R. Thomson, Clerk-Treas. Honored on Departure

On Friday evening the Warden, Members of Council, together with Municipal School Board Officials and Office Staff, met at the Canadian Legion Hall, Arichat, where a testimonial dinner was held in honor of Mr. Roy Thomson, Municipal Clerk-Treasurer, who will be leaving shortly to take up duties as Town Clerk of Trenton, N. S. Mrs. Thomson was also present.

Warden Walter Fougere, in an opening address expressed his regret and that of Council, at the departure of Mr. Thomson, who had given the Municipality such splendid service during the past two years. Warden Fougere extended best wishes to both, Mr. and Mrs. Thomson, on behalf of the Council and Municipality.

Warden Fougere called on former Deputy Warden J. H. LeBrun, to act as Master of Ceremonies.

Mr. LeBrun, in his opening remarks, spoke of his friendly relations with Mr. Thomson during his stay here as Municipal Clerk. Mr. LeBrun said, "Richmond County's loss is Trenton's gain."

Mr. LeBrun called on former Warden Byron S. Langley, who spoke highly of Mr. Thomson, as Municipal Clerk and Treasurer, and that the County made noted advancement during Mr. Thomson's stay here.

Mr. Langley felt Richmond County was fortunate having the service of Mr. Thomson and that the Municipality was the envy of other Municipalities in the Province.

Mr. Langley predicted a bright future for Mr. Thomson and in closing wished him every success and happiness.

Deputy Warden John Cameron, in making the presentation to Mr. Thomson said it was his great pleasure in extending his appreciation and that of the Municipality for the great service he had given the County of Richmond, since coming to the County to take on the duties of Clerk-Treasurer, a position he filled to the satisfaction of Council and the ratepayers of Richmond County.

Joe Mury, of the Staff of the Municipal School Board, read a very nice address on behalf of the Board, expressing appreciation of Mr. Thomson's work as Clerk and Treasurer.

Mr. Mury also expressed his regrets and that of other residents of West Arichat, at the departure of Mr. and Mrs. Thomson and family, who have made their home in that community during their stay here. Mr. Mury spoke highly of the Thomson's, as good neighbors and citizens.

Mrs. Fred Digout, wife of the Municipal Building Inspector, presented Mrs. Thomson with a bouquet of red roses, on behalf of the Municipality. Mrs. Thomson very graciously thanked everyone for their kindness.

Mr. Thomson, in his usual pleasing manner, thanked Councillors, past and present, and spoke of the fine co-operation of the Warden and Councillors. He gave special thanks to former Warden Langley and former Deputy Warden LeBrun, for their assistance during their term of office, and said their help was most appreciated.

He also thanked Warden Fougere and the new Council, and felt Richmond County was blessed with good men to guide the destinies of the County.

Mr. Thomson spoke of the new school building program and Industrial Development in the County which will have the attention of Council, for some time.

Mr. Thomson said it was difficult to express his feelings, on behalf of his wife and himself, for the nice gifts presented to them on this occasion. The kindness extended to them will always be kindly remembered and appreciated.

Mr. Thomson spoke highly of the Municipal School Board, Mrs. Ethel Boudreau, Secretary, and her Staff, also of Mr. Michael MacNeil, Superintendent of Schools in the County. He also thanked Norman Bartholomew, Welfare Officer.

He also spoke of the splendid co-operation of County Solicitor, Thomas Williams, Q. C., for his help in solving many problems, and that he was always available when needed.

In closing, Mr. Thomson extended his best wishes to Mr. Kenneth Meech, the newly appointed Clerk-Treasurer.

He wished the Warden and Councillors continued success and said he would continue to maintain contact with his many friends in the County.

The delicious dinner was catered to by the Ladies Auxiliary of the Canadian Legion.

Mr. Michael MacNeil asked the blessing.

Wives of the Councillors and Office Staff were in attendance.

A very enjoyable evening was spent by everyone.

WEDDING

DOREY — LEBLANC

A quiet, but pretty wedding took place in the Immaculate Conception Church on Saturday, April 27, when Shirley Ann, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Dorey, became the bride of Gerald, son of Mr. and Mrs. Amedee LeBlanc, of Arichat. Cape Breton.

The bride entered the church on the arm of her father, by whom she was given in marriage. The bride wore a white floor-length gown of nylon net over satin with lace appliques. The full skirt ended in a slight train and her short veil was held in place by a wedding ring headdress. She carried a bouquet of red and white roses intermingled with lily of the valley and fern. She wore long silk gloves and satin slippers.

