FREE FORM BEAUTY

When I walk into the studio and sales room of the pottery business established by Ernst and Alma Lorenzen I feel the beauty of their creations harmonizing as perfectly as a symphony. There is such magnificient color gleaming in their unusual glazes and designs, many of them created by Alma and executed in the workshop of Ernst, that it makes every visit a memorable one.

Beside the highway in the small community of Lantz, not more than an hour's leisurely drive from Dartmouth, Nova Scotia, there is a neat brick, one storey building. This was erected at cost for the Lorenzen's by their benefactor and enthusiastic promoter, the late L. E. Shaw.

It was Mr. Shaw who recognized in the work they were doing an artistry that could benefit from the type of clay from which he was manufacturing bricks. They had started making pottery in a little town called Dieppe, not far from Moncton, New Brunswick. This was when Ernst, a trained frester from Denmark, found it impossible to get work in his chosen field. Alma was a native of this maritime province, who had become interested in the more than 150 identifiable varieties of mushrooms that are to be found in the Maritime Provinces. It was at this point in their creative careers that Mr. Shaw "discovered" them.

It is several years since my first visit with these two clever artists. I have always blessed the day when Mr. Shaw made them the offer to build their studio-workshop in Lantz for, it seems to me, that having the right clay has not only increased their ability to produce lovely things, but it has contributed appreciably to the quality of their work.

USED FOR TEACHING

I first learned about the Lorenzens through a university who told me about Alma's mushroms and their absolutely perfect reproduction from original specimens. William T. Doyle, an assistant professor at Northwestern University has stated: "the models are so lifelike in every detail that they are much better for teaching than the real mushrooms." Mrs. Lorenzen has created some 157 varieties and will continue to search for specimens to copy.

Through a specimen of mushroom was the first purchase I made in this attractive shop I have since added to my collection of Canadian pottery one of their pieces finished with a clear red glaze. Having studied pottery for one brief season in my life, I know it is difficult to obtain a perfect red glaze.

Perhaps this is why the Canada Council has recognized Ernst's ability and awarded him a grant for further study in Denmark. He will spend six weeks at an International Workshop in the country of his birth studying pottery materials and technique. This will enable him to realize the effect of minerals on clay and improve his glazes. As a layman. I can hardly imagine that the Lorenzen glazes can be improved upon, but then, the true artist is always striving for even greater achievement. Ernst also plans to study clay compositions, tiles and sculpture.

The signature "Lorenzen" has been seen in many countries outside of Canada; such as East Africa, Norway, Belgium and Hawaii, where their products have been shipped to meet a demand, first created by the reproduction of mushrooms of the Maritime Provinces and now expanding into sales for their many other pottery creations.

ST. JOSEPH'S COUNCIL C.W.L. HELD THEIR MONTHLY MEETING

PETIT DeGRAT — The regular monthly meeting of the St. Joseph's Council C. W. L. was held in the parish hall, here on Sunday, January 16th at 3 p.m.

The meeting was called to order by the president, Mrs. Fulbert Boudreau, followed by an opening prayer led by the director, Rev. J. J. MacDonald.

The spiritual convenor, Mrs. Lawrence Samson asked the members permission to have a Mass said for the intention of the members once a month. This was approved by all and it was further suggested that the Rosary be recited.

The Social Action convenor, Mrs. Benoit, reported that 36 boxes of chocolates had been given to the sick and shut-ins of the parish, at Christmas time; also three Christmas dinners had been given to needy families of the parish. She also reported that get well cards had been sent to five sick persons of the parish who are in hospital.

Mrs. George Boudreau reported that the Red Cross first aid course was underway in the parish. There are 31 women and girls taking the course, of these, 11 are C.W.L. members.

The members had an interesting discussion on whether to have weekly bingo games or a card play, sponsored by the league. It was decided that weekly bingo would be held in the very near future.

The director, Rev. J. J. MacDonald, gave a brief address on Christian Unity," He told the members that beginning on Tuesday, Jan. 18th, the church all over the world will observe the week of prayer for Christian Unity. He stated that we should encourage our children and husbands to make sacrifices during this special week.

The meeting was adjourned, followed by prayer.

LITTLE ANSE HOME AND SCHOOL ASSOCIATION

At the November meeting a letter was read about the centennial project.

The President reported that a movie screen had been ordered and that he was informed it would be shipped as soon as possible.

