SUGAR AND SPICE by Bill Smiley

An Old Friend Writes

So you think you have troubles, with your two or three Rotten Kids? We all have them. Troubles and Rotten Kids, that is. They're inseparable.

I could tell you stories that would make your heart ache, your hair curl. But so could you, doubtless. According to some inane schools of thought, the trouble is that we haven't enough kids. We spoilt our one or two rotten and then are astounded at the results.

All we have to do is have a whole raft of kids, and problems would vanish. They'd help with the dishes, make their beds, and all turn out to be Great Kids.

This is rot. I assure you. And to prove, I'm going to quote some excerpts from a letter received recently from an old and dear friend. She's more dear than old, but I think her remarks will explode that poppycock about large families. She has six boys and a girl and knows whereof.

The letter arrived at the end of January, when she got around to sending out the annual Christmas cards. It was written in starts and fits, over three weeks, whenever she had the strength.

"It is all defeating because there's too much of it. So you're the way out — which is where I would like to be.

"I seem to be in a jaded (greenish?) state where nothing really shakes me any more. I believe if you want to find a real skeptic and-or cynic, look for an old mother of a large family. It's not that I don't care (about all the big and little crisis); it's just a kind of numbness that I think must settle in as a preservative. Or else it's low blood pressure.

"Nine p. m. CBC programme reporting comments of English people about Canada. What a bloody superior bunch. I would like to smash them. Excuse writing. Am writing as I quietly recover from a general anaesthetic. Nothing serious.

Also my hand is less than agile due to arthritis. It seems to me a poor system where surviving the rigors of existence is penalized by the ills of age.

"Bob decided to take his summer working money (tuition fees) and go off on a self-discovery journey to Europe. Night before sailing he phoned (collect, of course) to say goodbye and told me his girl was going too. I still don't know what her mother thinks or feels. Of course I don't know what I think or feel either.

So then Bill had mononucleosis. This was enough to change his plans about college and he finally decided to go to Europe, too. They are only on a great larking holiday. Was it better when war got rid of this restlessness?

"Tom didn't get his first year at college. Dan is in Grade II after a spell at summer school. Jenny is an out-patient having urinary tract X-ray as follow-up to surgery in September.

"I know Bob is in Israel now, working on a Kibbutz for shelter, food and experience but no money. He's working in a banana grove.

"I can tell he is suffering from traveller's ego and thinks himself vastly superior to all who stay at home — especially Tom. Whose reaction was, 'Yippidy-poop. I've seen a banana.' I guess that says it for me too as I take notice of his father's aging look.

"My main feeling is irritation with such nonsense, that leaves father still with them on his back. For of course they plan to keep on being college boys too! For another four or five years.

"See you someday. I'm the fat, vaguely familiar-looking one limping along way back there."

Cheer up, dear heart. You wouldn't limp if you had a broken leg. And if you are 'way back there', the band might be playing "The Saints Come Marching In."

Health Hints from THE CANADIAN MEDICAL ASSOCIATION

Hypertension and Its Problems

In using the term "hypertension", the doctor usually refers to the condition in which the very small blood vessels of the body show increased resistance to the flow of blood. This, according to The Canadian Medical Association, is associated with an increase in the blood pressures.

This is the so-called essential hypertension, probably the commonest form. Approximately 5% of the adult population of Canada is affected, and the disease is somewhat more common in females than in males.

The association of diabetes, obesity, kidney disease and high blood pressure is well known. Certainly being overweight is a definite factor, although the exact reason is not completely clear.

Thus the person who is overweight, or who has a family history of high blood pressure or diabetes, particularly during middle age, is a prime candidate for hypertension long before the patient develops symptoms of it.

The C. M. A. reports that the judicious use of reducing diets, salt restriction, and if necessary one or more of the many prescription drugs available, can contribute a great deal to the patient's well-being. In many cases this type of treatment can delay or prevent the serious complications of high blood pressure that occur in such vital organs as the heart, kidneys and brain.

