SUGAR AND SPICE
by Bill Smiley

Smiley At The Movies

Took about 300 of our senior students to the movies first thing Monday morning. They looked forward to the outing, a change from the classroom. It was quite an experience.

There were about 500 normal, noisy teen-agers in the theatre, altogether. Normally this is asking for bedlam. Modern kids, conditioned by television, are equally inclined to laugh jarringly, mockingly, at scenes of horror and scenes of poignancy. Brutality and violence are their daily bread.

But after the reels began spinning on Monday morning, there weren't any laughs. When the lights went up, there was none of the usual horse-play. There were 500 shaken, subdued and in some cases stunned teen-agers.

The film was "The War Game," a short British movie. It depicts, in a matter-of-fact documentary style, what would happen if a nuclear exchange broke out.

No excruciating detail is spared. Blatantly anti-war, it is a bitter satire on our society and man's stupidity. The film is crude, the message blunt, and the effect harrowing. The BBC banned it as too shocking to be shown to the public on television.

It's all there: the public ignorance; the government apathy; the triggering incident; the profiteer who sells sandbags at an exorbitant rate; the man with two bomb-shelters and a shot-gun to keep others out; the little boy whose eyeballs turn to jelly when he sees the flash; the ordinary family crouched, like terrified animals, under the kitchen table; the fire-storm that destroys everything in its path;- the- grotesque- burned faces; the people shocked into idiocy; the break-down of law and order.

Carefully juxtaposed with pictures of children whimpering with pain and shock are the calm, pompous statements of bishops who say we must learn to live with the bomb, and a jovial nuclear scientist who explains how many millions will be killed.

What's the purpose, you may ask, of subjecting well-fed, bourgeois teen-agers to such an experience. Well, it's rather like shock treatment. It makes them wake up, examine their values, think about the world and the part they must play in it, rather than what they'll wear to the dance Friday night.

We talked about it later. They thought it shouldn't be seen by children, but that everyone else in the world, on both sides of the fence, should see it.

They tried to explain why there is comparative silence these days about the Bomb and fall-out, compared with the obsession with it, and the wave of shelter-building, that occurred a decade ago.

We discussed the moral inplications of shooting people who wanted to share your shelter. Of the police in the film shooting victims of burns who had only a few hours to live, and those hours in extreme agony. Of what they, themselves, could do about it all.

Some of them were shaken out of their cosy, conformist little sox. Others were overwhelmed by a feeling of futility. And some were filled with fury at the idiocy of their elders, who had allowed this to happen. And others were just plain scared and wanted to know what preparations we were taking for such an eventuality. And a few believed that man could prevail and overcome the evil.

We ranged from Vietnam to hippies and escapism, from morality to the instinct for survival, from whether they would rather be Red than dead to what they would do if the Yanks decided they must take over Canada, for their own military safety (Most of the boys would fight, take to the hills).

I think it was good for them. The world of the future is theirs and they can't go on blaming us forever. See the film yourself, if you can. But take a paper bag if you have a weak stomach.

SPORT FISHERMEN SEASON OPENS EARLY

Sport fishermen in Nova Scotia will be able to cast their lines two weeks earlier this year for trout throughout Nova Scotia and also for salmon in the province's western counties.

The federal department of Fisheries reminds anglers that the season for trout opens April 1, instead of the previous date of April 15, and also for salmon in the counties of Annapolis, Digby, Yarmouth, Shelburne and Queens.

With the trout season, however, there are exceptions. These exceptions are certain lakes termed "scheduled lakes" which are stocked with Rainbow Trout. These include Giant Lake, Guysborough County; Sunken Lake, Kings County; Rumsey Lake, Annapolis County; Levers Lake, Cape Breton County and Clear Water or Bright Lake, Digby County. The season for these lakes opens May 15.

The salmon season in the remaining Nova Scotia counties opens in Kings, Lunenburg, Halifax and Guysborough, excepting the rivers running in Chedabucto Bay, on May 1 and in Antigonish, Pictou, Colchester, Cumberland, Hants, the rivers in Guysborough running in Chedabucto Bay and all waters of Cape Breton on June 15.

MASS OFFERED IN HOME

SAMSON'S COVE — The Holy Sacrifice of the Mass was offered for the first time in a home, in the Parish of St. Joseph's, Petit de Grat, at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Samson, Samson's Cove, on Friday night, March 8, 1968.

The celebration being the blessing of 6 homes in the Samson's Cove area of the Parish.

