SEVENTY SECOND YEAR — THE RICHMOND COUNTY RECORD, ARICHAT, N. S. — SEPTEMBER 26,1970

NOW IT'S BACK TO THE STRAIGHT LIFE

Summer floats by, as aimless as a cloud. Nothing seems to get done, but we seem to be doing something all the time. Last week was no exception.

It's nice to live like rich people once in a while, be it ever so temporary. We used to do it once a year when I was in the newspaper business. We'd go to a convention in some exotic place, stay in a posh hotel, hobnob with such exalted people as public relations men, and indulge in such sybaritic delights as breakfast in bed.

It's hard to come down from filet mignon and baked alaska to hamburg and butter tarts, but we always felt it was worth it, no matter how long it took to pay back the money we'd borrowed to make like millionaires.

This is against the puritan ethic, but I've never regretted it. I've seen too many people postponing a real spree of a holiday trip because they've needed a new lawnmower, or had just bought a new vacuum cleaner, or simply had to trade in their car. And then, when everything was finally right for the trip, Dad discovered, to his horror, that he had to have all his teeth out. Or Mother suddenly needs a hysterectomy. And the trip fades into never-never land. Sad.

Never take my advice about anything, but 'Gather ye rosebuds while ye may' isn't a bad idea. Don't wait until you're too old and stupid and cripped with arthritis to stoop for a rosebud. And besides, there aren't that many rosebuds left.

Last week we had a couple of days of gathering rosebuds. As usual, it was balm for that lacerated secret little corner in most of us that knows we could have been wealthy and successful and rich if we'd just had a break.

We spent two days at a beautiful lodge in Ontario's Haliburton Highlands, just south of Algonquin Park. It's incredible country: rock, woods, and lakes everywhere.

The lodge was everything it should be for one of these escapades. Handsome lounges, huge stone fireplace, magnificent chandeliers, courteous and unobtrusive help, and a sweet, pretty and even competent waitress for our own table. And lots of rich people around. That's essential.

It wasn't a swinging place. No bar, no entertainment, and, thank heaven, no organized games and such. Just a place to lie around, swim or fish or play horse-shoes or walk through the woods, eat like a hog, and wonder what the poor people are doing.

We had a cottage overlooking the lake, with a big fireplace and everything else but the kitchen sink, an item most women are quite happy to be without on a vacation. Privacy, peace and luxury, the perquisites of the rich.

First night at dinner, met an old friend from College. Was rather aghast when he told me he'd recently married Susan Kee, daughter of another old College friend. He's more than twice her age. "Dirty old man", I thought. Was even more confused when he introduced his 8-year-old son. Finally remembered he'd gone into the ministry. What he meant was that he'd performed the marriage ceremony.

Next day, into town for a seminar on Creative Writing at the Haliburton School of Fine Arts. Naturally, the school was overlooking a lake. There's hardly anything else you can overlook there.

Everything I know about Creative Writing might fill the back of a business card, but had an enjoyable afternoon with about fifteen ladies ranging from about nineteen to -- well, you know. They didn't get much out of it, but I thoroughly enjoyed boasting, telling them how I handle my wife when I call her the Old Battleaxe, and some of the hazards and rewards of writing a weekly column. (By the way, girls, I've thrown out two perfectly good paragraphs from this column.)

After the seminar, a visit to the Haliburton Echo, a warm welcome come from editor Berkeley Fair, his wife, and his son Creighton, and a whiff of printer's ink.

Back to the lodge for a swim, dinner, canoe jaunt, and a long lively evening by the fireplace with friends and some pretty unusual conversation.

Hard to climb into the battle-scarred '67 Dodge and hit the long trail home. Depressing to get there and make your own hot dog for dinner. Horrible to see that pile of bills and hear the phone ringing. But worth it.

Scottish Gathering at Framboise

(Special to the Record)

SCOTTISH GATHERING AT FRAMBOISE

Recently there was held in the Community Centre, Framboise, the most successful Scottish gathering ever to have taken place in the Eastern section of Richmond County.

The entire evening was carried on in the Gaelic language. The Honoured Guest was Mr. Fred Macaulay, a native of North Uist, Scotland, who was making a coast to coast tour of Canada on behalf of the British Broadcasting Corporation, solely in the interest and promotion of the Gaelic language.

Mr. Macaulay was accompanied by his charming wife whose presence delighted all.

The idea of having Framboise as locale of the Ceilidh was concerned by D. A. Macleod, Halifax, a native of Three Rivers, Framboise and although less than two days preparation was possible, the commodious hall was filled to capacity, with Scots from Framboise, Loch Lomond, Fourchu, Louisburg, Sydney, Grand River and Gabarus Lake.

