AN ANNIVERSARY TO REMEMBER

By Bill Smiley

September being bass weather, and on a Saturday I had one of the most interesting bass-fishing jaunts I've ever enjoyed.

My old Russian billiards partner, Captain Dalt Hudson, called about noon and asked me, if I'd like to go out for a little fish.

The situation was a little tricky, as it was my wedding anniversary and I thought maybe I should stick arcund. But the Old Battleaxe and I had had a big fight the night before, and she had told me not to come sucking around with a bunch of roses or anything else to mark the occasion, or she'd throw them in my face.

Even so, I had the decency to tell her that Cap wanted me to go fishing. "Go ahead!" she snarled, and burst into tears

Many a man would have been unwrung, but I steeled my heart, tip-toed around gathering my gear, and prepared to make a dash for the back door.

She was weeping silently now, trying to make me feel like a heel. She failed. I hadn't been fishing all summer.

"And don't bother coming back!" she fired at me as I snuck out.

Picked up the skipper who had a basket full of worms, and down to the dock.

He had a fine boat. Cabin inboard motor that runs like a Cadillac, - and seaworthy as the most frightended old maid could wish.

It was a beautiful, sunny September day, and I was in good hands, those of a retired captain who had sailed fresh water and salt for about fifty years.

We had a pleasant run up the bay about ten miles, and arrived. "See that little reef," he said. "We'll anchor about 150 yards sou-sou-west." I slung in the anchor, doubting, as I always do when I go out with someone who knows the "spots", that there would be a bass within five miles.

We had a quarter bet on who'd catch the first fish. Dalt was telling me how to tie my line and fiddling around filling and lighting his pipe. I tossed my bait overside and whacko, before he'd got his pipe lit, I had a dandy, about 2 1/2 pounds.

It was one of those days you remember. We sat in the sun and bartered lies about the days when we sailed the lakes. His lies were much more picturesque than mine.

Maritime T. & T. Announces 5-Year $140 Million Program

A $140 million capital construction program that will bring dial service to more than 375,000 telephones throughout Nova Scotia by the end of 1976 was announced today by A. Gordon Archibald, Chairman and President, Maritime Telegraph and Telephone Co., Ltd.

Mr. Archibald said that the program, biggest ever undertaken by any shareholder-owned corporation in the Maritimes, will eliminate long distance charges between more than 60 Nova Scotian communities, will reduce or eliminate mileage charges in nearly every existing urbanized community, and connect every telephone in the province to the U. S. - Canada direct distance dialing network.

The 100% dial, 100% direct distance dialing features will also mean, he said, that 75 of the remaining independent, rural telephone companies will have their service responsibilities assumed by MT & T by 1976; the ten that still remain, he noted, will all have dial telephones.

Mr. Archibald said the MT & T program, which will add more than half again to the present $188 million plant investment throughout the province, will require the issuing of both mortgage bonds and share capital on Canada's major capital markets.

OBITUARIES

William S. Urquhart

In our last issue we mentioned that several obituaries were to appear in our next issue and among them was one to the memory of our late lamented friend, William S. Urquhart, of Grand Anse.

Although Mr. Urquhart had departed this life early in the summer, and during that period the Record was not in circulation.

Bill Urquhart was a highly regarded gentleman not only in his own community, but throughout the County.

A veteran of World War I, the late Mr. Urquhart was a member of the 25th Batallion, one of the first Canadian units to see action in France in the 1914-18 war. The late Hon. Angus L. Macdonald, was an officer in the same Company to which Mr. Urquhart was attached and both in military and civilian life shared an inseparable friendship. When the late Premier Macdonald made visits to Richmond County during his lifetime, he never failed to call on his old comrade at Grand Anse.

For many years Mr. Urquhart was a senior clerk at John A. Stewart's store at Grand Anse and when the late Mr. Stewart retired from business, Mr. Urquhart went into business for himself at the Grand Anse Corner and named his store the "Fair Deal Store", and it can be truthfully said that he lived up to this motto.

For some years he was President of the Richmond County Liberal Association and on retirement due to ill health, he was made Honorary President of the Association, up to the time of his death.

He was a devout member of the Black River United Church, from where the largely attended funeral took place. The Port Hawkesbury Branch of the Canadian Legion was in attendance. Burial was in the Black River cemetery and when the piper sounded the last post, our thoughts went back to the late Bill Urquhart and we are sure the many mourners gathered at the graveside felt as we did, that a good soldier, citizen and friend, was laid to rest and that each and everyone of us were the richer for having been closely associated with him during his lifetime.