Meeting on Tourism in Louisdale Addressed By Director Evan Lloyd

A meeting sponsored by the Richmond County Community and Industrial Development Association was held at St. Louis Parish Hall, Louisdale on Wednesday Evening to discuss Tourist Topics.

Stan Ellis, President of the Association outlined the purpose of the meeting in regard to Tourist Development in the Richmond County area.

He expressed pleasure at having Mr. Lloyd, Director of the Cape Breton Tourist Association present as well as the many interested people from various parts of the County.

Mr. Ellis called on Mr. Lloyd to address the meeting and to answer questions pertaining to the Industry.

Mr. Lloyd thanked Mr. Ellis and expressed his pleasure at being invited to attend the meeting.

Before making further remarks, Mr. Lloyd presented a very interesting and informative film on churches of Nova Scotia, produced by the Nova Scotia Travel Bureau, and photographed by Mrs. Margaret Perry, of the Staff of the Nova Scotia Tourist Bureau. The film was in color and was another splendid effort of Mrs. Perry's many fine productions.

Mr. Lloyd, in his address, pointed out many ways to develop the tourist trade in every section of the County, and showed some of the promotions undertaken in communities in Cape Breton. Mr. Lloyd stressed that tourist promotion was a responsibility of every community and that the Cape Breton Tourist Association would cooperate in every way, through their facilities.

Present at the meeting were: Ernest Marchand, Arichat, of Marbro Motel and Restaurant, who took part in the discussion. Also present was Doug Shaw, who is presently having a new Motel built in Arichat.

Mrs. Daisy MacInnis of West Bay and Mr. and Mrs. Sargeant of Dundee, were present. Mr. Sargeant expressed his observations of the many beauty spots in Cape Breton, and made a splendid suggestion that photos of special scenic spots, be placed at the Tourist Bureau at the Causeway. He made special reference of the "Babin Hill Look Off" at the approach of Arichat Harbour.

Mrs. Margaret Ellis, made important observations and timely suggestions. She is the Chairman of the Tourist Committee of the Richmond County Community and Industrial Development Assn., and is much interested in Tourist development in the County.

Mr. Lloyd spoke of the many unsightly objects along the highway, and said some of these objects are in places where artists are unable to get a clear view of the scene. Mr. Lloyd stressed that these objects should be removed.

Cameron Boyd, retired Supt. of Highways, spoke on clam beds in the Framboise area and also on fishing.

Very Rev. A. P. Poirier, President of the Arichat-Isle Madame Board of Trade, gave a brief address and said that every effort should be made to develop the Industry in the County.

Douglas Forgeron, of Louisdale, spoke on the annual Boat Racing in Louisdale. Mr. Lloyd told Mr. Forgeron that he would assist in advertising their events, if notice was given in advance.

M. J. Bourinot of Arichat, spoke on promotion and stated that valuable information had been outlined by Mr. Lloyd, and that if communities followed along these lines, much could be done to bring tourists to our County.

He said that Tourists were greatly interested in the historic background of places they visit in the County and that every effort should be made in supplying reliable information to them.

Mr. Jack Hicks of St Peter's, a Guidance Counsellor, with the Department of Agriculture in Richmond County, spoke on organization and study on Tourism suited to every section of the County.

At the close of the meeting Mr. Ellis thanked Mr. Lloyd on behalf of the Richmond County Community and Industrial Development Association.

Holds Record For Growth

Municipal rivalry is a healthy state for any city to find itself in. This has happened in the west, for example, where since the end of World War two, Edmonton has maintained its lead over Calgary as Alberta's largest city. Edmonton also is one of the most progressive in the western provinces when it comes to redevelopment.

It is hard for those who have never travelled west of the Great Lakes to visualize what is happening in this foothill area. There is a tendency to associate Edmonton's citizenry with Indian tribes and Eskimos when, actually, the city numbers among its population some of the most sophsiticated people in the country.