Mrs. James LeBlanc was matron of honor. She wore a long yellow nylon A-line sheer dress over satin, the bodice was appliqued with beautiful lace motifs. Her short veil of illusion was held in place with yellow carnations. She carried a bouquet of white and yellow carnations and fern. She wore yellow gloves and yellow slippers to match. George Mury supported the groom.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the K. O. C. Hall at West Arichat. The hall was beautifully decorated for the occasion. A three-tier wedding cake centered the bride's table flanked on either side by bouquets of mixed flowers.

Rev. Father A. Doucet proposed the toast to the bride, which was responded to by the groom. The wedding party motored to parts of the province later returning to the hall, where a large number greeted the newlyweds.

Later music and dancing was enjoyed. They will reside at the groom's home. We join with their many friends in wishing them a long and happy wedded life.

Retired R.C.M.P. Commissioner Dies

Anthony MacKinnon, 66, of 27 Beech Street, Sydney Mines, retired Royal Canadian Mounted Police assistant commissioner for Nova Scotia, died Wednesday at his home. Born in Glace Bay, he was the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. H. P. MacKinnon.

We were personally acquainted with the late Anthony MacKinnon, and served under him in the Preventive Service, as an Officer in the Canadian Customs and Excise, at which time Mr. MacKinnon was an Assistant to the late Angus Young, Chief of the Services in Cape Breton.

In 1931 when the Preventive Service was taken over by the RCMP, Mr. MacKinnon spent some time in the force in Nova Scotia, and was later appointed Inspector and Officer Commanding of the R.C.M.P. Newfoundland Division. After service in Newfoundland, he was transferred to Ottawa, and on two occasions was appointed in charge of Security to Her Majesty the Queen, while on tours of Canada. He was highly commended by both the Canadian and British Governments.

His long service and notable record was recognized by the RCMP, and he was promoted to Assistant Commissioner for the Province of Nova Scotia and posted to Halifax, where he served for many years up to the time of his retirement.

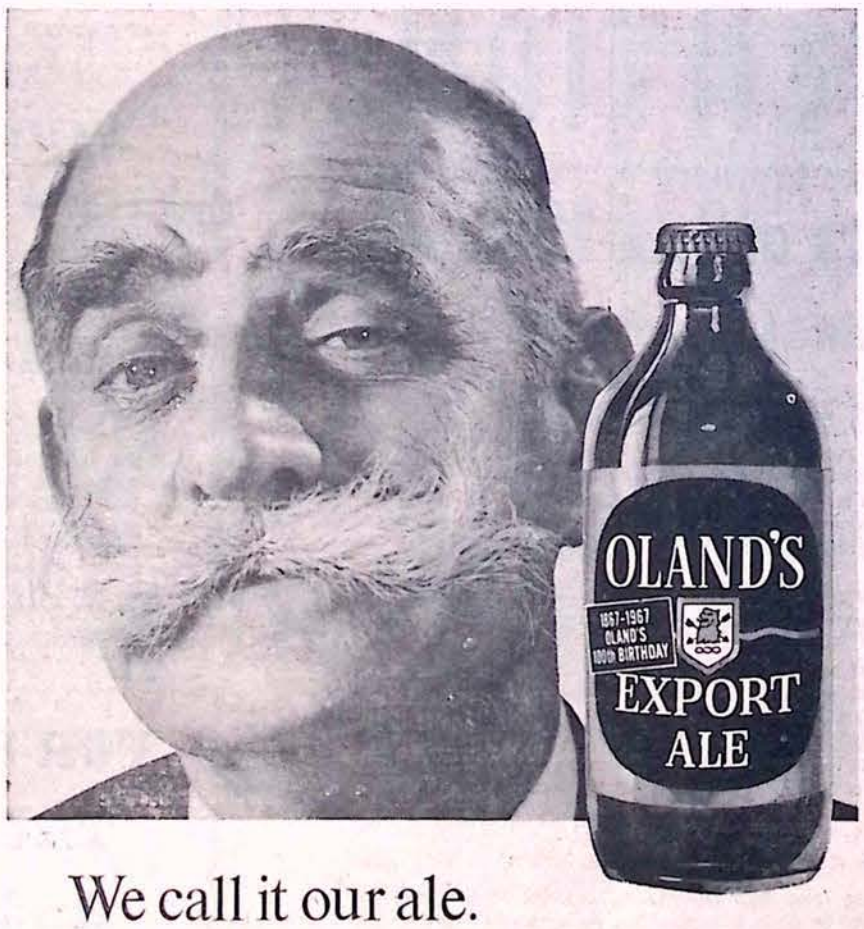

After retirement, Mr. and Mrs. MacKinnon took up residence in Sydney Mines, from where he began his career in the Customs Service, and it is only those who served along this Cape Breton Coast, could appreciate the experience encountered with smugglers in the days better known as "Rum running."