A very delightful feature of the evening was the inspiring Bag Pipe music rendered by Pipe Major Domhnall Stiubbart (Donald Stewart), Hollywood, California—Domhnall Stiubbart, who is managing owner of an Engrossing Studio, in Hollywood, carries on the business under his Gaelic name. His grandfather,, Alex Stewart was a native of Framboise, who was a brother of the late D. Y. Stewart of St. Peter's, C. B.

The following Gaelic singers were heard in songs all of which were recorded and are presently being heard over the B.B.C. Kenneth A. Morrison, Roddie Munroe, John Alex MacAskill, Hector MacCormack, Dan W. Strachan and Mrs. Angus Ferguson, Mrs. Malcolm MacLeod, Mrs. Kennie A. Fergusson, Mrs. Hector MacCormack and Mrs. Hector MacCormack and Mrs. George A. MacLellan sang solos.

The Gaelic introduction was given by D. A. Macleod, who acted as Chairman. Among those whose interviews have already been aired over the B.B.C, were: Neil Macqueen, Three Rivers, who at the grand old age of 94 years, was among the first to arrive at the Dan Alex Macdonald, local bard, Hall and the last to leave; Also whose "Oran dho Ceap Bretainor" is considered one of the best composed in Cape Breton.

It is anticipated that next summer another Oichie Ghaelhig will be held in Framboise with the prospect of having Mrs. Mary Price, Dartmouth as the guest artist.

Mrs. Price a native of the Isle of Skye, a Gaelic Teacher from Scotland, is considered one of the best Gaelic speakers in Canada.

At the close of the evening the ladies of Framboise provided bounteous refreshments, even surpassing their outstanding record of serving the requirements of the inner man.

TIERNAY-CAMPBELL

A pretty wedding of much interest to friends on both sides of the border, took place on Saturday, August 22nd. when Norma Isabelle, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John N. Campbell of Brookline, Mass., was united in marriage to John W. Tierway, son of Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Tierway of New Jersey.

The unique affair took place on the Campbell summer residence at Dundee. The lawn setting prepared for the ceremony was marked by baskets of yellow and white mums, and was in close view of the River and Bras D'Or Lake. Flowers of similar hue were used for interior decorations.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was a striking figure in a street length dress of white cortrel, fashioned on straight lines and accented with pearls. She carried a bouquet of miniature white roses and maiden hair fern. Her only head-dress was the attractively arranged coiffure.

The bridesmaid, a close friend of the bride , was Mrs. Murray MacPhee of Dartmouth, charmingly attired in a street length dress of aqua blue crepe accented with manhatten lace. Her bouquet was similar to that of the bride's. Mr. MacPhee supported the groom.

The bride's mother, chose a dress of Teal blue crepe, with corsage of tiny white glads and fern.

Following the marriage ceremony, a buffet supper was served in the open, where the wedding cake was apportioned.

The happy couple left by car for a tour of Western Canada. They will reside in Chicago.

The bride, a former graduate of Brookline High, attended Boston University, Cardinal Cushing school and is a graduate of The Cytology School of Boston. The groom attended St. Peters College, New Jersey and is Regional Vice President of Automatic Data Processing Co., of Chicago.

Guests from Massachusette, who attended the wedding were: Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Cullen, Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Winston, Miss Virginnia Carol, Mr. and Mrs. Colin Green and Miss Catherine MacLean.

Melvin Burt

Melvin Burt, one of the aggressive young businessmen on the Liberal team, is a 30-year old native of Louisdale and was nominated as candidate in Richmond County on April 18th at a convention in St. Peter's.

Mr. Burt was Accountant and Personnel Manager in the Halifax office of Canda Permanent Trust for 12 years before returning to Richmond County in 1969 as a Life Underwriter for Canada Life Assurance Co.

He is a former President of the Halifax Junior Chamber of Commerce and is presently the Atlantic Provinces Vice-President of the J. C's.

Mel, his wife Karen (nee) Hatcher of Halifax and their three children reside in Louisdale, Richmond County, a community which was home to Mr. Burt for 12 years prior to his Halifax days.

Mr. Burt is continuing his active involvement in community affairs since returning to Louisdale and is on the Board of Directors of the Louisdale Lions Club and is Vice-President of the Louisdale Credit Union.

He is fluently bilingual and is putting up a strong fight in the Richmond County Riding against Education Minister Doucet.

