SUGAR AND SPICE

PICK YOUR EXECUTION

In its wisdom, the Canadian Parliament has decided that the death penalty should not be abolished, that capital punishment should be preserved.

I agree. Completely. In my youthful, idealistic days, I had a crazy idea that the cold, deliberate taking of a human life by a civilized society was wrong.

But I'm becoming blunted in a world where young men who never did a nasty thing are killed daily, and women and children are bombed and burned daily, all in the name of peace.

In the face of this, who can worry about a handful of hoodlums about to be hanged? If there's the odd one who wasn't guilty, tough! There are a lot of other non-guilty people dying these days, and always have been. Without a trial and jury.

What I can't understand is the Canadian Parliament's lack of follow-through. It's pretty disappointing, to one who has upheld this nation against its petty attackers for years.

But we get this again and again. Take the Gerda Munsinger case. A few red faces, a few TV tears, and it's all over.

In the capital punishment case, our Canadian politicians had a chance to set the word on fire. Did they do it? Not they. They cast their votes and went home for the holidays.

Not an iota of imagination in the whole hang-dog group. This was their chance to give Canada a penal system unequalled in the world.

I don't, for one instant, think all those chaps who voted "Nay" are in favor of hanging. It's a pretty crude business. After all, some times the rope is too loose, or the head is too loose, and the girl reporters puke. I think something could be done about this. Paper bags, perhaps.

Not a single M.P. suggested another way of dealing with murderers. here are dozens. But I believe the most sporting way, for the culpits, and the least lacerating way, for a touchy society, would be to throw all the varieties of execution into a hat and let the prospective departude take his pick. It would add a certain "Jenny-Say-Kwoy" to the whole thing, which, in these troubled days, might keep Quebec within the fold.

Throw them all in a hat. There's something for everybody. For the softies: slashing of wrists and gentlel expiration in the bathtub, or an overdose of sleeping pills. For the hards: electrocution; gas; diving into an empty (concrete-bottom) swimming pool; bullet through the head.

For the exotic: the guillotine; the excutioner's axe; impalement on a sharp stake; being torn to pieces by four wild horses; being lowered into a pit of vipers.

Of course, you have to take what you get. Just because you're a flamboyant type doesn't mean that you're going to pick the ballot saying you'll be burned at the stake. You might get the one saying death by strangling. Tough.

But at least there'd be some imagination in the whole thing. And this could be spread through the whole penal system. Shoplifters could be deported to U.S. Kids who stole apples would be branded on the forehead with T for Thief.

Income-tax-cheaters and people who were tricky with their expense accounts would be sent to the tundra with four dollars, a fishing line, and all three of their wives. This would fill up our great northern spaces smartly.

There are great possibilities. Pass along your suggestions, and I'll pass them along to Parliament.

WEDDING
THERIAULT — POIRIER

WEST ARICHAT — Immaculate Conception Church, here was the setting for a pretty wedding on Monday, April 11th at 10:00 o'clock Mass, when Geraldine daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Poirier became the bride of Ralph Theriault son of Mrs. Delvina and the late Alexander Theriault of Arichat.

The guest pews were marked with sprigs of lilly of the valley tied with white satin bows. The bridal party entered the church in procession headed by Pastor, Rev. Father Doucet and altar boys followed by the attendants.

Mrs. Joseph Mury presided at the organ and accompanied the choir who rendered very beautifully "On this day O beautiful Mother."

The bride was most attractive in her original full length gown in pure rayon peau de soie over satin, styled with a close-fitting bodice, a round neck-line and long sleeves that tapered to lilly points over the wrists. The full skirt enriched with guipure lace appliqnes ended into a slight train. shoulder length veil was held in place by a crown of simulated borealis pearls. It was worn over the face on entering the church and later placed back by the bridesmaid. She carried a bouquet of white and blue sweetheart roses intermingled with ferns and streamers. The bridesmaid Miss Emilie DeYoung was becomingly attired in a street-length sheath dress of blue silk taffetta, with a wide bow at the back which held a detachable train surrounded by a border of appliqued lace. She wore a matching wedding ring headpiece and carried a bouquet of white and blue carnations with ferns and streamers. The groom and his attendant, Alfred Poirier brother of the bride wore white dinner jackets. The usher was Omer Babin.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the Legion Hall where members catered. Assisting the couple receive their guests was Mrs. Poirier the bride's mother, who donned a two-piece suit of pink wool boucle with white accessories. Her corsage was of white roses. The groom's mother wore a navy blue silk dress with black accessories, wearing a corsage of pink roses. The bride's table was nicely appointed laid with white linen with silver settings and centered with a three tier wedding cake topped with a minature bride and groom. Rev. Father A. Doucet offered grace and a toast to the bride was also proposed by Father Doucet, and responded to by the groom.

