SUGAR AND SPICE by Bill Smiley

MY FINAL SAY

O. K. I know. Enough is enough. This is positively the last in a series of columns on education. Let me repeat that I'm no expert, just a parent, tax-payer and teacher, and equally concerned in each role.

I've been critical. In some quarters, no doubt, my remarks have been considered rank heresy. But there is a positive side. Let's look at it.

Most cheering is the tremendous interest in educational improvement both from within and without the system. Departments of education are spending large amounts of time, thought and money in an attempt to scramble into the second part of the twentieth century.

New universities are springing up like mushrooms, with fresh and invigorating ideas, vital young teachers.

Men and women in all walks of life are taking a hard look at what they want for their children. As a result of these things, much of the old rigidity and inflexibility are crumbling under heavy fire.

Changes are coming. It's not been any easier to get them started than to make a team of oxen break into a gallop. But they're coming, even though they may gallop right through the fence.

Thomas Acquinas hasn't much to say to the swingers of today, with the New Morality on one side of them, and nuclear annihilation on the other. In fact, a punning colleague suggested: "Should Old Acquinas be forgot?"

Egerton Ryerson is not exactly haunting the halls of Ryerson Institute. It's more likely he's holding his heavenly head in his hands with horror as he sees the students of that establishment putting away more ale per capita than their prototypes of Oxford and Cambridge in the days of Elizabeth 1.

However, we drift. Here are some of the improvements. Some may flop. But at least the ponderous pachyderm is pulling its feet out of the mud at last. With a resultant, resounding squelch.

Teaching machines, television computers will take over 90 per cent. of the dissemination of knowledge. They're a fast now. The kids of today's students will have to listen to boring tales from their parents about the "good old days when there was a teacher in every class-room."

This revolution, in turn, will eliminate the lock-step progress of the present, where the swift are held back, and the slow are scrambling, because courses are aimed at the average. The kids will move at their own speed. Learning will be satisfying and exciting.

There'll be strong opposition to this. They'll be dark whispers that it is undemocratic, that it will produce an elite. They'll say it's bad for the bright child because he won't be emotionally mature if, let's say, he's ready for university at 13.

Baloney. Education isn't democratic now. Not when one kid has to slug groceries after school to buy decent clothes, and a classmate is out skiing. Not when the first kid hasn't a chance to go on because he must help support his family, while the second kid goes off to university to find a husband. Better an elite of the mind than an elite of middle-class. money and morality.

As for the emotionally mature bit, that too, is poppycock. Some people are emotionally mature at 10, others never.

Another big change will be curricula. Kids will be taught less facts, more about life. That is, instead of square roots and dangling participles and the Peloponnesian Wars, they'll learn about themselves and other people, about beauty and economics, about leisure and love.

Annual examinations, which have about as much to do with education as I have to do with Sophia Loren, will vanish.

Schools will have shorter terms, more frequent holidays, but will likely operate year-round.

Teaching will improve, because it will become a dynamic, creative profession, attracting the dynamic, creative people.

I hate to spoil this vision of educational Utopia, but I have one more prediction. The whole thing is going to cost more and more and more. That's the only prophecy I will unconditionally guarantee.

ST. JOSEPHS CREDIT UNION NEWS

Dear Mr. Editor: As usual we were ready to report the happenings of our Credit Union, but the Editor of the Newsletter, stole our thunder, and went into detail about the financial statement. at this the Annual Meeting and what a flight to success as was shown by the meeting.

All members are in possession of the Annual Financial Report and all will agree that our faithful manager and his assistant turned in a good year in fact the best since our Credit Union has been established.

It is expected that the present year will bring greater service for our members and to offer this service, all members must put their full effort behind St. Joseph's Credit Union, as it will continue to grow and bring financial security and comfort to the people it serves.

We are not giving a full report of the Annual Meeting at this time, but can assure the readers of the Record, Mr. Editor that this meeting was a success and Flight Captain Alphonse Landry can back us up when we make this statement.

Just think of it our membership is now nearing the 1200 mark and 14 new members were reported in the first month of the New Year.

This month's Newsletter took on the role in Aviation terms and the cartoons and captions were excellent and from the Control Room to take off and the landing was a "Credit Union Touchdown to Success."

Thanking you Mr. Editor for space and hope to have another report soon.