It wasn't too long after Donald Gordon, then president of the Canadian National Railways, presented a plan to his board of directors for the rehabilitation of the company's real estate holdings in Montreal, that Edmonton seized the opportunity to almost completely rebuild the heart of its downtown area.

Down came dilapidated old buildings and up went the CN Tower which houses as well as offices, a modern new station. The Tower looms over the 'new' city hall and stands rather like a sentinel over the entire area of redevelopment. I have logged a good many miles on the several city blocks between the Macdonald Hotel and the CN tower on my visits in western Canada. During my stay I have watched this municipal metamorphosis taking place with keen interest.

City Hall and the area that has become known as Civic Centre is evidence that the nomenclature that is constantly being associated with Edmonton as a -swinging city' is not at all far fetched. With its wide streets, mid-city park area and cultural centres, its eager and imaginative town planners and civic management, the spirit of Edmonton is contagious.

I think I became thoroughly innoculated with its civic pride when I visited its Centennial Library, one of the buildings in the complex rising from the rubble of old structures.

Mood Magic

Often, when I have been researching a subject in a local library, the hush has been depressing. Not so in this magnificent monument to constant learning.

I will start with the decor, for I am a firm believer in harmonious surroundings contributing to a mood. Large upholstered chairs in mute green and beige surround study tables. On islands of thick carpeting there are more of these comfortable lounge chairs in turquoise and moss green tweedy material. Tropical plants grow profusely in the air conditioned atmosphere and ceiling fixtures beam soft light on reading areas. There are tall narrow windows where comfortable chairs provide privacy while looking out over City Hall Square.

There is a children's theatre in the lower region, a parkade and space on the two top floors for offices. These will eventually be occupied by various municipel departments. There is one of the finest filing systems for reference and for locating books. Five-tiered racks surrounding three walls held every magazine I could think of and many I had never heard about.

Particularly interesting were the pamphlets on every subject under the sun. Nearby is a section "For Teens" where a youngster had kicked off her shoes and, while reading, was luxuriously wiggling her toes in the deep pile of carpet that surrounded her. Two senior citizens were engrossed in choosing a "who-done-it" in the mystery fiction section, while nearby, several children with earphones were listening to records.

There is an extensive selection of Canadian films, newspapers from every city and town across the country, and better known dailies from all parts of the world. I couldn't then, or since, think of one thing that had been overlooked to make this a haven for either knowledge-thirsty citizens, or those just seeking leisure amusement through lighter reading, or the music library.

Your blood donation is a gift of life for someone.

The Hon. Allan J. MacEachen Minister of National Health and Welfare Endorses Canada's 24th. Annual National Health Week

"I am happy to personally endorse these plans. I believe that considerable progress is being made toward better health standards for all Canadians. The work of health units and departments of health in every province is becoming more effective. There is now appreciation in our communities of the theme "YOUR HEALTH IS YOUR RESPONSIBILITY".

"As an Honorary President of the Health League of Canada, I want to congratulate all members of this body on the contributions they are making toward improvment of our health standards. I have confidence that the many activities now under way will have long-reaching effects.

TIME LOST - HEALTH LOST - LIFE LOST

The intelligent and timely use of the results of medical research can cut cancer deaths, prevent some heart disease, reduce the incidence and severity of mental illness, lessen physical handicaps, save eyesight, wipe out tuberculosis, prevent polio and keep teeth from decaying. But too many people seem to have abdicated their responsibility for their personal health. One or two examples will suffice to point up the dangers of the present appalling apathy and indifference to their personal health.

Take cigarette smokers, for example. Although it has been reliably demonstrated that the death rate from cancer, emphsema, heart disease and chronic diabetes is higher among cigarette smokers than non-smokers, you still find the smokers complacently puffing and inhaling, obviously completely indifferent to the possible injury to their health.