After the newly-weds placed the knife in the wedding cake, it was apportioned to the guests by the caterers.

The popular couple received many beautiful gifts, including a sum of money.

We join with their many friends in wishing the popular young couple a long and happy wedded life.

Letter to the Editor

Richmond County Record

Dear Mr. Editor—The "Casket" in its Editorial Column of March 31, the current year, virtually attacks the principal of Government Balanced Budgets. Particularly as such has lately developed in the closing of the 1965 Financial Year of the Stanfield Government.

Its writer issues a challenge to the hitherto sound method of first assessing the amount of the real taxable need and then comparing the result with the ability of the taxpayer to carry the load. Apparently he would reverse this hitherto time honoured process and substitute the idea of first meeting all demands, good and bad, plus the half-baked ones that now fill the skies.

He extoles the "New U. S. School System." He is certain it is the point for us to shoot at. Yet all of the achievements and the abundant glory of that great nation were reached by a different route.

Here in our loveable Nova Scotia the recent changes in our School System, plus the mooted ones trend skyward. Yet the basic improvements we were told to expect are scarcely in evidence. Presently, too large a portion of our youth are unhappy and unemployed. Many of them, with their plastic minds, are in the act of leaving—never to return. Much of this evident decadence is born of the real need of a more basic education during the Tender Years Period of Life. More inculcation in the field of love for the land, experience, the aged and above all the memory of those who, from the bottom to the top, really built our delightful Canada.

We are not of Premier Stanfield's political faith, yet on this question of Balanced Budgets we feel he is absolutely right and with us right always means right—the auspices and the weather notwithstanding.

Figuratively thinking, we visualize our premier as the efficient Skipper aboard our Provincial Ship. WE say that his Balanced Budget is widely appreciated—and suggest he plan another for the oncoming year. We assure him that the brand of democracy, he exhibits in this action, will quickly result in effective Cage Anchors appearing on his westward bow.

E. C. DOYLE, Ex. M.L.A.

LITTLE ANSE HOME AND SCHOOL

The Little Anse Home and School March meeting was called to order by the President with the Home and School prayer. A letter from Mrs. Britten was read concerning a music teacher for feeder schools. Also a letter was read inviting our members to attend a discussion of the new comprehensive school program to take place on March 28, 1966 at the Petit De Grat Home and School Association meeting.

Some discussion of Auxiliary Classes on Regional Libraries took place.

The guest speaker, Mr. Michael J. MacNeil, Supervisor of Schools, was introduced by the Education Convenor Mrs. Hubert Martell. Mr. MacNeil spoke on the new comprehensive school system outlining what the program is, how it will be carried out and the benefits that are expected for boys and girls of our area. He indicated the benefits of one teacher to a grade. Every boy and girl should be prepared for the many courses that are about to be offered in the high school and in the new vocational schools that will be built, he said. This means that we must keep our children in school until they reach high school. Following his talk, Mr. MacNeil invited questions and discussion. This was followed by a vote of thanks on behalf of the Little Anse Association extended by the Principal, Mr. Paul Doyle.

Under new business it was moved by Mrs. Rosenna Benoit, seconded by Mrs. Geraldine Martell that a letter be sent to the Municipal School Board requesting a music teacher for the term 1966-67.

The April Meeting was called to order by the President, Mr. Anthony Samson, with a prayer by Mrs. Roseanna Benoit.

Following correspondence , the Treasurer's report and reports of committees, the members who attended the Petit De Grat Association Meeting reported.