The late Tony MacKinnon will be remembered by many and it can be said his fearless efforts and dedicated service won for him the highest respect of the Customs Department and officers of the Preventive Service.

We were happy to have served under him as he left us with an inspiration that has never been forgotten and cherished memories of our late friend shall always be kept alive.

Surviving are his wife, the former Dorothy Vaughan, two brothers, Mr. Justice A. H. MacKinnon of the Nova Scotia Supreme Court; and Francis, in Newfoundland.

We extend our sincere sympathy to Mrs. MacKinnon and to the brothers of the deceased, in their bereavement.

We call it our ale.
Our brewmaster calls it his ale.

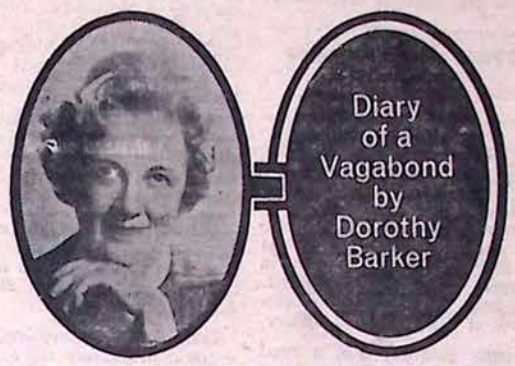

Our brewmaster certainly has all the say about what goes into our (his) Export Ale. And how it comes out.

He selects the malted barley. He blends the hops. He sets the standard for aging, which is why his (our) Export Ale ages for weeks, and not a day less.

That's why Oland's 'Ex' looks and pours and tastes the way it does. And satisfies the way it does.

His ale? Our ale? Let's just say it's your ale.

A Vanishing Breed

In this age of supermarkets it is an exciting experience to find in one's travels a genuine farmers' market. They are almost as scarce as hen's teeth and are usually found in older established communities. There is the old St. Lawrence Market in Toronto and another in Kitchener, Ontario, which is almost as famous south of the border as it is within several hundred miles of its own area.

The one I am to write of is older than a century. It runs between two city blocks in the heart of Saint John ,New Brunswick, and though it was burned to the ground in 1842 and rebuilt in 1876, it survived the disastrous fire that almost wiped out the city in 1877.

Unlike the old fashioned farmers' markets with their out of doors stalls, the Saint John City Market is entirely under cover. There are tenants there who have been offering their wares from the same location for more than a hundred years, generation after generation. Perhaps designating it as a farmers' market limits the imagination to vegetables, fowl, homebaking and dairy products. Though much of the produce comes from farms, in its entirity it is as enlightening as a visit to a museum, a fisherman's wharf, a nursery and a political gathering all rolled into one.

I had just entered and was running my hand wrist-deep in a basket of rock cranberries, ruby red and as tiny as blueberries, when J. H. "Joe" Wall asked me if I would like to see his Centennial project. Joe has had his stall since 1945, which he bought from the O'Neill Bros., whose tenancy dated back more than 70 years. The "project", displayed among the produce, was a priceless collection of pictures of river boats that once floated on the commercially travelled Saint John River. Rather grotesquely among them was one of Canada's first warships, the "Niobe."

His next project will be collecting pictures of windjammers and famous boats that carried cargoes between the ports of Saint John and Boston, old side-paddlers and stern wheelers. This interest has resulted in trading pictures with Cecil Beesley and the formation of the Marine Historical Society of Saint John.

While we talked of the knowledge and leadership Captain H. R. Conley, retired sea captain, is lending the project, I chewed on a wad of dulse and tried to appear as though I was enjoying its musty, salty flavor.

Acel Chapman is hale and hearty at 94 and his greengrocer stall is a friendly meeting place for customers who have traded with him for more years than he can recount

Then there's Frank Parks. He not only has his own stall, but sells his farm produce to other tenants in the building. Most interesting result of my visit with him was to learn that weather is forecast using a sauerkraut barrel as a barometer. If it is dry, fine weather will be enjoyed, if wet, a storm will brew within 24 hours. He didn't explain where the fluid goes when the weather turns fine once more. As far as I could determine, it's all in the barrel, fair or stormy, probably sinking to the bottom only to rise again when rain is in the offing.