OLD AGE SECURITY AND GUARANTEED INCOME PENSION

Canadians celebrating their sixty-eighth birthday this year should apply now for their old age security pension. Payment is not automatic. Application must first be made. Application forms are available from post offices of by writing to the old age security office in provincial capitals.

Canadians already receiving the old age security pensions will be mailed an application form and booklet describing the new guaranteed income supplement.

Help in preparing the application form for the new supplement is as close as the nearest old age security, Canada Pension Plan or income tax offices. Addresses of these offices are in the booklet.

Picture Has A History

Literally generations have become familiar with the picture of the Fathers of Confederation. It has been in the history text books, on calendars and in various types of advertising, more recently including even television, for as long as any living persons can remember. Yet how many know its history. I knew that Robert Harris had been commissioned in 1883 by the Canadian Government to paint the fathers. This was to portray the men who attended the original Charlottetown Conference of 1884.

However, I didn't know that he was asked to change the setting to the Quebec Conference of the same year and to add a number of figures. Mr. J. J. Thornton, Public Relations Manager of the CN's mountain region has compiled a most interesting summary of the adventures and misadventures of this portrait:

"Robert Harris spent the summer of 1883 in Charlottetown making a small oil painting and a 'full-size' sketch. In October 1883 he took a studio at 42 Saint John Street in Montreal where he painted the actual picture. It hung in the Royal Canadian Academy exhibition of April 1884 and on May 17 was turned over to the government.

"When the main block of the Parliament Buildings in Ottawa burned in 1916 the original was destroyed. Two copies were made by Frederick S. Challener, the first in 1914 before the destruction of the original, and Mr. Challener supervised its hanging in the CN's MacDonald Hotel, Edmonton, in 1915. A second and larger copy was made between 1917 and 1919 and hangs in the Ontario parliament buildings, Toronto," he said.

"The canvass of the MacDonald Hotel copy is 18 feet, seven inches wide by 8 feet, 10½ inches deep.

"The original painting cost the government $4,000. Nearly all the fathers were alive in 1883, but a few of the portraits were done from photographs. The original (and copies) contain 33 'fathers' and Major Hewitt Bernard, secretary to all three conferences. In 1927, Canada officially recognized three more 'fathers' who attended the London meetings. They are shown in the Confederation Life painting by J. D. Kelly.

"An effort was made by the Fathers of Confederation Memorial Citizens Foundation to acquire the 'Mac's' painting for the Charlottetown Memorial Building in 1964.

"CN officials declined the request because the canvass is affixed directly to the wall of the hotel and it does not appear it can be removed without damaging it," said Mr. Thornton.

Though I must confess I was among the many who resented the modern buildings that have been erected adjacent to the picturesque old Prince Edward Island parliament building, it is quite evident that they have become a great tourist attraction.

I shall always remember the evening I spent there in the theatre watching John Drainie portray excerpts from Stephen Leacock's Sunshine Sketches. Again this summer the play from Lucy Montgomery's story "Anne of Green Gables" will delight Charlottetown audiences.

I should mention, too, the art gallery. It is not huge but since Queen Elizabeth opened this complex of memorial buildings, there have been some very worthwhile exhibits on the gallery walls.

It might appear that I was exaggerating a little if I enumerated the thousands whose footsteps have echoed within the halls of both the old and new structures. It is contemplated that many more thousands will travel to Charlottetown during our centennial year to become familiar with the place where so much discussion took place leading to confederation.

Plan ahead for that next stop at a crossroad, says the Nova Scotia Highway Safety Council. On snowy or icy roads, this means starting to stop sooner. Bear in mind that heavy traffic at intersection packs and polishes ice and snow to a deadly glaze. Follow the Council's advice to pump brakes rapidly for a smoother, safer stop on a slippery surface.

OLD AGE SECURITY PENSIONERS: DO YOU QUALIFY FOR THE GUARANTEED INCOME SUPPLEMENT?

By now you have received your application form and information booklet. Be sure to read the booklet carefully. If you qualify, apply early for your supplement. It will take some time to deal with the large number of applications. The sooner you apply the sooner you will have your first payment. Payments will be combined with your Old Age Security pension cheque. If you were entitled to a supplement as of January 1967, your first cheque to include the supplement will cover payment for each month back to January.