Mr. Doyle reported a successful Speech Festival with all pupils in the school taking part.

A shield has been ordered on which the school winner's name in the Annual Speech Festival will be inscribed.. It will remain in the school.

It was moved by Mrs. James Benoit and seconded by Mr. Oswald Samson and carried that $19.67 be sent to the Centennial Fund as requested.

It was moved by Mr. Albert Martell and seconded by Mrs. Doris Samson and carried that Mrs. Madeline Cox be the social convener helper.

Mrs. Louis Samson moved, seconded by Mr. Oswald Samson that a person be asked to make up the drapes for the classroms, the cost to be paid from Home and School funds. Carried.

Mrs. Michael Boudreau moved that a rabbit pie party be held on December 16, 1965, seconned by Mrs. Cox and carried.

It was moved by Mrs. Doris Samson, seconded by Mrs. Cox and carried that twenty five cents per pupil be given as a Christmas treat.

For the program, Mr. Paul Doyle gave a talk on books and reading. He pointed out that books should be bought for child- at an early age, such as cloth books to encourage a liking for books. He suggested that parents read stories to their children to help them develop their imaginations. Even after the children start to school they could be read to the children and some story books could be bought at Christmas or birthday gifts, thus encouraging children to respect and appreciate books they own themselves.

After an outline of the school reading program and how it is designed to teach children to learn, Mr. Doyle pointed out the importance of extra reading books in the school. He told what had been done to build up the school libraries during the last few years. He pointed out that the school needs many more interesting French books if the children are to develop their interest and ability in reading French, they are French and should learn their mother tongue. He said he expected to get money for this purpose from the School Board.

The December meeting was called to order by the President followed by a prayer by Mrs. James Benoit.

Letters were read concerning the Centennial Fund and a First Aid Course.

The membership convener reported two new members.

Mr. Anthony Samson reported that more curtain material had been ordered.

All parents and members of the Home and School were invited to a Christmas party put on by the teachers and pupils of the school on Tuesday at one o'clock p.m.

Discussion took place on the First Aid Course to be sponsored by the Red Cross. It was decided to encourage as many as possible to attend.

Rev. Father MacDonald then spoke on the need for Auxiliary Classes to provide for slow learners who get behind in the school work and become drop-outs later on. He said that the School Board and the Municipal Councillor should be impressed with the importence of this matter.

He also dealt with the Regional Library pointing out that most other counties have them. He said that more people would do more reading and the young people especially would benefit.

It was moved by Mrs. Claire Samson, seconded by Mrs. Zena Samson that the usual Christmas donations be made to St. Joseph's Parish and to Rev. Father MacDonald and Rev. Father Mombourquette.

Mr. Doyle pointed out that Guidance Councilors are scarce and due to that fact retards the development of auxiliary classes.

The business meeting then adjourned after which everyone then went to the school auditorium where delicious rabbit and meat pies were served under the direction of Mrs. Michael Boudreau, Social Convener, assisted by Mrs. Clayton Cox.

THE ORGANIZATION MAN

All my life I have admired organized people. This doesn't mean that I like them. In fact, my usual response to this type is instant hatred, because they make me look so confused in comparison.

You know the sort of person I mean. The chap leering at you from the life insurance ads. Mortgage on house paid up, pension all figured out, and a big, fat annuity when he retires at 60. And dies at sixty-one from sheer boredom because there's nothing left to organize.

Then there's the wife who runs her house like clockwork. Everything on time. Not a dirty ash-tray. Not a half-hour in the day of pure bumming for anybody in the family. Surely it isn't her fault that her kids become greasy beatniks the minute they leave home. and her husband goes the normal course from ulcer to coronory to stroke.

Much as I detest organization, I've got to let admiration overrule distaste. It's not easy, after a lifetime of comfortable chaos, but I've been driven to it. By my daughter. In a fit of teenage blues the other day, she was sounding off on the futility of life. Naturally, I told her she was crazy, that life was a glorious adventure.

"uh! Some adventure! Same old thing, day after day, week after week, year after year. Tell me, Dad, what do you and Mom have to look forward to?"

Well, that struck home. It didn't seem quite the moment to talk about growing old gracefully. Or even about the sheer joy of having the living-room papered.

It was right there and then I decided she was right. I don't plunge ahead toward a goal. I merely go around in ever-decreasing circles. I don't seize life by the scruff of the neck and shake it. I merely beg it to leggo and stop shaking me.