Fresh and Plastic

Mrs. J. W. Peacock (what a delightful name for a horticulturist) grows flowers on the Sandy Point Road. There are bowers of fresh flowers in her booth and, rather surprisingly, memorial wreaths of artificial blooms displayed among crocheted baby bootees and frilly aprons - - all for sale.

A delightful person, Maritta McNulty, broadcaster for Radio Station CFBC, interviews customers and wanderers, like I did, each weekday for half an hour before noon. She is sponsored by stall operators, who told me tourists and citizens alike visit the market after hearing her daily show.

I envied the housewives who were purchasing farm-raised chickens - - not the brooder type, but the good old-fashioned kind that grandma used to raise on table scraps and worms. You can't beat their flavor.

There is sophistication among all these goodies too, for T. S. Fenwick is an importer of cheeses from all over the world. I bought honey and maple syrup from him to ship home along with the Grand Manan dulse after he lectured me about how good for my thyroid the seaweed really is. Ugh!

GOOD LUCK, PIERRE!

Everything that could possibly have been written about the Liberal leadership convention has already been written. But it's Spring, almost, and we have a new prime minister, almost. They're both pretty green, but Summer usually follows.

No, I didn't bet against Trudeau. But I can't see a guy called Winters ever winning an election in this country. We get enough of that nonsense about eight months of the year.

As an English teacher, I always look at names for symbolic suggestions. Winters has already been dealt with. Hellyer sounds slightly like "Hell with yer, I'll do as I please."

Paul Martin, I think a martin is a small bird. And he sure got it from the eagles and falcons. But he was a game bird, despite the fact, and deserves a salute for dignity and courage.

(I met Martin years ago encumbered by a couple of plastered Liberals from the sticks, and he had the same dignity then. These are the people who let him down, after he'd made gruelling trips to Hayfork Centre to speak for some local jerk.)

Turner didn't live up to his name. Tough. No turning. Watch out for him in future. He wants it all or nothing.

MacEachen was a disappointment. He's a man of intelligence and integrity. But he ran his campaign as though he were running for Reeve of Juniper Junction, and even made a bollix of withdrawing from the race. A pity.

Joe Greene is Joe Greene. I've seen him in action before. A dangerous orator of the old school: emotional, convincing, but a pretty fair Minister of Agriculture when you penetrate the verbiage.

Sharp was sharp, and always has been. He made the right move at the right time, and he's

TWO DRAGGERS LAUNCHED AT PICTOU SHIPYARDS

Separate ceremonies last Saturday morning marked the christening and launching of two 151 foot steel stern ramp trawlers in Ferguson Industries Limited yards, here, for Acadia Fisheries Limited, of Mulgrave and Canso.

Although Saturday was a "red letter" day for the shipbuilding firm, the outlook for the future is not too good. Mayor Clarence McCarthy, in thanking Acadia Fisheries for having the trawlers built in Pictou, said the action of the federal government in reducing the subsidy to 35 per cent on these ships, was having an adverse effect on both the shipbuilding and fishing industries. He and another speaker Russel McEwan, former MP, Pictou, called on the federal government to restore the 50 per cent subsidy.

J. B. Ferguson, vice-president of the firm told The Chronicle Herald that some 50 persons had been laid off due to lack of new orders, caused by the reduction of the subsidy, and that more layoffs would certainly follow. He said a cure for the situation would be the restoration of the subsidy of 50 per cent to companies presently engaged in the fishing industry. He expressed the view that the subsidy should be granted to established fishing companies wishing to retire obsolete and inefficient vessels, and modernize their fleets on a one for one basis.

The launching ceremonies saw the MT "Acadia Tern" hit the waves seconds after she was christened by Mrs. R. Pierce, of Mulgrave. A few minutes later the MT "Acadia Condor" was christened by Mrs. Daniel Stewart, Mulgrave, wife of Acadia's trawler superintendent. The trawlers will undergo trials before proceeding to the fishing banks.

PRAISE FOR SHIPYARD

Eric Pierce superintendent engineer, Acadia Fisheries Limited, praised the Ferguson yard for fine ships and said if conditions were different, his company would have proceeded with the construction of more modern trawlers.

The Acadia Tern and the Acadia Condor were the last four vessels built for Acadia Fisheries by the Ferguson yard. The two others, the Acadia Thunderbird and the Acadia Gannet have been fishing for some time and have been coming up with excellent catches officials said.