The prompt medical treatment of streptococcal infections, which often start chain reactions leading to rheumatic fevers and rheumatic heart disease, could prevent recurring infections and ultimate damage to the heart.

Although techniques have been developed to detect possible cases of glaucoma painlessly in a matter of seconds and to detect diabetes from urine and blood specimens, these two diseases are responsible for 20% of all blindness because of the large number of untreated cases. Over 70% of this blindness could have been prevented by early detection and treatment.

And so it goes. The 24th Annual National Health Week, March 10 to 16, is sponsored by the Health League of Canada to proclaim to every Canadian - "YOUR HEALTH IS YOUR RESPONSIBILITY".

WHEN YOU HELP YOUR HEART FUND...

You speed development of surgery to correct defects of the heart and its vessels, and offer renewed hope for thousands of men, women and children. For more progress....

NOVA SCOTIA SUMMER SCHOOL

The 1968 session of the Nova Scotia Summer School for teachers, sponsored by the Department of Education and located on the Dalhousie University campus in Halifax, will be held from Tuesday, July 2, to Wednesday, Aug. 14.

The Summer School offers a wide variety of programs, course possibilities and special features designed either to qualify the teacher for specialist certification, for enrichment, or to meet license requirements.

Included are the four session block programs which are planned programs of specialized advanced study.

Also a four session training program is being conducted to qualify university graduates for teaching who have not previously had teacher education. New entrants may begin the program this year and the traning of those who began in previous years will be continued.

This year one to four session refresher programs are being provided in the field of elementary curriculum for teachers holding Teacher's License Class 4 and there is a parallel program of four sessions in elementary curriculum for those teaching on Permit Class 1.

In industrial arts a three-summer degree course is being offered in co-operation with the College of Education of the State University of New York. The special program for persons now teaching industrial arts on permit will be continued.

Among special features of the Summer School will be seminars, workshops and demonstrations in social studies, with accent on geography. There will also be lecture-demonstrations and displays in audio-visual media and techniques highlighting educational television, and regular and special reading programs and services, including Dartmouth's mobile reading instruction center.

The program is created and carefully planned to serve the interests and meet the needs of teachers by providing opportunity to study under outsanding lecturers.

The international teaching staff will include Nova Scotia, educators from other provinces, the United States, England and France to provide the teachers with a continuing opportunity to profit from a quality program.

Co-ordinator of the Nova Scotia Summer School is D. H. Collins, Department of Education, Halifax.

FISHERIES TRAINING SCHOOL IN NOVA SCOTIA

Fisheries training in Nova Scotia is moving into high gear with the new supervisor of fisheries training for the Province, Capt. Ralph Hemphill, expressing optimism with the response being received this winter to the Department of Fisheries program.

New arrangements with the federal Department of Manpower and Immigration which became operative last Fall have worked well according to Capt. Hemphill who also directs the Fisheries Training Centre at Pictou. In effect the arrangements call for persons wishing to take advantage of fisheries training programs to make application to an office of the Canada Manpower Centre where the candidate's eligibility is determined. Costs of the program are shared between the Department of Manpower and the Department of Fisheries.

Enrolment in classes at the Fisheries Training Centre in Pictou since last September has been almost double the capacity of the school's usual accommodation with the demand for outport courses in fishing communities around the province's coastline reaching a new high level.

The department has also had a favorable response to the operation of a nets and gear school in Lunenburg established in August 1966 under the direction of Capt. Martin Picco.

Courses offered at the Fisheries Training Centre include instruction in both gasoline and diesel engines, navigation and nets and gear, ranging in duration from six to eight weeks.

The course in diesel engines or marine engineering meets the requirements of the federal Department of Transport for the issuance of watchkeeping certificates applicable to motor driven fishing vessels.

Similarly the navigation course is oriented towards transport department requirements for chief officer's and mates certificates.