And this is the reason I. who has never made a serious New Year's resolution in my life, have a list of them drawn up. No more of this tottering from crisis to crisis. No more of this being late and lazy, inconsistent and inefficient, unhealthy and unwealthy.

Resolved: that I'm going to stop fighting with my wife. In 20 years, I haven't won a single battle. Why spoil a record like this?

Resolved: that I'm going to stop smoking, drinking and ogling. I think my lungs and liver are shot by now, so the first two don't amount to much. But the third one is liable to give me a heart attack from sheer indignation that these shameless hussies are allowed to go around like that on the beach. It says here.

Resolved: that I'm going to stop pampering my kids. The next time Hugh suggests he needs another ten bucks. I'll punch him right in the nose. The next time Kim tells me I'm an old fud, I'll take a strap to her. It's going to be difficult, as he outweighs me by 10 pounds, and I couldn't beat that sweet if she committed murder. But organization will make it possible.

Resolved: that I'm going to take regular exercises, something more strenuous then bending my elbow, striking a match, or taking a cap off a jar of jam.

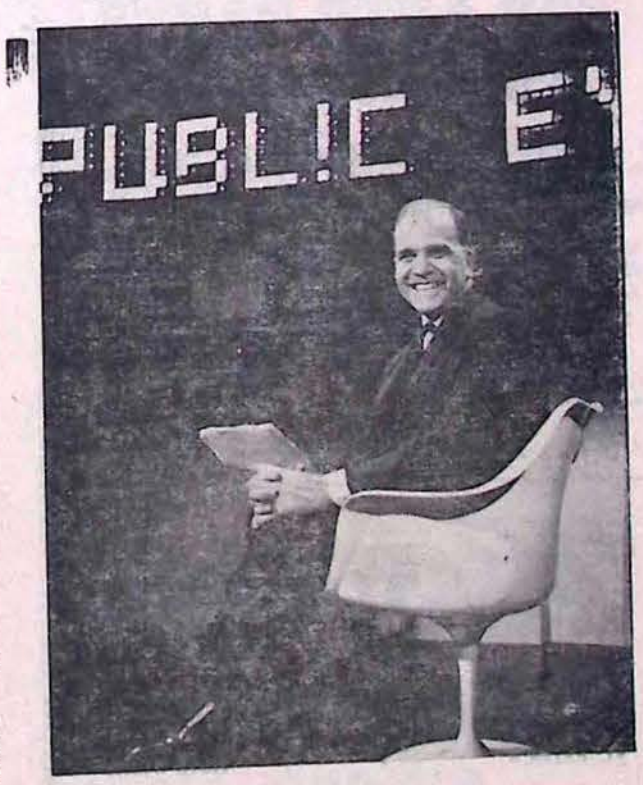

Resolved: that this column will be written at my leisure, not to a deadline which means sprinting through the snow to the mailbox at 9:59 p.m. In my slippers.

Resolved: that I will make lesson plans like the other teachers, and not arrive daily, gaily, and ask, "Well, where were we yesterday?"

Resolved: that I will stop being nice to people just because I like them, and will assiduously court those who can do me some good.

Sorry, we've run out of space. There are 374 other resolutions, and I feel that I've just scratched the surface. But look for a more dynamic, disgusting Bill Smiley in '66. I'm organized.

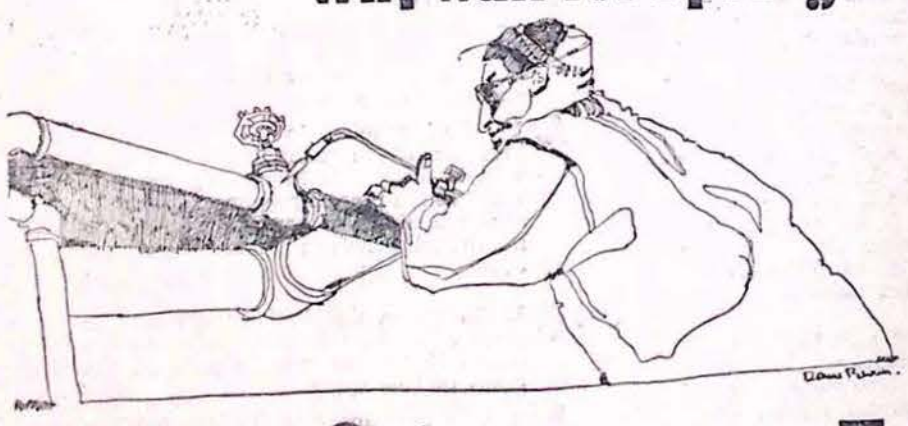

Host Philip Deane

Philip Deane, former war correspondent and diplomat, is host of The Public Eye, seen Tuesdays n the CBC—TV network. While reporting the Korean War, Deane was captured by the Communists, and later produced a best - selling book about his imprisonment. On The Public Eye, Deane specializes in interviews with news making personalities.