During the launching ceremony for the Acadia Tern, Lindsay Smith, Pictou, presented a bouquet to Mrs. E. Pierce who christened the vessel. A similar presentation took place when the Acadia Condor was christened. Laura Pierce, Mulgrave, presented a bouquet to Mrs. Daniel Stewart.

Bibles were presented to Captain Cyril Rose of the Acadia Condor, and Captain Earl Tibbo of the Acadia Tern. Taking part in the ceremonies were Rev. John Roberts, Rev. H. E. Langwith and Rev. Father F. Morley.

LUNCHEON HELD

Following ceremonies at the yard and dockside, a luncheon was held at the Braeside Inn in Pictou.

The four stern ramp trawlers are equipped with refrigeration fish holds capable of carrying 400,000 pounds. A full shelter deck and completely enclosed working area, combined with a full conveyor system, give the fishermen ideal working conditions. Spacious accommodations are provided for the crew of 16.

The trawlers will work out of Canso and Mulgrave and are capable of staying at sea for 10 days. They boast the latest in electronic equipment, including two radar sets for navigation, and two echo sounders to assist in the location of schools of fish.

ST. JOSEPH'S CREDIT NEWSLETTER No. 23

Once again Mr. Editor we are reporting the doings of our St. Joseph's Credit Union here in Petit de Grat for the month of March. In case you are a stranger and not familiar with the location of our building, you will soon detect it at the intersection near St. Joseph's Church. Looking at our attractive building is not enough, we invite you to view the interior and we are sure Carl, our efficient manager, will help you with your financial problems and being a member of a Credit Union you are on the road to not only helping yourself, but to helping fellow members in this great family right here in your own community.

Now let us see the doings for March and here we find that more bundles of savings have blown in and a total of $3,224.00 has been added.

Our Credit Union has collected $24,557.00 on loans last month and also report $26,425 made available to borrowers in the month of March.

Don't forget we received nearly $3,000.00 in interest and as you all know, this is "the Life-Blood of any Credit Union."

Now here is another advantage we note by our Newsletter where our Credit Union Insurance Company — CUNA MUTUAL — which covers our loans and savings with insurance, has returned to our Credit Union from its profits this past year the sum of $616.92. If we had our insurance outside of our family we would probably not have any claim on this tidy sum.

A notation in the Newsletter tells us that Carl's a-fishin' and this time he's fishing for SHARES and the more the merrier. This is to your advantage and the bait that Carl is handing out is a tasty morsel of financial stability for your future.

Just think of it our March report reveals our tota worth at a staggering figure of $415,301.00. We are rapidly closing in on OUR FIRST HALF MILLION. Did you thing it possible a few years back? You have every reason to feel proud of your Credit Union and its management.

When you withdraw savings here's what you lose:

(1) You lose the dividends you have earned on the savings.

(2) You Lose Life Savings insurance based on the savings, too.

(3) AND you lose (probably) the money itself, which you worked so hard to save. It's always harder to put back by saving a second time.

When you borrow, instead here's the advantage:

(1) You keep your dividends and your insurance, too.

(2) Your savings help you get faster loan service.

(3) AND you still have all your money, after the loan is paid. In fact, you can save MORE money as you repay the loan.

Good bye and good savings until we meet again next month.

ATTENTION

Ratepayers of Isle Madame

RICHMOND COUNTY

On April 1, 1967 the Municipal Services Program became effective and it's primary purpose is to assist Municipalities in providing improved services to their people.

As a result of this Legislation, it is now possible for all Municipal Units in Nova Scotia to receive grant-in-aid from the Province with respect to certain services that are now being provided and also services which the various Councils may elect to provide in future. One such service is GARBAGE COLLECTION & DISPOSAL.

In the event a GARBAGE COLLECTION & DISPOSAL Service was initiated on Isle Madame, it would be necessary for the Municipality to:

(1) Engage by contract a person or persons possessing adequate facilities in the way of truck or trucks capable of administering all garbage collection for Isle Madame.

(2) Levy an area rate for Isle Madame to finance net cost of service after application of Provincial Grants under the Municipal Services Act.

The obvious advantages of such a service would be as follows:

(1) Garbage & Refuse from ALL HOUSEHOLDS would be collected. Payment would not be made to trucker but via area rate to be included on annual ratepayers tax bill.

(2) Service would eleviate haphazard dumping in fields, back yards, on waterfronts etc.

(3) Would be a major step in making Isle Madame more attractive to new residents, tourists etc.