Rev. Daniel Doucet, Assistant at St. Joseph's blessed the homes of Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred G. Samson; Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Kehoe; Mr. and Mrs. Edgar F. Samson; Mr. and Mrs. Wilson Pierce and Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Samson.

Rev. J. J. MacDonald, Parish Priest, celebrated the Holy sacrifice of the Mass for the intention of all these families. Rev. Daniel Doucet, read the Epistle and Gospel and delivered a short sermon on the purpose of the celebration.

After the Mass coffee and cake was served.

Liquid Gold

I happened to mention to Earl Talbot, tourist promotional officer for the south shore of Nova Scotia, as we drove the Lighthouse Trail last summer, that I had heard honey was good for the heart.

This conversation was apropos of the recipes contained in a fascinating little booklet he had just given me. It's title "Old Settlers' Remedies" illustrates the fun Marion Robertson must have had in researching the various recipes.

She compiled the recipes for these amazing concoctions for the Cape Sable Historical Society, Barrington, Nova Scotia. I spent an amusing hour learning, among other things, that "An excellent water to prevent hair from falling off, and to thicken it", read this way. . . 'put four pounds of honey into a still, with twelve handfuls of the tendrils of vines, and the same quantity of rosemary tops. Distil as cool and as slowly as possible. The liquor may be allowed to drop until it begins to taste sour'.

The latter indicates you drink But it didn't warn that you should lie down first. Maybe your hair won't fall off, but you might just keel over if you took the advice seriously.

For a cold, one old wives' remedy recommended. . . . 'Drink a pint of water lying down in bed. Or, a spoonful of treacle in half a pint of water. Or, to one spoonful of oatmeal and one spoonful of honey, add a piece of butter, the bigness of a nutmeg; pour on gradually near a pint of boiling water; drink lying down in bed.'

It didn't warn about choking, or being scalded to death.

Many of the recipes contained honey which reminded me of the importance of this industry in most of our provinces. I went through my files and found that in Manitoba, the bee is worth its weight in gold. In Winnipeg, I learned, there is the largest and most modern honey processing plant in Canada. This is the Manitoba Co-operative Honey Producers Ltd., whose supplies come mainly from Co-op members, but there are also independents who keep large colonies of bees.

The biggest year for honey in Manitoba was in 1966 when seven and a half million pounds was produced. This had a high demand in the export market as well as among Manitobians.

Beekeeping in Saskatchewan

The honeybee is not a native of this continent but was introduced in the seventeenth century by Dutch settlers arriving at New Amsterdam, now New York. Soon after arrival, absconding swarms established themselves in the forests. Honeybees have been termed the heralds of American civilization since bees were always in advance of the inland and westward movement of the first white settlers.

The migration of honeybees into Saskatchewan coincides with the coming of the first settlers from eastern Canada and the United States. Some of these pioneers brought their bees with them in order to have honey for home use. The first records of honeybees in the province date back to 1900.

By 1922, there were about eighty-five beekeepers in Saskatchewan who produced 24,000 pounds of honey. Most of these beekeepers were located in the older districts of the southern and eastern parts of the province. Interest in producing honey was roused about this time by a growing demand resulting in more attractive prices for the honey. This was caused in part by shortages and high prices of sugar which occurred during and immediately after World War 1.

I wrote not too long ago, about the hives I was so surprised to see all over the Peace River country. This honey, I found, had the flavour of pine, a distinct difference from clover, or fruit flower flavors, more familiar in central Canada, B. C., and the Maritimes.

As a family we once considered joining the fraternity of bee-keepers by installing hives in the orchard of our ten acres. Perhaps we were afraid of being stung in more ways than one, for the closest we ever got to this endeavor was by acquiring numerous great heavy tomes on beekeeping, and reams of pamphlets on the subject from the department of agriculture.

NATIONAL WILD LIFE WEEK APRIL 7 - 13 INCLUSIVE

History was made in the Canadian House of Commons and Senate on Friday, April 18, 1947, when they unanimously passed an act, the first act to be passed unanimously since Confederation, which created a National Wild Life Week for all Canada.

The week is to always fall on the week of April 10th, which was the birthday of the late Jack Miner, who was referred to in 1906 in an editorial in the Minneapolis Journal as "the father of The Wild Life Conservation Movement on the Continent." This is Jack Miner's national memorial and perpetual monument. Being the 10th of April it is such an appropriate time of the year when wild life is returning to Canada to nest.

It is much different than any other special week because it is not a week to dust off some dusty merchandise to sell, but it is a week when no one is asked to buy or sell anything, but the public is on the receiving end and future generations will benefit by the forethought of this generation by conserving today for the children of to-morrow.