The new guaranteed income supplement is a monthly payment of $30 which will be added to your $75 Old Age Security pension if you have no other income. If you do have other income, but it is less than $720 a year ($60 a month), you still qualify for a supplement but on a reduced scale. This means that every Old Age Security pensioner in Canada is now guaranteed a monthly income of at least $105. A married couple is guaranteed at least $210 a month if both are Old Age Security pensioners. If you qualify, apply without delay. If you need help in filling out your application, contact your nearest Old Age Security, Canada Pension Plan or Income Tax Office. Addresses are listed in your booklet.

Of Many Things

By AMBROSE HILLS

GETTING KATHY'S GOAT

At Greenhorn Farm we plan things. For days we have been talking about what kind of ducks we want, and finally, having consulted library references, neighbors, other farmers, or anybody we could buttonhole who would talk about ducks, we decided on a pair of muscovies; a quiet fairly meaty, likable bird.

This Saturday morning Kathy and I headed for the auction at Cloverdale. We'd learned that it pays to be a bit early so you can look over the situatin. Everyone madhouse, but anyhow, for Kathy came early, and the place was a and me, the situation was totally dominated by one sweet, tiny, ten-day-old La Manchu billy goat with a world of wisdom and love shining from its deep keen eyes.

Kathy squealed, the goat leaped, pirouetted like a ballet dancer, and headed right for us, giving her a baby bunt.

Kathy looked at me appealingly. "Would you, Daddy?" She usually calls me Dad, but now it was stretched out honey-thin into Daaaddy. "I'd look after him and feed him from my baby-sitting jobs."

e Stinker that I am, I hesitated. I didn't want a goat around the place, eating everything that's not nailed down. I'd been warned about and this one looked particularly frisky and devilish. Then I got a develish notion of my own; I could make the purchase pay off for me by doing a brief article called "Getting My Wife's Goat. . . Tips on How It's Done." That would certainly be welcome in the magazine marke Alas, getting Nora's goat isn't easy, for right now she has the tle stinker out in the kitchen a wrapped up in her own favourite sweater! She's christened him, too, a name to match Wooly-Bully, and hereafter our goat gets called "Willy-Nilly."

We got more than a billy goat at the auction, we made a friend. The lady who owned him is one of those absolute nuts about goats, so nothing would do but we drive to her farm to see his mother and father and get a supply of his formula to start him off right in his new home. We've found that here in the Fraser Valley if you like horses, or goats, or donkeys, you are In; but if you don't you are Out. The enthusiastic lady gave us (a) four large bottles of goat milk, complete with nipples (b) a large package of yeast to add to his milk (c) a bottle of vitamins without which no goat ought to be, and (d) a strict feeding schedule. She pressed more on us in feed and medicine than we'd paid for Willy-Nilly in the first place, and along with that she gave us a college education in goatsmanship, and her telephone number to call if we have the slightest difficulty. I am a bit surprised she has not followed us here by now to check up on the kind of care we're providing She only got rid of him, after all, to keep her husband (one of the Outs) from divorcing her!

Already Willy-Nilly has been introduced to our cat, dog, bull calf, and the horses and loves them all with affectionate bunts. And already the heat is on me to buy him a girl friend. So unless I want to join the Outs, I'll be at the auction next week goat-hunting. Maybe this time I'll manage to get my ducks. That's MY kind of animal!

Ratepayers Praise Municipal Council School Board And Officials

The Richmond County Record.

Dear Mr. Editor: Please allow us space for the following article, complimenting the work performed by our Municipal Council and School Board also the officials of the Municipality.

It is with great pleasure that we, a group of ratepayers, express our congratulations and thanks for the many hours of committee work which must have taken place in order to bring to Council, during the February 6th. to 11th. session, the recommendations and reports we, the public, heard discussed.

This proves that our Municipal Government is co-operating within itself as well as with Provincial and Federal levels of Government.

When there is a job to be done we must put our prejudices, if any, in the past where they belong, forget political differences and work with one thing in mind, i. e. the common good. It is quite apparent Mr. Warden and Councillors that you have done this, thus making the future of Richmond a good one.

It is well understood gentlemen, why you have entrusted committees to do the field work for the municipality, and to recommend to you, leaving the final decision to the seventeen councillors, especially when these committees make it possible to lower the rate four times in succession despite the extensive expenditures.

Mr. Warden and Councillors, you can be proud of our Municipal Buildings. We are finally coming out of the dark ages and as the Financial Report shows with money in the Bank. As for the $35,000.00 cost, we know through your efforts this was done under the Winter Works Programme, making the cost a great deal less. We are also aware that this would not be applicable had tenders been called.