THE SEMI-ANNUAL SESSION OF MUNICIPAL COUNCIL WILL BE HELD IN AUGUST OF THIS YEAR. THOSE RATEPAYERS ON ISLE MADAME WHO WISH TO SUPPORT A GARBAGE COLLECTION & DISPOSAL SERVICE SHOULD DO SO THROUGH THEIR LOCAL GROUPS AND ORGANIZATIONS, BY PETITIONING COUNCIL ACCORDINGLY IN AUGUST.

This service is also available to other sections of the County. However, specific areas must be defined and it must be indicated to Municipal Council that the ratepayers residing in the area are desirous of such a service and agreeable to finance their share of cost by means of an area rate.

NOVA SCOTIA FEDERATION OF HOME & SCHOOL ASSOCIATIONS

Financing of Education was rated the Number One problem facing education today, by Directors and workers of the Nova Scotia Federation of Home and School Associations meeting at ACTU in Tatamagouche. All developments of educational programs and facilities must depend on the adequate and acceptable financing, according to a spokesman for the Federation.

Dr. Nelson B. MacLeod of Truro Chairman of the Provincial School Life Committee was assigned a study of School Boards, and of Bill 105 and will report to the Federation's Annual Convention in June.

Reaffirmation of the belief that Family Life Education should be part of the school curriculum was also stated by the sessions which were co-ordinated by Robert Latimer of the ACTU staff. Directors of the Federation will be offered a special course in communication, so that they may assist Home and School Associations in each area of the province develop Family Life programs, and an understanding of the need for instruction in Family Life Education, under the guidance of specially trained and well qualified teachers.

The Directors weekend Conference, the fourth of its kind, included members of the Federation Board, and selected workers from the entire province. Sister Elizabeth Butler of Isle Madame District High School, and Mrs Anne Ferguson of Point Tupper, President of Richmond Home and School Council attended the Conference from Richmond County.

OBITUARY

MRS. MAY E. ALLEN

Mrs. May E. (Briand) Allen, widow of Leo Allen of 119 Pleasant St., died Friday at the Addison Gilbert Hospital.

She was born in Arichat, Cape Breton, N. S. on May 17, 1893 and was 74, daughter of the late Simon and Elizabeth (DeCoste) Briand.

She is survived by a son, Alfred L. Allen; two grandsons, Robert A. and John Allen of Gloucester; five sisters, Mrs. Emily Goyetche of Gloucester; Mrs. Alfreda Spicer of Boston and Mrs. Mary Goyetche of Gloucester; Eugenia, wife of Walter Pettipas Arichat, Nova Scotia; Edna, wife of Freeman Joyce, Arichat, Nova Scotia; two brothers, Alphonse Briand, of Cape Auguet and Clifford Briand of Salem, Mass.; several nieces and nephews.

Her funeral was held from the James C. Greely Funeral Home, 212 Washington Street. A solemn high mass of requiem was celebrated in St. Ann's Church.

Rev. Daniel G. Sullivan was celebrant; Rev. Ronald J. Gariboldi, deacon and Rev. Thomas J. Brunnick, sub-deacon.

Organist was Mrs. Elliott J. MacNeil and soloist was Joseph Trupiano.

Interment was in Beechbrook Cemetery where prayers at the grave were read by Father Brunnick.

On Sunday evening at the funeral home Rev. Edward W. Beucler led in the recitation of the Rosary.

(We extend sympathy to the sister, Mrs. Walter Petitpas of Arichat; another sister, Mrs. Freeman Joyce; and to a brother, Alphonse Briand both of Cape Auguet.— Editor.)

Health Hints from THE CANADIAN MEDICAL ASSOCIATION

Cold Vaccines — A Problem

Vaccines are designed to prevent, not to cure, illnesses, The Canadian Medical Association reminds readers.

There are more than 100 known viruses or other germs, any one of which may cause a cold. More types of viruses and germs are being identified every year. A vaccine prepared against one of these germs, might stimulate the body to manufacture antibodies that would prevent him from getting a cold caused by that one germ. BUT it won't protect him from the other 99. Another problem is that immunity thus created is not permanent, it generally lasts only a few weeks or months.

There are on the market the so-called polyvalent vaccines, which are a mixture of several of the most common known causes. However, the person who has received this vaccine is protected ONLY temporarily from SOME of the common germs known to cause colds.

Remembering these limitations, it is recommended that persons with chronic chest conditions, such as chronic bronchitis, emphysema, or any chronic ailment, that might be aggravated by a cold, ask their doctor about cold vaccines.

Statistics show that in industry, time lost due to colds can be substantially reduced if all personnel receive polyvalent cold vaccine during the autumn.