Late in February seven students were examined for their watchkeeper's certificates, 12 for their chief officer's certificate and two for their mate's certificate by the Department of Transport official and all were successful. These certificates also apply to fishing vessels. It marks the first time that such examinations have been held at the School.

Enrolment in all courses at the Pictou school numbered 54 in all courses ending in February and 60 applications have been approved for courses beginning March 4.

MRS. JULIA LANDRY

Mrs. Julia Landry, one of the oldest residents of North Isle Madame, passed away at the home of her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Bonin, with whom she resided for the past many years. She was in her 90th year.

For some years the late Mrs. Landry was Postmistress at D'Escousse, and on her retirement, this position was filled by her late son, J. B. Landry.

Her husband Capt. Felix Landry predeceased her many years ago.

Surviving are: Mrs. Raymond Bonin, (Florence), with whom she resided; Mrs. Ambrose Poirier, (Ethel) of D'Escousse; Mrs. Petitpas, (Carrie); Everett, of Halifax; Napoleon, of Stellarton, N. S.; Gustave of Boston, Mass.; and Clifford also of Boston. Mrs. Mary MacDonald of D'Escousse is a sister.

Due to interior renovations been made to St. Hyacinth's Church, D'Escousse, the funeral Mass was held at Notre Dame Church, Arichat, with Rev. James Monbourquette, Pastor of St. Hyacinth's Church, D'Escousse, as Celebranet at the Mass, assisted by Rev. John MacDonald of St. Joseph's Parish, Petit de Grat.

Interment was in the Parish Cemetery at D'Escousse.

The late Mrs. Landry was highly regarded and beloved by all members of her family and friends in D'Escousse and in Massachusetts, where she made her home for several years, before taking up residence in D'Escousse.

We extend our sympathy to her daughters and sons, also to her sister, Mrs. Mary MacDonald of D'Escousse.

DO YOU REMEMBER THE "NELLIE J. BANKS"?

Editor,
Richmond County Record:

I am wondering if any of your readers could help me complete the history of a two-masted schooner in which I am interested.

The "Nellie J. Banks" was built in Allendale in 1910 for Alfred Banks, a Halifax merchant. He sent this ship winter fishing out of Halifax 1910-11 and 1911-12 under Captains Blackburn and Hubley respectively. There are two men still alive from each of these two periods to whon I have spoken, but the remainder of the crews are dead.

From 1912-16 she was probably fishing from some base other than Halifax, as none of the four men remember having seen her around during this period. She may have been based anywhere along the Eastern seaboard.

She was bought by a Lockeport firm in 1916, and fished out of several ports. These include Lockeport, Canso, Shippegan and Halifax, Capt. Penny being her captain from 1916 to approximately 1922. In 1926 she was sold to two Prince Edward Islanders who used the vessel selling merchandise off the north shore until 1938.

From 1939 until she was destroyed in the early 1950's, she was renamed the "Leona G. Maguire" by her owner, Capt. John Maguire of Guysborough. During this time she fished from Sydney one period, and was based in Ingonish for a season.

I would be grateful to receive any information on the vessel, but I am especially interested in the years 1912-16 as I am unable to trace the boat at all for these years. I am also vague about her summer fishing in 1911. It is possible that some of her crew during these periods are still alive, as two from an earlier period have been traced.

Yours sincerely,

Dr. G. E. Robinson.

Montague, P. E. I.

It's a proven fact that a sufficient flow of liver bile will relieve irregularity. How does this work? Excess fat globules in the digestive tract often cause irregularity. The best way to break down these unwanted fat globules is with a sufficient flow of liver bile. And Carter's Little Liver Pills has proof . . . clinical proof that it improves liver bile flow by breaking down unwanted fat globules and unblocking the digestive tract. Air Canada has ordered three 368-passenger Boeing 747 jetliners (pictured above) costing $20 million each for delivery in 1971. These 600 mph aircraft offer a new dimension in air travel comfort and will be introduced on the company's transcontinental and trans-Atlantic routes in the summer of 1971. The main cabin area, extending forward to the nose of the aircraft, is 20 feet wide—seven feet wider than in present jets—allowing extra room for a lounge or private passenger area. There will also be an upper level behind the cockpit—connected to the main cabin area by a circular stairway—with space for a second lounge, business office, or private stateroom with bed.