We do not wish to overlook any phase of your work, but we would especially like to show our appreciation for the foresight you have shown in the Education field. Our children are enjoying the facilities now provided and we welcome with enthusiasm the extensive ones to come.

We must also commend our Municipal Clerk for his part in a job well done.

Again sincere congratulations and courage to continue your strenuous but fruitful efforts despite any criticism. Just bear in mind, "It takes all kinds to make a world".

Signed,

A GROUP OF SATISFIED RATEPAYERS.

PETIT DE GRAT NEWS

Congratulations are extended to Mr. and Mrs. John A. Landry on the occasion of their 59th. wedding anniversary on Feb. 17th. Also to Mr. and Mrs. Remie S. Boudreau on their 67th. wedding anniversary on Feb. 18th. Their many relatives and friends wish both couples many more years of happy life.

Miss Irene Boudreau, daughter of Mrs. Evelyn Boudreau, now employed in Toronto, returned to her duties after spending a month's vacation with her mother and sisters, Mrs. Melvin Boudreau, Mrs. Joseph Boudreau and Mrs. Arthur Boudreau.

Gus Landry attended the Red Cross Convention, as a delegate at the Nova Scotian Hotel in Halifax, the past week.

Glad to learn that Mrs. John Perry has returned home from St. Rita's Hospital, Sydney after a successful operation and is well on the road to recovery.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Landry and children, Claude and Denise, accompanied by Mrs. Amedee Boudreau and Rudolph Samson, motord to Halifax on a business trip during the past week. While in the city Mrs. Landry visited her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Samson on South Street. Mrs. A. Boudreau visited her daughter, Barbara who is on the nursing staff of the Infirmary; also Mr. and Mrs. Albert Forgeron on Church Street.

Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Boudreau accompanied by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Boudreau of Poulamond, left the past week on a motor trip to Quebec City to visit relatives and friends. We wish them a very pleasant trip.

Mr. and Mrs. Vander Landry, accompanied by Mr. Willie Boudreau, motored to Sydney on Saturday returning same evening.

John Boudreau, son of Mr. and Mrs. Willie H. Boudreau, presently attending St. F. X. University, Antigonish, spent the last weekend with his parents and family, returning on Sunday afternoon after spending a pleasant weekend.

Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Boudreau and two sons of Pictou, motored here during the week to visit Mrs. Boudreau's mother who recently returned from the hospital. Also visited his father, Remie Boudreau at the Glebe House, before returning home.

Sorry to learn that Mrs. Remie Boudreau, Glebe House, is a patient in St. Martha's Hospital.

Her many friends wish her a speedy recovery.

Miss Sharon Landry, Student Nurse at the Halifax Infirmary, motored from the City to spend the past week end at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alphonse Landry, and sister, Sheila, Mrs. Ludger Boudreau.

Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Shaw, motored to Halifax, the past week to visit Mr. Shaw's father, who is a patient at Camp Hill Hospital. They also visited Mrs. Melita Boudreau a patient at the V. G. Hospital for the past several weeks. They report her to be improving in health.

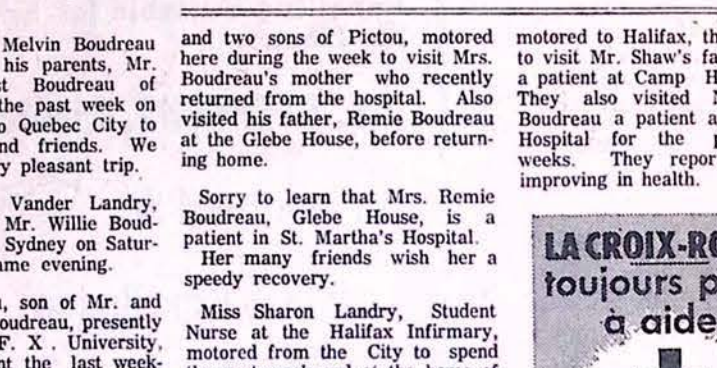

Debbie Lori Kaye, 16-year old singing sensation, has joined the regular cast of The Tommy Hunter Show on CBC-TV. Debbie, who first attracted national attention when she sang at the CNE in 1965, is being given a huge buildup by a major U. S. recording company.