All outdoor clubs such as bird watchers, naturalists and sportsmen's clubs, and especially the National and Provincial Sportsmen's Federations, as well as service clubs, have entered into the spirit of helping promote same in their respective localities with a program designed to benefit their respective areas. All churches and synogogues have been asked to observe same in their respective places of worship and preach on God's great outdoors.

The newspapers, radio and television studios are all featuring the purpose of the week with the Canadian Broadcasting Co., CBC, featuring a special broadcast on the CBC radio station, between 9 and 10 p.m. on the national radio program known as "Country Magazine," April 8th.

ST. JOSEPH'S CREDIT UNION FEBRUARY REPORT

Dear Mr. Editor:—Allow me to report for the month of February, the activities of our St. Joseph's Credit Union, here in Petit de Grat. As far as days go it was a short month, but we packed a lot into it. First our Credit Union Annual Meeting and this was as the newsletter pointed out—a h-o-o-o-wling success. Well over a 150 members were in attendance and Rev. Father Rogers gave a splendid address on "The Credit Union Christian Charity in Action." This timely talk brought to light the responsibilities of Credit Union members and to those intending to join the ranks of Credit Unions in their respective communities. Indeed when members join together to help their neighbor and themselves, this is in keeping with the true spirit of Christian love and charity. Don't bury your dollars, deposit them in your Credit Union and put them to work to help yourself and your fellow members. We are sure that all who attended the Annual Meeting went home satisfied that our Credit Union is making real progress and better still, we are all part of this progress and will share in the profits. Carl says the secret of success is how well we keep the monies moving .....IN for service to our investors .....OUT to service dollar needs of our borrowers.. Last month the Share increase (Savings Growth) has continued to the sum of $6,337.82. We are told this is far ahead of February in the past year.

Here is another bit of news Carl has reported from the Loan File, where over $19,000.00 was received on borrowings and over $20,000.00 was paid out to new loan applicants.

The YEAR-END RETURNS of our Credit Union Shows where we paid back to members over $9,000.00 in Dividends and nearly $3,000 in interest rebate.

The report shows where our Credit Union gave back to its members over $11,000.00 from its 1967 earnings!

Four Good Points to remember! Here's How It Happens:

(1) When you put money in the Credit Union—each dollar means your net worth is greater than yesterday. You are nearer to a comfortable retirement or to buying whatever you need.

(2) At the same time—You get Life Insurance based on the amounts you save. There's no extra for this insurance, although it's worth a lot to you.

(3) Your Money is loaned to other members who need to consolidate debts, buy appliances, fix cars, and meet personal expenses.

(4) You get bigger returns on your savings in the Credit Union. Your working dollars earn more because the Credit Union is non-profit.

Thanking you Mr. Editor and we will be along with another report for March.

TOBACCO IN NOVA SCOTIA

Sure! Many farmers in Nova Scotia should look into the possibility of growing "Green Gold" on their farms. All the facts on all areas are not yet known, but with research going on from the Valley to Cariboo Island, and many points in between, it is a distinct probability that Nova Scotia's Maritime leadership in tobacco growing could challenge some of the older areas.

Keith Lelacheur and Andy Humphreys, reporting on similar soils in P. E. I., felt Nova Scotia's postrains grown in the Island as yielding from $805.81 to $1,303,82 per acre - and these are averages over five years.

The "book" hasn't been written on Nova Scotian tobacco yet, but progressive farmers who get in from the start are going to write some of the "chapters" in very blue ink.

NOVA SCOTIA FEDERATION OF HOME & SCHOOL ASSOCIATIONS

Experience has convinced me that a teacher's work in community organizations gives a valuable insight to home problems that so directly affect the productivity of the child in the classroom" says Mrs. Christina C. MacDonald, a teacher of the trainable retarded in St. Agnes school, New Waterford, and this year's winner of the Dora M. Baker Memorial Scholarship Award.

Mrs. MacDonald will use the $300 award, presented by the Nova Scotia Federation of Home and School Associations for travel and study at schools for the trainable retarded in other parts of Canada, and in the United States.

The Award is presented at the June Convention of the Federation to a teacher, who in addition to classroom skills and interest shows a special concern for the pupil-parent-teacher relationship.

In commenting on this aspect of the teaching of the trainable retarded, Mrs. MacDonald says, "I find it so distressing that the affects of the problem in the home, especially on the siblings is not stressed to the parents and that some framework of limitations is not established so that parents do not pressure the teacher of the trainable retarded to attempt academic instruction".