It was moved by Mrs. Alvina Samson and seconded by Mrs. Claire Samson that five delegates be appointed to attend the Spring Council, taxi and supper to be paid out of Home and School funds. Carried.

The following were appointed delegates: Mrs. Roseanna Benoit, Mrs. Alvina Samson, Mrs. Zena Samson, Mr. Anthony Samson and Mrs. Geraldine Martell.

RICHMOND COUNTY STUDIES THE COMPREHENSIVE SCHOOL SYSTEM

The Comprehensive School System has been the topic of discussion at various meetings following the introduction of this subject by Mr. George Lent, Inspector of Schools, Port Hawkesbury, at a meeting of the L'Ardise Home and School Association.

Inspector of Schools for Richmond County, M. J. Belliveau, has held meetings with the Municipal School Board and the supervisory personnel of the county, studying the various aspects of the system. At the request of Home and School Associations throughout the county, Mr. Belliveau has brought to the parents and teachers an insight into the changes in the educational program that may be expected to take place.

At the invitation of the Clergy, Mr. Belliveau spoke on this topic at a meeting of the Richmond County Deanery.

A panel was used to bring this subject under discussion at a meeting of the Richmond County Teacher's Union, East and West Locals, and educational leaders from the Isle Madame area have participated in panels at Louisdale, Petit de Grat, Arichat, and other areas.

At the local level, discussions have taken place under the direction of the Inspector of Schools or supervisory personnel in the following centres: L'Ardoise, St. Peter's, Lakeside, River Bourgeois, Petit de Grat and D'Escousse. In many instances people from neighbouring areas were invited to attend.

Under the leadership of the Divisional Inspector of Schools, with the co-operation of the supervisory personnel, the Municipal School Board as well as local groups throughout the county are now embarking on a more detailed study of the needs of the school population and the implications of this new approach for each local school system.

SCOTTISH SHOW COMING AT VOGUE THEATRE

First Canadian Tour of David Webster of Oban in "This is Scotland". Following presentation at London's Royal Festival Hall. Seen by audiences of over 500,000 in the past five years.—"A Night to remember".

The British public and press have praised David Webster of Oban in "This is Scotland". Not only have capacity audiences been attracted to Scotland's and England's largest concert halls but, because of overwhelming demand, a last-minute engagement has been accepted prior to departure for Canada, for the show to return to three principal auditoriums in the south-east of England — in addition to being part of the ANNUAL SLOUGH ARTS FESTIVAL. It has been arranged that David Webster would fly to Canada well in advance of his tour but these engagements mean that Mr. Webster will be travelling with his company on May 2nd., to Sydney, Cape Breton.

What is "This is Scotland"—? and why is it so successful—?

These are difficult questions to answer. "This is Scotland" is a show of warmth and colour and from the moment the show opens to the skirl of the pipes, with Pipe Major Alstair MacFarlane marching through the auditorium and onto the stage, audiences are captivated. here is lively, foot-tapping Scottish music played by the famous "T.I.S." (This is Scotland") Highland Dance Band, songs old and new and, above all, the screen presentation of the haunting beauty of the Scottish scene.

The Highland Dance Band features five of Scotland's greatest musicians, all star performers in their own right, two of whom have their own Scottish Dance Bands back in Scotland—Alastair Brown of Oban and Max Houliston of Dumfries. Max Houliston also joined David Webster in writing some of the new songs in the show — songs that promise to become as popular in the future as the more traditional songs, also in the show,, are today. The singer is well-known Scots tenor HECTOR CAMPBELL.

Kilted DAVID WEBSTER OF OBAN is an outstanding humorist and the warmth of his personality and his ability as a showman are possibly the main reasons for "This is Scotland" being a success. Apart from welcoming audiences at the beginning of the evening and introducing the different items on the programme, it is his photography and personal commentary that combine to bring the true Scotland to life on the screen. His scenes of Scotland have won him exhibition successes throughout the world and in his armchair tour of the screen, audiences are alternately captivated with the idyllic beauty of the Highlands, the next minute they are in fits of laughter at his natural, droll, wise-cracking humour. One of the concert halls being revisited before leaving for Canada seats 2000 people — it is ALWAYS packed to capacity for David Webster of Oban.