PUMPING OPERATIONS

The MT II has arrived in port to begin pumping operations from the sunken Liberian Tanker, "Arrow", which ran on Cerebrus Rock in Chedabucto Bay last winter. From at present are placing valves on the YMT II skin divers operate and the "Arrow" to connect pipes to a tanker standing by to receive the bunker C oil which remains in the stern section of the sunken ship. Last winter only a portion of the cargo could be taken from the "Arrow", due to cold weather. We are told that in the present month the temperature of the water is higher than in early summer and should contribute greatly in pumping operations which should be successful if weather conditions are favourfable.

During the summer many of our beaches have been cleaned up and it is hoped no further spill will be reported.

HEADLIGHT HAZARD

A clamp-down on faulty motor vehicle headlamps has been ordered by Highways Minister Hon. I. W. Akerley.

One-eyed motor vehicles have been noted in increasing numbers on provincial highways this summer said the Minister, and there has been a number of instances where accidents have been narrowly avoided as a result of such faulty equipment.

Mr. Akerley said his Department has contacted the Attorney General's Department and requested that Royal Canadian Mounted Police give special attention to the increase in malfunctioning headlights. An inadequately equipped vehicle is a violation of the Motor Vehicle Act.

He also appealed to municipal police forces to keep a special watch for faulty headlamps during night-time patrols.

The Minister urged motor vehicle owners to make an immediate check of their illumination system to determine if all headlights are operating on both full and deflected beams, and that tail-lights are operational.

The Canada Safety Council indicated recently that in a test of one million cars the most common vehicle malfunctions were faulty headlights, rear light defects, inadequate windshield wipers and faulty turn signals - in that order.

The report noted that a car can be as safe as possible mechanically but also becomes a menace when dirty headlights and tail lamps obscure its visibility for oncoming or following traffic.

Another hazard are headlamps which are improperly aligned, a situation sometimes caused by a minor bump or gradual vibration.

"Motorists who do all they can to ensure they can see and be seen make driving on our highways safer for everyone", said the Minister.

Education Minister Gerald Doucet, Richmond County's representative in the Legislature, said recently that the Nova Scotia Power Commission is presently constructing a power line to the Kaiser Aluminum site at Lake Enon. Total cost of the project, financed by the Nova Scotia Power Commission and the company is more than $314,000.

Mr. Doucet said that the 69,000 volt line, when completed, will provide Kaiser Aluminum with close to 10 million kilowatt hours of electricity per year. which by comparison is sufficient to supply the electrical needs of a small town.

When work on the line is completed around December of this year, the company will begin to partially phase out portable gas and diesel driven equipment now in use. Mr. Doucet said that approximately twenty to thirty men from the Richmond area are now employed on the project.

NEWS ABOUT TOWN AND COUNTY

MICHEL JOSEPH COMEAU

The recent death of Michel Joseph Comeau, which resulted from being struck by an automobile while walking home from Petit de Grat, occasioned widespread sorrow.

The late Michel Comeau was the youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. Gustave Comeau of West Arichat, who at the time of the accident, were visiting two other sons in Bathurst, N. B.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Comeau left immediately for Sydney, where their son was a patient at City Hospital, and who passed away two days later, due to head and other internal injuries received in the tragic accident.

Michel was in his 18th year and will always be fondly remembered by his bereaved parents, sisters and brothers, as well as his grandmother, Mrs. Theriault, who is an invalid at the Comeau home, where she is being tenderly cared for by her daughter and son-in-law, and the loving kindness shown her by her grandson, will always be cherished.

Michel was held in high regard by students and teachers of the Arichat District High School and was a general favorite in the community of West Arichat and throughout the Island.

BAKING BANTER by Suzanne

Muffins and quick breads are simple to make, taste delicious and are economical. Remember the "secrets" of perfect muffins, everytime! Do not over mix. Stir liquid ingredients into dry ingredients just enough to dampen all the flour, leaving the batter rough and lumpy. Twelve to fifteen mixing strokes are usually sufficient. If nuts, dates or other extra ingredients are added, mix them with the flour before adding the liquids. Knobs and peaks on top, a shiny surface, large holes and tunnels inside are all caused by overmixing.

Use melted fat which has been cooled after melting but is still liquid. Salad oil in place of melted fat is excellent in muffins, and much less trouble.

Use milk and eggs at room temperature. When melted fat is added to very cold milk and eggs, it becomes solid and is not evenly distributed through the bater, resulting in poorer muffins.

Should the dough not fill every muffin cup, put a few tablespoons of water in the empty cups, both to protect the pans and to keep the muffins moist.

Muffins which remain in the tins a few minutes after leaving the oven will be easier to remove. To reheat muffins, wrap loosely in foil and heat about five minutes in a preheated 450-degree oven.