Flashlights are an inexpensive form of protection in case of fire or power failure. In the darkness and in smke, even in the home, it is possible to pajnic and become "lost". A traffic accident may occur where there is no light—the flashlight in the car supplies an urgent need. Keep a small flashlight in pocket or purse and larger ones hanging inside hall door and beside the bed.

Why wait for spring?

In winter, men are available. Materials are available. And special off-season discounts are often available. So, doesn't it make a lot of sense to have those repairs and renovations done now. Not simply construction and building jobs—but things like having the lawnmower fixed and the screens mended; having the drapes cleaned and the rugs shampooed; having the furniture re-upholstered and the electrical appliances repaired. All jobs which can call for a long wait come Springtime—but which can be handled quickly, efficiently and easily during the winter season. What's more, government-sponsored, low-cost Home Improvement Loans are available through your bank, to assist you in carrying out all kinds of renovation jobs you've been meaning to do—up to $4,000 with up to ten years to repay!

No doubt about it—winter is the best time to spruce up your home or place of business. Do it now!

Everybody benefits when winter work is increased

THIRTY-SIX YEARS WITH DON MESSER

Don Messer and his Islanders have been acclaimed in many quarters as "those wonderful Canadian ambassadors" and it is said that no other musical diplomat in Canadian history has ever attained the heights nor the penetrating power that this group of "downeasters" has enjoyed in the past 36 years.

In September of 1965, Messer led his Islanders into their seventh season of entertaining viewers across Canada on Don Messer's Jubilee, seen Monday evenings at 8:30 p.m.

As in the past years, Don contiues to present the type of musical entertainment which has made his show such a favorite with viewers and which continues to be rated among the top music shows in the country—reels and jigs by Don and the orchestra, lively dance routines by the Buchta Dancers, songs old and new by Charlie Chamberlain, ballads by Marg Osburne, songs by soprano Catherine MacKinnon and added features by special guest performers. Introducing the show each week is host Don Tremaine.

The road to success has not always been an easy one for Messer and his group. Back in 1939 the star recalls being glad to accept a salary of $12.50 a week to form an old-time band at Charlottetown's newly-formed radio station CFCY.

CBC listeners first heard Don Messer and the Islanders on the network on Armistice Day 1939. Ever since then they've maintained a record that's been hard to equal on Canadian air-lanes.

A native Maritimer, Messer was born at Tweedside, N. B., in 1909. Coming from a music-loving family, he learned to play the violin when he was six. At seven, he played at his first barn dance and from then on was in demand as an entertainer, playing at festivals and get-togethers of all kinds.

After spending five years in Boston, where he studied violin and folk music, Messer returned to Saint John to try to make a living with fiddle and bow in his hme province. He was fortunate enough to land a job on an old-time music program at radio station CFBO, and formed his own orchestra.. As time went on he was able to add to his group.

It was in 1934 that he acquired a happy-go-lucky lumberjack by the name of Charlie Chamberlain to sing a few songs with the outfit, which Messer later fittingly named the New Brunswick Lumberjacks.

Disbanding the Lumberjacks, which had grown too large, Messer former a smaller group and started broadcasting the Backwoods Breakdown on the CBC radio network.

Liking the idea of working for radio he took an offer to form an old-time orchestra in Charlottetown, P.E.I., for radio station CFCY. They soon became known as Don Messer and His Islanders, and through their continued broadcasts on the CBC, their fame spread across the country.

Messer began his CBC-TV career in 1956 on the Maritime network and made his debut n the full network in 1959. He has been entertaining Canadian viewers ever since. Don and Charlie Chamberlain are the old timers in the Islander outfit, along with bass-player Julius Neilsen. Marg Osburne and Catherine MacKinnon share the vocal spotlight with Chamberlain each show.