Q. I have received most of the information slips for my income Tax but I am still waiting for one of them. Should I file my return without this slip?

A. No. Please wait until you have all your T4 slips and medical receipts before filing your return. A missing information slip may cause delays in processing as such returns will be sent to our district offices for additional information. If you have not received your T4 slips by early in March, you should ask your employer for them.

Q. I operate a farm in the summer, but to supplement my income I am gainfully employed in the winter. Must I pay Canada Pension Plan contributions on my farm income in addition to my contributions on employed earnings?

A. Yes, self-employed earnings are subject to Canada Pension Plan contributions but your Required Contribution will be reduced by the amount you and your employer have already contributed. To determine the amount of contributions complete the area "Canada Pension Plan Contribution on Self-Employed Earnings" on Page 1 of the T1 General form.

Q. In November, 1966, I had a minor operation. The cost of this were paid in December, but as they were my only medical expenses for the year and they were less than 3% of my income, I could not claim them on last year's return. However, in the spring of 1967 I had more medical expenses. Can I claim the expenses I paid in 1966 on my 1967 tax return?

A. You can claim medical expenses paid in any 12-month period ending in 1967 if they have not already been allowed on your 1966 return. In your case, you could claim all medical expenses paid from December 1, 1966, to November 30, 1967 on your 1967 return. This 12-month period can vary used in one year may overlap the from year to year, and the period period used the year before.

Q. What is required by way of a medical receipt?

A. An acceptable receipt for medical expenses should contain at least the following information: The name and occupation of the person to whom the payment was made; the reason for the payment; the date of billing; the date of payment and the name of the person on whose behalf the medical expenses were incurred.

Q. My mother, who is 70, is living with us. She receives the Old Age Pension and Supplement for a total income of $1,260.00. May I claim her as a dependent?

A. No. The Old Age Pension and Supplement give her an income of over $950 and you may not claim her as a dependent.

Q. Who is eligible to average his income for tax purposes in 1967?

A. Three requirements must be met:

1. The chief source of income for the period of averaging must have been from farming and/or fishing and no averaging could have been made in the previous five years.
2. A tax return must have been filed on time for each of the five years used in the averaging period. Exceptions to this are returns for non-taxable years in the averaging period, which must be filed by April 30, 1968.
3. Form T2011 "Election to Average Income" must be filed on or before April 30, 1968.

4-H MEMBERSHIP INCREASES

4-H Club enrolment in Canada increased by 3,614 members in 1967, a rise of 5.2% over 1966. "The growth in membership can be attributed to many factors, one of the most significant being that 4-H programs are keyed to the needs and interests of youth. The Centennial Year increase is particularly noteworthy in light of the continuing decline in Canada's rural population", said James D. Moore, 4-H Council manager, in releasing the figures from Ottawa recently.

The total membership in the ten provinces was 72,517 including 43,382 girls and 29,135 boys. They were enrolled in 5,622 clubs which also increased by a figure of 88 over 1966. The average age of the members was 13.4 years withmany enrolled in more than one project. Projects undertaken by the members totalled 88,859.

In addition, 16,535 local people interested in youth and education participated as volunteer club leaders. Of this group 14,412 were adults and 2,123 were senior 4-H members serving as junior leaders.

Throughout Centennial Year, members of 4-H were engaged in a wide range of meaninful and far reaching activities. Increased travel and the Centennial 4-H Seminar were but two examples of programs which aroused fresh enthusiasm in 4-H and opened new doors of opportunity for club members.