PETIT DE GRAT—"A Day of Recollection", was sponsored by the St. Joseph's Parish Council, C.W.L., on Sunday, March 17th at the Petit de Grat Parish Hall.

Forty-five members and guests of the C.W.L., attended the program which was under the direction of Rev. Stanley MacDonald, from the office of religious education, Sydney. Father spoke at length about the love that God has for all mankind; he stressed that we should have great confidence in the love of God and that we should never for a moment doubt that love.

The session broke up in discussion groups after which followed a question period directed to Father Stanley MacDonald. Holy Mass was then celebrated by Father MacDonald, assisted by Rev. Daniel Doucet. Rev. J. J. MacDonald directed the singing of hymns. After Mass, a delicious supper was served by a few Y.C.S. members of the parish.

The President of the St. Joseph's C.W.L., Mrs. George Boudreau, thanked the girls for the lovely supper. She also thanked Rev. Stanley MacDonald, for having taken time off from his busy schedule to be with the members on this occasion. Mrs. Boudreau presented Father MacDonald, with a gift in token of the appreciation from the League.

Draggers In Port

The mild weather of the past two weeks, afforded draggers of the Booth fleet at Petit de Grat an opportunity to bring in some good catches.

The early part of the winter caused a freeze-up of Petit de Grat harbour, but did not hinder the large draggers from entering the harbour to land their catches. It is suite surprising how these powerful ships manage to break through heavy ice with little difficulty.

The processing plant at Petit de Grat has operated without little interruption during the winter.

MINISTER SUPPORTS TEACHERS' RESOLUTION

The resolution regarding smoking in schools which was passed at a conference on health problems held by Ontario Teachers at Geneva Park on March 10 is of great interest to my Department, the Honourable Allan J. MacEachen, Minister of National Health and Welfare, said in a statement during the week. The resolution will ask the Ontario Teachers' Federation to endorse a recommendation that teachers consider not smoking on school property because it sets a bad example.

Mr. MacEachen went on to say "This resolution is worthy of serious consideration by teachers in other provinces too. In the face of the current knowledge of the serious health hazards of cigarette smoking the Department's Smoking and Health Program encourages such persons as parents, teachers and health workers to set an ex ample by not smoking. It is encouraging to know that teachers in Ontario have decided through their own actions to discourage smoking by their students."

CBC RADIO SERIES SPINS STORIES OF THE SEA

Stories of piracy, great storms, sunken treasurer troves and tales of legends and superstitions of the sea are all included in CBC radio's 13-week series Sea Drift.

Originally broadcast as a CBC Halifax centennial series last year, Sea Drift now returns to the Maritime radio network on a weekly basis starting Sunday April 7 at 9:05 a.m. (AST)

Produced by Ira Stewart and written by Gavin Douglas, Sea Drift utilizes a documentary approach coupled with narration, dramatized camoes and music.

Music prepared for the series was arranged and composed by Kenneth Elloway.

Sea Drift will be presented in 13 consecutive episodes with each program a complete story. The first broadcast "Some Thousands They Will Flock When We Die" features a profile on piracy from its early beginning to the end of the sail era. Other programs will include items on deep sea diving, ocean trade, whaling and a three part segment on warfare at sea.

"Stories of the sea and men who sail have always fascinated me," writer/narrator Douglas explains," and perhaps one of the greatest advantages of writing this series here is that the Maritimes is one of the world's greatest seafaring areas, with a long sea memory and a living tradition."

Health Hints from THE CANADIAN MEDICAL ASSOCIATION

STOMACH ULCER

The stomach is the subject of more complaints than any other part of the body. It is understandable that there is a great deal of confusion and speculation about the symptoms and causes of stomach ulcers.

Stress, worry, fatigue, poor eating habits and the other known causes are certainly contributing factors in the development of an ulcer. The Canadian Medical Association says, the key, factor, however, is usually an excessive amount of hydrochloric acid in the stomach. This produces the symptom of pain, heartburn, nausea and vomiting. Many people experience these symptoms without the dangers of hemorrhage and perforation.

A NURSE IN EVERY HOME

Who needs it?
Home Nursing training, that is.

What with all the medical health programs planned or already in existence, there hardly seems to be any point in learning to treat illness in the home. Might as well check into the hospital at the first sign of a sniffle, ache or pain (after all, it's practically free, isn't it?).

This sounds logical until one realizes that these new services are the very things that are going to stretch already overtaxed hospital facilities to near the breaking point. And whether the services are free or not won't matter very much if you can't get into a hospital because there's already a waiting list as long as a $50 roll of surgical gauze.