The late Mr. Urquhart was a member of Solomon Lodge No. 46 A.F. & A.M., Port Hawkesbury and was a highly regarded member A Masonic Service conducted by Byron S. Lobban, Worshipful Master of Solomon Lodge, assisted by other Lodge officers was held at the home of their late brother.

Surviving besides his wife, the former Blanche Peeples of Point Tupper are three daughters: Mrs. Kenneth White, (Catherine), Sydney; Mrs. Norman Spurrell, (Joan), Brockville, Ont.; and Mrs. Neil Urquhart, (Lesley), West Bay One sister, Harriet, (Mrs. Dexter Fisk, Huntington Beach, California. One brother, Robert, Grand Anse. Another brother, Alex passed away only a few days later at his home in St. George's Channel.

He is predeceased by two sisters, Tena, (Mrs. J. U. MacInnis), St. George's Channel and Helen, (Mrs. John A. MacInnis), Hyde Park, Mass.

Several grandchildren survive.

We extend our sincere sympathy to the bereaved wife and daughters and also to his brother and sister.

Benjamin Marchand

One of the oldest and highly respected citizens of Louisdale, Benjamin Marchand, passed away in July at the advanced age of 96 years. He was born in Louisdale and during his early years engaged in the fishing industry in the area. Later he went to the U. S., where he engaged in pogey fishing off the coast of New England as a mate. He was considered a very proficient operator in this industry and many from his community would follow him each spring to engage in this fishery.

After many years of faithful service he returned to his native Louisdale, where he engaged in farming and fishing.

He was a leader in his community being a pioneer in the Co-Op. and Credit Union movements and served as president of both organizations for some years.

He was a devout member of St. Louis Parish from where the funeral was held and largely attended.

The late Benny Marchand as he was better known in the community was always ready to help his neighbors and friends and gave of his time and talents whenever he was needed.

He took a keen interest in Education and was a source of encouragement to young people in the community. Although the advantages in his youth were limited in our schools, the late Mr. Marchand must have been a very keen pupil, as one could soon detect in conversation with this genial gentleman, that he was a student from the old school and a good one.

His contribution to the community will long be remembered and cherished by everyone.

He is survived by his wife, the former Elizabeth Sampson, and by six sons: Clarence, New York; Francis, Louisdale; Emile, Louisdale; Benny, Louisdale; Leonard, Toronto; Godfrey, Toronto; and eight dughters: Gladys, (Mrs. Gladys Hanson, New York; Blan- Louisdale; Mildred, (Mrs. Boyd Nicholas), Victoria, B. C.; Alvina, (Mrs. Alvina Cormier), Montreal; Edith, Montreal; Freda, (Mrs. Alex Marchand, Louisdale; Priscilla, (Mrs. Felix Marchand, Louisdale; Nelly, (Mrs. Felix Landry,) Louisdale. There are 42 surviving grandchildren; 29 great grandchildren and 3 great-great grandchildren.

Mr. Marchand's death was the result of a fractured hip caused by a fall which developed complications. He was the oldest resident of Louisdale at the time of his death.

Sympathy is extended to the bereaved widow and family.

Alexis Benoit

Alexis Benoit in his 66th year passed away at St. Rita Hospital, Sydney on August 11, after a long illness. FIRE...CAN BREAK YOUR HEART

DON'T SAY "It can't happen to me." It can. Last year Nova Scotians paid the following price because someone was careless and gave fire a place to start:

1992 Fires
32 Dead — 16 children
62 Injured
$5,084,480 Property Loss

This loss of life and property may have been avoided if these simple precautions had been followed:

1. USE PROPER AMP FUSES.
2. DON'T LET RUBBISH ACCUMULATE.
3. MAKE SURE YOUR ELECTRICAL WIRING IS NOT FAULTY.
4. STORE FLAMMABLE LIQUIDS IN A SAFE PLACE.
5. KEEP MATCHES OUT OF REACH OF CHILDREN.
6. DON'T SMOKE IN BED. DON'T SMOKE CARELESSLY ANYWHERE.
7. LEAVE YOUR CHILDREN ONLY IN THE CARE OF CABABLE BABY SITTERS.