Clarinetist Rae Simmons started his music career, as did Neilsen in a Salvation Army band. Other members of this unusual aggregation are pianist Waldo Munroe, and violinist-guitarist Cec MacEachern, who is also a composer of old-time music.

Many of the songs on Don's show are written by himself, and one of them—Messer's Breakdown — was danced by the Queen (The Princess Elizabeth) on her 1951 visit to Ottawa.—CBC Times.

You were asking about the Hospital Tax ?

The following are some of the many questions that are most frequently asked of the Hospital Tax Division of the Provincial Tax Commission and the answers thereto.

(1) Q. Are purchases of second hand merchandise taxable?

A. Section 3 of the Hospital Tax Act imposes tax on all purchases of tangible personal property at the rate of 5 per cent of the purchase price. If a lawn mower, motor boat, trailer, or other taxable item is purchased from a neighbour, friend, or some other person, tax is payable to the Province on this purchase. This would include purchases made over the various radio, classified advertisements, or other media. Records supporting these transactions must be maintained so that the purchase price may be ascertained. Collection of the tax payable to the Province is administered by the Hospital Tax Division of the Provincial Tax Commission.

(2) Q. Can a registration certificate be used to purchase merchandise that is not normally resold in the ordinary course of the vendor's business?

A. No; the specific purpose of this certificate of registration is to enable the vendor of a particular item of merchandise like groceries or men's clothing to purchase the merchandise tax free and to collect the tax at the time of the retail sale. The vendor must pay to his supplier the tax on all purchases of tangible personal property that will be consumed by the vendor, within the operation of his business or otherwise.

(3) Q. Is there an obligation on the part of a registered vendor to collect and remit tax on the sale of tangible personal property?

A. Yes; under the Hospital Tax Act the vendor is liable for payment of all tax monies that he collects; or in the event that he fails to collect, he may be assessed for an amount equivalent to the amount he fails to collect under Section 32 (2) of the Hospital Tax Act.

(4) Q. Are vendors obligated to maintain records and books of account?

A. Yes; under Section 14 of the Hospital Tax Act vendors must maintain records in specific detail so that liability for Hospital Tax may be determined at the time of audit by a member of the audit staff of the Hospital Tax Division. If the vendor fails to maintain these records, the Provincial Tax Commission has the right to determine and assess for such liability by such procedure as the Commissioner may deem adequate and expedient.

(5) Q. Are farmers and fishermen allowed any special exemption for payment of tax?

A. Farmers and fishermen may purchase tax free certain items that would be taxable when purchased by others. These items would be items that the Hospital Tax Act recognizes as being essential to their function as farmers and fishermen. A listing of these items can be obtained by writing the Provincial Tax Commission. When purchasing items that are taxable, farmers and fishermen must complete and sign a prescribed Farmers' and Fishermen's exemption certificate. It is essential that a certificate be obtained in each case. These farmers and fishermen are reminded that the exemption certificate may be used only for the purpose of purchasing the items prescribed in the Regulations. The purchase of all other items are taxable.

(6) Q. Are the vendors of normally taxable tangible personal property sold exempt to farmers and fishermen without having an exemption certificate signed, liable in any manner?

A. Yes, vendors who neglect to have a certificate signed on the sale of normally taxable tangible personal property to farmers and fishermen can be assessed for an amount equivalent to the amount that they fail to collect as provided for by Section 32 (2) of the Hospital Tax Act.

(7) Q. Are purchases made outside the Province of Nova Scotia by a resident of Nova Scotia and brought into the province for consumption, liable for the payment of Hospital Tax?

A. Yes, under Section 5 of the Hospital Tax Act, tax is payable on the purchase price of such purchases of taxable tangible personal property. This would include residents of Nova Scotia who travel to another province, purchase taxable merchandise and return to the Province of Nova Scotia bringing with them this merchandise for consumption in this Province. This would also include residents of Nova Scotia who purchase taxable merchandise through a sales catalogue or some other sales media.

(8) Q. If a contractor who is a resident of Nova Scotia purchases from outside the Province of Nova Scotia tangible personal property such as items that would be consumed in the performance of a lump-sum contract, would he be liable for the payment of Hospital Tax?

A. Yes, contractors are regarded as the consumer of all materials, machinery, tools, instruments, and other articles which they consume in the performance of a lump-sum contract and are required to pay the tax on the same.
Section 5 imposes tax at the rate of 5 per cent of the laid-down cost of these materials, et cetera.