The recent report of the Royal Commission on Health Services has predicted a need for ever-increasing numbers of trained personnel in the health field. The Commission emphasized that individuals and families will have to assume the responsibility of caring for themselves in all but cases of serious illness.

In addition, Emergency Health Services has stated that in case of disaster, one person in every home, proficient in Home Nursing, is an absolute necessity.

It is with these very real needs in mind, that St. John Ambulance has recently stepped up its Home Nursing program. Last year over 6,000 Canadians took this training.

Miss Margaret M. Hunter Reg. N., Chief Nursing Officer for St. John Ambulance, says the Association is more concerned about patient care in the home today than ever before.

"Although new hospitals are being built," she says, "there are still not enough to meet the needs of our population. Therefore, it is most important that we conserve hospital beds for those who need them most, the acutely ill."

Miss Hunter says she hopes the new "Patient Care in the Home" manuel published by St. John will stimulate increased interest in home nursing in Canada.

An easy-to-read, information-packed supplement to the Association's Home Nursing courses, it tells the homemaker how to do everything from preparing an ice pack to coping with emergency childbirth.

It is filled with simple procedures that make caring for an invalid at home easier for both the patient and the homemaker.

For example, did you know that pills for small children should be crushed between two spoons? - that beds in the home cause discomfort to both patient and homemaker because they're too low and that raising the bed just a few inches with wooden blocks or tin cans filled with sand will make a big difference in convenience and comfort? - that a simple, cardboard cradle made from a box with two sides removed will protect the patient from bedding which can weigh very heavily on the feet after a few days?

The manuel is available to the general public through local St. John branches, but Miss Hunter emphasis that it is meant to supplement, not supplant the Home Nursing course.

A St. John Home Nursing course takes two hours a week for eight weeks. It helps a mother protect herself and her family against accidents; teaches her to recognize early signs of illness; shows how to prevent the spread of infection, and teaches her simple nursing skills.

Miss Hunter points out that there are "very good personal reasons why young mothers and homemakers should have a knowledge of home nursing skills". She adds, "Many patients, particularly children and older people, seem to respond more readily to care in their own beds".

For recuperating from illness, after all, there's no place like home.

having an ulcer. The excess of hydrochloric acid in the stomach may only be producing inflammation.

An ulcer is a small hole in the lining of the stomach, or more often in the lining of the duodenum, which is that portion of the small intestine that follows directly after the stomach.

The C. M. A. advises that when the symptoms persist the person should see a doctor for an examination and advice regarding further tests and x-rays. The doctor will give advice regarding proper diet and drugs for treatment. Ulcers should not be neglected, even if the discomfort is small, because of

Q. Can one return be used for both husband and wife?
A. No. not in this country. A separate return must be completed for everyone who is required to file.
Q. What is the most common type of improperly completed return?
A. Those that do not provide all the information required by the form. Over 10% of returns filed lack necessary information, mainly concerning personal exemptions claimed. Failure to attach T4 slip is very common. Omissions rather than actual errors are our greatest problem.
Q. My employment in 1967 was such that I earned a portion of my income in the form of tips and gratuities. I understand that I may pay additional Canada Pension Plan contributions on this income so that I may qualify for full pension benefits. Is this correct and if so, how may I make the additional payment?
A. Yes, you may elect to pay 3.6% on this income provided you have not already made the maximum contribution of $79.20 on your other wages. To make such an election you must file on a T1 General form and complete the "Canada Pension Plan Contribution on Self-Employed Earnings" area on page 1 of the T1 General.
Q. I belong to a labour union and pay $200 in union dues each year. Can I claim these as a deduction as well as the standard deduction of $100?
A. Yes, there is nothing to prevent you from claiming the $200 you paid in union dues and the standard deduction of $100 as well. You should have received a receipt for the allowable part of the union dues and this should be attached to your return.
Q. Is it true that I may give to my son, who is farming with me, farm property to the value of $10,000 without attracting Gift Tax?
A. This is true in certain circumstances. There are many points to be considered in this regard and it may be wise to seek professional advice or submit the details to your Taxation Office.
Q. I have an adopted son, aged 3. Can I claim him as a dependant?
A. Yes. Generally speaking, you can claim any child under 21 as a dependant provided that he is dependant on you for support, you actually support him, no one else claims him as a dependant and he does not have an income of over $950. A child over 21 may also be claimed as a dependant if the same facts exist and he is attending school or university or he is physically or mentally infirm.