SPECIAL HOMES For SPECIAL CHILDREN

A child is in need of care now .. perhaps he was abandoned .. maybe his parents could not, or would not, give him the care, love and encouragement needed .... he may be deprived by unavoidable circumstances (death or illness of parents, neglect, abuse, a child of an unmarried mother unable to plan or provide for her child, a child from a broken home).. Where does such a child go? Who looks after him?

In Nova Scotia he becomes a Ward of the Province through the Family and Child Welfare Division of the Department of Public Welfare, of the Children's Aid Society or other child caring agency. There are over 3,000 children in Nova Scotia in such care of whom 500 have special needs.

What about the slogan "Special Homes for Special Children"? Many of these children not only have the misfortune of not having their parents, and their brothers or sisters, but they may have extra burdens or disadvantages...."Sammy" may have problems in school .."Beth "needs special care for her artificial limb ..."Heather" runs away...."Len"' is of mixed racial or minority background .. "Sandra" is retarded . "Gayle" is 15 years old and has emotional problems.. "Doug" just returned from six months in an institution .... "Conrad" is three years old and can't talk. These children are generally described as hard to place children.

Over 500 children in Nova Scotia fall into this category, who are adoptable or in need of special foster homes. These children need care and a sense of belonging to a family which can be provided through foster or adopting parents.

Is the need acute? For a hard-to-place child the answer is an emphatic yes. Child care agencies need more willing parents. As different children have different needs so different families have varying capabilities. Many help by being foster parents. In some cases it is for short term placement. For others, they may be foster parents for the child's life-time.

What about home standards? The first thing agencies look for is a home where the child will be loved and where the parents feel the same concern for him as they do for their own children, i. e. where he can be PART of the family. About adoption — Are only normal or average children adoptable? Providing a child is legally free to be adopted, there is no such thing as an unadoptable child. The only limiting factor is the availability of homes and families willing and able to care for these 'specal children'. A hard-to-place child will likely require extra patience, understanding, acceptance, love and consistent discipline; and in return they are often extra affectionate, and can be a source of much satisfaction and happiness.

Do many people adopt? Adoption is on the upswing. Until recently, parents usually adopted if they were unable to have children of their own. Today, families adopt who have had natural children also. Adoption is accepted by the community and not something secretive as in the past. There is more awareness and acceptance of the whole idea. Most adopting parents want an infant. Agencies hope some will consider an older child; a child of minority racial background; a handicapped child ... they are adoptable.

If you are interested in helping a special child contact your nearest child agency for additional information.

W. J. MacLeod Retires

The retirement of W. J. MacLeod as administrative assistant to the deputy minister following more than 26 years of continuous service with the Department of Agriculture and Marketing in Truro and Halifax was announced recently by Agriculture Minister William Gillis.

Mr. MacLeod, who resides at Birchwood Terrace in Rockingham, first joined the agricultural department in 1945 following wartime service with the R.C.A.F., where he attained the rank of squadron leader.

"During his long years of service with the department Mr. MacLeod proved himself an able administrator and has contributed greatly to the farmers and to the agricultural industry in the province," Dr. Gillis said.

Mr. MacLeod first joined the department as registrar and dean of residence of the Nova Scotia Agricultural College in Truro. In 1947 he transferred to Halifax to become superintendent of services. Since that timeMr. MacLeod served ably under six agricultural ministers, Dr. Gillis said.

Son of the late Mr. and Mrs. M. A. MacLeod, he was born at Loch Lomond, Richmond County, Cape Breton. Educated at Sussex, New Brunswick, where his father was editor-in-chief of the Maritime Farmer, Mr. MacLeod later entered Nova Scotia Agricultural College where he received his associate diploma in 1928.

He first went farming on the family farm at Loch Lomond, but in 1935 succeeded his father as editor of the Maritime Farmer where he remained until joining the R.C.A.F. in 1941.

Mr. MacLeod is married to the former Marion Innes of Norton, New Brunswick and together they are wiidely known in music circles in Halifax.

Mr. MacLeod has been superintendent of exhibitions for Nova Scotia for many years and has a wide circle of friends and acquaintances throughout Nova Scotia and in agricultural circles across Canada and elsewhere because of his continued interest in graduates of the agricultural college.

BILL SMILEY

He told of strikes and storms and colorful characters. I told about scrubbing out lavatories.

