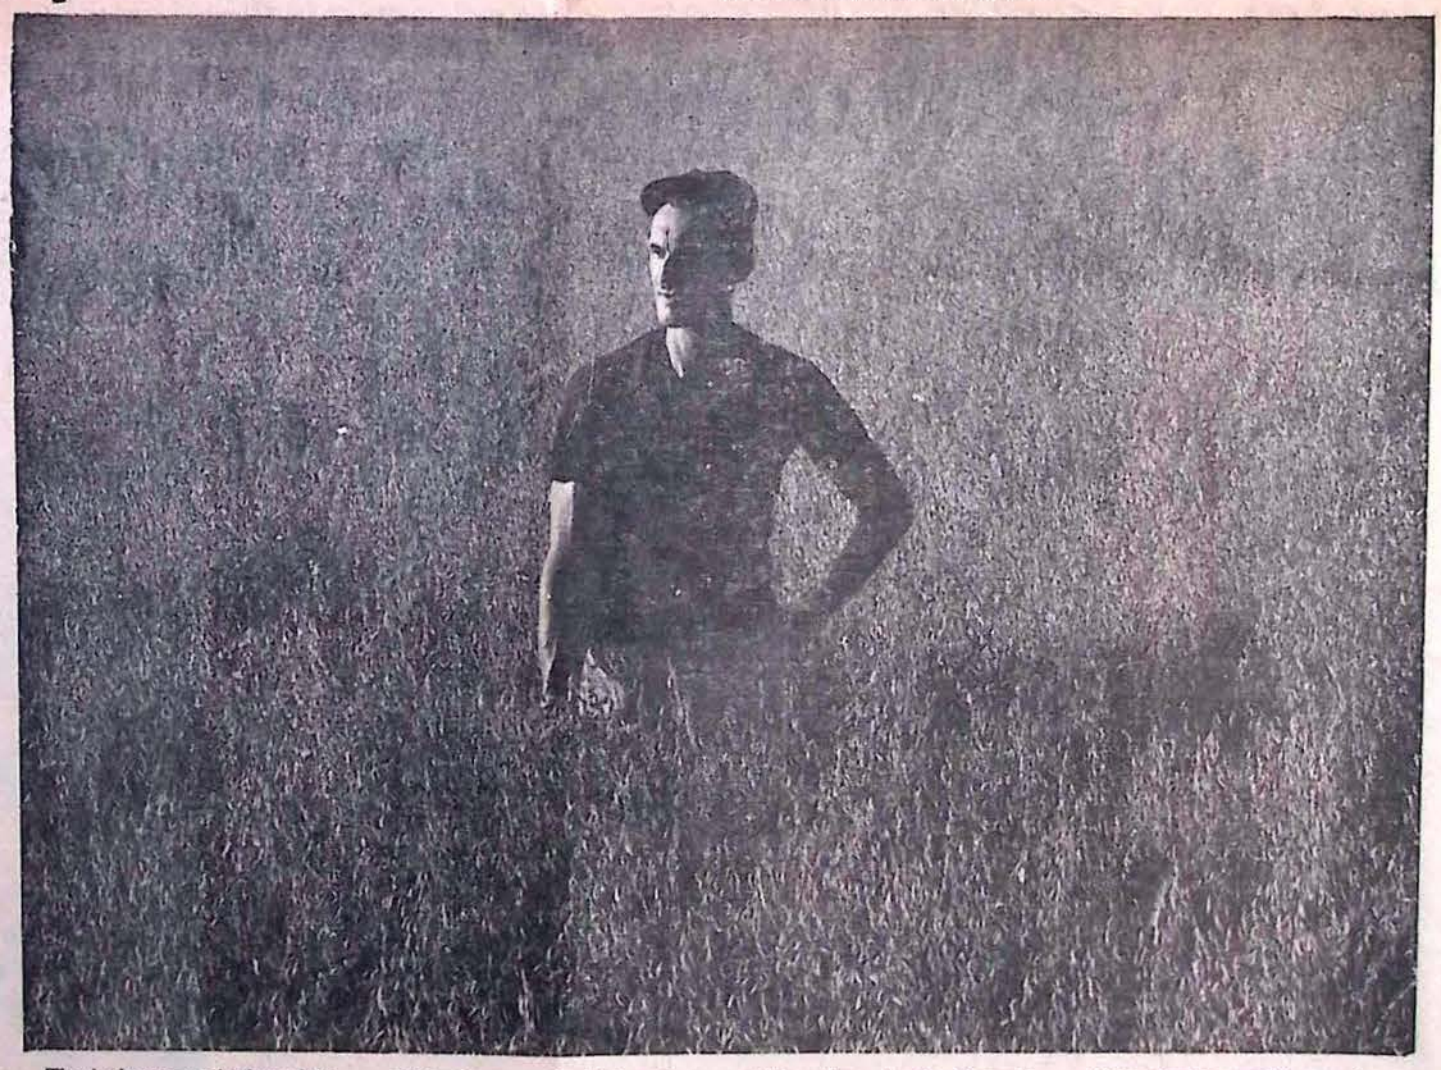

Well, bon voyage and if you'll excuse me now, I'll get out in the backyard and have another practice go at putting up the preacher's tent.

It's a pretty religious tent, I expect.

Every time I get it up, it sinks to its knees in an attitude of prayer.

The Canada Pension Plan and its benefits

Here is what the Canada Pension Plan will do for people like Thor Andersen, a farmer who works for himself and makes $4,000 a year.

The Andersens are both aged 45 and have no family. If Thor's earnings continue at $4,000 a year until he reaches age 65, he can look forward to a retirement pension of $83.33 a month from the Plan. This, plus the $75 each Mr. and Mrs. Andersen will receive from Old Age Security, will give them a total of $233.33 a month—equal to 70% of Thor's previous average earnings.

If Thor becomes disabled anytime after 1970, having contributed until his disability began, he will get a disability pension of $87.50 a month. This will continue until he becomes 65 when he will receive his retirement and Old Age Security pensions.

Should Thor die anytime after 1967, having contributed until his death, his wife will receive a widow's pension of $56.25 a month until she becomes 65. From then on she will get $125 a month—$50 from the Plan and $75 from Old Age Security. At the time of Thor's death Mrs. Andersen will be entitled to a lump sum payment of $500.

All benefits under the Plan will maintain their value. The actual benefits payable will probably be higher than those given here since benefits will be adjusted to meet changes in living costs and in wage levels before they are paid and changes in living costs after they become payable.

What will the Plan cost you?

If you, like Thor, in a particular year, have self-employed earnings of $4,000 you will pay $122.40 in instalments, in the same way you pay income tax.

This advertisement is one of a series which relates some of the important benefits of the Canada Pension Plan to individual circumstances.

Issued by authority of the Minister of National Health and Welfare, Canada, The Honourable Judy LaMarsh.