In summary, the C. M. A. advises that not all colds can be prevented through the use of vaccines — but the vaccines do help and are advisable for some groups of people.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of my dear brother, Bertie LeBlanc, who was drowned, May 3rd. 1963.

God gave us a wonderful brother,
His memory will never grow old.
God fashioned his smile, out of sunshine
He molded his heart from pure gold.
He needed a new star in Heaven,
A beautiful light to shine.
So out of this world of sorrow —
He chose you, dear brother of mine.

— Lovingly remembered and sadly missed— By his mother and father, four sisters and three brothers.

—Mrs. Alma Martell.

Canso Wants C. N. R. Express Service

The members of Canso Development Association are requesting the Service of the C. N. Express to take the place of the M. V. Vanaheim, recently taken out of Service.

We suggest that the people of Arichat, through the Board of Trade, make similar requests to have the C. N. Express serve Isle Madame, due to the removal of our boat service.

CARD OF THANKS

I wish to express my sincere appreciation and thanks to the many friends who showered me with "Get Well" Cards, Flowers and fruits, as well as the variety of toothsome treats, and personal gifts, while I was confined to St. Rita's Hospital, Sydney.

While I am not yet, independantly mobile, I am pleased to be able to get around with the aid of a walker and it is mighty nice to be home.

Let your liver bile relieve irregularity

It's a proven fact that a sufficient flow of liver bile will relieve irregularity. How does this work? Excess fat globules in the digestive tract often cause irregularity. The best way to break down these unwanted fat globules is with a sufficient flow of liver bile. And Carter's Little Liver Pills has proof . . . clinical proof that it improves liver bile flow by breaking down unwanted fat globules and unblocking the digestive tract. So whenever you feel sluggish, headachy, nervous and need relief from irregularity get Carter's Little Liver Pills. 50¢.

Learning and You

(by Jack Hutton)

When C. E. (Cliff) Edwards, a Bridgetown, N. S., school inspector, feels strongly about something, he doesn't pause halfway in reacting.

Few Canadians have heard his name. But almost the entire country has become affected by a campaign that began when Cliff Edwards started worrying about TV and films several years ago.

And the result is an entirely new subject in a growing number of involved schools — screen education.

Students in Halifax, Edmonton, Vancouver, Toronto, Montreal — almost every major Canadian city — have been looking at films in a way they never did before, treating the stories and themes in the same way that they would analyze a piece of literature.

Ontario considers the new subject to be so important that it has borrowed Mark Slade, director of the National Film Board's screen study program, for five months. His job during that time will be to tour the province and offer his expert advice.

It's not a new subject. Great Britain has been experimenting with screen education in the class room since 1950, and even has a professional association called the Society for Education in Film and Television.

In the United States, probably the best-known spokesman is Prof. A. W. Hodgkinson, assistant professor of film at the School of Public Communications, Boston University, Boston, Mass.

Here's how he defined screen education to a 1968 meeting of Canadian Home and School leaders in Fredericton, N. B.

"It is a means of educating children and young people, taking the screen language as much into account as does traditional education the English language.

"Thus, children need education in 'reading' (seeing and hearing) this language at all standing, appreciating films and TV programs; in expressing their responses — discussing, writing, drawing; in writing this language (making films, TV programs); and so on.

"So far, most of this work has been concentrated upon relatively minor uses of the screen language —audio-visual aids, educational TV programs. These correspond to textbooks, and the teaching of English is not confined to textbooks prepared for other subjects."

If Prof. Hodgkinson is the father of screen education in the U.S., Cliff Edwards is probably a strong candidate for the same role in Canada.

He first spoke on the subject five or six years ago when he seemed more worried about negative effects of filmed violence or horror on children than interested in the positive side of the new media.

That was about the time that he returned his credit card to an oil company which was sponsoring a series of early evening programs that, according to Mr. Edwards, "had my children vicariously enjoying the excitement of the juvenile TV actors as they broke into homes, molested old people, destroped property, pillaged and plundered."

He and other home and school leaders wrote letter after letter to the Board of Broadcast Governors and the network, pleading for some long-term research into the effects of TV on young people.

The old worries about violent programs still persist. But the Bridgetown inspector seemed to be emphasizing different areas of TV-viewing after participating in a UNESO conference on screen education in 1962.

What he found at that conference was that English and European educators seemed to be telling in a different language about the effects of screen-viewing.

Nothing, the educators agreed, was going to lessen the impact of TV on the home. In 1950 not one out of 100 U.S. children watched TV regularly. By 1966, 99 out of every 100 watched between two to five hours of programs daily.