(9) Q. Would the above apply on non-resident contractors performing a lump-sum contract in the Province of Nova Scotia?

A. Yes, non-resident contractors performing a lump-sum contract in the Province of Nova Scotia are deemed to be carrying on business in the Province of Nova Scotia at that time and are, therefore, subject to the provisions of Section 5 and all other sections of the Hospital Tax Act.

(10) Q. If a vendor discontinues business, should the registration certificate be returned to this Commission?

A. Yes, the Hospital Tax Regulations provides that when a vendor ceases to carry on business in respect to which a registration certificate has been issued, the certificate should there upon be void and he or she shall return the same to the Commissioner within 15 days of the date of discontinuance. If a vendor changes his business, then the registration for the old business should be returned and application made for the new business at which time a new certificate of registration will be issued to him.

(11) Q. If a person sells a trailer or some other item that he built for sale from goods that he purchased and on which the Hospital Tax was paid at the time of purchase, is he responsible for collection of tax on the selling price?

A. Yes, he is required to collect tax on the sale price of the trailer or other item not withstanding the fact that the goods were taxed at the time of purchase. The purchaser is liable to pay tax whether or not the seller collects this tax at the time of sale.

(12) Q. Is the person that builds the trailer or some other item for sale entitled to a rebate of the tax that he paid on the goods that he used?

A. Yes, he may apply to the Hospital Tax Division of the Provincial Tax Commission for a rebate of the tax that he paid on the goods if he sold the trailer or other item and did not at any time use it personally.

It is an offense to fail to comply with the provisions of the Hospital Tax Act and Hospital Tax Regulations.

FLOATING FISH PLANT

A unique concept for Nova Scotia's ever-expanding fishing industry is nearing completion in Liverpool. A huge barge, designed as a floating fish plant, is scheduled to be operational early this year.

The plant, owned by Mersey Seafooods Limited, will be the first of its kind ever built in Canada and will combine the features of a factory ship and a land based plant. The barge is officially designated as a ship and will be called "The Mersey Seafoods I".

Built at an estimated cost of $560,000, the floating fish factory is designed to handle ten million pounds annually, providing employment initially for 40 to 50 persons.

LETTER FROM VINCE POWER

We were happy to receive a letter from our good friend Vincent Power, of Needham, Mass., where he carries on a large business under the Power Cabinet Shop, Inc., manufacturers of custom made kitchen cabinets, book cases, china closets, Formica tops and is located at 679 Highland Avenue, Needham Heights, 94, Mass. We had ocassion to visit the Power Cabinet Shop, a few years ago and at that time received a warm welcome from both Mr. and Mrs. Power and his nice family.

Vincent informs us that he was in Toronto recently and had the pleasure of calling on our former friends and neighbors, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond LeBlanc, at Port Colbourne and was indeed happy to see Raymond and Blanche. He also informed us that Mr. and Mrs. LeBlanc's eldest son Carrol, had recently married and was returning to Halifax, with his bride where they will reside. We join with Vince in congratulating the young couple and wish them many years of happiness. Caroll is in the Canadian Navy.

Vincent will be coming down to Cape Breton early in April to open their summer home at Mabou, where the Power family will spend the summer.

He also informs us that his sister, Josephine Power, R. N., and brother, Peter have left for Flordia, to spend the winter.

TRICK FOR TRUCK — The camera angle makes it appear a truck is hauling Canadian National's giant covered hopper car, being used on an experimental basis to haul bulk cement from the Maritime Cement plant at Brookfield, N. S. to Sydney. But the car, doveloped by CN's customer research department, can haul as much cement in one trip as five trucks. Its pressure flow concept enables the car to be unloaded at sidings not equipped with unloading equipment. The car is being placed under one of the giant silos at the new cement plant for another load.

Learning to smile again

After this Associated Press photo of a stricken Vietnamese girl appeared in hundreds of papers across Canada and the United States last summer, thousands offered help. Foster Parents' Plan's Canadian-born director in Saigon located the girl in hospital and enrolled her. The photo at right shows her after she began receiving monthly aid through the Plan. Almost 7,000 Canadians give help to destitute children in the Far East, Europe and South America, on a person-to-person basis, through Foster Parents' Plan. Information may be had by writing P.O. Box 65, Station "B", Montreal.