Finally, we had our limit and it was time to go. The Captain turned the key to start the engine. Total silence. Dead battery.

I wish I had a movie of the various expressions of the Captain's face. There couldn't be a sound track with it, though, because he was blistering the paint right off the deck.

We were about 500 yards offshore, so we started to paddle. It was like paddling the Queen Mary. Two feet ahead and the wind would push us three feet back.

We were lucky. We could have sat there all night, anchored, because the place was rife with reefs. But there was one boat in sight, fishing just offshore. The only sign of human life in that vast bay.

The skipper made a megaphone out of a chart and hollered at them. They waved. We beckoned them. They waved back friendly as you could want.

The rest of the story is anti-climatic. They finally realized we were in trouble. The chap in the other boot went to his cottage for a booster battery. It didn't boost. He towed us, ignominiously, to his dock, a 14-foot skiff towing a 30-foot queen. Cap muttered all the way in. The shame was almost unbearable.

We got home about 10 p.m., and I thought my wife would be out of her mind with worry.

She wasn't. She was just out, visiting friends. I tracked her down and craftily brought a big plastic bag with twelve bass in it, offered all they wanted to the housewife, and she cleaned the whole lot.

It was a grand day, but the moral is: never go fishing with an expert.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of my dear father, Edward Mauger, who passed away November 21, 1963.

Eight lonely years have passed, dear dad,
Since the Lord has called you home.
You bade no one a last farewell,
Or even said 'good-bye'.
You were gone before I knew it, dad,
It was a shock that day.
But God gave me the strength to meet it,
And courage to face the blow.
I have only your memory now, dear dad,
To remember my whole life through,
But your sweetness will linger forever,
As I treasure the image of you.

Sadly missed,
Daughter Helen.

MT & T ANNOUNCES $140 MILLION, FIVE-YEAR SPENDING PROGRAM TO BRING 100% DIAL, DDD TO NOVA SCOTIA

Subject to the levels of cost of both money, and labor and materials, present indications are that the Company may need to apply to the Board of Commissioners of Public Utilities for Nova Scotia for rate adjustments by 1973 or 1974.

Provincial government officials have been informed of the Company's plans, he said, in line with the close liaison the Company has traditionally maintained as a regulated provincial utility.

Mr. Achibald said at present the Company has just over 290,000 phones in service, 92% dial, and this year will handle some 700 million calls, 17 million of them long distance.

By the end of 1976, he said, forecasts by the Company's planners indicate the total number of telephones will rise to nearly 383,000, a gain of about 92,000; the number of calls handled in that year are estimated at nearly one and a half billion, the number of long distance calls doubling to nearly 30 million.

He said: "Our confidence in the future of Nova Scotia, the growth in the province's economy and the acceptance by all parts of the population of an even higher standard of telecommunications service is going to be matched by our Company's determination— and that of each of our 2,700 people at MT & T —to keep Nova Scotia in the forefront of technical advances in communications techniques.

"We are proud of our Company and our province, and the 12,000 owners of MT & T, the vast majority of them who live and earn their livlihood in our province, are —along with our employees — our major 'resource' to carry this program through to completion.

This will mean more jobs as the program gets underway and the number of employees is expected to go from the present 2700 to approximately 3000".

Mr. Archibald said the Company estimated its capital expenditures in the years 1972 to 1976 at $22.6 million, $26.3 million, $28 million, $29.9 million and $32 million respectively — a total $138.8 million.

Of these amounts, the dial conversion program, which will bring dial service to 77 communities utilizing 71 new dial-switching centres to be built throughout the province, will cost $22.6 million.

The additional Direct Distance Dialing facilities, to raise the present 72% capability to 100%, will cost an estimated $2.6 million.

The enlargement of basic rate areas, to follow the increasing urbanization of the province's population in nearly every urban community, will cost an estimated $6.2 million.

The linking of adjacent communities in order to eliminate long distance charges between them will involve more than 60 towns and cities in the province, and will cost an estimated $4 million.

The assumption of service responsibilities of those rural, independent telephone companies who have petitioned the Board of Commissioners of Public Utilities of Nova Scotia to have MT & T take them over will involve $4.6 million; ten years ago there were more than 200 rural companies in the province and at the end of 1976 there will be ten, each with dial service provided through MT & T, although supplied by the individual companies.