Children learn from their first days of school how to use books. Why not, the new generation of educators asked, help youngsters to use film in a discriminating and constructive way.

It was this message that Mr. Edwards brought home with him, and which he has preached ever since at every available opportunity.

Watch for the new subject in your community. If it's not there already it won't be long before it is.

(Inspector Edwards is a native of Arichat, a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Philip Edwards and took up residence in the Annapolis Valley some years ago, where he first engaged in the teaching profession. He ability as a teacher was soon recognized by the Nova Scotia Department of Education, when he was appointed Supervisor of Schools in Annapolis County. Today he holds the responsible position of Inspector of Schools for the dual counties of Digby-Annapolis.

Cliff Edwards has done much to promote Bicultural and Bilingualism in the Province of Nova Scotia and although a member of an English-speaking family, he is a master in both the English and French languages.

We are sure the above article under the heading "LEARNING & YOU" will be of much interest to parents and we fully agree with Cliff Edwards' statements in this respect and we trust his noble efforts will accomplish much in promoting better programs in the future. — Editor."

SUGAR AND SPICE

Kierans made a great fight, but who really feels sorry for a millionaire who's going to wind up in the Cabinet, and didn't have a ghost of a chance in the first place. Stout chap though.

You can't make much of Trudeau's name, symbolically. However, I think he's just possibly a better choice than that chap called Laframboise from Northern Ontario. I have a vague idea Laframboise means "The Strawberry." And where would we be then, internationally? Eaten, with sugar and cream that's where.

All I hope is that Canadians won't go sour on Trudeau when the Gallic shrug, the quirked eyebrow and the chimpanzee's grin disappear after a couple of months of dealing with all the garbage a prime minister must put out.

To the constant disgust of my wife and daughter, I knocked J. F. Kennedy constantly after his election. I kept saying, "Sure, he's cute. Sure he has a beautiful grin. Sure, he's witty, Sure, every body loves him, except 49 percent of the U. S. voters. But he's a ruthless politician. When is he going to do something besides charm people?"

I feel the same way about our new prime minister. He's a bachelor, which probably accounts for the rich and charming.

I wish him well. I hope he breathes into Canadian politics that fresh new breeze everyone is predicting. But I wouldn't count on it. Most of the boys in the press gallery touting him as the salvation of Canada were saying the same about Dief ten years ago. And they'll be the first to start cutting strips off him when he fails to produce immediate miracles.

Good luck, Pierre Elliott Trudeau. I think you might just do it. And, finally, goodbye Lester Pearson. I think you were a dandy despite your faults, and I think history will record you as such.

ADULT DRIVING COURSE WILL BE HELD

Highways Minister Stephen Pyke, announced recently that the province of Nova Scotia in co-operation with the Canadian Highway Safety Council will implement an adult defensive driving course early this summer.

Mr. Pyke explained that the aim of the course is to familiarize the adult driver with the changing patterns of driving hazards and improve driving performance.

The course will be offered in centres throughout the province and will be open to all licensed operators.

The course was developed by the subsequently made available to the U. S. National Safety Council and Canadian Highway Safety Council with modifications for Canadian application.

The highways minister said the course is based on concepts and techniques used effectively to train drivers of trucks, buses and other commercial vehicles. The course has been used with pilot groups before it was released for general training. It is also a fully developed and standardized course, utilizing comprehensive instructional materials and visual aids that assure the same major points will be made regardless of where or when it is given.

Lands and Forests Act

Fire safety regulations governing the operation of power saws and other equipment

Public attention is drawn to Section 97 of the Lands and Forests Act, Part 2, which states:

1. Where a power saw is used in a logging operation, a round pointed shovel or a fire extinguisher shall be maintained at the place where the power saw is refueled.
2. No person shall leave unattended a power saw that has been used in a logging operation unless the saw has been cooled to the point where it is unlikely to cause fire or has been put in a place where it is unlikely to start a fire.
3. A person who in a logging operation uses or operates a truck, tractor or internal combustion engine in a mobile capacity shall have properly affixed on the vehicle or engine at least one round pointed shovel or one fire extinguisher fully charged and ready for use.
4. No person shall use or operate an internal combustion engine in a logging operation unless the engine is equipped with a safe and efficient device for arresting sparks.
5. No person shall transport gasoline, fuel oil or other similar volatile inflammable substance in a transparent bottle in woods.
6. For purposes of this Section, "logging operation" means any land clearing, lumbering, industrial, engineering or construction operation within sixty rods (1,000 feet) of any woods.
